"He has seen instances where someone will discuss the site location before it's time, the price changes and it puts you out of the realm of serious negotiations," he said.

The Mayor said Flatley told him that there could be an announcement within two or three weeks.

"If he can reduce it to writing he will have no problem sitting down to make some statements," said Tobin.

He said Flatley is looking at several locations in Quincy and "I would say he has given a priority to one of them but he hasn't dismissed a couple of others that we talked about."

From the city's point of view, said the Mayor, "it would be a tremendous tax advantage."

Tobin noted that Flatley, a contractor of national repute, had never done any work in Quincy despite the fact that his company is located on Wood Rd. in Braintree, almost on the Quincy line.

The Mayor said Flatley told him Tuesday morning that he "is very impressed with the business climate in Quincy, the vibrations and what's happening in the city."

He quoted a letter from Flatley as saying:

"I don't believe any one person attending your Economic Conference could be but influenced by the great attitude of joint development between government and the private sectors."

It was Rev. Baharian who first dropped Flatley's name into the Mayor's Economic Conference at the Neighborhood Club. Half jokingly, Baharian made up a scenario of what he and Flatley were going to say to each other if Flatley had not just left.

"I was going to say, 'Tom, do you feel that you're going to have a part in the construction of the future of Quincy in any major way?'" said Baharian.

"And Tom was going to say, 'Yes, I have some major plans for the city of Quincy. And I'm going to let the media hang on that without giving them any more information.'"

Later, Tobin told some 200 people at the conference that he had met with Flatley "and as they were trying to revive me with smelling salts I said, 'Get Baharian.'"

"I'm just flabbergasted."

"If what Tom told me today is what we anticipate we're on the move and this is good because a few months back Tom was upset with the economy of Massachusetts."

"But from what he told me today he is not upset; he is so happy about what is happening in the city of Quincy."

Tobin also disclosed that a family investment group from Genoa, Italy, expects to begin construction of a $10 million, 100,000-square foot office building on the site of former Grass Instrument Co., 100 Newport Ave., North Quincy.

He said the group already has an agreement to purchase the land and "if they receive adequate support from the city of Quincy and from a permanent lender they expect to make a substantial equity investment and begin construction by the end of the year."

Representatives of the Italian group toured the United States looking for a site, said Tobin, and just prior to leaving from Logan Airport they took one last trip around Greater Boston "and fell in love with the State Street South area."

Peter O'Connell of O'Connell Brothers Construction Co., who was being solicited by Baharian for a testimonial on Quincy, told the group that he would be starting two housing projects totaling $10 million in the next 90 days.

Since the economic conference, Tobin said, he has received two queries from companies that would like to locate stores in Quincy, possibly in the mall that is tentatively planned from the John Hancock Parking area.

"One company," he said, "wrote that it would like to talk about a department store, a small one of about 12,000 to 15,000 square feet."

"The district manager of a department store that has stores in Brockton and Revere came in yesterday (Monday) and said that the owner of his stores would like to be considered for tenancy."

Wollaston and 7,500 and 1,490 from Quincy.

"Equally meaningful as industrial and business development," he said, "is the increase in residential housing values next to our rapid transit system."

"The approximate increment of increased value for private dwellings is between $2,000 and $2,500 more than homes located a distance away requiring an auto ride to mass transportation."

Robert Kenney of Urban Consulting Associates Inc., who has frequently advised Quincy on development, said the most important factor in downtown development is a partnership between the public and private sectors.

"Without this, nothing can happen," he said.

"I go into some cities and I find that the businessmen want the city to do it all. If their business is in trouble it's because the city didn't do this or didn't do that. The city is always at fault."

"The business community has to do it's part. Businessmen have to effectively merchandise their products. They have to give people a reason for coming to the downtown."

"All these ingredients I think are in place in Quincy."

Kenney said the emphasis on development is now shifting back from the suburbs to the cities and the shift is going to escalate in the 1980s and 1990s.

"The balance is being righted," he said, "and this bodes well for cities such as Quincy, which is somewhat suburban but also a very well developed close-in city."

Mark Dickinson, who is in charge of commercial and industrial development and leasing for Grossman's, praised the close cooperation of the city in aiding his firm to lease the old Gilchrist building, which had been vacant for two years.

"We started negotiating last November with Garland Corp. for a women's department store," he said. "Early in December we made a deal but they insisted on being open by Dec. 18 to catch last minute Christmas shoppers."

"We were able to get a building permit in one hour and complete renovations on schedule for the Dec. 18 opening, a remarkable feat in the real estate business and impossible without the help of everyone in the city."

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly, who is chairman of the Council's Downtown Development Committee, cited the stability of the city government as "a prime ingredient in any development program."

"A majority of the city councillors have served as elected officials for more than five years and we have one individual, John Quinn, who has served as a city councillor for 22 years," he said.

"As developers and potential tenants you should be concerned with this for continuity of policy is important in cultivating a proper atmosphere for growth."

Morrisette Starts Fast, Quincy Hosts Braintree

The Morrisette Legion baseball team is off to a fast start in Zone 6 and took a 4-0 record into Tuesday's game with Canton.

Captain Ray Cattaneo's team will play at Holbrook Friday night at 8:30 and will be at Weymouth Monday at 6.

Meanwhile, Quincy, with only one win after three losses, will host Braintree Friday at 8 at Adams Field and will face Milton Monday at 8 at Adams. Winless Wollaston will be at Canton Friday at 6 and will host Holbrook Sunday at 8 at Adams.

Morrisette, a perennial Zone 6 power, bombed Hingham, 15-0, Monday at Hingham's Cronin Field as Gary Earle, who posted a 9-0 record this spring for North Quincy High's Suburban League champions, pitched a two-hitter and struck out eight to make him 2-0 for Morrisette.

Morrisette had 15 hits with Bob Biagini having three hits, Dave King, Fran Donovan and Earle two each. Both of Donovan's hits were doubles.

Last Friday Morrisette topped Randolph, 4-1, behind the three-hit, six-strikeout pitching of Ray Coscia.

Trailing, 1-0, Morrisette tied it in the third when Donovan and Coscia walked. Donovan went to third on a passed ball and scored on Biagini's sacrifice fly. Morrisette clinched the win with three in the fourth when Bill Deitsch walked and stole second. King walked. Kevin Howlett bunted the runners along and Don Perdios hit a long homer over the left center field fence at Adams Field. It was Coscia's second win in a row.

Earlier in the week Morrisette had topped Wollaston, 7-1, with Earle pitching another two-hitter and striking out 13.

Morrisette scored four runs in the first on singles by Biagini and Harry Donaghue, an error, Deitsch's single and a double by King. It added two in the second when Biagini singled and stole second. Donaghue walked and Billy O'Connell hit a two-run double.

In the third Morrisette added its final run when Deitsch reached on an error, stole second. King walked and Deitsch scored on another error.

Wollaston scored its only run in the sixth on hits by Travers and Segalla.

O'Connell and King drove in two runs each with doubles.

Morrisette had opened its season with a 12-4 win over Quincy.

Quincy snapped a three-game losing streak with an 8-4 win over Canton as Pat Ennis drove in five runs, including the game winner with a seventh inning bases loaded triple. Mike Smart was the winning pitcher but it took a five-run seventh to win it after Canton had scored three runs on two errors in the sixth to take a 4-3 lead. An RBI single by John Costigan in the first and a two-run single by Ennis had given Quincy a 3-0 lead.

Sports

DEAN CHRISTENSON of Quincy, a freshman, has completed a season playing in the outfield for the Curry College baseball team and has done a fine job for the Colonels.

Kelly Named

Tufts Golf Team MVP

Paul Kelly, a sophomore from Quincy, has been named the Most Valuable Player and earned a varsity letter with the golf team at Tufts University, coach Rocco Carzo has announced.

Kelly twice carded Tufts' lowest round of the season, 74, in dual match competition against Babson and Colby and had the low average on the team, 79.1.

"Paul has very good golf skills, but more than that he is an outstanding competitor," said Carzo. "He is going to be leader of Tufts golf for the next two years."

A's Sweep Suburban Softball Doubleheader

The A's (11-1), leading the South Suburban Softball League, swept its doubleheader with Watts 14-0, 15-8 and 8-3, to highlight the weekly twin bills.

The Paddock Club (10-2) split with the Indians, losing the opener, 7-6, and winning the second game, 4-1, and the Pirates (10-2) split with King's, winning the first game, 11-1, and bowing in the second, 7-0.

Other sweeps: Gutz over Sports Shack, 10-9 and 12-9; Gull Point over Stafford, 12-0 and 12-6; Spoilers over Tigers, 15-6 and 14-10, and Farrington Market over Aces, 14-7 and 6-3.

Coil springs for consistent operation — even after years of use. There are four in each Red Ryder. Two in many other shocks.

"O" ring piston seal — it makes sure the fluid flows through the valving — instead of uselessly bypassing it.

Red Ryder's 1 1/8" piston (40% larger than the pistons used in standard replacement shocks) helps Red Ryders shed heat faster — gives you more control when the going's rough.

Gabriel's special nine stage valving (many other shocks use only six) gives Red Ryders better resistance to fade.

Red Sox Take A.L. Pennant

The Red Sox edged the Angels, 4-3, to win the American League title in the Junior Farm League.

Winning pitcher Brett Heenev had 15 strikeouts. Jamie Walsh had a home run and doubled in the winning run. Scott Collins had three hits and Jay Moreschi and John Henry also had hits.

The Indians topped the Mets, 6-3, with Danny Herlihey the winning pitcher and Billy Murphy getting a save. David Southwick was the loser despite striking out 17. For the Indians Tad Sheets had two doubles and four runs batted in, while Bob Burgess played well at first base. Southwick and Mike Bartkus had two hits apiece for the Mets and Chris Higgins and Kevin Dempsey had doubles.

The Red Sox defeated the Orioles, 7-1, with winning pitcher Mike Dever striking out 16. Matt Furtado and Matt Hurley had home runs for the Sox and Diane Heenev drove in the winning runs. Jamie Walsh had three hits. Scott Collins two and John Henry had a double.

The Mets topped the Braves, 9-5, with Billy Roche the winner. Roche had 13 strikeouts and also drove in three runs with two hits. Tony Scola drove in four runs with a homer and single, and Neil Timberlake had a single and two RBI. Southwick, Andy Souza and Mark Molloy excelled on defense. For the Braves Kevin Segalla came into pitch in the third inning when the Mets scored seven runs and allowed only one more run. He also drove in four runs with two home runs. Wayne Chambers had three singles, Shawn O'Neil and Shawn Murphy two singles each. Keith Segalla a double and John Lacey, Jim Abdallah and Danny O'Brien a single each.

In earlier games, The Mets defeated the Dodgers, 15-12, with Bobby Roche the winner and Chris Higgins pitching well in relief. Mark Malloy had a double and triple and two RBI. Billy Roche a single and double, Richie Connelly two hits, Steve Connelly a hit and three RBI. Paul Scola a double and Neil Timberlake, Billy Wallace and David Southwick other hits. For the Dodgers, Bobby Dever had a triple.

collecting four hits including two triples. John Pennellator three hits including two homers and seven RBI. David Bouley two hits including a triple, and Brian Mosher, John Pacino, Matt Healey, Jay Rodriguez and Mike Sands a single each. Bouley was the winning pitcher and drove in the winning run in the seventh. Mosher pitched well in relief and Rodriguez scored the winner.

The Giants pounded the Dodgers, 15-5, with Jay DeBartolo the winner. Mosher had a single and two RBI. Kris Meyer three hits, Ostiguy two hits, Healey two hits including a homer and three RBI, and Pacino and Sands singles. For the Dodgers, Richard Dundero had a home run, Richard Armstrong and Bill Dineen triples and losing pitcher Dave Adams struck out 11.

The Angels defeated the Indians, 10-3, with Rich Nabstedt the winner with relief help from Mark Gillooly. Mark Lunnin, Steve Picarski, and Chris Conway hit home runs and Chris Barry, Conway and Steve Burkhammer had two hits each. Mike Halfrech and Paul Riley homered for the Indians and Tad Sheets had a ground rule double.

The Angels also pounded the Yankees 12-4, with Tony Orlando the winner and striking out 12. Burkhammer, Conway and Lunnin had home runs and Orlando, Barry and Ted Stevenson had three hits each.

The Mets edged the Angels in a wild one, 21-21. For the Angels Barry, Jim Ross, Picarski and Lunnin hit home runs, Kevin O'Brien hit a homer in the sixth to tie the score and Burkhammer, Orlando, Lunnin and O'Brien had three hits each. For the Mets, Malloy had three hits including two homers and drove in the winning run. Roche, the winning pitcher, had a triple, double and single. Mark Bartkus had a homer and Richie Connelly and Steve Connelly had two hits each.

The Red Sox bombed the Indians, 23-1, with Mike Dever pitching a no-hitter and striking out nine. Matt Hurley had a grand slam homer, Jamie Walsh, Matt Furtado, Jay Moreschi and Scott Collins hit homers and Mike Daly had three hits.

The Red Sox also topped the Yankees, 6-2, with Furtado and Moreschi having two hits each and Collins and Walsh one each.

Point Girls City Softball Champs

The Point Junior High girls' softball team ended Sterling's three-year reign as city champion last week when it upset Sterling, 17-15, to finish with a 6-2 record. Sterling finished 5-3.

These two teams have dominated the softball scene since the sport was introduced five years ago, Sterling winning three times and Point twice.

Maureen Flaherty paced the Sterling girls with three hits, including two home runs. Michelle Derbes had three hits.

Sterling previously had defeated

Point, 8-3. Nancy MacDonald, Denise DuPuis and Michelle Derbes had three hits each and Maureen Flaherty had two as Sterling pounded out 14 hits. Nancy MacDonald pitched a fine game and Kathy Duggan played excellent defense.

Kickers Bow To Abington

The North Quincy Kickers dropped a 4-2 decision to Abington in their final game of the season, after falling behind, 3-0, after three periods.

The Kickers came back and cut the margin to 3-2 on goals by Steve Morrissey and Steve Sweet. Morrissey kicked his in while prone on the ground, while Sweet was set up by a nice play by Joe Flynn and Lester Gerry. Forward Chris Dunn and fullback Tim Burke played well for the Kickers.

● St. John's League

R&R Wins A.L. Crown

Riley and Rielly Insurance won the St. John's Little League American League championship with a 15-8 playoff win over Gacia Insurance.

The teams had finished in a top tie with 14-2 records.

Danny Morris displayed some clutch pitching as he struck out 11 and walked only three. Riley and Rielly broke a close game open with eight runs in the fourth inning after Mark Callahan had matched Morris on the mound.

R and R scored two in the first inning only to have Gacia come back with four on key hits by Kudelka and P. J. Duggan. After three innings it was 6-5 Gacia.

Parry and Flynn had two hits each for R and R and Cacciatore and Zaccaro had home runs. Dan McCarthy and Callahan homered for Gacia and Duggan had three hits. Flynn made a circus catch the outfield to rob Callahan of a second homer.

Riley and Rielly opened a best of three series Tuesday against Alpine restaurant, the National League champion.

The league all-star game will be played Saturday morning at 10.

● HN Women's Softball

Castaways Edge Steamers On Defensive Plays

The Castaways edged the Steamers, 10-8, in the Houghs Neck Women's Softball League with two fine plays, a catch in right field by Doris Robertson and a shoestring catch by Donna O'Hare saving the day for the winners.

Joan Witham had a home run for the Steamers and Maureen O'Hare started an outstanding double play. The game went into extra innings and Jeane Reynolds' two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth won the game. June Brundle was the winning pitcher.

The Good News Bunnies and Foxy Fillies played to an exciting 13-13 tie in a game called after 10 innings due to darkness. The game was scheduled to be replayed last night (Wednesday). Sheila Chenette, usually a catcher, played well at third base for the Fillies and Vicki Mullaney went five for five. Karen Howard hit well for the Bunnies.

In the bottom of the seventh the Bunnies trailed, 12-8, but Jean McCarty hit a grand slam homer to tie it up. In the ninth Terry Provost homered for the Fillies but Jackie Gardner drove in the tying run for the Bunnies.

The Broad Squad breezed to a 28-7 win over the Sea Gals. In the winners' second inning Janice Gilmore hit a grand slam homer after hits by Linda Schofield, Elaine Kreuz and Rughie Burke had filled the bases. Joanne Dondoro started a fast double play in the third. For the Sea Gals Kathy McIntyre singled with the bases loaded in the fourth and with one out in the seventh, they scored three runs and hits by Madeline Knope, Dot Mortan and Lynn Walter filled the bases. Denise Walter then tripled home three more runs.

Remicks, Houghs Neck Setting League Pace

Remick's is leading the Junior Baseball League's American League with a 13-2 record, holding a slim edge over Foley Plymouth Chrysler (12-3).

In the National League Houghs Neck leads the way with a 10-5 mark, followed by Keohane's (8-7).

Foley's edged Keohane's, 8-6, with Billy Phillips winning his seventh game. Jackie Bolster hit two home runs, his seventh and eighth of the year, a double and single. Paul Miller and Phillips had two doubles apiece. Ed Boyle a double and Mat Elofson and Chris Marshall a single each. For Keohane's, Dennis Cronin and Keith Burt had a double and single apiece and Dan Baker and Paul Scibilio two singles each.

Foley's also walloped the Elks, 15-5, with Paul Marshall winning his fourth game. Foley's broke the game open with eight runs in the fifth inning. Bolster had a homer, double and single, Paul Marshall two doubles and a single, Elofson two singles, Chris Marshall a triple, Dave Phillips a double and Miller, Pete Furtado and Ed Boyle a single each.

Burgin Platner defeated Houghs Neck, 10-7, with Danny Kelly the winning pitcher. Burgin jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Andrew Pugliese walked and scored on John Christian's double and Cristiani scored on a passed ball. Houghs Neck scored a run in the second on John O'Connor's home run but Burgin came back with two in the top of the third with Pugliese having the key hit. HN scored another in its half on doubles by Haynes and Rick O'Malley. Burgin scored two more in the top of the fourth on a single by Richie Horrigan and Tommy Richardson's double, but HN came right back with two on O'Connor's double and Mike Ash's home run. Burgin scored three in the top of the fifth with a clutch double by Kelley the big blow, but HN came right back with three of its own with Mike Aboud's triple and Ash's second hit the key blows. Burgin finished up with a run in the top of the sixth on Cristiani's RBI single. Cristiani, Pugliese, Eric Roukey, Derek Holt and Mike Cocce had fine defensive plays for Burgin.

Sears edged Boston Gear, 4-3, with Jim Sheets the winning pitcher. Joe Barnes had a home run and Steve Austin had two hits. For Gear Dennis Napier made an out, landing catch in center field.

He r walloped Keohane's, 9-3, with Rich Pettinelli the winner, and Mike LaRoque combining for a three-hitter. The three Keohane runs were unearned. The win ended a seven-game losing streak for Gear, which previously had been bombed by Keohane's, 17-1. LaRoque had a triple and double, Steve Dever made a great debut for Gear with two triples. Pettinelli had a double and Jim Milano, Bill Heffernan and Dennis Napier also had hits. Chad Hallett, Scott Miller, Rich Dunham, Darren Kass and Jim Adams also played well. Ron Reichert and LaRoque made spectacular defensive plays in the last inning to stifle a potential rally. Jim Brett had two of Keohane's three hits, a double and single.

Remick's topped Burgin Platner, 8-3, with Chris Bunker the winning pitcher. Bunker struck out 10 and also paced the offensive with a triple and two singles. Steve Higgins had two hits and John McGlame, Tom Ryan, Greg McGlame and Jim Mayo also had hits. Jim Salvati pitched well and also had a long double for Burgin.

Remick's also blasted Sears, 16-5, with Higgins the winner. He now is 7-0. Bunker again led the way with four hits, including a grand slam homer, two doubles and a single. Higgins struck out 12 and had three hits. John McGlame and Mayo had three hits each. Don Guthro had two and Ryan, and Chris Rossi also had hits.

The American League all-stars will play Scituate Little League all-stars Saturday night at 7:30 at McCoy Field.

Playing for Quincy will be Ed Boyle, Jackie Bolster, Mat Elofson, Paul Miller, Paul Marshall, Bill Phillips, Mike Cocce, Dan Kelly, Steve Higgins, Chris Bunker, Bob McGlame, Tom Ryan, James McArdle, Bryan Chase, Steve Durant, Steve Kelly and Tom Connolly. Pete Cappola is the manager with Bob Foley and Jim Higgins assisting.

Whenever you think about men overcoming handicaps, did you know that men with only one arm have played big league baseball, and bigtime football, too... Outfielder Pete Gray, who had only one arm, played 77 games in the major leagues in 1945... And, guard Ellis Jones, who had only one arm, starred on the highly ranked University of Tulsa football teams of the early 1940s, and played in 3 bowl games, the Sugar Bowls of 1943-44 and the Orange Bowl of 1945!

Here's an oddity... The 1927 Yankees are often called the greatest team in baseball history - yet they do NOT hold the record for winning the most games in a season... The '27 Yanks won 110 games, but 2 other teams have won more in a year... The Cubs of 1906 won 116, and the Indians of 1954 won 111.

Here's an interesting question... Of all the teams in major league professional football, baseball, basketball and hockey today, there are only 3 whose nicknames do NOT end with the letter "S"... Can you name them?... They are the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox of baseball, and the New Orleans Jazz of pro basketball.

1807 Restoration Planned

Red Adams Birthplaces May Be Repainted Cream

By TOM HENSHAW

The little red Adams Birthplaces at the foot of Penn's Hill may not be red after architectural researchers from the U.S. National Parks Service get through restoring them to the way they were 172 years ago.

They probably will be sort of a cream color, according to the preliminary estimates made by Carole Perrault, architectural conservator from the North Atlantic Historic Preservation Center, a regional research arm of the USNPS.

Ms. Perrault and a team of four student architects have been making an inch-by-inch and layer-by-layer examination of the two old salt box houses on Franklin St., which were taken over officially by the Park Service in April.

The object is to restore them to the precise shape they were in 1807, the last year that an Adams lived in them. The whole job is expected to take from two to three years, depending upon the generosity of Congress in getting up the funds.

The four architectural students have just wound up two weeks of precise measurements of the floor plans and elevations of the houses — surprisingly, the first time it has ever been done. Finished plans will be stored for reference.

The students are Peter Darlow of Westboro, Mass., who attends McGill University; Laura Hochuli of Milwaukee, University of Wisconsin; Keith Andreucci of Fort Worth, Texas, University of Texas; and Deborah Dietsch of Washington, Columbia University.

They are working as a team for the summer for the Historic American Buildings Survey on the Birthplaces; on the Lowell City Hall and other buildings in the Lowell Historic District; and on the Paul Revere House in Boston.

Reconstructing the Adams Birthplaces to fit the year 1807 is probably the most challenging job of the three.

The buildings have been restored, altered, added to, repainted, remortared, replastered many times since they were built, one possibly in 1681, the other perhaps in 1716. It takes considerable detective work to determine what was done when.

Take the mortar, for instance — and one of the original brick walls is believed to be standing between a front room of the John Quincy Adams House and the lean-to that was added in back.

"The 17th Century mortar was made with clay," says Ms. Perrault. "The mortar used in the 1807 period was made with lime. Later on they used natural cement and now they use Portland cement."

So it's simple: If it's clay mortar, it was there in 1807. If it's lime mortar — maybe. Cement? No way.

The size of the shingles on the roof, which will all be replaced with shingles that are split by hand as in 1807, is determined by the distance between nail holes made by certain types of nails.

The oldest are hand-wrought. The next oldest are cut by machine but the heads are hand made. Then come completely machine cut nails and, lastly, those cut from wire.

The architectural team has even resorted to X-rays, using polaroid film on a portable machine, to peer inside the walls of the old houses to measure deterioration and the types of nails that will be found hidden in there.

Sometime later this year, an archaeologist will probe the grounds of the site to locate and date the outbuildings and an entomologist will examine the wood for insect holes — "or what really goes on behind the scenes," says Ms. Perrault.

State House Report

House Kills Gas Tax Hike

By RON IACOBUCCI

The Massachusetts House of Representatives on Tuesday voted 87-66 to defeat a proposal calling for an increase in the state's gasoline tax.

The proposal was part of a $250 million transportation bond issue intended for highway construction, improvement and maintenance. It included provisions for help to cities and towns with their highway programs and assistance to the MBTA and other forms of mass transportation.

Quincy was slated to receive $250,000 under terms of the measure.

The unpopular feature of the bond issue was inclusion of an increase in the gasoline tax. If approved the tax paid for gasoline by motorists would have increased from the present flat rate of 8.5 cents per gallon to a percentage of the wholesale price.

Locally Representative Thomas Brownell and Michael Morrissey voted against the tax increase and Rep. Robert Cerasoli voted in favor.

The House of Representatives recently gave preliminary approval to the controversial

Women have been in chains for years. I do not mean this as a political statement, but rather as a statement of fashion. Chains of gold, silver, and other materials have been worn around the neck, arms, and waists of women for centuries. They are still popular with both casual and more formal wear. The trend today is, however, toward heavier, more elaborate links. Variations run into twisting and braiding, color mix, multiple strands, and new faceting techniques that give a completely different sheen to regular chains. Prices range from nominal to very expensive depending on the weight and materials used.

Prior to voting approval the House adopted three amendments to the legislation. One will exempt distributors of beverage containers used in interstate passenger service, such as airlines and trains. The second amendment, adopted by a vote of 87-68, will disallow vending machine operators from providing refunds on the premises at the time of sale.

The House also adopted an amendment to delay implementation of the bill until July 1, 1980.

Several amendments that would cripple the bill were narrowly defeated. They included reimbursement of state monies to industries suffering a financial loss as a result of implementation of the bottle bill and a provision for a 1980 statewide non-binding referendum on the issue.

The Quincy delegation, Reps. Thomas Brownell, Michael Morrissey and Robert Cerasoli, voted in favor of the bill as amended. The bill now moves to the Senate where Sen. Paul Harold is expected to support it.

The following day the House gave preliminary approval, 131-21, to a $104 million deficiency budget to finance state operations in areas where funds from the regular budget have run out, and to finance new projects for which no appropriation was made last year.

The major cost item is a $74 million appropriation for Medicaid vendors. Many drugstores are currently seeking payment for overdue prescription bills.

Brownell, Morrissey and Cerasoli voted in favor of the deficiency budget.

During the past week both houses enacted and sent to the governor a bill calling for the re-naming of the Fore River Bridge as the James A. Burke Bridge, in honor of the Congressman who retired last year after more than 20 years in national politics.

The "Walking Sunday" legislation inspired by Mrs. Jennie Beatrice of Quincy and filed by Rep. Robert Cerasoli, has been approved by the House and Senate. It provides for proclamation of the second Sunday in June as "Walking Sunday" and urges all citizens to observe the day as a way of conserving gasoline and improving physical fitness.

As usual, The Quincy Co-operative Bank is paying the highest interest rates allowed by law.

Effective July 1, banks have been authorized to increase their interest rates on certain accounts. The Quincy Cooperative Bank is offering, effective July 1, the highest yields allowed by law.

Regular savings accounts, for instance, will go from $5\frac{1}{4}$ per cent interest to $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, with an effective annual yield of 5.73 per cent. Also we will be offering a new four year term certificate pegged at one per cent below average four year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.

Our knowledgeable, efficient personnel will be happy to explain these accounts to you at our main office or at our branches.

Here are the varied investment offerings we have for savers:

Annual Interest Rate	Account	Effective Annual Yield [Continuously Compounded]
5.00 %	NOW Accounts [$10 minimum balance]
5.50 %	Regular Savings Accounts [$10 minimum balance]	5.73 %
5.75 %	Serial Share Accounts
5.75 %	Paid Up Passbook [$100 minimum deposit]
	Paid Up Certificate [$200 minimum deposit]
5.75 %	90-Day Notice Savings [$10 minimum balance]	6.00 %
6.50 %	1-2 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	6.81 %
6.75 %	2½-3 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.08 %
7.50 %	4-5 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.90 %
8.00 %	8 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	8.45 %
26 Week Term Deposit Certificates [$10,000 minimum deposit] Guaranteed rate is the maximum allowable under the law. Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest during term of the account. For the latest annual rate contact any of our offices. The bank reserves the right to terminate the availability of these 26 week certificates at any time without notice.
4-year Term Deposits [NEW] [$1,000 minimum deposit] 1% below average 4 year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.

State and Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of a Term Deposit. In addition, for all term deposits issued after 7/1/79, there will be a straight forfeiture of 6 months interest on accounts with an initial term exceeding 1 year and a straight 3-month forfeiture on times a year or less.

'Can't Get Them Fast Enough'

Siphoning Fears To Rush For Locking Gas Caps

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

There may be one commodity harder to come by lately than gasoline: locking gas caps.

A check of several local auto part stores showed that they're pretty scarce.

"We can't get them fast enough," said Tom Merideth, of Bob's Auto Parts, 496

Hancock St., North Quincy. "I can't get them at all," said Bob Martin of Standard Auto Gear, 671 Southern Artery, Quincy Center.

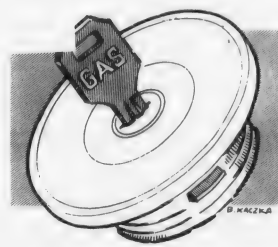

Jim Hawkins, manager of Foreign Auto Parts, 835 Hancock St., Wollaston, said his store has never stocked the gas caps but added, "I wish I had a nickel or even a penny for every call I've had the last couple of weeks. I'd be rich."

One reason for the rush, of course, is the gas shortage and consumers' resulting fear of having gas siphoned.

"Most of the people who come in here have had that happen," Martin said.

Traffic Commission Studies Proposed Shaw St. Tow Zone

The Traffic Commission is considering making Shaw St. near the intersection of Washington St. in Quincy Point a tow zone to correct parking problems there.

City Council Daniel G. Raymond proposed that the tow zone extend up the odd-numbered side of Shaw St. to No. 5, which is already a "no parking" zone.

"The police have great difficulty enforcing it now," he said.

At the request of Councillor

John J. Lydon Jr., the Traffic Commission is also studying the feasibility of placing a stop sign for southbound traffic on Fayette St. at the intersection of Holbrook Rd., Wollaston, where there have been several accidents.

At Hotel Site

Office Complex, Civic Center In Grossman Plans

By TOM HENSHAW

Grossman Development Properties Inc. is interested in developing an office complex and civic center to accompany the proposed 150-room hotel in the Ross Parking area.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin placed no cost figure on the proposal but he indicated that it could be used to bring up the city's private-public funding ratio when seeking a new UDAG grant.

The federal grant, similar to one that was obtained to build a parking garage over the MBTA tracks at Granite St., will be sought to construct another garage near the proposed hotel.

The first UDAG grant was successful despite the fact that the city's ratio of private to government money was only 3 1/2 to 1 instead of the 5 to 1 ratio frequently used as a rule of thumb.

Tobin said he doubts if the city could get another such grant with only a 3 1/2 to 1 ratio.

The hotel, a Howard Johnson

Gasoline Update: Getting Better

Don't make any reservations on Cape Cod yet, but city officials say the gasoline situation for the Fourth of July and coming weekends is looking up.

Police Captain Paul LaFIVE described last weekend's gas situation as "beautiful." While things weren't quite back to pre-shortage conditions, motorists and city officials both report stations were open a little longer, the lines a little shorter and the gas a little more plentiful than on past weekends.

"The outlook for the Fourth should be just as good," says Robert Trakins, manager of the city's energy conservation, who described last weekend as going "pretty well."

Part of the reason for the relative ease in the gas crunch is emergency allocations from the

City Departments Told To Set Example On Gasoline Conservation

City employees must set an example for the city in conserving gasoline, Richard Koch, city energy conservation director said in a recent memo to all departments.

Besides distributing a pamphlet, "How to Save Gasoline and Money", printed by the U.S. Department of Energy, Koch also warned users of city-owned vehicles to avoid wasting gas.

"There is a tendency on the part of a number of municipal vehicle operators to allow motorized equipment to idle unnecessarily for periods of time, wasting needed gasoline and also resulting in carbon buildup hampering the efficient operation of the vehicle and wasting an even greater amount of fuel," Koch said.

"It is hoped that the above practice will cease," he continued. "Periodic checks will be made and department heads notified of any abuses."

Unnecessary trips should also be avoided, Koch said.

"Public service must lead the way to insure credibility with the general public," he added.

The City Council accepted gifts to the city totalling $10,300 Friday night, including $7,500 from the "Run For Your Life" committee to set up a "heart station" at City Hospital.

road race May 6 in which 170 runners took part, collecting $13,000 in pledges.

Councillor Joanne Condon, a member of the committee, said the $7,500 is an initial gift to start the program and the balance will be available to cover other costs.

The $7,500 will be used to buy a treadmill exercise unit and cardiac ultra-sound equipment for the program which will be set up at the Gordon House Outpatient Complex.

"We expect the equipment will rapidly generate revenue," she said. The income will cover future costs and improvements in the program.

Condon said that Dr. Gerard L. Gaughan, who has been pushing for the program, will donate his professional services until the project has become profitable for the hospital.

The next road race, she said, will be held May 4, 1980.

Other gifts accepted by the Council included:

- $1,800 from the Sons of Italy for repair of Quincy Auxiliary Police motorcycles.
- $100 from the Quincy Legion Post for the Civil Defense ambulance fund.
- $900 from International Business Machines for the Quincy Underwater Recovery Team.

Raymondi Asks Supervision For Point-Webster Playground

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi has asked that one of the city's summer employees be stationed at a tots' playground at the Point-Webster School in Quincy Point to provide supervision and maintain control.

"It has been brought to my attention," he said in a letter to Mayor Tobin, "that young children are being bothered, and in some instances injured, because of the presence and aggressive behavior of older teenagers.

"The area has also been subjected to acts of vandalism and destruction."

Raymondi also urged the School Committee "to restrict the use of the area to an appropriate age group and to an appropriate time and to place a sign on the fence to this effect."

He said he also wants the Police Department "to make constant checks on the area in the evening hours in order to minimize the chances of vandalism."

President Leland Powers School Houghs Neck Man Woodward Principal

By PETER BARNICLE

Quincy-born Robert L. Johnston of Newton St., Houghs Neck, executive director and president of the Leland Powers School of Radio, Television and Theater, has been named principal of the Woodward School for Girls.

Johnston, who succeeds Mrs. Eunice Gilford, has had wide experience as an educator and administrator in this country and in the Far East.

He graduated from Quincy High School in 1951 and received his bachelor's degree from Boston University's College of Liberal Arts in 1955. Following completion of his studies at B.U.'s School of Theology in 1958 he served 12 years at Edwards Congregational Church in Framingham.

In 1970 he joined the International Training Institute in Chicago.

"This is a sort of 'think tank' where we studied various types of education and basic teaching techniques," he said.

From Chicago he went to Fukuo, Japan, to direct a language school teaching English as a second language to the Japanese. He also conducted seminars throughout Japan and Korea.

Johnston returned to Boston in 1972 to become administrative vice president to Chandler School and later executive director and president of the Leland Powers School.

"Most of the girls who graduate from Woodward, about 80 percent of them, go on to college," Johnston said. "I hope to continue the liberal arts tradition. I would like to see more emphasis on the theater, dance, and music."

He admitted that having just taken over the post he has not had time to formulate any plans for the coming session. These will have to wait until he confers with the board of supervisors, the board of managers and the faculty.

Johnston is married to the former Carol Schuerch of Houghs Neck, a graduate of Quincy City Hospital School of Nursing. Mrs. Johnston is presently assistant director of nursing at Parker Hill Medical Center, Boston.

The couple have two children. Brenda, 19, is a graduate of Woodward and has just completed her first year at Boston College School of Management; Peter, 16, is a student at Quincy High School and during the summer working as a cook at a girl's camp in New Hampshire.

Johnston's brother, David, a former principal at the Adams School in Quincy, is now principal at East Somerville Community School.

Eight Take Out Papers For Fall City Election

As of Monday, July 2, a total of eight potential candidates had taken out nomination papers for the fall municipal election.

They were:

Abe M. Itkin, 176 Presidents Lane, for mayor.

Kathleen O'Donnell, 1025 Hancock St. for Ward 2 councillor.

Francis X. McCauley, 210 Manet Ave., for councillor at large.

Michael J. Kelly, 130 Standish Rd., for Ward 6 councillor.

Richard J. Koch Jr., 38 Whiton Ave., for councillor at large.

Joanne Condon, 70 Botolph St., for Ward 6 councillor.

Michael Faherty, 28 Furnace Brook Ave., for councillor at large.

John H. McDuff Jr., 216 South St., for school committee.

The only one of the candidates who had not previously announced an intention to run was McDuff, who is listed as a hospital supervisor and a resident of Quincy for two years.

Candidates have until Friday, Aug. 3, to take out nomination papers and until Tuesday, Aug. 7, to return them with at least 50 valid signatures.

The preliminary election is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 11, provided there are at least three candidates for mayor, seven for councillor at large, or three for ward councillors.

The general election is Tuesday, Nov. 5.

Quincy Elks Award 27 Scholarships Totalling $6,500

Quincy Lodge of Elks awarded 27 cash scholarships to South Shore students in a ceremony conducted at the conclusion of the Flag Day exercises held at the Lodge, 1220 Hancock St.

The three nursing scholarships and 24 other awards totaled $6,500. Thomas M. Garrity, scholarship chairman, said it is the largest amount given out by the Quincy Elks. He added that funds for the scholarships come mostly from the Elks' Sunday night bingo games.

In addition to the scholarships a special plaque was presented to Janet Dufresne, financial aid director, at the Quincy City Hospital School of Nursing, which has graduated its last class. The plaque is inscribed "in gratitude and grateful appreciation of many years of devotion and participation in the Elks Scholarship program."

The nursing scholarships were awarded to Elaine Schwartz and Diane Lawton, both of Quincy, and Kathleen McCormick of Braintree.

Student scholarship recipients from Quincy were: Michael W. Alcott, Diane M. Bach, Mary P. Barr, Margaret J. Burchill, GERALYN P. Foy, Lisa L.

Grazioso, Brian J. Hewitt, Donna M. Iavicoli, Karen Keeley, Maureen McBride, Melissa S. McCauley, Allev E. McInnis, Janine Mudge, John C. Murphy, Ralph A. Pickering, William J. Trifone and Jane A. Vallier.

From Braintree: Sheila E. Casserly, Susanne E. LeMarre, Laura L. Leonard, Kenneth A. Olson, Gail E. Perkins and James R. Queenan.

From Weymouth: Gerald Cody.

At the Flag Day exercises a history of the flag was given by George R. Alcott with the assistance of a troop of Boy Scouts. He traced the history of the various flags from the Pine Tree Flag of 1775 through the adoption of the Stars and Stripes.

State Senator Paul Harold was guest speaker and commended the Elks as one of the nation's most patriotic organizations.

Eagle scouts, John Fortin, Dean Graves and Edward Miller, were presented certificates of achievement, a $25 savings bond, and a miniature flag, by Martin Blake, chairman of the Flag Day program and Exalted Ruler Leo Nunnari.

NURSING SCHOLARSHIPS were awarded by Quincy Lodge of Elks following Flag Day exercises at the Elks Lodge, Quincy. From left, Thomas M. McGrath On NQHS Vote Switch:

'Time To Finish The Job Once And For All'

By TOM HENSHAW

"I am going to reverse my vote taken in committee and vote in favor of this loan order tonight," City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath told his colleagues last week.

"The time has now come to finish the job once and for all."

With that, the City Council voted 6-3 to approve a $1.5 million bond issue to finish renovating and enlarging North Quincy High School, bringing the total cost of the job to $17 million.

The Finance Committee, made up of all nine Council members, had recommended approval of the bond by a 5-4 vote with McGrath, Joanne Condon, Daniel G. Raymond and Leo J. Kelly in opposition.

A two-thirds vote, or 6-3, is necessary from the Council to pass a bond issue.

"My vote in committee," McGrath told his fellow councillors, "was based on my belief that it was the correct action based on the information I had."

"My vote tonight is based on additional clarification I have received as well as written assurance from the contractor that this is to be held harmless to claims in excess of the negotiated amount."

Mrs. Condon indicated that she might change her opposition vote if the limit of the bond issue were scaled down to $1 million but she could not get a second to her amendment motion.

Both Raymond and Kelly remained adamantly against the bond.

"I represent a section," said Raymond, "that has just about had it with this particular issue."

"They've invested $15.5 million in a building they don't feel was needed. They don't feel there is any justification for any cost increases. When people sign contracts they should perform on them."

"It is my opinion," said Kelly, "that in the existing bond, if it was realigned, tightened up and changed radically, there is possibly enough money to finish the school."

Councillor Francis X. McCauley spoke in favor of the bond issue.

"We had disrupted the educational process of the student of North Quincy High School, Atlantic Junior High School and the Quantum School long enough," he said.

"Tonight we ought to think of these students and see that this job is completed so they will be in that school by September of 1980. Let's finish the job."

The bond proposal was broken down into $600,000 for delay claims, $150,000 for additional architect's fees, $350,000 for additional equipment costs and $375,000 for contingencies.

Mrs. Condon questioned the need for some of the equipment listed by School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon that would be purchased under the bond.

It included tooth brushes ["I question bonding the purchase of tooth brushes over a period of 20 years"] and an electric eraser cleaner ["What happened to the days of clapping erasers?"]

Also paper cup dispensers, towel dispensers, a three-hole punch, rubber dish pans, a dozen six-foot mop handles, measuring tape, waste baskets and Mr. Coffee coffee-makers.

"Some of these things are not needed and could reduce the bond issue," Mrs. Condon suggested.

McGrath introduced a letter from Blount Brothers, the general contractor, holding the city "harmless of any further claims from subcontractors for delays which occurred prior to Feb. 20, 1979, the date of official acceptance of Phase II of the contract, and that extends the completion date to April 6, 1980."

At this time, the letter said, "Blount is aware of no delay claims pending for Phase III."

McGrath said his investigations determined that subcontractors' original delay claims had been $917,000 but they had been negotiated down to $596,000.

"By settling for the negotiated amount," he said, "the city will be held harmless by the general contractor from the higher claim of the subcontractors."

McGrath said that he "read through every change order, every delay claim and every other piece of documentation on the matter" before changing his vote.

"I was not satisfied with certain aspects of information given to us to justify the bond," he said.

"I was unclear as to the nature of the delay claim, the period which the claim was for, what protection the city had against additional claims and why money was necessary now for future anticipated expenditures."

"I have spent two lengthy sessions with the architect, the contractor, the Public Works commissioner and the city solicitor and another lengthy session with the superintendent of schools."

"I believe the city is as well protected as it can be."

"I could not in good conscience refuse to vote for the bond in the light of my questions and reservations being answered."

"The City Council has performed its function of pointing out the errors and problems of this project. The situation is laid out for the entire city to see, I, as a city councillor, am satisfied."

McCauley recalled that he attended his first meeting as a member of the School Committee early in 1972 and the committee voted unanimously a plan to solve North Quincy's space problems.

"I left that meeting saying, 'Well, that's one project we won't have to worry about any more,'" he said.

"If someone told me that night that nearly eight years later we would still be talking about it, I would have called for the men in the white coats."

32 Playgrounds Open

Thirty-two playgrounds throughout the city this week opened for the eight week summer period, according to Charles L. Alongi, director of recreation.

Each playground will be supervised by two recreation department leaders from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Activities will include boy's leagues in basketball and baseball and basketball and softball for girls.

Playgrounds in Ward I are:

Russell Park, Baker, Chapel, LaBrecque, Talfrail, Riverview, Snug Harbor, Heron Rd., Perkins and Macy; Ward 2: Elm St., Fore River, Pollard, Pond St., Adams and Faxon Park; Ward 3: Whitwell, Forbes Hill, Stoney Brae, Wollaston and Bishop Park; Ward 4: Shea Rink, O'Rourke, Kincaide, and Grasso; Ward 5: Beechwood Knoll, Mass. Fields, and Fenno St.; Ward 6: Atlantic, Myles Standish, Squantum and Welcome Young.

James Ladass Awarded Janet Jensen Scholarship

James Ladass of Stoney Brae Rd., Wollaston, has been awarded the first QE-A-Janet C. Jensen Cranch School scholarship, established in honor of a retired assistant principal of the school.

Ladass, a former student of Miss Jensen at Cranch, graduated from Quincy High School and is now enrolled at Stonehill College.

Former students and colleagues and the Cranch

School PTO established the scholarship to be awarded in perpetuity to a graduate of the school. The fund will be administered by the Quincy Education Association.

School Committee Citation: Sun Publisher, Ledger Editor Receive Awards

Distinguished Service Citations of the Quincy School Committee were presented Henry W. Bosworth Jr., editor-publisher of The Quincy Sun, and Richard W. Carlisle, retired news editor of The Patriot Ledger, at last week's meeting of the committee.

Both men were cited for their continued support of the public school system and their interest in the youth of the community.

Carlisle, who retired recently, was described as a "scholar-journalist" who in his 38 years as a newsman had always been cooperative with the schools and their objectives.

Bosworth was cited for making "an outstanding contribution to the vitality of the community."

The committee noted that the reporting in The Sun "reflects his firm conviction that fundamental to sustaining the American way of life is respect for the dignity and worth of each individual." The committee also praised him for having "so generously contributed his time and energy to assist all youth in their academic and recreational activities."

In accepting the citation Bosworth said that he felt he should be giving the school committee an award for its assistance to him in promoting the work of the Muscular Dystrophy Association. He mentioned last year's walkathon which was run by a committee headed by school committee member Mary Collins. And the spelling bee this spring during which more than $8,000 was raised, one of the most successful such drives in the country.

Mrs. Collins was also chairman of that event.

Bosworth is co-chairman with Richard J. Koch of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telathon Committee which each year raises funds for Muscular Dystrophy.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CITATIONS are presented to Henry W. Bosworth, Jr. (left), publisher-editor of The Quincy Sun, and Richard W. Carlisle, retired news editor of the Patriot Ledger, by School Committeeman John J. Sullivan. Citations were made to mark ongoing contributions of both men to the youth of Quincy.

Flagpole Dedication Wednesday In Memory Of Harold Shaw

A flagpole will be dedicated to the memory of Harold C. Shaw of Houghs Neck at ceremonies to be held at 11:45 a.m. on July 4th at LaBrecque Field, Darrow St., Houghs Neck.

Mr. Shaw, known as "A Friend to All", was an outstanding blood donor to the Red Cross, veterans and civilian hospitals. Over the years he donated 104 pints of blood. For many years he refurbished weather-dulled bronze markers on veterans' graves at Mount Wollaston Cemetery just before Memorial Day.

Outside Mass At St. John's July 4 Observance

A con-celebrated outdoor Mass at 4 p.m. will begin the 4th of July festivities of St. John's Church, Quincy.

Daniel Tinney Promoted

Daniel Tinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Tinney, 30 Water St., South Quincy, recently was promoted to Army private first class while serving as a military policeman with the 202nd Military Police Company in Glessen, Germany.

He entered the Army in June, 1978. He attended Quincy Junior College.

Although he was never in military service himself, he and his wife, Dorothy, saw eight sons go off to World War II.

The American flag to be raised during the ceremonies has flown over the Capitol in Washington in memory of Shaw, and is being donated by Congressman Brian Donnelly.

A Red Cross van will attend to sign up any who wish to pledge a blood donation.

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly will deliver the address at the ceremonies. Other speakers will be Mayor Arthur Tobin; Thomas McDonald of Quincy, newly-elected state commander of the VFW; Daniel Pritchard, executive director, Quincy Red Cross Chapter. William Morrill, commander of Houghs Neck Legion Post, will be master of ceremonies.

Councillor Kelly is chairman of the committee, assisted by Morrill, Willard Timcoe and Mary Timcoe.

Joseph Pinel, 86, Long Active As Boy Scout Volunteer

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy, for Joseph W. Pinel, 86, of Quincy, former co-owner of the Pinel Tool Company of Quincy.

Mr. Pinel died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital following a brief illness. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

He was a lifelong resident of Quincy and was educated in Quincy public schools. On his retirement in the 1960's he sold his interest in the tool company.

He was active in the Boy Scouts for 69 years and in 1948 was presented the Silver Beaver Award, the highest award given to a Boy Scout volunteer. He was active in the Quincy Rotary Club and was a member of the South Shore Rotary Club Council. He was also a former member of the Quincy board of cemeteries.

He is survived by his wife, Anna M. (Lehmann) Pinel; son, Joseph W. Pinel Jr., of Quincy; two brothers, Philip J. Pinel and Edgar L. Pinel, both of Quincy; three granddaughters and three great grandchildren.

Federico DiMeo, 96, Retired Masonry Contractor

A funeral Mass was celebrated Monday in St. John's Church, Quincy, for Federico DiMeo, 96, a 60 year resident of Quincy.

Mr. DiMeo died Friday at Quincy Nursing Home. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Born in Italy, he resided in Quincy for many years and was a retired, self-employed masonry contractor.

He was the husband of the late Vincenza (D'Eramo) DiMeo and is survived by six daughters, Mary Mann, Michele Sacchetti, both of Weymouth; Lucy Frangipane of Quincy, Eleanor Simpson of Weymouth, Susan DiMeo of Quincy, Margaret Muraski of West Haven, Conn.; three sons, Americo DiMeo of Quincy, William P. DiMeo of Randolph, and Fred DiMeo of Quincy; 17 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

Domenico Piccarini, 83, Retired Shipyard Worker

A funeral Mass was celebrated in St. John's Church, Quincy, on Monday for Domenico Piccarini, 83, of Quincy, a retired maintenance worker at the Bethlehem Steel Shipyard.

Mr. Piccarini died Friday on his arrival for admission to Quincy City Hospital. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Born in Italy, Mr. Piccarini resided in Quincy for 68 years. He retired in 1960 after 43 years with the shipyard. He was a member of the Aragona Society.

He is survived by his wife, Rosaria (Parello) Piccarini; two sons, Angelo Piccarini and Joseph Piccarini, both of Quincy; six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Gaudias Joubert, 81, Retired Police Officer

A funeral Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Jerome's Church, North Weymouth, for Gaudias [Joel] Joubert, 81, of North Weymouth, a retired Quincy police officer.

Mr. Joubert died Sunday at New England Sinai Hospital, Stoughton, after a long illness. Burial will be in Mount Wollaston Cemetery, Quincy.

He was born in Fall River and attended school in that city. He resided in Quincy for 40 years and moved to North Weymouth 20 years ago. He served in the Marines during World War I.

He retired from the Quincy police department in 1973. He was a member of the Quincy Police Relief Society and the Mass. Police Relief Association.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret S. [Sullivan] Joubert of North Weymouth; five sons, G. Joseph Joubert Jr., of El Cajon, Calif., Francis S. Joubert of Thousand Oaks, Calif., Donald P. Joubert of Weymouth, William G. Joubert of Hull, and John R. Joubert of Milton; a daughter, Mrs. Jean M. Casna, of Weymouth; three brothers, Arthur Joubert of Georgia, Albert Joubert and Paul Joubert, both of Rhode Island; two sisters, Mrs. Lea Melanson of Quincy, and Mrs. Yvonne Champagne of North Attleboro; 22-grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral arrangements are by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Lucy Mills, 76, Retired Jordan Marsh Supervisor

Funeral services were held at Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy, Monday for Lucy G. Mills, 76, of Quincy, a retired supervisor for Jordan Marsh Company, Boston.

Miss Mills died Friday at Quincy City Hospital. The services were conducted by Rev. John D. Banks, pastor of Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Born in Nova Scotia, she lived in Quincy most of her life.

She is survived by three nephews, James C. Demore of Quincy, Charles T. Crocker of Weymouth and William T. Mills; and a niece, Patricia A. Walsh of Quincy.

Don't Blame Sheets

Are there a lot of people angry at Councillor James Sheets for leading the fight to close the early morning operations of that all-night gas station on Willard St. in West Quincy?

Apparently not. Sheets says he hasn't exactly been inundated with phone calls.

After the City Licensing Board cut the station's operating hours from 24 to 16 (close at 9 p.m.) the following sign was posted outside the station near the gasoline pumps:

"We Have Lots of Gas But Thanks To City Councillor Jim Sheets We Have To Close At 9 P.M. If You Don't Like This, Let Sheets Know."

So?

"It's been very quiet," said Sheets. "In the first two days I had a total of 14 calls about evenly divided for me and against me."

He said he wasn't sure how to count one woman caller who was on the phone three times. Once to call his son, Jimmy, a "jerk". Again to call his wife, Joann, a "jerk". And, a third time to call Sheets himself a "jerk".

"The pro-closing callers," Sheets said, "appreciate the fact that the night crowd is not going to rule the streets."

When the station was open 24 hours a day, it was drawing lines of as many as 60 to 80 cars in the early morning hours. Neighbors complained of drinking, profanity, littering, noise and vandalism by waiting drivers.

It would seem the real jerks in the matter were those kind of people in the lines who obviously didn't appreciate a good thing when they had it.

They're the kind of jerks who always spoil things for other people.

Don't blame Sheets or the City Licensing Board. Blame these jerks.

JULY 4th marks the 203rd birthday of this nation and the 153rd anniversary of the death of John Adams, one of the men who helped make it all possible.

Another, of course, was Thomas Jefferson.

Both of them, ironically, died on July 4, 1826—the 50th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. Adams died at the Adams Mansion here in Quincy just three months and 15 days before his 91st birthday. His last words: "Jefferson survives".

Unknown to him, Jefferson that very same day had died before him. There was no radio or TV to flash the word.

Four days before he died, Adams was asked to give a toast to his fellow Quincy residents and the old man replied: "I will give you independence forever."

Asked if he would add to that, he declared:

"Not a syllable".

Those are good words to remember—anytime.

Cites Faulty Containers, Carelessness

Fire Dept. Warns On Hazards Of Gasoline

High price and short supply are not the only problems involved in the current gasoline crisis.

"Faulty containers and careless storage of gasoline are increasing problems that can have tragic results," says Deputy Chief Carl V. Valenti of the Fire Department's Fire Prevention Bureau.

The Bureau is currently checking Quincy stores that sell gasoline containers and directing that those cans which do not meet approval be removed from the shelves immediately.

Deputy Valenti also warned that gasoline should not be stored in any building used for habitation, only in a well-ventilated place outdoors such as a shed or a garage.

"Under state law," said Chief Valenti, "only one quart of gasoline in an approved container can be stored in any place used for habitation unless a permit has been issued by the head of the fire department."

"Gasoline fumes are heavier than air and will spread over the entire area in which they are stored. A furnace or gas-fired water heater could ignite the vapors and carry flames back to the container."

"The flash point of gasoline is minus 45 degrees Fahrenheit."

"Another dangerous practice," said Valenti, "is carrying a gasoline container in the trunk of your car. The trunk will heat up on a hot day and the gasoline will expand causing dangerous vapors."

"If your vehicle is hit from the rear it might cause the container to rupture with disastrous results. This can happen even if the container is an approved one."

"Always treat gasoline as the very highly flammable fluid that it is."

Valenti listed the Fire Prevention Regulations governing the purchase and storage of small amounts of gasoline:

FPR 4, Rule 42 "No gasoline shall be delivered into a portable container having a maximum capacity of seven gallons or less which is not labeled in accordance with the pertinent provisions of Rule 44A of these regulations."

Flagrant violation of this rule could result in loss of license.

FPR 4, Rule 44A "No person shall sell or offer for sale any container having a capacity of seven gallons or less which in any way is represented as being suitable for the storage and or transportation of gasoline unless such container has been approved by the marshal and has permanently affixed thereon a statement of approval, an approval number, and the date of approval as issued by the marshal.

"This rule shall not apply to safety cans, so-called, which bear the listing of a nationally recognized testing laboratory (such as Underwriters Laboratories Inc. and Factory Mutual Research)."

FPR 7, Rule 36 "No person shall sell, offer for sale, advertise for sale, give, lease, or otherwise transfer for consideration or without consideration any container intended for the keeping, storage, use, handling, transportation or other disposition of gasoline unless such container shall have been approved by the marshal as safe for such purposes."

Valenti also called attention to Chapter 148, Section 15, of the General Laws, which says:

"Whoever knowingly violates or knowingly causes or permits the violation of any regulation adopted and prescribed for the transportation of... inflammable fluids or compounds shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year or both."

President's Wreath To Be Placed At John Quincy Adams Tomb

A Presidential wreath will be placed on the tomb of John Quincy Adams in United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq., at 10 a.m., July 11, marking the 212th birthday of the second president of the United States.

Navy Capt. Frank Sequeira, commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Training Center in Quincy, will represent President Carter at the ceremony. Mayor Tobin has been invited to accept the wreath on behalf of the city, and William Flavin will represent the church.

A tour group from the West Coast is expected to be stopping at the Church of the Presidents at the time of the ceremonies.

Gas Crisis Boosts MBTA

Ms. Dixon said the MBTA regarded the increase as significant.

Thanks Raymondi For Ward 2 Police Meeting

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I have never written a letter to the editor before but I would like to express my thanks to Ward 2 Councillor Dan Raymondi for sponsoring a meeting with the Quincy Police Department at the Fore River Club House on June 21st. It was a very informative meeting. We talked about neighborhood police matters and we learned many helpful hints on securing our homes. Various crime prevention techniques were explained to us.

The Neighborhood Watch slide presentation, for example, opened my eyes to many things that are happening. I understand that Mr. Raymondi is planning other meetings in different sections of the ward and I strongly urge all residents to attend.

It's nice to have such a hard working and dedicated young man on the city council.

A 'Thank You' From Danny Thomas For St. Jude Hospital Contribution

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The television benefit for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital aired on WNAC-TV Channel 7, May 28, raised over $500,000. Persons in the New England area pledged over $180,000 of the total. The contributions enable the hospital to carry on its extensive research and medical care for children afflicted with leukemia and other catastrophic childhood diseases.

Since its founding in 1962, St. Jude Hospital has treated more than 6,000 children from all over the world and we have made enormous progress in our battle against leukemia. Research findings are freely shared with other medical centers and all medical care, which is free of charge, is made possible by the generosity of the American public.

It is important that we continue our conquest of these dreaded childhood diseases that destroy our young before they have a chance at life.

We thank everyone for their continuing support.

'Constituents Want It'

Quincy Representatives Vote For Death Penalty

All three members of Quincy's delegation to the State Legislature voted for a bill to reinstate the death penalty, which, they emphasized, is what their constituents wanted.

But Reps. Robert A. Cerasoli, Thomas F. Brownell and Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) all conceded that the bill, which is now in third House reading, is of doubtful constitutionality.

Cerasoli said his most recent survey of his district, which includes Quincy Point and parts of Weymouth, showed 76.8 per cent for the death penalty, 19.3 per cent against and 3.9 per cent of no opinion.

"Personally," he said, "I have no philosophical or moral hangup about executing people who have thrown aside the structure of society, and wantonly and viciously murder people.

"It's unfortunate that lives have to be taken but I don't think that the government can rehabilitate these people and I don't think the government should try.

"We are now getting to the point when people will commit a robbery and then casually turn and shoot people to death as an afterthought.

"I think the death penalty is necessary as a deterrent which will at least prevent people like that from murdering more than once."

Brownell said he had three reasons for voting in favor of the death penalty, which hasn't been used in Massachusetts in more than 30 years.

"It is a deterrent," he said. "Regardless of the evidence against it, there is a certain class of people that it does deter.

"And if a person is serving a life sentence and he murders a colleague, what penalty can you provide now after the first one?"

Brownell said the legislation that was voted out of the Judiciary Committee "guarantees a fair and equitable use of the death penalty, which was not always so in the past."

He noted that, even if the bill passes the House and Senate and is signed by Gov. King, it could not be implemented until a constitutional amendment is passed. That could take at least four years.

Morrissey said he has seen a lot of public support for capital punishment in his surveys of his constituents.

MORRISSEY

"The bill would permit the death penalty for those convicted of killing policemen, firefighters, corrections officers and rape or kidnap victims."

By TOM HENSHAW

BROWNELL

"In the past couple of weeks," he said, "I have received 25 calls in favor of the bill and only three against it.

"I may not personally agree with the death penalty 100 per cent but I believe strongly in its use in the limited instances contained in the bill."

To Prepare For Winter

Cong. Donnelly Urges Home Heating Oil Buildup

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly [D-Boston] and the New England Congressional Caucus have appealed to President Carter to establish a task force to insure adequate heating oil supplies this winter.

"The current gasoline shortage has annoyed and angered the American public," said Donnelly. "However, if there is insufficient heating oil next winter, there is a distinct possibility that people who are either poor or elderly will freeze to death in their homes."

The Congressman called it "a totally unacceptable consequence of the country's failure to formulate an effective energy policy."

The NECC noted in its letter to Carter that middle distillate, including home heating oil, has been at dangerously low levels of inventory since March and that a "safe" inventory of 240 million barrels must be built by Oct. 1.

"In order to meet the goal," said the NECC, "we need to add approximately one million barrels of distillates to our inventories during every day of June, July, August and September."

Major refiner suppliers must within the next few weeks renew contracts with retailers and independent wholesalers at historical volumes and contract pricing terms if a normal restoration of supplies in home tanks is to occur, the letter said.

"It should be made clear that those refiners who have not renewed contract volumes and prices will be immediately placed under emergency allocation controls," said the NECC.

"With the deadline less than four months away, the Administration must be prepared to act swiftly with its broad regulatory authority to get distillate production up to acceptable levels."

Historic Launching For USS Long Beach

John A. McCone, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, was set to be the principal speaker at the July 14 launching of the 14,000 cruiser Long Beach, the Navy's first nuclear surface ship, at Bethlehem's Fore River Shipyard.

Navy Secretary William B. Franke and Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of Naval Operations, also were scheduled to be on hand as the Long Beach and the guided missile destroyer Macdonough were floated out together from the same basin.

Meanwhile, James McGonnigal, executive secretary of Local 5, said that new demands made by Bethlehem during early contract talks in New York were a threat to the completion of nuclear-powered ships under construction at Fore River.

McGonnigal said the company had demanded changes in each of the 26 articles in the agreement with the union, including the substitution of the words "skill and efficiency" for "length of service" in the section covering layoffs.

The three-year contract for 7,700 Fore River workers, signed in November, 1956, was to expire at the end of July.

BAND DEBUT IN ADAMS SHORE

The new 10-member junior band of the Adams Shore Community Club played the national anthem at the holiday flag-raising in John R. O'Hara Square, Adams Shore.

RAIDERS WIN

Consecutive singles by Joanne Huber, Mary Pratt and Marjorie Pyle produced the only run as Chiminello's Raiders defeated Caggiano's All Stars of Lynn, 1-0, to maintain their tie for first place in the Tri State Girls Softball League.

SUNBURN COMFORTING

Despite all of the warnings about preventing sunburn, there's a good chance that in your haste to obtain that summer glow, you'll overdo it and burn anyway. If this is your unfortunate case, here's some advice on easing the pain and discomfort.

Try one of the many excellent sunburn relief preparations on the market. Most contain ingredients to relieve pain, make skin feel cooler, and prevent infection to sun-damaged tissues. Aspirin will make you feel better too -- it's a pain killer, and reduces the inflammation that sometimes accompanies a bad burn.

If you're in total agony and can't bear the touch of sheets or clothing, pop into a cool tub or wrap yourself up in a body turban of icy-wet towels -- it will make life tolerable. If your burn is extremely severe, by all means, seek medical help.

Michael Dowling Exhibit At Main Library

Michael Dowling of Wollaston will exhibit his oil paintings, mostly scenic, in the Main Hall Gallery of the Thomas Crane Public Library, beginning July 10 and continuing through Aug. 13.

Michael began his early training with Carmen Ungar also of Wollaston. He went on to Boston University School of Visual Arts, receiving his Masters in Fine Arts about six weeks ago. His thesis work was shown in the B.U. Art Gallery.

Boston University has two of his paintings in its permanent collection, and Boston College High has five. Also a number of his paintings are privately owned. He has exhibited several times in the Scituate Arts Festival. About three years ago he had his first one man show at Bette's Rolls Royce.

CITY COUNCIL CHAMBER walls are adorned with three of seven prints loaned by the new owners of Sherry's Restaurant. The prints include pictures of the three Presidents born in Norfolk County, John F. Owners Of Sherry's Loan Historic Pictures To City For Council Chamber

The owners of Sherry's have loaned seven historic pictures to the city to be displayed in the City Council's chambers.

Francis, Robert and Thomas Palmer, owners of the Southern Artery restaurant, donated the pictures "out of the patriotism we have for our city—the city we live and work in," according to Francis Palmer.

Noting the historic value of the pictures, Robert Palmer said "They're part of the city. They belong here (in City Hall)."

The three brothers recently assumed ownership of Sherry's, formerly known as Peter's Landing and decided City Hall would be an appropriate place for the pictures, which had been hanging in the restaurant for many years.

hanging in the council chambers, is a 19th century print of the West Quincy blast furnace.

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly, who arranged the loan of the pictures, said he was "very pleased" with the Palmer brothers' gesture and said "they really dress up the chambers."

Also appearing soon on the walls of the council chamber will be portraits of former mayors and councilors, Kelly said.

The portraits of Kennedy and the two Adamses commemorate the fact that Norfolk County is the only county in the nation which has been the birthplace of three presidents, Kelly said. John and John Quincy Adams were born in Quincy, of course, while Kennedy was born in Brookline.

From A Diary 'Tin Cans And Other Ships' Quincy Architect's Story Of World War II

By PETER BARNICLE

"Everybody has his own story about what he was doing during World War II, and this is mine," Joseph A. Donahue says in explaining how he came to write "Tin Cans and Other Ships" [Christopher House: North Quincy].

Donahue, who lives in Squantum and is a successful architect with offices in Quincy, served a good part of the war aboard the destroyer Niblack as a gunner's mate on North Atlantic convoys and later in the Mediterranean.

In the last months of the war he was assigned to the cruiser Oklahoma City attached to Admiral Halsey's Task Force 38 in the Pacific.

All during the war Donahue faithfully kept a diary, a form of recreation the Navy frowned on.

"I don't think I was the only one on the ship who kept a diary," he said. "If I had been called on it I don't know what I would have done. Perhaps I would have been court-martialed."

"But, on the ship I was on they probably would have said 'let's tear it up and forget about it.' Destroyers are pretty informal. I'm sure some of the officers saw me taking photographs once in a while. They ignored that, too."

After the war Donahue attended the Boston Architectural Center and went to work for architectural firms in the area. In 1958 he became a registered architect and set up his own firm.

Among the buildings he designed in the Quincy area are the new Quincy District Court, the Quincy Nursing Home, McGrath Hwy., the Ross Parking Garage, North Quincy Public Library and the seniors housing project at 80 Clay St.

For 30 years the old war diary lay in a bookcase while he devoted himself to his career.

"Back about three years ago I dragged it out one night," he said. "I had forgotten a lot of things I had written, but just reading them over in the diary brought them to mind more vividly. It occurred to me that there were a lot of other guys who had served in the Navy whose memories had dimmed over the years. A good many of them. I thought, would get a kick out of recalling some of the ships they had served with and some of the ships that had served in the same theaters of the war."

With this in mind he set about embellishing the diary. He researched the war to fill in some of the "big picture" and contacted the Navy and former shipmates.

"It was like eating peanuts, once I got started I couldn't stop," he said. "I'm not much for television. I prefer to read or write."

Donahue, a graduate of Brighton High School, joined the Navy on Dec. 12, 1941, five days after Pearl Harbor, and was aboard the Oklahoma City when she steamed into Tokyo Bay after the Japanese surrender.

With the aid of his diary Donahue has been able to vividly recall cold, mountainous seas of the North Atlantic during the Niblack's convoy duty between the United States, Canada, and the British Isles.

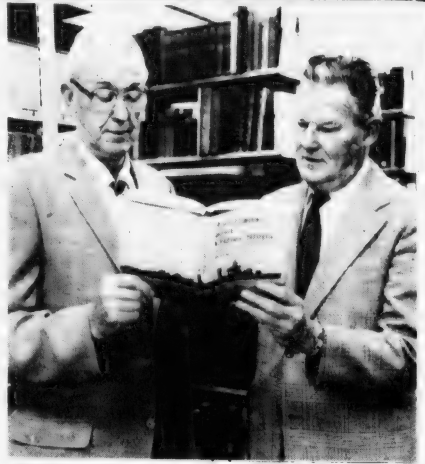

He also recalls the days ashore in Northern Ireland [where he made it a point to look up relatives] and in Scotland where he had one of those fleeting moments all servicemen remember.

He participated in the North African landings and later was at Sicily and at Salerno, Anzio and Malta under heavy attack from German U-boats and German aircraft.

In addition to the exploits of the Niblack he includes the names and positions of dozens of other warships, both American and British, which were in the formations.

In May 1944, while on duty in the Mediterranean, the Niblack and the destroyer Ludlow were attacked by a U-boat. In the ensuing encounter their depth charges forced the U-960 to the surface and a number of the crew was captured.

Among the prisoners was the submarine's commander, Capt. Guenther Heinrich, now living in retirement in Hamburg, West Germany.

Donahue has been in touch with the Niblack's wartime commander, Capt. Roy R. Conner, now living in Santa Barbara, Calif. Conner, the author said, has suggested a reunion of the crew.

Donahue said he has already located more than 50 members of the crew and hopes to have them get together in Bath, Me., where the ship was built, or in Boston, where it was commissioned.

As an added touch he is going to invite Capt. Heinrich.

"I don't think there would be any animosity. The war is long over. After all they were doing their thing and we were doing ours."

After months in the Mediterranean and a visit home, Donahue was transferred to the Pacific theater and a cruiser.

Donahue said he has no intention of embarking on a literary career.

"That's it as far as I'm concerned," he said.

Donahue is married to the former Frances Cerub of Westport, Ct. They have five children, Paul, 30, of Braintree with Microsonics in Weymouth; Patricia, 29, of Marblehead, a Delta Airlines stewardess; Brian, 25, associated with his father; and the twins, Sean and Judith, 16, students at North Quincy High School.

PRESTON CARROLL

MIKE KELLY

Carroll, Kelly, McKinnon

Northeastern University Continues Quincy Look

The Northeastern University baseball teams for years have featured a number of Quincy and North Quincy players and this spring was no exception as outfielder Preston Carroll of Quincy and pitcher Mike Kelly and catcher Steve McKinnon of North played with the Huskies.

In the past as many as seven Quincy and North players were on the roster.

This year both McKinnon and Kelly were injured for a good part of the season and never had a chance to play to their promising potentials.

A senior accounting major, McKinnon was used only sparingly as a pinch hitter and he may be eligible to play in his fifth year at the five-year cooperative education school.

Hampered all year by nagging injuries, Kelly was able to pitch only three innings in two games, but he allowed only two hits and one earned run in that time for a 3.00 ERA. He is a junior physical education major.

Carroll, meanwhile, performed much better than anyone expected. After making a name as one of the Husky football team's finest safety men, he took to catching flies this spring in center field almost without error. He was not charged with an error until the 23rd game of a 26-game schedule.

While his fielding was consistent, his big bat had many opposing pitchers shaking in their spikes. His 44 total bases and three home runs were second on the team and he was tied for the lead in doubles with four.

"Preston can be one of the greatest outfielders in the area," said Coach Tinker Connelly of the junior physical education major. "He has exceptional speed, is an excellent fly catcher and has good power to complement his defensive ability." Carroll is currently starring for the Quincy Bay Mariners of the South Coastal League.

He was a three-sport star at Quincy High, lettering in football, basketball and baseball. He captained the football team in his senior year. He won his first baseball letter at NU this year.

Kelly played both baseball and basketball at North Quincy High, while McKinnon was a Suburban League all-star catcher and a Boston Globe All-Scholastic. Kelly earned his third baseball letter at NU and McKinnon earned his fourth.

Central Girls Edge Atlantic For Capture City Title

The Central Junior High girls' track team edged Atlantic, 36-31, to win the city-wide championship as Point, Broad Meadows and Sterling finished well behind last week in the city-wide meet at Veterans' Memorial Stadium.

During the regular season Central also had edged Atlantic by five points.

Once again it was Central's domination of the field events which gave it the city crown as it outsourced Atlantic, 24-2, in these events. Atlantic had outsourced the champions, 29-12, in the running events. Sparking Atlantic, coached by Ron Adams and Theresa Hughes, in the varsity meet were Karen Lindenfelzer, Deidre Donovan, Laura Coughlin and Martha Donaghue, who won the one-lap relay and set a school record for the third time, finishing in 44.70. These girls have never lost a relay race.

Lindenfelzer also won the 440, Donovan took third in the 100 and fourth in the high jump and Donaghue finished a close second in the hurdles with an excellent 7.0 timing. She finished her season with four wins and one second. Donaghue and Donovan tied for most points over the regular season with 38½ points apiece.

Also excelling for Atlantic were Linda Kennedy, Kathy McCarthy, Erin Horrigan and Ann Gorczyca, who combined to take third in the two-lap relay. Kennedy also was second in the mile, giving her four wins and a second for the season. McCarthy took fourth in the 100 and shot put and Horrigan took second in the 880.

In the junior varsity championships Central also dominated the field events to edge Atlantic, 42-40, after Atlantic had taken a 37-20 edge in the running events.

Maria McGurl, Cathie Burke, Sue Ann Sterin, Patti Markham, Patti Salton and Cheryl LeBlanc all won for Atlantic, with McGurl winning the hurdles in 7.69, Burke winning the mile and Sterin taking an impressive win in the 880. Markham, Salton, LeBlanc and McGurl teamed up to win their fifth consecutive relay and finish unbeaten.

Other scorers for Atlantic were Mary Ellen Timmins, second in the 880; Markham, second in the 100; Amanda Mujica, fourth in the mile; McGurl (only a 7th grader), fourth in the high jump; Coughlin, third in the 100; Salton, third in the shot and Jean Ward, Ellen DeLuca, Mujica and Susan O'Brien, third in the two-lap relay.

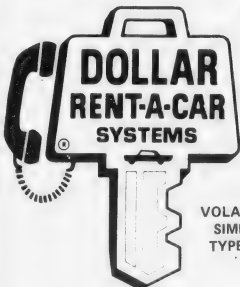

Golf Instructions

Golf instruction will begin the week of July 3 at several of the city's playgrounds. City Recreation Director Charles Alongi announces the summer schedule:

Atlantic Wins Boys Jayvee Championship

Mark Conroy's Atlantic Junior High boys' junior varsity track team won the city-wide championship last week, outscoring Central, 65-51. Broad Meadows had 10 points, Sterling three and Point failed to score.

For Atlantic Mark Balzarini and John DeLappe finished 1-2 in the hurdles, Olavo Macedo and Paul Egan were 2-3 in the 100, Barry Higgins won the 440, Ken MacDonald and Fazal Rashid were 1-4 in the 880, Dan Johnson and Bob McDaniel were 2-3 in the mile, MacDonald, Colin MacLeod and Macedo were 1-3-4 in the long jump, Brian Ellis won the high jump, Balzarini and Nick Gelsomini were 2-3 in the shot put and the two-lap relay team of Higgins, Rashid, McDaniel and Johnson won.

In their final regular season meet the Atlantic jayvees rolled over Broad Meadows, 73-7, with Bob Varnado winning the hurdles, Egan the 100, Higgins the 440, Rashid the 880, Johnson the mile, Balzarini the shot and McLeod the long jump. Also winning were the one-lap relay team of John Tamburi, Varnado, Jim White and Dean Christensen and the two-lap team of Ed Tasney, Mike Costa, Johnson and Higgins.

Boating, Sailing Program

Registration for the Quincy Park-Recreation Board summer boating and sailing program will be held Tuesday, July 3, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the William F. Ryan boating facility on Black's Creek.

Classes in rowing, sailing and canoeing will be offered Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., starting July 5. Classes are open to children ages 8-16 who pass a qualifying swim test.

Adult instruction will be provided by appointment on weekdays between 4 and 8 p.m.

In addition there will be adult and family recreational sailing available Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sundays from noon to 6 p.m.

The fleet consists of 10 Widgeon sailboats, eight fiberglass rowboats and six canoes. Registration fees for the eight week program are $1.50 for children, $2.50 for adults and $5 for families.

Sterling Takes Baseball Crown

Ed Miller's Sterling Junior High baseball team won the city championship with an 11-4 win over Point to finish with a 6-1 record. Broad Meadows had a chance to tie for the title but lost its final game to end with a 5-2 mark.

Tom Richards drove in four runs for Sterling with a single and double in the fourth and fifth innings. Glen Oriola was the winning pitcher, striking out four and not issuing a walk.

Wollaston Faces Weymouth

Morrisette, Quincy To Clash Friday Night

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, which took a 5-1 Zone 6 record into Monday's big game with Weymouth (5-1) will host Quincy Friday night at 8 at Adams Field.

Tuesday night at 8 Morrisette takes on Milton at Adams and next Wednesday will be home to Braintree (5-1) at 8 at Adams in another critical game.

Quincy, with a 1-5 mark, after facing Morrisette Friday night, will meet Wollaston Monday at 8 at Adams and will play at Randolph Wednesday at 6.

Wollaston (2-5-1) will host Weymouth Sunday at 8 at Adams and will meet Quincy Monday.

Morrisette rebounded from its only loss to bomb Holbrook, 13-1, last Friday night at Holbrook as Paul O'Toole pitched a two-hitter and Dave King, batting .733, went three for three and drove in five runs to spark a 14-hit attack.

O'Toole was making his first Zone 6 start after blanking Taunton, 4-0, in an exhibition game.

King, one of the top batters for North Quincy's Suburban League champions this spring, drove in the winning runs in the first inning with a triple to left for two runs.

Morrisette scored a run in the third on King's RBI single following a hit by Bob Biagini, who had three hits, and a walk to Harry Donaghue. In the sixth Don Perdios drove in a run with a long triple and two more runs scored with Kevin Howlett's single was misplayed into four bases. Morrisette made a runaway of the game with seven runs in the seventh on six hits. King adding his fourth and fifth RBI by a bases-loaded single. Perdios followed with a two-run double. Fran Donovan blooped a double into right and Biagini finished it off with a two-run homer.

Earlier in the week Canton shocked Morrisette, 6-5, for its first win in four years over the Quincy team. Canton jumped off to a 5-1 lead with an exhibition of base running which gave Biagini, one of the premier catchers in the league, fits.

"I didn't expect them to run like that and I don't think Bob expected it, either," said Coach Ray Cattaneo. "They pulled a surprise double steal which helped them score four runs in the fifth. Every year we get beat in a game like this and losses like this hurt you."

Morrisette tied the game with three runs in the fifth and one in the sixth.

In the fifth Biagini reached on an error. Donaghue walked and Bill O'Connell drove both in with a double. Bill Deutsch singled O'Connell to third from where he scored on a throwing error while Deutsch attempted to steal second. A fast double play prevented further scoring. In the sixth Howlett blasted a ground rule double over the 385-foot mark in left center field at Adams. Donovan reached on a fielders choice, stole second and scored on pinch hitter Gary Earle's single.

Canton won it with a run in the top of the seventh.

Braintree defeated Quincy, 8-4, Friday, as Kevin Kirkland shut down a three-run Quincy rally in the third which cut Braintree's lead to 5-4, and blanked Quincy the rest of the way.

Trailing, 5-0, Quincy scored a run in the second when Ron Prezioso tripled to deep center and scored when the relay throw bounced off his arm.

In the third Quincy scored three times when John Costigan, Steve Healy, Dave Nagle and relief pitcher Greg Madden all singled and Prezioso walked to force in a run and Kirkland took over. He gave up the third run of the inning on a grounder. He later gave up two singles to Nagle and a double to Dean Prescott but avoided further trouble and his mates gave him three insurance runs.

Earlier in the week Quincy had dropped a 7-4 decision to Weymouth. Prezioso had three hits and Pat Ennis added two for Quincy. Prezioso drove in a run in the second, he scored the second run when he tripled and scored on Rich King's single. Chris Petrillo walked with the bases loaded for the final run.

Darkness may have prevented Wollaston from taking its third win Friday. Wollaston took a 4-3 lead in the seventh but the game had to be called and the score reverted back to the sixth and a 3-3 tie with Canton.

Paul McConville, in his first Legion start, pitched 52 3-innings, giving up five hits and three runs. Jim Travers drove in two runs with a home run.

Wollaston had been bashed by Hingham, 14-1, after defeating Randolph, 6-3, for its second win.

Bob Lindenfelzer pitched fine ball for Wollaston against Randolph, striking out nine. John Cavanaugh had the key hit, a two-run single with the bases loaded. Glenn Segalla made several good catches in right field.

Road Race Saturday To Benefit MDA

Quincy runners are invited to compete in a 5.3 mile road race to be held Saturday, July 7 in Weymouth to aid the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Runners will gather at Bridge and Neck Sts., across from St. Jerome's Church, in North Weymouth at 10 a.m.

Advance registration is $3.50 paid in person at St. Jerome's Church, Friday, July 6, from noon to 4 p.m. Runners can also register the day of the race beginning at 9 a.m. in front of St. Jerome's by paying a $5 entrance fee.

The race is open to every one over 14 years old. Participants will compete for six first place trophies for the fastest male and female in each of three age divisions. Division I: ages 14-18; Division II:

19-35; and Division III: 36 and older. Ribbons will be presented to the second and third place winners.

Race organizer James O'Connor of Weymouth said "More than 100 runners are expected to participate. We hope to raise $500 to help people who have muscle-wasting diseases."

Local businesses supporting the race include: Harborlight Mall, Weymouth; Remick's of Quincy; Hancock Bank and Trust Co., Quincy; Hay Printers, Weymouth; and McDonald's, Weymouth.

Proceeds of the race will provide programs of research and medical services benefiting people in the South Shore area who have any of the 38 diseases MDA covers.

Raindate is July 14.

Riley & Rielly Rebound To Win Championship

Riley & Rielly bounced back from an opening game loss to win the St. John's Little League championship with two straight wins over Alpine Restaurant in the playoff series.

Alpine had won the opener, 8-6, with Al Martel pitching well and also collecting two home runs and a double. Steve Cigliano had three hits and Bobby Volpe hit a home run. For Riley & Rielly Danny Morris hit two home runs, John Cacciatore had a home and double, Dean Vanelli a homer, and Bob Flynn two hits. Joe Zacheo caught a fine game and Don Perry pitched well in defeat.

R & R came back to bomb Alpine, 19-2, with winning pitcher Morris striking out 11 and not walking a batter. He also had three hits, Don Parry had two, Vanelli collected four including a homer, Jimmy Sturgeon had two including a homer and Scott Flaherty played well at second base. For Alpine Steve Spadorcia had three hits and played strong defense and Jimmy Burke did some excellent relief pitching in his first appearance on the mound.

R & R won the clincher, 8-7, with Flynn driving in the winning run with a single following Cacciatore's double. Morris had a homer and Sturgeon led off the game with a home run. Zacheo played well behind the plate. Joe Cipriano ran the team for Coach Bob Cahill.

For Alpine Martel pitched well, Tony Koury hit a home run and played solid defense, Kevin Capabiantri had three hits. Cigliano and Volpe played well in the field.

Golden Defeats Barry's, Elks

Golden Print defeated Barry's Deli, 8-3, in the Babe Ruth winning pitcher.

Golden broke a 3-3 tie with three runs in the sixth inning and added two in the sixth. Balzano, who pitched five-hit ball, had three hits and Brian Reale, Sean Martin and Bobby Ready had two each. For Barry's Frank Reynolds had two hits and Dave Morrocco, Chris Baker and Mike Marshall one apiece.

Golden also walked the Elks, 14-7, scoring seven runs in the second inning. Reale was the winning pitcher. It was his fourth win. Martin had three hits, Reale two and Jeff Timberlake, Bobby Ready, Mike Hassey, Balzano and John Toland one each. Reale and Martin had triples. For the Elks Dean Zoia had three hits, Tommy Heffernan two and Steve Peceovich and David Cuervals one each.

In earlier games:

Houghs Neck leads the Quincy Babe Ruth League's American League with a 9-4 record, while the Police Club leads the National League with a 10-4 mark.

Houghs Neck edged Granite City Electric, 3-2, Monday with Marty McLoughlin edging Scott Mele in a fine pitching duel. Houghs Neck scored all its runs in the first and Granite City scored both runs in the third. It was McLoughlin's pitching debut and he pitched five-hit ball, struck out six and walked only one. He also was on base three times with a hit and two walks. Scott Matthews and Dan Dunn drove in the HN runs. Mele allowed only six hits and Bob Mudge had a long triple. HN also edged Morrisette, 3-1, with Dan Dunn pitching a two-hitter to improve his record to 5-0.

He struck out six and walked four. Mike Sullivan was the hard luck loser. McLoughlin had two hits and Matthews, Ross Connerty and Dunn drove in the runs.

The VFW blasted the Police Club, 9-3, with Mike Cullen the winner. Jack Brown's homer paced the VFW to its sixth win in a row. Cullen struck out 10 to remain unbeaten. Brown and Steve Hogan had two hits each and Eric Swanson, Bob Grant and Jim Jaehnig had one apiece. The Police Club was paced by Mike Morris with three hits, Chris Dracchio with two and Jim Bandera and Mark Baker with one each.

VFW walloped Fireman, 8-2, with winning pitcher Mike Kurey scattering seven hits. Jean Pillard's key hits in the first and sixth innings drove in five runs. Hogan, Brown and Kurey added singles. Mike Miller and Bill McBerney had two hits apiece, each having a triple and single, while Eames, Scolari and Graham had other hits for the Firemen. Miller played strong defense at shortstop.

Houghs Neck blanked the Elks, 5-0, behind the three-hit pitching of Tom O'Connor. Scott Matthews and Steve Sacchetti had two hits apiece for HN and Chris Matthews played another excellent game at first base.

Harvey's Veterans Fishing Day Set For July 11

Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club will hold its 18th annual Veterans Day fishing expedition Wednesday, July 11, leaving Hurley's Wharf, Houghs Neck, at 10 a.m. for four hours of fishing.

Sixty veterans from the Soldiers Home in Chelsea and 30 amputees from the Brockton VA Hospital will be taken in about 20 boats escorted by Coast Guard, Registry and Quincy Police boats.

They will return at 2 p.m. for a flag-raising by Boy Scout Charles Leuchte and the National Anthem sung by David Carboneau, plus a roast beef dinner with all the fixings.

Veterans Day Chairman is Frank Locke.

The maximum recorded life span of a trout is 41 years.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You
By ROBERT COLMAN

Here's a baseball oddity ... You'd think having a .400 hitter would help a team, but did you know that no major league team ever won a pennant when one of their regular players hit over .400! ... Since 1900, there have been 13 times when a big league player hit over .400 for the season -- and on each of those 13 occasions, the team with a .400 hitter failed to finish first. ... Any manager would welcome a .400 hitter, yet so far, all of them have been jinxes as far as winning a pennant is concerned.

Here's an interesting baseball question for you ... What member of baseball's Hall of Fame struck out every time he came to bat one season? ... The answer is Sandy Koufax ... During the 1955 season, Sandy came to bat 12 times during the year -- and struck out all 12 times.

Who would you say was the youngest person ever to lead a major league in home runs at the end of any season? ... Answer is Tony Conigliaro who won the home run title of the American League in 1965 at the age of 20, and thereby became the youngest homer champ in big league history.

I bet you didn't know ... That Colman's has everything to make your summer fun more fun! Whatever your sport or pastime ... Fishing, golf, tennis, swimming, camping, baseball, jogging, water skiing, summer games ... You will find just what you need at Colman's. And, at Colman's low, low prices. • South Suburban Softball

Paddock, A's Division Pacers

The Paddock Cafe leads Division 1 and the A's pace Division 2 in the South Suburban Softball League with 12-2 records.

In the last set of games the A's split with Division 2 runnerup Pirates, the A's winning, 12-3, and the Pirates 7-6. King's topped the Aces, 9-6, but the Aces rebounded, 12-2; the Tigers edged Gull Point, 9-8; the Warriors took two from the Spartans, 15-8 and 17-8. The Spoilers swept the Indians, 7-0 and 11-0, and the Koch Club won two from Watts Labs, 17-5 and 9-8.

Pam Meany Wins Youth Classic Medal

Pam Meany of the host club won the medal in last week's local qualifying round for the 1979 Insurance Youth Classic at the Braintree Golf Club.

Pam shot an even par round of 72 as did Paul Jepsen of the Leo J. Martin Club, who lost the medal on the first playoff hole. Joining these two in the state finals at Greenfield Country Club on July 19 and 20 will be Ken Whalley (74) of Colonial and Bob O'Brien (77) of South Shore. O'Brien defeated Brad Cartwright (77) of Wollaston on the third extra hole. Cartwright is the first alternate. Al Ragg (80) of Scituate the second and David Bluestein (80) of Wollaston the third.

Leaders from the state finals will go on to the national championships Aug. 3-7 at Ann Arbor, Mich. It is the final stage of the tournament that the juniors will be paired with stars from the PGA tour, including Masters champion Fuzzy Zoller and the 1978 Open champion Andy North.

This yr's qualifying tourney was sponsored by the Hurley Insurance Agency of Quincy.

In addition to qualifying for the main event, there was fun competition in the following age groups:

Seniors (15-17). Pamy Meany, Braintree, medalist, and Paul Jepsen, Leo Martin, runnerup; juniors (13-14). Ted Wheeler, Wollaston, medalist, and Jim Ward, Cohasset, runnerup; junior-juniors (12 and under). Jeff Hartwell, Cohasset, medalist, and Matthew Glennon, Cohasset, runnerup.

Scanlan, Hayes Win B.C. High Most Valuable Player Awards

Jim Scanlan of Quincy, goalie and senior co-captain of the Boston College High School varsity hockey team, was awarded the Most Valuable Player award at the recent awards night.

Jim was goalie of the freshman and junior varsity teams and in his junior year he was named starting goalie on the varsity.

He began his hockey career in the Quincy Youth Hockey program and played on several all-star teams, during which time he received several awards. He will be attending Stonehill College and will try out for the hockey team there.

Junior Bobby Hayes of Quincy was awarded the Gannon Trophy, an undergraduate Most Valuable Player award. He was junior co-captain.

Hayes, who is a center but also plays wing and defense, was named to the varsity in his junior year. He and Scanlan were named co-captains by Coach Paul Wilson.

Jim and Bobby played together in their Midget years in the Quincy program under Bobby's father, Bob Hayes Sr. Their teams won trophies locally as well as on trips to Canada.

The Unsung Hero Award went to Bob Sullivan of Milton, a graduate of the Milton Youth Hockey programs. Bob, who also is graduating, has been accepted and will be reporting to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Big Rush On Locking Gas Caps

An employee in the auto department at Sears Roebuck and Co., 1591 Hancock St., Quincy Center, said "quite a few" of those persons seeking the locking caps say they've lost gas through siphoning.

But, Quincy Police Captain Paul Nestor said only three siphoning complaints

USS Quincy Reunion

Men who served aboard the USS Quincy will hold a reunion Sept. 14-16, at the Catamaran Hotel, San Diego, Calif.

The weekend will include the showing of films the USS Quincy participated in during World War II.

had been received by the Police Department at last check.

Nestor had several tips for persons worried about having their gas siphoned:

- Park your car in an open, well-lit place, where siphoners can be easily seen.

- If you park in a garage, back in or park near the wall, so the tank is tough to get to.

The surest method to prevent siphoning is to buy a locking gas cap.

Lots of people have been trying to do just that.

Bob's Auto Parts has sold about 100 caps in the last 10 days, said Merideth, who said the store was getting 30 to 40 calls a day asking about them.

"We have some, but all the popular models are out," he said.

Scott Paine, of General Auto Supply, 415

Washington St., Quincy Point, said that store had sold about 60 locking caps a week for the last two or three weeks.

The Sears employee said the store's last shipment of 50 or 60 caps had sold out in less than a week.

He called the demand "unbelievable...we can't keep them in stock."

The demand hasn't driven up the price yet, the retailers said.

Martin claimed most of his caps sold for between $6 and $8. That's been the price since this April, before the gas crunch hit in earnest, he said. The caps sold for $7 or $8 dollars at General Auto Supply and about $5 at Sears when they're in stock, employees there said.

"If I had a million, I could sell them all," Martin said.

franchise, is being planned by Sage Motor Hotels of Boston, whose president, Robert Sage, said it would take 2½ years through the planning and building stages.

Meanwhile, the acquisition of federal funds is looming larger and larger in the Quincy development picture.

Tobin said he has learned that the city may also be eligible for an Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) to renovate the Ross Parking Garage at a cost of $150,000 to $175,000.

And he displayed early this week a five-foot long computer printout from Cong. Brian J. Donnelly (D-Boston) containing a list of 125 possible grants for which Quincy meets eligibility criteria.

Tobin said that Judy Cullen, a new member of the Planning Department, has been named to pursue the economic development funds available, except for Community Development Block Grants.

Appropriately, Miss Cullen is federally funded herself, with her salary as a member of the Planning Department coming from the Community Development Block Grant.

Gasoline Situation Getting Better

state set-aside reserve, Traknis said. This is the five percent of every company's gasoline which the state purchases before it is distributed to dealers. The gas is then sold directly to dealers in regions where it is needed most.

Up to 8000 gallons from this reserve was delivered to each station which promised to stay open over the weekend.

How long does 8000 gallons last?

"I pumped 1,500 gallons in an hour and a half," one station operator told Traknis at a meeting last week. "Last year that was a whole day's sale."

Seven stations in Quincy applied for and received the extra gas, Traknis said.

According to LaHive, eight stations in the city were open at various times over the weekend, two more than over the previous weekend.

Traknis' prediction was that the availability of gas for the Fourth would be "probably the same" as last weekend. Noting the arrival of the emergency allocations and the regular July allocations for most stations, he said "they've got the gasoline now."

While he expects the situation to become progressively better for the rest of the summer, Traknis said it's still too early to tell if the worst is over. The end of July and the end of August, just before Labor Day, are potential trouble spots, he said.

There will be no improvement unless drivers continue to conserve fuel, Traknis said. People have to realize "it will be a long, slow process, taking many, many, many months," before the amount of gas available is back to past levels, he added.

On the Fourth, as before, motorists looking for an open gas station, can call the Police Department at 479-1212. The department is keeping track of hours for all the city's stations.

MDC Beefs Up Safety Plans At Beaches

Commissioner Guy A. Carbone has announced plans to increase safety and sanitary measures this summer at Wollaston Beach and other MDC facilities, which are expected to face a rising demand due to the energy crisis.

Efforts are being made to enforce strictly the rule against possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages on any MDC park, beach or reservation, except by special permit.

Carbone said two-man car patrols and increased two-man foot patrols have been introduced by MDC police to provide greater visibility and mobility in enforcement of the rule.

Animals may be brought on the reservations only if they are restrained by a leash no longer than seven feet. They must be accompanied by a person and cannot be tied and left unattended.

Litter laws, which call for a fine of $100, also will be strictly enforced.

3rd Candidate Takes Out Papers

Primary Looms In Ward 3

The prospect of a preliminary election contest for City Council in Ward 3 loomed this week as William J. Reardon, 66, of 66 Ardell St., Montclair, a retired welder, took out nomination papers.

Ward 3 Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. of 468 Beale St., Wollaston, had indicated that he will run for re-election and Gerald V. Noble of 102 Brook St., Wollaston has announced his candidacy.

Neither Lydon nor Noble have taken out papers however. They have until Friday, Aug. 3, to get the papers, secure at least 50 signatures and return them by Tuesday, Aug. 7.

So far, only Abe Itkin of 176 Presidents Lane, Quincy Center, a candidate for mayor, has returned his nomination papers.

Others who have picked up papers at the Election Office in City Hall include:

Arthur H. Tobin, 58 Huntley

Rd., Quincy Center, for mayor. John J. Quinn, 86 Grand View Ave., Wollaston, for councillor at large.

Stephen J. McGrath, 36 Bass St., Wollaston, for Ward 5 councillor.

Christopher Kennedy, 27 Barham Ave., Montclair, for School Committee.

Daniel G. Raymond, 88 Elm St., Quincy Center, for Ward 2

Prevent Deaths

2 Fires Underscore Value Of Smoke Detectors

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Two incidents last week dramatically demonstrated the value of smoke detectors in homes and apartments.

Residents of an apartment building at 100 Washington St., Quincy Center and a Riverbank Rd., Houghs Neck family each were warned of fires by smoke detectors. The fires, which could have cost several lives, instead resulted in relatively slight damage.

The fire department blamed the Washington St. fire, at 4:45 a.m. July 4, on "careless disposal of smoke material" in a third-floor apartment. A couch caught fire and soon, according to Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti, "the whole third floor was heavy smoke."

Resident Joseph McMahon was awakened by his apartment's smoke detector, saw the smoke seeping under the door and called the fire department.

McMahon, a retired electrician, then helped other residents out. A long-time booster of smoke detectors, he reports his was the only one in the 36-unit building.

The smoke detector probably saved the building and many of its residents, Valenti said, and kept damage to the building and its contents to about $20,000.

The second fire July 5, was caused by an electrical malfunction in the home of the Myatt family, at 31 Riverbank Rd., Valenti said.

The family was awakened by the alarm at about 1:20 a.m., Valenti said, and the family's 12-year-old son ran down the street to pull the fire alarm. By the time fire trucks arrived, members of the family had doused the small flames with a garden hose.

The house and family were saved "only because the smoke detector went off," Valenti said. Because the fire was caught at an early stage, damages were held to $300 he said.

Unfortunately, Valenti said, it takes incidents like these to convince people of the value of smoke detectors.

"We try to talk these up," said Valenti, the department's fire prevention officer. His department gives speeches,

Jet Noise Compromise Summit Set

By TOM HENSHAW

Representatives of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), Boston, Quincy and three other towns are scheduled to meet Thursday, July 19, to see if they can reach a compromise in the long dispute over airplane noise that has gone on for more than a year.

Federal Judge David Nelson urged Tuesday that the meeting be held before he rules on a petition by Quincy, Milton and Hull to intervene in a suit brought by Boston to force aircraft taking off from Logan Airport to use a route other than one over South Boston.

One of the alternative routes would take the departing planes over Quincy, the 180-degree heading that roused such a ruckus in Squantum and Wollaston last summer when the change in routes was made without consulting the residents of Quincy.

"Intervenor means that you become a party to the suit, that you participate in the trial and cross-examine witnesses to protect your own interests," explained Thomas Bracken, attorney for the Committee Against Airplane Noise (CAAN).

Organizations from Quincy, Milton and Hull were present at Tuesday's hearing and a representative of Hingham sat in as an observer even though that town is not officially an intervenor. Hingham will also be represented at the July 19 meeting.

Meanwhile, Bernice Mader, chairman of CAAN, said her committee is preparing a letter to the FAA demanding that aircraft departing from Logan Airport use routes that take them out over the ocean.

"They have been experimenting for more than a year with other routes," she said. "It's obvious that they don't work. There's a very big ocean out there. There's room for flights to arrive and depart over it."

Black's Creek Study Set

The Massachusetts Coastal Zone Management office has awarded a $4,000 community assistance grant to Quincy for the study of the ecological system and circulation problem of the Black's Creek salt marsh.

"The study will gather data to evaluate the impact of dredging in the area and provide background information for future development and use of the area as a natural recreational resource," said Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

The Black's Creek estuary and the 114-acre salt marsh make up the largest part of the Merry Mount recreational complex, including open space, a park and a summer

After the main marsh basin was dredged in 1964, sediment buildup was found in areas that were not intended to be disturbed, causing blockage of feeder creeks, reduced tidal circulation and hypersalinity.

"The detailed physical and ecological information to be gathered by the study is intended to insure the proper development and management of the salt marsh and the recreational area and be useful in solving problems of similar areas," said Harold.

The $4,000 CZM grant, along with $1,000 in matching city funds, will be administered by the Conservation Commission.

Hospital Blood Bank Gets 2-Year Accreditation

The Quincy City Hospital's blood bank has been awarded a two-year accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks [AABB], Mayor Arthur Tobin announces.

The accreditation follows an on-site inspection by representatives of the AABB and establishes that the medical, technical and administrative procedures meet the association's standards.

The hospital's blood bank joins 2,000 similar facilities across the country accredited by the AABB.

Anthony DeFalco, hospital

director, said:

"The AABB's inspection and accreditation procedures are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a blood bank or transfusion service to be accredited, but like many others, our facility has sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that meets and exceeds government regulations. The primary program is to assist facilities like ours to achieve excellence and thus provide higher quality blood, blood products and service to patients."

Public Meeting Set On Quincy Ave.—Water St. Islands

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi has scheduled a meeting Thursday, July 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lower Hall of St. John's Church to discuss proposals to install traffic islands at the intersection of Quincy Ave. and Water St.

Raymondi said he asked Mayor Tobin to have representatives of the Police, Fire, Sign and Signal and Engineering Departments on hand to answer questions.

For the past few weeks, Raymondi has been sampling local opinion on the proposal to place islands at the dangerous intersection on the boundary of Quincy Center, Quincy Point and South Quincy.

"It would appear from the responses I received that practically everyone feels that something should be done and that the majority feels that they would like to see the island proposal tried on a temporary basis to see if it would work," he said.

Old Nike Site Returned To City

Some seven acres of Merrymount Park, missing for the past 22 years while on military service, has officially returned home to Quincy.

The deed to the land, which includes the buildings that house the Park and Recreation offices off Southern Artery, was turned over to Mayor Arthur H. Tobin at ceremonies Tuesday in the new City Hall Annex.

"This rounds out the whole Merrymount complex of open space, recreation and conservation land and guarantees it for future generations," said the Mayor. The land was obtained at no cost to the city.

Also present at the ceremonies were Cong. Brian J. Donnelly and former Cong. James A. Burke, who had been working for the past 15 years to see that the land, known as "the old Nike site," was returned to Quincy.

Both Donnelly and Burke paid tribute to Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park and Recreation Board, for his dogged efforts in pursuit of the missing 6.6 acres.

"This is Dick Koch Day, I think," said Donnelly. "We have a file in the office that must contain a good 40 letters from Dick Koch. A lot of people in Washington think of it as Cong. Koch's land."

The site, which was part of the original grant of 80 acres given to the city by Charles Francis Adams Jr. in 1885, was taken by the federal government for $23,102 in 1957 for use as a military station.

Koch started the wheels moving to have the land returned in December, 1963, and with a push from Cong. Burke and Thomas Boylston

Adams of the Adams family, they have been turning ever since.

The Armed Services released the property to the General Services Administration, which set a value of $386,000 on the land and the buildings.

By law, the OSA had to offer it around to other federal and state agencies in order of precedence before it could be offered to the city.

This, explained Donnelly, is where the office of the local Congressman comes in by protecting the city's interests as the proposed ownership of the land winds its way through the federal bureaucracy.

"This is the culmination of a lot of work on the part of my predecessor," said Donnelly, referring to ex-Cong. Burke. "It's unbelievable the bureaucracy you have to go through."

"Since May 22 this matter had to go through five federal agencies and this was after it had been in the process for 15 years. The federal government doesn't give up land very easily."

Koch said a number of private colleges, including MIT, had expressed an interest in acquiring the land if it had passed through all the government agencies.

The Park and Recreation Board took over the buildings on the site a year and a half ago for maintenance and since last October they have been serving as the Board's headquarters offices.

Donnelly referred to Koch and the Board as "squatters", adding that "I told one bureaucrat, 'Good luck trying to get Dick Koch off the land if you give it to someone else.'"

SMILES ON FACES of Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Park-Recreation Board; former Cong. James A. Burke, Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and Cong. Brian J. Stronger Gates Asked For Mound St. Beach

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond has asked the Park and Recreation Board to construct cement-based military gates at the entrance to Mound St. Beach, Quincy Point.

Raymond told Richard J. Koch, the board's executive secretary, that the present gates have been vandalized and are not sufficiently strong to prevent vehicles from entering the beach area at night.

Raymond also sent a letter to Police Chief Francis X. Finn asking additional police protection and patrol in the area, citing noise and disturbances in the late evening on the beach.

"We have worked very hard with area residents and city and state officials to make Mound St. Beach a beautiful and useful recreational facility," he said.

"I will not allow those annoyances to destroy the peace and tranquility of our community."

City Eyes Takeover Of MBTA Parking Lots

Mayor Tobin is considering a city takeover of the parking lots at the MBTA stations in order to improve maintenance and policing of the areas.

"We are dissatisfied with the way the parking around the stations have been handled," said the Mayor, noting that the leases between the MBTA and Allright Boston Parking Inc., expire April 30.

He indicated that the leasing firm may be guilty of breach of contract by not maintaining or policing the stations properly.

"We get the phone calls and letters of complaint," he said, "but they are not under our jurisdiction."

"Now that we are going to have a new station in South Quincy, why not put the maintenance and policing of all the stations under the commissioner of public works and the chief of police."

The Mayor said the "package that is being discussed now we think will pay for itself."

McDuff Cites 3 Rs In School Candidacy

John H. McDuff Jr., 45, of 216 South St., Quincy Point, has announced his candidacy for the School Committee, citing the need for "good old fashioned education - a return to the basic three Rs."

Modern, permissive trends in education, he said, "are destructive to the children of America and to our survival as a free nation.

"Young people today cannot read and write properly. They know very little about their proud heritage as Americans.

"Basic skills must be brought back to the classroom and prayer must be returned to the schools by a constitutional amendment.

"This country is in danger if the leaders of tomorrow are not taught from an early age to respect the 'principles of God, family and country.'"

Council Okays New City Posts

The City Council has made the budget for fiscal 1979-80 official by establishing several new positions for which the money had already been raised.

The Council also approved several raises, including $1,379 in back pay each for the police and fire chiefs which was in the 1978-79 budget but not authorized to be paid.

Through passage of the same ordinance revision, the Council established the post of Equal Opportunities Officer at $15,000 a year which will be paid by the federal government.

Most of the new jobs were at City Hospital as part of that institution's reorganization.

They include: assistant director for operations, assistant manager for personnel, assistant director for financial services, personnel analyst, budget director, patient accounts manager, director of housekeeping, housekeeper, oncology supervisor, tumor registrar and mechanical equipment operator.

One new job title outside the hospital was that of economic crime coordinator.

Raises went to the city dentist, $19,500 to $22,500; and assistant dentist, $16,500 to $19,000.

The job title "forestry laborer-working foreman-mechanical equipment operator-tree climber" was changed to "forestry laborer-working foreman-tree climber."

City Auditor Charles L. Shea said Fire Chief Edward Barry and Police Chief Francis X. Finn were shortchanged a few years ago when a salary ordinance was adopted granting step pay raises of 5, 5 and 8 per cent.

"In the Fire and Police Departments," he said, "they've operated on the basis of a differential of 23 per cent between grades. The differential was broken by the 5, 5 and 8."

"The money has been in the budget at $37,274 but the ordinance still reads $35,895 because that's what it came out to under the 5, 5 and 8."

He said Barry and Finn have been owed the money for a year.

The Equal Opportunity Officer currently is being paid out of CETA funds but in the future will be paid from Community Development Block Grant money.

City Solicitor Robert Fleming said that unless the position is established and filled it could affect the city's federal funding.

Jewels & Gems

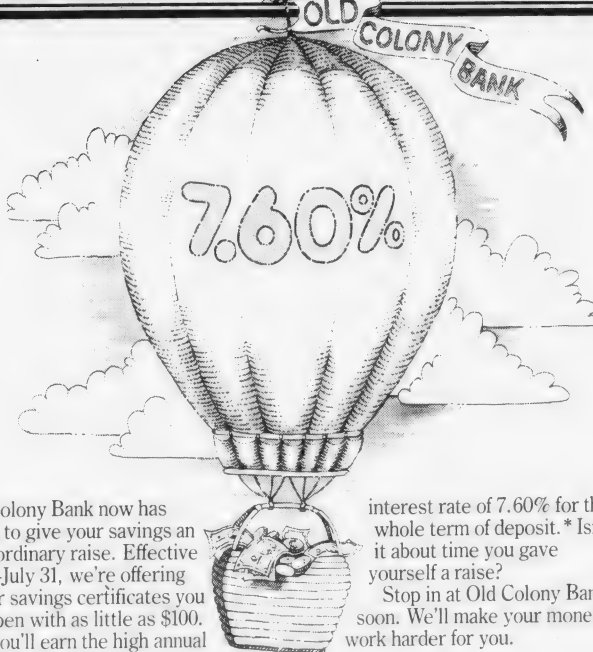

by Stan Manin

If the word "mizpah" is found on an old piece of jewelry, you have something of an antique on your hands. "Mizpah" is a Victorian biblical term that meant something like "God watch between me and thee when we are absent from one another". We can be sure that young lovers of the day were all aware of the meaning of the term. So, do not discard jewelry with that inscription. Try having it reset in a modern setting and give it to a modern loved one. That kind of message really never loses its meaning.

If you are interested in antique jewelry come by and see our fine collection at GRONO & CHRISTIE, INC., 536 Adams St., East Milton, 696-1490. We always have a wide selection of unusual pieces for your selection. We can also design a new piece of jewelry from your old stones, out of date or unwanted pieces. Everything is handled on our premises. Open: 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Mon. thru Sat.

Mary Sullivan, 78, Former Matron At Broad Meadows School

A funeral Mass will be celebrated in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Adams Shore, at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) for Mrs. Mary E. (Swan) Sullivan, 78, of Adams Shore, a former matron at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

Mrs. Sullivan died at her home on Sunday. Burial will be in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

She was born in Boston and lived in New York for some time before moving to Quincy 37 years ago.

Prior to her marriage she taught tap and ballet dancing in Boston. She was a volunteer for Paratours and was active in senior citizens and religious organizations. In 1974 during senior citizens day she was mayor-for-a-day in Quincy.

She was the wife of the late Francis S. Sullivan and is survived by a son, Rev. Francis J. Sullivan of Waterford, Conn.; a daughter, Mrs. Ann Marie Steigener of Canton; two grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Visiting hours are Wednesday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at the Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy.

Mrs. Frances Coogan, 68, Retired Bank Clerk

A funeral Mass was celebrated Wednesday in St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, for Frances J. (Dunn) Coogan, 68, retired clerk of the State Street Bank and Trust.

Mrs. Coogan died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Born in Quincy, she was a lifelong resident of the city and attended Quincy schools.

She was the wife of the late

James Coogan and is survived by two sons, Richard J. Mudge and Robert F. Mudge; a daughter, Janine M. Mudge, all of Quincy; and a sister, Jeanne Bedard.

Joseph Mudge, 49, Quincy School Dept. Custodian

A memorial Mass was celebrated at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston Tuesday for Joseph R. Mudge, 49, of Quincy, a custodian for the Quincy school department.

Mr. Mudge died Saturday at Veterans Administration Hospital, Jamaica Plain, following a long illness. Burial was private. He was born in Everett and was a veteran of the Korean War.

He is survived by his wife,

Thomas F. McGrath, 89, Councillor's Grandfather

Thomas F. McGrath, 89, of Dorchester, a retired railroad worker and grandfather of Quincy City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, died recently at Long Island Hospital.

He also leaves three sons, Richard McGrath of Jamaica Plain, Edward McGrath of Dorchester, and Thomas McGrath of Stoughton.

Stephen Whyte, 18, Killed In Cape Cod Auto Accident

A funeral Mass was celebrated Wednesday at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, for Stephen E. Whyte, 18, of 1 Beacon St., Quincy Point, who died Saturday in an auto accident on Cape Cod.

The youth was a passenger in a car which failed to negotiate a curve and struck a tree in South Dennis.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, he graduated from Quincy Vocational Technical School last month. At graduation he was awarded the Quincy Education Association Scholarship, the Vocational-Technical School Faculty Memorial Scholarship and the Koch Club Scholarship. He planned to enter Wentworth Institute in the fall.

He was a member of St. Joseph's CYO basketball team and was recipient of several trophies for his skill on the basketball court.

He was employed by First National Stores in Quincy and was a member of the Amalgamated Butchers and Meat Cutters Union.

According to his parents he came home from work and attended the 7 p.m. Mass at St. Joseph's before leaving for the Cape in his own car Saturday evening. He left his car at the cottage of friends and joined them.

Police said Whyte, Jeffrey Marcell, 19, of Kendrick Ave., and Paul Smith, 17, of Piper St., both South Quincy, were riding in the back seat of the car at the time of the accident. Marcell was severely injured and admitted to the intensive care unit of Cape Cod Hospital at Hyannis. Smith was treated at the hospital and released.

Thomas McKay, 19, of Gay St., Quincy Center, a passenger in the front seat, was uninjured.

George Ciriello, 19, of Faxon Park, Quincy, was identified by police as the driver of the car, also escaped injury. He was charged by police with vehicular homicide, driving under the influence of alcohol and driving so as to endanger.

Whyte is survived by his parents, Elliott H. and Elizabeth [Wajcium] Whyte; two brothers, Daniel Whyte, 17, and Peter Whyte, 5; and three sisters, Lisa Whyte, 14, Linda Whyte, 13, and Lauren Whyte, 5. Peter and Lauren are twins. He is also survived by his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Wajcium of Boston, and Mrs. Delia Maloney of Wollaston.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

At July 4th Mass

Fr. McCarthy Cites Catholics Contributions To Nation

In a homily at a special Mass marking observance of the Fourth of July at St. John's Church, Quincy, Rev. William McCarthy, pastor, recalled contributions Catholics have made to the development of the nation throughout its history.

The Mass planned as an outdoor service under the trees on the parish grounds had to be moved indoors because of a sudden downpour.

In his sermon Fr. McCarthy reminded the congregation that "as we celebrate the 203rd birthday of the United States in a city that can be proud of its contributions to American history by having been blessed with two presidents and within the shadow of St. John's Church to have the constitution of our great country drawn up, let us not forget the Catholic contribution to American history."

He paid tribute to John F. Kennedy as the first Catholic to be elected president and said that "whether Democrat or Republican, all America was heart-broken to see our 46-year-old president receive the halo of martyrdom."

Briefly he called the roll of the early Catholic explorers who came to this continent from Europe. Columbus, who discovered America; Balboa who discovered the Pacific Ocean; Cartier who explored the St. Lawrence and Ponce DeLeon who first landed on Florida's coast. He noted that many cities in California, such as San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, San Diego, were founded by Franciscan friars.

During the Revolution, he said, Catholics like LaFayette and Pulaski joined in the common cause.

Patriotism is a Christian virtue along with honesty, purity, humility and charity," he said.

"Men who die for their country may be compared to Christ," he said, "who too was a CON-CELEBRATED MASS at St. John's Church, Quincy, was held in observance of Fourth of July. Sudden rain shower caused cancellation of plans for an outdoor Mass. On the altar from left, Rev. soldier, only his helmet was a crown of thorns, his canteen was of vinegar and he was buried in a borrowed grave."

He said that many of the economic ills of today may be traced to a failure to remember the Christian virtues, and an indifference to worship of God.

"Many have disregarded his commandments," Fr. McCarthy said, "and rather than take on self control have given way to the slavery of sin."

"We badly need a summit conference, only the summit is the Sermon on the Mount. America needs help and we receive it on high only if we pray. Prayer is like opposing the iron curtain with a lace curtain. As we learned from Fatima prayer, especially The Rosary is like opposing a mighty enemy with gently folded fingers of piety."

"Let us remember this country was founded on equality of religion not the absence of it. Our founding fathers must be looking down on us in a state of disbelief that a minority of atheists and agnostics have put prayer out of our schools and are sniping at Catholics with their pagan pro-abortion philosophy."

"God will bless America, but first let us all bless God."

'What Protestants Believe' Sermon Series At Squantum Church

Rev. Dr. Eugene Langevin, pastor of the First Church of Squantum, has started a series of sermons "What Protestants Believe" which will continue through the summer.

Sunday's sermon was "Who Are These Protestants?" Music was by Holly Bumpus who sang "Heavenly Sunlight," accompanied by Mary Ruth Scott.

This Sunday's sermon will be "What Protestants Believe About Faith."

ON PREVENTING SUNBURN

Overdoses of sun can cause skin cancer and a variety of lesser ailments, not to exclude extreme pain and discomfort at the least. So, here are some things to keep in mind.

Never wait until you see red to cover up. Redness doesn't begin to show for two or three hours after you've burned. The total damage may not appear for 24 hours - by which time you could be mighty miserable. Aspirin can help keep you from burning. Take a couple before hitting the beach.

For light-skinned persons, the first exposure should be no more than 15-20 minutes on each side. You can increase this time by one third each day safely.

Many suntan lotions are water soluble, so don't forget to reapply frequently, especially after swimming. And, unless you already have a good tan, never put your faith in baby oil - you'll fry.

LaRaia's Book: A One-Way Street

Joseph LaRaia's long-awaited book is out and, if you're not in it, you might find it fun reading.

But, if you are in it, you might not. It all depends on whether you have been considered a LaRaia friend or foe.

And, if you are in it and politically crossed LaRaia or criticized him during his turbulent administration as Quincy's mayor, you might want to have your lawyer look the book over.

LA RAI A

He uses thinly-disguised characters in the book but anyone who knows where City Hall is should have no trouble identifying who's who.

Ducking behind fictitious names (some that ridicule) is no insurance against court suits. He tosses accusations around freely and someone may ask him to prove it in a courtroom.

LaRaia, while mayor, could only see things one way: his. Anyone who saw it differently—and said so—was an enemy.

He apparently hasn't changed his way of thinking. His book is a one-way street named LaRaia.

LaRaia's biggest political problem was not his opponents or critics but himself. He could have been the most powerful political figure in Quincy's history. He had boyish charm, good looks and could have launched a new era in Quincy politics with him as the undisputed power.

But a passion for revenge—so obvious in his first few weeks in office during the famed "January Massacre" did him in. Instead of concentrating on running the city, his mind to a great extent was on his enemies—real or imagined. He placed the banana peel under his own foot.

That passion for revenge apparently has not been satisfied. He's still chasing it in his book.

The book is entitled: "A Political Autobiography: A City Under The Influence."

The setting is the City of Quarry but there's no doubt it is Quincy. The sketch on the cover is certainly Quincy City Hall.

LaRaia tries to stamp a Watergate label on Quarry (Quincy) resurrecting his pet chestnut that his enemies attempted to steal the election from him. (Despite the fact that a court inquest said otherwise. An inquest incidentally that LaRaia was invited to testify at but declined.)

But you don't have to write a book under oath.

One reader who obtained an early copy and finished it virtually non-stop called it "a lot of laughs". There's nothing derogatory about him in the book. But he sees potential legal ramifications if some of those portrayed in the book don't find it so funny.

The reader, a former City Hall figure, says he had no trouble identifying the characters in the book. He sorts them out this way—or, if you will—sees a strong resemblance between these matchups:

Jeremiah Tubbs (James McIntyre), Lord Turbine (Arthur Tobin), Waldo Recap (Walter Hannon), Caesar Padrone (James Ricciuti), Jay Pillow (James Sheets), Gerald Day (Joseph Shea), Gilbert Johns (John Gillis), Jack Smiley (John Lydon), Larry Crosby (Arthur Casey), Chief Panzy (Francis Finn), Councillor Luby (Leo Kelly), Chester Weasel (Charles Shea), Vinnie Loma (Vincent LoCicero), Herbie Zeasle (Herb Reppucci), Dave Tallman (James Short), Mike Peacock (Michael Peatridge), Tim Rickshaw (The Sun's Tom Henshaw), John Shears (The Ledger's Bob Sears), Harry Winkel (this writer), The Quarry Gazette (The Quincy Sun), The Quarry Journal (The Patriot Ledger).

LaRaia apparently is still smarting from the "January Massacre" label coined by The Sun when he went on his firing rampage his first month in office. It gets prominent mention in the book as does this writer.

Some parts of the book sound like a warmed up rehash of that series of articles in a North End, Boston newspaper. In it, LaRaia was portrayed as a modern day St. George and his opponents and critics as big, bad dragons.

Interestingly, sometime later under a court ordered deposition in a slander suit brought by that newspaper against Mayor Arthur Tobin, LaRaia admitted he had had at least 18 contacts with the newspaper during the series of articles. And, interestingly, none of LaRaia's opponents or critics were contacted by that newspaper to get their side of anything.

The book will probably be well read. How many copies it actually sells remains to be seen, however. Right now a few are being passed from reader to reader.

If you are a LaRaia fan you might like it. If you aren't, you won't.

LaRaia, the author, still comes through like LaRaia, the mayor. He's 100 per cent right all the time. His opponents 100 per cent wrong all the time. He still blames his political downfall on them. They ganged up on him and did him in. Actually, he ganged up on himself and did himself in.

Perhaps a better title for the book might have been: "A Political Autobiography: I Did It My Way—That's My Real Problem."

'They Ran For Cover'

Post Gazette's Slander Suit Against Tobin Dismissed

Mayor Arthur M. Tobin has successfully defended himself in a $7.5 slander suit filed against him more than two years ago by the Post Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Boston's North End.

Judge Samuel Adams in Suffolk Superior Court ordered the case dismissed "with prejudice" June 8 after the Post Gazette refused to open its books in order to prove damage.

The 30-day period in which the Post Gazette could appeal the dismissal expired Monday, July 9, at the close of court business.

"The case has been brought to a close and the court has found for me," said Tobin. "I hope that will say something in the eyes of the people of Quincy who may have had some doubts at the time."

The case of Ethnic Publishers, Inc., [the Post Gazette] vs. Tobin began early in May, 1977, when Tobin was president of the City Council, and highly critical of Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia.

For several months, the Post Gazette had been publishing a series of articles that were strongly pro-LaRaia and highly critical of virtually everyone else in the Quincy city government.

Tobin made a disparaging remark about the Post Gazette's editorial process during a talk before the Quincy Taxpayers Association; the remark was published in The Quincy Sun and the Post Gazette sued.

Depositions taken by Tobin's lawyer, Atty. Fred Halmstrom, including one from Mayor LaRaia, indicated that LaRaia himself had contact with the Post Gazette at least 18 times during the series.

"We beat the Post Gazette," said Tobin. "The moment they brought suit they ran for cover. They couldn't prove damages. They were only interested in me during the mayoralty campaign."

"They thought when they brought this suit that they were going to dangle me on the front page for a long period of time and hold me up to ridicule."

"But I went after everybody involved with this company to get their depositions under oath to verify their truthfulness and open up their books to see where the damages are. They refused."

"The judge dismissed the case with prejudice, which means that it can't be reinstated."

4-Day Celebration To Mark State Constitution Bicentennial

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Plans continue to fall into place for the Massachusetts' Constitution's bicentennial celebration, scheduled in Quincy for Sept. 6-9.

Chairman James McIntyre and the rest of the planning committee "have put together an excellent agenda," Mayor Arthur Tobin said last week.

The original state constitution, drafted in Quincy in 1779, will be brought to the city by Brink's truck for public viewing during the 200th anniversary celebration. It will be on display at the John Quincy Adams birthplace for 12 hours daily, July 7, 8 and 9.

Also expected to be among the highlights of the four-day festivities are a parade, a concert by the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, fireworks, appearances by Governor Ed King, Congressman Brian Donnelly and assorted other dignitaries and a huge cake, which will feed 5,000 people.

"We're doing this on our own; this is all private funds and money appropriated by the City Council," Tobin said.

The council has already appropriated $5,000 for parade expenses and $12,000 for a memorial marker to be placed adjacent to City Hall. More funds will be solicited from Quincy businesses and residents.

The planning committee has approved a design for the memorial, by Ed Monti of Monti Memorial Co., to be unveiled at Constitution Mall, between the new and old sections of City Hall.

The 135th anniversary of the old City Hall building and the dedication of the new annex will also be observed during the bicentennial.

According to Tobin, five city employees have been assigned to work fulltime during July and August on planning and preparations for the celebration.

Besides emphasizing the city's heritage, the anniversary will provide "a first-class celebration the people of Quincy can be proud of," Tobin said.

Not Interested In LaRaia Book Says Tobin

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin says he does not plan to buy a copy of former Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia's book about his controversial term in office—nor will he borrow it from a friend or even check a copy out of the library.

"I have no desire to read it," he said, "unless it tells the true story of what happened in Quincy during those two years, unless it talks about the corruption and the guys who went to jail."

Two LaRaia aides, Public Works Commissioner Vincent LoCicero and Herbert Reppucci, assistant director of RSVP, were convicted of extorting $7,000 from a contractor in connection with a contract to 'build an addition on the Merrymount School.

"I know this is hard to believe," said Tobin, "but I have no desire even to know what is in the book. I have better ways of spending my money. Anybody can write that garbage."

We Have Been Patient Long Enough On Jet Noise

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In January, 1979, Mr. Robert Whittington, Regional Director of the Federal Aviation Administration, ordered the end of an experimental departure heading from Logan's runway 22R and the citizens of Quincy and other South Shore Communities applauded him as a man of honor, a man of his word.

But, while we were praising Mr. Whittington the roar of jet aircraft continued overhead despite Mr. Whittington's promise of relief. We were told at the end of March that a new experiment was being tried called "Alternate 5 from runway 22R" and to please allow 4-6 weeks to perfect the procedure.

Now, early July, I believe that the people of Quincy and other South Shore Communities have been patient long enough. I believe it is time that we give a message to Mr. Robert Whittington, Regional Director of the Federal Aviation Administration, that he has lost our trust and that we want relief from air noise and we want it now!

We need to write him letters at 12 New England Executive Park, Burlington, MA 01803 and we need to telephone complaints at his office [8 a.m. - 5 p.m., Monday - Friday] at 273-7244.

Consider this your noise complaint number and every weekend you are bothered by noise telephone Mr. Whittington Monday morning. Every evening you are bothered, telephone Mr. Whittington the following day to say you want relief, you have suffered long enough.

Mr. Whittington ultimately controls the headings of aircraft at Logan and I think we need a concerted community effort to get the message across to him that we simply have had enough destruction to our lives and we want relief now.

Sincerely,
Faye C. Anderson

Marble Gravestone Missing Doughnut's Inventor Lies In Unmarked Snug Harbor Grave

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Not among Quincy's more weighty contributions to civilization, but among its least known, may be the doughnut note.

Hanson Gregory, recognized by the National Bakers Association as the inventor of the doughnut, is buried in Sailor's Snug Harbor Cemetery in Germantown. The man whose creation touches millions daily is barely remembered.

In fact, his own marble gravestone is missing, apparently removed by vandals several years ago. It is one of many gravestones in the cemetery which need to be replaced.

Ironically, the grave of the man who put the hole in the doughnut is now marked only by a hole in the ground, one visitor to the cemetery remarked last week.

According to Harold Crowley, a teacher at the nearby Snug Harbor School and member of the Germantown Historical Society, the cemetery has been city property, under the care of the cemetery department, since 1950.

"As a rule, they take pretty good care of it," Crowley said. "They come down and mow it once in a while."

Vandalism is not a problem now, Crowley said, although it has been in the past. The cemetery has not been vandalized in about six years, he said, about the same amount of time that Gregory's gravestone has been missing.

The problem with most of the decaying stones is just erosion, he said. The life of the average marble stone is about 75 years, he said, adding, "We have some here that are over 100."

The Germantown Historical Society is now thinking over ways to raise funds to repair the headstones, Crowley said. He estimated the cost of one headstone at about $100, including the carving of names and dates. He said 15 or 20 stones needed to be replaced.

According to Crowley, there are at least three stories of how Hans Gregory came to put a hole in early America's fried cake -- one plausible, one possible, one verging on the ridiculous.

All versions agree that Hans was born in 1832 in Camden, Me., grew up in Maine and became a sea captain before spending his final years at the Sailor's Snug Harbor Rest Home in Quincy. After that, though, the three tales are as different as chocolate, cinnamon and honeydew.

One story holds that Hans, in his sea-faring days, suffered the loss of five of his shipmates who, weighted down by eating heavy, soggy fried cakes, fell overboard during a squall and immediately sank. Hans, angered by the catastrophe and drawing inspiration from the ship's life preservers, knocked out the uncooked center of the cook's fried cakes with a belying pin.

OK, that's the ridiculous one. In a second version, Hans, still at sea and probably suffering an attack of "the munchies", was eating another of those fried cakes while tending the ship's wheel. Another storm came up, and Hans, needing both hands to handle the wheel, jammed the cake onto one of the wheel's spokes. Once again the offending soggy center was knocked out and once again Hans realized what he had stumbled upon.

The third, and most plausible version, "isn't spectacular," Crowley admits: no storm, no ship's wheel, no sinking sailors. Hans wasn't even a ship's captain at the time.

This tale claims Hans invented the doughnut when 15 years old and still living with the Gregory clan in Maine. It seems Mom was whipping up a batch of fried cakes and Hans noticed how poorly they cooked. He suggested she knock out the centers.

Mrs. Gregory did, of course, and noticed how much better-tasting and easy to hold Hans' invention was. Friends of the family, who owned a store, were soon selling the round fried cakes with the hole in the middle.

The rest, as they say, is history. Hans' creation now sells, according to the National Bakers Association, to the tune of $750 million worth a year, which indeed adds up to a lot of dough.

Streetcar Tracks Aid War Effort

Purchasing Agent John T. Lane announced that at least 170 tons of old street car rails will be removed from Quincy streets this summer and turned over to the U.S. Government scrap drive.

Lane said the city will receive $14 a ton for the metal, more than $2,000 in all, which will be dug up by Works Progress Administration (WPA) workers and removed by private contractors.

Most of the rails will come from the old Squantum route, which traversed Atlantic from Quincy Shore Boulevard to Hancock St., via Sagamore, Newbury, Billings and East Squantum Sts. until 10 years ago.

Others will be salvaged from Quincy Ave. near Scammell St. and from Farrington St., Wollaston.

Letters Going Out

Montclair Area First In Property Tax Classification

Quincy takes a couple of steps forward this week in its long and apparently successful fight against 100 per cent valuation.

Sometime this week City Solicitor Robert Fleming is expected to file papers with the State Supreme Court to remove Quincy from the list of defendant communities in a suit aimed at revaluation of property at full market value.

And letters will go out Thursday to residents of Montclair notifying them that their property will be the first to be "revalued" in the initial phase of implementation of the Tax Classification Amendment approved by voters in 1978.

The letters will be followed, probably starting on Monday, July 16, by teams of two people gathering information on the property that will be used later by the city assessors to place a new valuation on the land and buildings.

Although there eventually will be a change in value placed on property in the city, Mayor Tobin declines to use the term "revalue", which has become a scare-word during the years of controversy over 100 per cent valuation.

"These people are not revaluing," he said. "Such language is misleading. I certainly hope it doesn't get the people in Montclair all upset."

"We've got a group of people going into the Montclair neighborhood with a letter and some identification taking down statistical information under the classification amendment."

The people who will be going door-to-door are CETA workers who have undergone three months of training by the Commonwealth Appraisal Co., which has also been hired to revalue commercial and industrial property.

Under legislation passed in anticipation of the Classification Amendment, residential property is to be valued at 40 per cent of market value, commercial property at 50 per cent, industrial property at 55 per cent and open space at 25 per cent.

Commonwealth Appraisal's contract with the city totals $115,000, with $35,000 paying for the training of the CETA workers and $80,000 for commercial and industrial appraisals. The CETA workers are paid under a $183,017 federal grant.

John Comer, chairman of the Board of Assessors, emphasized that the CETA workers will not be placing a value on the property they inspect.

"All they are doing is collecting the data that we need for the computer cards," he said. "After that, we on the Board of Assessors will decide what marketable value to place on the property."

Comer said there was no particular reason why Montclair was selected to be visited by the statistics-takers first.

"It's just that we picked one end of the city and will move to the other end," he said. "There will be no implementation of classification until the city is complete. Just because we start in Montclair it doesn't mean they get tax bills first."

Comer said he expects that it will take two years to do the entire city but he's not sure since it is not known how fast the CETA workers will be able to move through the neighborhoods.

And the process is complicated further by the fact that CETA eligibility expires by law after one year and, if the CETA program is extended for the second year, a whole new group of workers will have to be trained.

If the CETA program is not extended for the second year the three members of the Board of Assessors will have to handle the statistical chores or hire a new crew of workers at more than $165 a week paid to CETA people out of the federal grant.

Comer said he expects that the CETA workers currently employed by the city will have little trouble finding jobs when their eligibility expires, which is the object of the CETA program.

With some 300 of the state's 351 communities faced with revaluing before they implement classification, appraisal companies -- or "revals," as they are known -- are expected to be springing up all over the state.

When revaluation is through, said Comer, it is expected that the total valuation of Quincy will be close to $1 billion, up from the current $280 million.

"But the tax rate will not be figured on the basis of $1 billion valuation," he said, "because once the State Department of Revenue approves our revaluation plan we will be authorized to implement classification."

"The tax bills that go out to the homeowner will be at the classification percentage, never 100 per cent."

Comer and Fleming were scheduled to meet earlier this week to do the final paperwork necessary to have Quincy removed from the tax revaluation suit. Originally there were 23 defendants in the case but that number has since been reduced to six.

"The only reason that we are still on the suit is because we haven't done all the paperwork to get taken off," said Comer. He said the city has shown good faith by hiring appraisal firms and appropriating the funds to pay them.

Comer said Quincy's plans were well advanced when the State Supreme Court ruled last week that the State Department of Revenue had no authority to step in and revalue a reluctant community and charge the cost to its cherry sheet.

Also last week, Comer said that the city had negotiated a settlement giving the Boston Gas Co. a reduction of $100,000 in its 1977 and 1978 assessments, which had been appealed to the State Appellate Tax Board.

"If they went to court they would get a helluva lot more under the Tregor decision," said the assessor chairman.

The Tregor decision, handed down earlier this year, ruled that property found to be overvalued just be revalued according to the lowest valuation class, which in Quincy is about 20 per cent.

Book Award Program

'The Pinballs' Favorite Book At Webster School

The favorite book of the youngsters in Grades 4-6 at the Daniel Webster School is "The Pinballs", by Betsy Byers.

The book was voted tops by the pupils at Webster as their part in the Massachusetts Children's Book Award nomination program.

Each child chose a minimum of five books to read from a list of various themes and reading levels, reported on each book read and then voted for his or her favorite.

The ballots were then sent to Salem State College for tabulation and a state champion chosen.

The top book among the youngsters in the state was "A Cricket in Times Square", by George Selden, another popular Webster favorite. "The Pinballs" finished in the top five statewide.

Teachers at the Daniel Webster School say they find the Book Award program inspires children to read by being competitive, as well as giving them a sense of belonging and participation.

Children will visit the school media center, the public library, the bookmobile and, in some cases, will buy a book that sounds particularly good to them.

The program is concluded with the presentation of certificates to all participants, with special recognition to those who read all the books on the list.

LeNormand Exhibiting Watercolors At Cohasset

Robert A. LeNormand of Quincy, a retired architect, is exhibiting a collection of watercolors at the David Sharpe Gallery, Cohasset Village.

LeNormand has received 19 awards for watercolors from the Quincy, Milton, Braintree and North Shore art associations of which he is a member.

A graduate of Harvard University, Graduate School of Design, in 1929, and the Atelier Jaquet, Albany, N.Y., in 1932, he has also been recipient of awards from both institutions.

The artist is a member of the American Institute of Architects and the Boston Society of Architects. He retired from the architectural firm of Korslund, LeNormand and Quann in 1974.

His exhibitions include two one-man shows of watercolors at Quincy libraries, South Shore Plaza, Thayer Academy and at many art association shows.

'Wuthering Heights' At N.Q. Library

"Wuthering Heights", starring Sir Laurence Olivier and Merle

Oberon, will be shown July 18, at 2:15 p.m. at the North Quincy Branch Library, 381 Hancock St.

The film is free and open to the public.

Ten Quincy junior high school students recently won honors in the Third Annual Junior High School Josiah Quincy Oratorical Contest.

The winners, announced by Janet DiTullio, coordinator of language arts for Quincy public schools, were:

Grade 7 - Jackie Boise,

Sterling, first place; Jennifer McCauley, Central, second place and Peter McPartlin, Broad Meadows, third place.

Grade 8 - Ann Keenan, Atlantic, first place, Diane Raftery, Broad Meadows, second place; Sidney Hajjar, Central, third place and Patricia O'Toole, Sterling, fourth place.

Grade 9 - Joan MacDonald, Broad Meadows, first place; David DiMeo, Central second place and Ellen Salibe, Sterling, third place.

The winners were honored at a reception at United First Parish Church recently.

Old Colony Romps Over Dedham

Quincy's Old Colony DeMolay softball team improved its record to 8-0 with an 11-3 romp over Dedham with Ken Olson the winning pitcher.

Old Colony pounded out 21 hits, including a home run, double and single by Frank Rogier, a triple and single by Karl Olson, a double and three singles by Don DeChristoforo, three singles by Doug Eisan, two singles each by Steve Wood and Emery Swanson and a single apiece by Steve DiMassi and Steve Olson.

Hustler Oldtimers Race At SYC

The Massachusetts Bay Hustler Association will hold its third annual oldtimers' race Saturday at the Squantum Yacht Club.

The race is open to all former Hustler sailors who are over 50 on or before the day of the race. Boats will be supplied by the Hustler Association and will be selected by a drawing. Crews will be available, but skippers are encouraged to bring along their own crews. The day's activities also include post race cocktails, a buffet supper and awards.

Entrants should call Paul Rugg at 471-2030 for reservations.

Earlier Old Colony had collected 22 hits and pounded Wampatuck of Braintree, 16-3, with Olson again the winner.

Ken Olson homered, doubled and scored twice, Karl Olson singled and doubled, Rogier doubled and singled, Eisan had a homer, triple and double and scored three runs, DeChristoforo tripled and doubled, Swanson doubled and singled twice, Olson had a homer and single, Wood doubled, Rich Hallberg doubled, Ken Sutterly tripled and singled and Bob Peterson singled.

Sports

Pirates Farm League Champs

The National League champion Pirates scored in the fourth inning to squeeze by the American League champion Red Sox, 1-0, last Saturday to win the Junior Farm League title.

Steve Minichello pitched a one-hitter and struck out 16, pitching out of two bases loaded jams, while loser Brett Henney allowed only three hits and struck out 12.

Minichello also drove in Kellie

Hennessey with the winning run. Terry McKinnon was superb at shortstop for the champs; McKinnon's double and singles by Hennessey and Minichello were the only hits.

Jamie Walsh had the lone hit for the Red Sox and Jay Moreschi was outstanding at first base.

The Pirates finished the regular season with a 13-3 record and the Red Sox were 12-4.

St. John's Girls Snap St. Joseph's 2-Year Win Streak

The St. John's Girls A softball team provided a stunning upset in CYO play by handing the high flying St. Joseph's C team its first loss in two years, 16-12.

Susan Conti sparked the St. John's attack with a home run, triple and two singles, while every player on the team collected at least one hit. Mickey Dauphinee was the winning pitcher.

St. Joseph's B team won its fourth in a row, 10-3, over St. Francis of Weymouth. Several outstanding defensive plays by St. Joseph's stymied the St. Francis attack. Karen Corliss was the winning pitcher and ran her record to 4-1.

Rosann DiPietro sparked St. Joseph's with two triples and two singles and drove in five runs. Pattie McBride and Robin Lewis had two hits each and Kathy McBride, Corliss and Margaret Fahey had one hit apiece. Catcher Lewis played an excellent game.

St. Joseph's B also topped St.

John's B, 9-1, with Corliss pitching a one-hitter. Beth Fitzgerald had three solid hits and Fahey started a rally with a bases loaded triple. Fahey, Kristen Fitzgeralds, Corliss, Carla DiLullo, and DiPietro had two hits each and Lewis did another fine job behind the plate.

St. Joseph's C bounced back from its loss to St. John's to wallop Sacred Heart, 14-3, with Janet Glavin the winning pitcher with a five-hitter. Simmy Jo Koch was the loser, pitching fine ball until St. Joseph's exploded for 12 runs in the sixth inning. She struck out 10. Margaret McBride went three for five, Janice Glavin was three for three, Mary Thibodeau was three for four and Jackie Glavin, Tricia Travers and Mary Travers two hits each.

In the loss to St. John's Mary Travers had a homer and triple for St. Joseph's and Joyce McLaughlin, Janine LeFleur and Tricia Travers had two hits each. LaFleur suffered her first pitching loss of the season.

• Triple A League

Pirates On Rampage

The Pirates, leading the National League with a 13-2 record, walloped the Indians, 11-4, in the Triple A Baseball League as Billy Doyle had three hits, Tommy Elsmore three and John Roney two.

Brian McGowan broke up a close game with a two-run double. Scott Noonan, Doyle, Timmy Collins and Paul Lagzdins made fine defensive plays. For the Indians George Patriarca played strong defense.

The Mets bombed the Tigers, 21-6, with Tim McCarthy the winning pitcher. Bobby McCarron had triple, double and single, Steve McNamara two singles and a double, Toni McDermott three singles and a double, Mike Ainsley a double and single, McCarthy three singles and Mike Doyle two singles. Bobby Reynolds and Tom Ward combined for a fine double play and Ainsley made a great throw from centerfield to cut down a runner at the plate. For the Tigers Mark Campbell had a home run and three RBI. Philip Wallace and Ed Fleming each had a double and Dave Fasano, Robert Reedy and Chris Ryan had singles.

The Pirates defeated the American League-leading White Sox [10-4], 4-1, with Elsmore the winning pitcher. Elsmore had two singles and two RBI. Chuck Moran extended his hitting streaks to three games and Pat Hennessey played strong defense at shortstop. Joe Ciardi had a double and Joe Riley and Tom Donovan a single each for the White Sox.

The Pirates also topped the Tigers, 5-1, with Hennessey the winner. Hennessey had two singles and two stolen bases. Roney had a double, Teddy McCall had a clutch hit driving in a run which put the Pirates ahead and Jerry Lenham made some fine plays in center field. For the Tigers Campbell had a double and single as did Fleming.

The Yankees edged the Mets, 10-9, in the Triple A Baseball League with Sean Toland the winning pitcher.

For the Yankees, Toland had a triple, double and single, Bobby Drury a triple and double, Tommy Bilet two singles and Billy Murphy, Eddie Wiekus and Danny Quill a single each. For the Mets Bobby Reynolds had a double and two singles, Steven McNamara and Tommy McCarthy a double and single apiece, Mike Peters a double and David Hack, Tommy Delaney, Mike Ainsley, Bobby McCarron and Joe Mastroianni a single each.

The White Sox trampled the Dodgers, 18-6, with Pat Faherty the winner. Joe Ciardi had three singles and a double for the Sox, Faherty two singles and a double, Pat Mulken two singles, Tommy Donovan two singles and a double, Eddie O'Brien and Mike Huygo a double and single apiece and George Smart and Joe Riley singles. For the Dodgers Peter Schuerch and John Reinhardt had doubles, and Mike Doherty, Kenny Southwick, Paul Mantim and Mark Simonelli singles.

Tim McCarthy was the winning pitcher as the Mets edged the Indians, 5-4. For the Mets Reynolds had two doubles, Delaney and McCarron doubles and McNamara a single. For the Indians Jimmy Fay had a double and Dean Morrone, Richard Kelley, Jimmy Kane, Brian Ostiguy, Robin Sten and Mike Haves a single each.

The White Sox blasted the Braves, 9-0, behind the pitching of Ciardi. Ciardi had a triple and two singles, Faherty and Brian Morris two singles each and Huygo a double. Jerry Martin and Mark Sandomato had the hits for the Braves.

• HN Women's Softball

Steamers, Fillies Winners

The Houghton Neck Women's Softball League took last week off but in the previous set of games the Houghton Neck Steamers defeated the Broad Squad, 14-5. Marilyn Morrill was the winning pitcher. Sherry Craig went three for four for the Steamers and Judy Hall was four for four. The playful Judy scored three runs and would have scored four times but she found a mud puddle in the shortstop area on rounding second base and decided to play in it and was thrown out. This proved that the league is for fun. In the seventh inning Marilyn Frisoli crossed home plate on her hands and knees for the first of six runs in the inning which clinched the win. For the Broad Squad Ruthie Gamble and Carol Keeley went two for three, with Gamble driving in the first three runs with a double.

The Foxy Fillies topped the Good News Bunnies, 15-9, in replay of a tie game. The Fillies led throughout with Dru Madigan starting a super double play and Fran Kelly, the catcher, making a great catch of a foul fly.

Marion Knudsen and Paula Witham hit their first home runs of the year for the Fillies. For the Bunnies Susan Hartley and Susan Giggay made fine catches and Ruthie Galligan pitched well in defeat.

There are no fish in the Dead Sea and the Great Salt Lake of Utah. In such water, fish cannot find enough oxygen to breathe.

The Fillies also defeated the Sea Gals, 12-6, scoring six runs in the sixth. Lois Murphy had a long triple in the third inning and six straight singles followed to make the score 6-0. The Sea Gals came to life in the fourth and set the Fillies down in order with some fine fielding and they scored twice in each of the next three innings and in the seventh Paula Monroe hit a home run. Despite the loss Carol Leonard pitched well. In the big sixth 10 Fillies went to bat with marge Acciavatti hitting a double and Janet Kirby hitting a three-run homer.

The Castaways scored all their runs in the second and third innings and defeated the Hustlers, 10-6. Maureen Goldie was three for three and scored twice for the Castaways. Sandy O'Hare pitched well in relief of June Brundie, and Karen Leuchte made an excellent catch. For the Hustlers Paula Miller made some outstanding catches and Lisa Beurhaus pitched well.

The league is in its last three weeks and the playoffs will be the week of July 30.

Tennis Lessons

The Quincey Recreation Department announces that registration for the second session of adult tennis lessons will begin Monday, July 16.

The five-week one-hour lessons will be offered in beginner, advanced beginner and intermediate levels with all classes held at the Faxon Park tennis courts. Classes, which begin Monday, July 23, will be held Monday thru Friday evenings from 6 to 9 p.m.

The Recreation Department will supply tennis balls and will have some racquets available. Registration will take place at the Recreation office, 100 Southern Artery, with a $5 fee payable upon registration.

For further information contact the Recreation Department at 773-1380 Ext. 204.

Coil springs for consistent operation—even after years of use. There are four in each Red Ryder.® Two in many other shocks.

"O" ring piston seal—it makes sure the fluid flows through the valving—instead of uselessly bypassing it.

Red Ryder's 1 1/4" piston (40% larger than the pistons used in standard replacement shocks) helps Red Ryders shed heat faster—gives you more control when the going's rough.

Gabriel's special nine stage valving (many other shocks use only six) gives Red Ryders better resistance to fade.

Faces Wollaston Friday

Morrisette Looks Like Top Contender

Morrisette Legion baseball team, which has dominated Zone 6 through the years, looms as a top contender once again and going into last Tuesday's game with Milton, was all alone in first place with a 7-1 record.

An outstanding pitchers' duel was expected Tuesday with Gary Earle, the MVP in the Suburban League this spring while pitching for North Quincy, due to go against Milton's Greg Burdett, the top hurler in the Bay State League.

Morrisette had a big one scheduled last night [Wednesday] against Braintree, which is tied with Weymouth for second place. Friday Morrisette hosts Wollaston at 8 at Adams Field. Monday it goes to Randolph for a 6 o'clock game and Wednesday will meet Hingham at 8 at Adams.

Quincy, having a rough year with a 1-7 record, played at Randolph Wednesday, will be at Hingham Friday at 6, Tuesday will face Canton at 8 at Adams and Wednesday will play at Holbrook at 8:30.

Wollaston [3-5-1], will face Morrisette Friday at 8 at Adams and will host Braintree Monday at 8 at Adams.

Morrisette scored 11 runs in the first two innings to make an early runaway of its game with Quincy last Friday and won, 14-4, for its second easy win over Quincy.

"They were really hitting the ball those first two innings," said Coach Ray Cattaneo.

"We can't get by the first inning," moaned Quincy Coach Fred Prezioso. "That's when all the runs are being scored against us. Teams seem to always jump on our young pitchers and we have to catch up."

Don Perdios, Kevin Howlett and Ray Coscia sparked the Morrisette offense with three hits each. Perdios drove in five runs, including three with a bases loaded double, while Howlett knocked in three runs.

Meanwhile, Coscia pitched well and struck out nine while going the seven-inning route. He gave up only two hits, both by Dean Prescott, in the first four innings.

Howlett hit the ball hard and had a booming double to deep left field in the four-run first inning. "Howlett hits the ball harder than any 16-year-old I've seen," Cattaneo said. "He's real strong for a kid that age and he is an outstanding catcher. The only reason I have him in right field is Bob Biagini, the best catcher in the league. I can't move him out of there." Biagini was the top catcher and an all-star in the Suburban League this spring.

Earlier in the week Morrisette won a big one, 3-1, at Weymouth, knocking Weymouth from a top tie. Earle pitched a three-hitter, struck out 10 and walked four and gave up Weymouth's only run in the first.

Weymouth pitcher Al Buresh, who struck out five and walked four, held the lead until the fourth when Morrisette scored twice on Bill Deitsch's single, Perdios' double and Howlett's two-run single scoring the winning runs. Morrisette added a run in the seventh when Earle singled, moved up on an error, was bunted along to third by Biagini and scored on Bill O'Connell's single.

Quincy was nearly the victim of a no-hitter as it bowed to Milton, 2-1. Burdett allowed only one hit and an unearned run in the first. Mike Smart was outstanding on the mound for Quincy, losing a four-hitter. He fanned three and walked only one.

Milton tied the game in the fourth and scored the winner in the seventh and final inning.

Wollaston edged Holbrook, 4-3, for its third win as Richie Hallberg went all the way in his first pitching start in Legion ball. He gave up eight hits.

Leading 2-1, Wollaston added two runs in the fifth on RBI singles by Brian Condon and John Kavanaugh. Holbrook came back with two in the sixth. Wollaston second baseman Gus Gonsalves and third baseman Pete Alibrandi turned in spectacular defensive plays to prevent runs.

Remick's, Foley In Hot Battle For A.L. Lead

Remick's and Foley Chrysler-Plymouth are waging a hot battle for the Quincy Junior League's American League lead.

Remick's is 17-2 and Foley 16-3. In the National League another close fight is going on with Houghs Neck Legion owning a 12-7 record and Keohane's an 11-8 mark.

Foley's ran over Boston Gear, 14-2, with Billy Phillips running his record to 9-0, all complete games. Mat Elofson hit two home runs, Jackie Bolster a double and two singles, Roy Peterson two doubles, Pete Furtado a double and single, Phillips two singles, Paul Marshall and Ed Boyle a double apiece and Paul Miller, Kevin Duffy and Chris Marshall a single each.

Foley's also topped Sears, 10-6, with Phillips winning No. 8, striking out 11. Bolster had a home run and single, Elofson a homer, Miller a double and Paul Marshall and Duffy a single each. For Sears Joe Barrios had two doubles, Steve Austin two singles, Chip Aimola a home run and Tom Connolly, Bob Pitts and Billy Connolly a single each.

Burgin Platner outlasted Boston Gear, 12-9, with John Cristiani getting credit for the win. Gear was held to two hits but took advantage of walks and errors to make the game close. Burgin started with four in the first inning on a walk and consecutive singles by Cristiani, Danny Kelley and Jimmy Salvati. It added three in the second on hits by Billy Cappelis, Salvati and Mike Cocce. In the bottom of the second Gear scored twice with no hits and added two runs in the third on only one hit. In the fourth Burgin added three runs, Cristiani doubled, Kelley walked and Salvati hit a tremendous three-run homer, his third hit of the game.

In the bottom of the fifth Gear closed the gap to 10-5 with another run without a hit, but Burgin finished up with two in the top of the sixth on key hits by Tommy Richardson and Cocce. Gear roared back with four in its half on Jimmy Milano's grand slam homer. With a runner on, Salvati relieved Cristiani and catcher Richardson picked the runner off first with a great throw. Salvati struck out the final batter to get a save. Playing well in the field for Burgin were Kelley, Cristiani and Richardson. Billy Heffernan made an outstanding catch for Gear to rob Salvati of his fourth hit.

Burgin scored a run in the seventh to edge Rotary, 4-3, with Cristiani again the winner in relief. Burgin started off with three in the first on four walks and a single by Cocce. Rotary scored two in the second, also getting four walks and a double by Kevin Sullivan. Pitchers Cocce of Burgin and Kenny Runge settled down the rest of the way with Rotary tying the game with a run in the sixth. Rotary had only hits by Ken Maher and Robbie Fitzgerald the rest of the way, while Andrew Pugliese had two hits and Cristiani and Eric Roukey one each for Burgin. Burgin won it in the extra inning when Cristiani was hit by a pitch, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored the winner on a fielder's choice. Cocce, John Kelly, Richardson, Cristiani, Salvati and Richie Horriagan played well for Burgin on defense.

Foley's edged Burgin Platner, 3-1, in one of the best games of the year as Paul Marshall outpitched Eric Roukey to run his record to 5-1. He has given up 38 hits, struck out 59 and walked only 18 in 43 1/3 innings. Burgin scored its run in the first on Cappelis' single. Pugliese's single and Cristiani's double.

In the top of the second Marshall doubled, Dave Phillips doubled to tie the score, Roy Peterson walked and Miller singled for the winning run. Chris Marshall singled in the third run. Foley's was then shackled until Marshall singled in the last inning. In the third Cappelis walked and Cristiani singled but Marshall retired the side without a run. In the fourth Kelly singled and Roukey doubled but Marshall struck out the side without a run. In the fifth Cristiani had his third hit and Cocce single but again Marshall prevented any runs.

Foley's blanked Houghs Neck, 5-0, with Marshall pitching his best game, a one-hitter, a lary single to center being the only hit. He retired the first eight batters before Tim O'Brien had the lone H.N. hit, then set down the next 10 before giving up his only walk. Elofson had two singles, Chris Marshall his first homer of the year, and Miller, Bolster, Phillips, Ed Boyle and Kyle Robertson a single each.

Boston Gear defeated Kiwanis, 8-5, with Rich Pettinelli the winning pitcher, combining with Mike LaRoque for a six-hitter. Jim Milano sparked a 10-hit attack with two doubles and a single, LaRoque and Pettinelli had two singles and a double apiece and Dennis Napier and Billy Chaisson also had hits. Jim Adams, Darren Koss, Rich Dunham, Scott Miller, Larry Taglieri, Chad Hallett and Dave Maimaron all played well for Gear. Ron Reichert made several spectacular plays at second base and Billy Heffernan made a great throw to nab a player at the plate. For Kiwanis Steve Kelly had two hits. Losing pitcher Steve Durante pitched well in defeat.

Remick's topped Houghs Neck, 6-3, with Steve Higgins the winner, blanking HN until the last inning. Chris Bunker had a home run and two singles as Higgins ran his record to 9-0. To Ryan, Higgins and Jim Mayo each had two hits and John McGlame and Don Guthro had one each. Bunker and Chris Rossi made fine catches. Steve White had three hits for HN.

Remick's also blasted Kiwanis, 13-1, with Bunker pitching a one-hitter and striking out nine. Higgins had a homer, double and two singles, Bunker a homer and two doubles, John McGlame, three hits, Rossi, Mayo and Greg McGlame two apiece and Matt Hanley, Joe Steen, Michael Michello and Guthro one each.

Remick's ran away from the Elks, 21-2, with Higgins pitching a no-hitter and fanning 13. Remick's scored 14 runs in the last two innings. Mayo had a fantastic night with five hits including his first three homers of the season. John McGlame also had five hits. Higgins had four including a homer. Bunker had two including a homer, Rossi had three hits and Steen and Michello one each. Remick's also blasted Colonial Federal, 15-8, with Bunker the winning pitcher. He struck out 13 and hit three home runs and a single himself. Higgins had two doubles and two singles, John McGlame a double and single, Mayo two hits and Rossi one.

• Junior League

Colonial Federal Defeats Bryan, Kiwanis

Colonial Federal blanked Bryan VFW Post, 6-0, in the Junior Baseball League with Billy Shaughnessy pitching two-hit ball.

Steve Constat had two hits and Marc Farrand hit a long triple to spark a three-run fifth inning. Dave Maloney had a solo homer and Shaughnessy had a double.

Colonial also edged Kiwanis, 9-8, with Gary McNamara getting credit for the win. Colonial came from behind on key hits by Constat, Mike Farrand, Shaughnessy and Maloney, who had a two-run homer. Constat had a double and single.

Boston Gear walloped the Elks, 9-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Mike LaRoque. The one run for the Elks was unearned. LaRoque struck out 12 and walked four. Capt. Rich Pettinelli had two singles and a triple to pace Gear with Jim Milano having a double and two singles, LaRoque a clutch double and Scott Miller, Bill Chaisson and Ron Reichert had key hits. Jim Adams, Rich Dunham, Steve Devan, Larry Taglieri and Darren Ross played well for Gear and Dave Maimaron was outstanding at shortstop. Ten-year-old Chad Hallett caught the entire game flawlessly.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You
By ROBERT COLMAN

Here's one I bet you didn't know about golf... During the first few hundred years of golf, no one played the game with a golf tee... The golf tee wasn't invented until 1920... And it wasn't invented by a golf pro, but rather by a dentist in South Orange, N.J., William Lowell... He patented the first golf tee in 1920 and even then it took a few years till it was accepted by all golfers.

Anybody who ever had trouble getting a golf ball into the hole might be interested in knowing just how wide a golf hole is... It may seem smaller when you're putting, but the exact width is 4 1/8 inches.

Here's an oddity... Only once in big league baseball history has a team finished first one year, then lost the next... That strange fate befell the Philadelphia A's of 1914-15... And what makes their tumble even more unbelievable is this... In 1914, when the A's won the pennant they finished 8 1/2 games ahead... In 1915 they not only landed in last place, but they finished 58 1/2 games behind!

I bet you didn't know... that Colman's has everything for summer fun. Check our huge assortment of swimwear at prices that are the lowest in town. Whatever you need for summer sports, you will find it at Colman's. Footwear for all sports in all the wanted famous names including sizes and styles for women.

Your Dental Health

by Daniel P. Sweeney D.D.S.

Dentists are certainly aware of the dangers of overuse of x-rays, but are also aware of the dangers of under use. X-rays are an invaluable dental tool. Without x-rays, a dentist would not be able to detect cavities or infections between teeth or hidden below the gum line. With regular, but not excessive, x-ray use, dentists can spot trouble spots before they become major problems. By the time these infections become visible to the naked eye, they are often so serious that it may preclude treatment and necessitate removal.

When you have a need for dentistry, visit the office of Dr. Daniel P. Sweeney D.D.S., 539 Adams St., East Milton Square. Dr. Sweeney practices general dentistry and offers all types of routine dental care. He works with patients of all ages—from the very young to Senior Citizens. As a family dentist, he stresses preventive dentistry. Call Dr. Sweeney at 698-3636 for an appointment at your convenience. • Babe Ruth League

Goldens Wins 3 In Row

Golden Print won three straight games in the Babe Ruth League, scoring five runs in the sixth and the winner in the seventh to edge Morrisette in its latest game, with John Balzano the winning pitcher. Tommy Foley, Sean Martin and John Toland had two hits apiece and Bobby Ready and Tommy Corliss one each. For Morrisette Kevin Whalen, Bobby Flynn, Mike Sullivan, Jo Jo Gonzales, John Furlow and Vin Cristiani had one hit each.

Golden topped Hancock Bank, 9-6, with Martin getting the win. Martin had two triples and Jim Kelly and Ready one each to spark the attack, while Brian Reale had three hits and Foley one. For Hancock Pat King and Nick Barry had two hits apiece and Mike Conlin and Tommy Shaughnessy one each.

Scoring six runs in the last two innings, Golden topped Local 1139, 7-2, with Balzano the winner with a one-hitter. Reale's homer and Ready's triple sparked a four-run rally in the sixth inning. Reale also had a triple in the seventh, while Martin had two hits, Mike Hussey a triple and Balzano and Corliss a single each. John Mullen had the only hit for Local 1139.

7 NQHS Hockey Players To Attend College

Seven graduating North Quincy hockey players will attend college next year, Coach Kevin Lewis announced:

Tim McCormick, Fitchburg State; Mark Rooney, Quincy Junior College; Paul Cooney and

Leo Doyle, North Adams State; Brian McGilvray, Mass. Maritime; Pat Ennis, Bridgewater State College, and Dan Cronin, Curry College.

"I'm proud that so many of my players will be furthering their education," Lewis said.

Things Have Changed'

John Papile Retires After 42 Years With Postal Service

By PETER BARNICLE

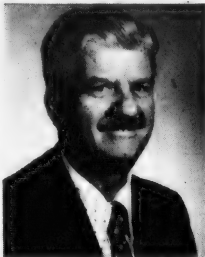

John P. Papile of Keating St., Quincy Point, was given a "temporary" appointment as a letter carrier back on July 1, 1937.

At the end of June this year he retired after 42 years with the postal service; the last 12 years as manager of the Milton Post Office.

"Things have changed since I was totting mail in the Greenleaf St.-Merry-mount Rd. section and later over on Penn's Hill," Papile recalled. "In those days the mailman knew everybody on his route. He knew when somebody was sick, when somebody was getting married, things like that. That's all different now."

Papile carried mail in Quincy for 23 years before being made supervisor of the Cambridge A Post Office. He was there for two years and was then named assistant manager of the Milton Post Office. After five years as assistant he was appointed manager.

The change-over from the U.S. Post Office Department to the present U.S. Postal Service has undoubtedly led to better service, he said, but some of the problems "have not yet been straightened out." He feels that the old spirit that "the mail must go through" is lacking.

Getting the mail through is now somebody else's problem. Papile plans to relax for a while and then hopes to make a trip with his wife, Madeline [Janaterino] Papile, to Prescara, the birthplace of his parents, on the Adriatic coast of Italy. His wife, Madeline, is director of health occupations at Quincy Vocational Technical School.

The couple has two daughters, Lucille Ann Lawless of Albuquerque, N.M., an assistant professor of medicine at the University of New Mexico, and Janet Marie O'Day, director of continuing care at Carney Hospital, Dorchester.

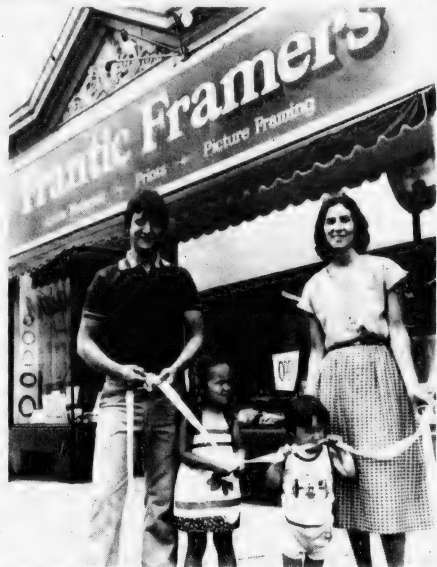

He was the seventh of 16 children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Raffaello Papile, then living on Brackett St., Quincy Point. Eight of his brothers are still living: Alphonse, Angelo, William, Leo and James, all of Quincy, George of Weymouth, Ralph of Hingham, and Albert of Las Vegas, Nev. The sisters are Mary and Sadie Papile, Amelia Faherty and Helen Mariano, all of Quincy, and Gloria Kelly of North Weymouth.

He attended the Coddington and Webster elementary schools, Quincy Point Junior High School, and graduated from Quincy High School in 1934.

Like many another high school graduate during the days of the Depression he joined the Civilian Conservation Corps [CCC] for a couple of years before being appointed to the post office.

He's a member of Quincy Lodge, Sons of Italy, Torre de Passeri, Quincy Elks, Milton Rotary, National Association of Postal Supervisors and the National Association of Letter Carriers.

For relaxation there is bowling and the traditional Italian game of bocci.

Conway Offering Free Street Maps, Guides

The Jack Conway Company, local realtors, is now offering free maps and street guides at each of its 23 offices.

Maps of Quincy and the other 45 communities the company serves, are available at Conway's Quincy office, 253 B-one St., Wollaston.

The two-color maps, produced for Conway by the Butterworth Map Company of Cape Cod, also features such information as population and tax figures, history, school data, recreational and cultural facilities and important telephone numbers.

The idea of producing the maps first surfaced almost two years ago, according to Conway Company Vice President John Reardon. "We recognized the need for detailed maps," he said, "but the cost of such a program seemed prohibitive. However, when the gas stations stopped giving out their maps, we decided to take the tiger by the tail and create our own maps, which would fill our customers' needs by also serving as a town guide."

The Conway Company has plans for future expansion in other areas, and as each new office is opened, maps will be produced for the towns and cities in those areas.

Robert MacIntosh Graduate, Cum Laude From Harvard

Robert B. MacIntosh, son of Mr. and Mrs. David MacIntosh, of 293 Whitwell St., Quincy, was graduated cum laude with a B.A. degree in economics from Harvard University at commencement ceremonies held recently.

His honors thesis on "The U.S. Granite Industry", so impressed members of the local granite industry that the thesis was placed on file in the library of the Quincy Historical Society by Gordon Carr, of Enkron's Monuments.

MacIntosh will begin work in the business field in July, and plans to continue his studies at Harvard for a masters degree in business administration.

"We just keep talking to anyone who wants to listen," he said.

But the number of smoke detectors in the city is still disappointingly low, he said. When asked how many homes had the alarms, he replied, "I'd like to say 50 percent—but we're not even close."

Since 1975, all new businesses in the city must use smoke detectors. But among older buildings, only 10 to 15 percent have them, Valenti said.

Persons interested in buying smoke detectors should look for those marked either U.L. (Underwriter's Laboratory) or F.M. (Factory Mutual). Valenti said. "If it says that, it's an approved smoke detector," he added.

detectors average around $20, Valenti said, although cheaper ones are available.

One detector should probably be purchased for each "habitable level," he said. The best places to place the detectors include at the top of a staircase, in a hallway outside the family's sleeping quarters and in the basement, at ceiling level.

"They positively save homes and property," Valenti said.

As usual, The Quincy Co-operative Bank is paying the highest interest rates allowed by law.

Effective July 1, banks have been authorized to increase their interest rates on certain accounts. The Quincy Cooperative Bank is offering, effective July 1, the highest yields allowed by law.

Regular savings accounts, for instance, will go from $5\frac{1}{4}$ per cent interest to $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, with an effective annual yield of 5.73 per cent. Also we will be offering a new four year term certificate pegged at one per cent below average four year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.

Our knowledgeable, efficient personnel will be happy to explain these accounts to you at our main office or at our branches.

Here are the varied investment offerings we have for savers:

Annual Interest Rate	Account	Effective Annual Yield [Continuously Compounded]
5.00%	NOW Accounts [$10 minimum balance]
5.50%	Regular Savings Accounts [$10 minimum balance]	5.73%
5.75%	Serial Share Accounts
5.75%	Paid Up Passbook [$100 minimum deposit]
	Paid Up Certificate [$200 minimum deposit]
5.75%	90-Day Notice Savings [$10 minimum balance]	6.00%
6.50%	1-2 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	6.81%
6.75%	2½-3 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.08%
7.50%	4-5 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.90%
8.00%	8 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	8.45%
26 Week Term Deposit Certificates [$10,000 minimum deposit] Guaranteed rate is the maximum allowable under the law. Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest during term of the account. For the latest annual rate contact any of our offices. The bank reserves the right to terminate the availability of these 26 week certificates at any time without notice.
4-year Term Deposits [NEW] [$1,000 minimum deposit] 1% below average 4 year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.
State and Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of a Term Deposit. In addition, for all term deposits issued after 7/1/79, there will be a straight forfeiture of 6 months interest on accounts with an initial term exceeding 1 year and a straight 3-month forfeiture on times a year or less.

Paying 7 Times As Fast Parking Ticket Hoarders Rush To Beat Computer

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

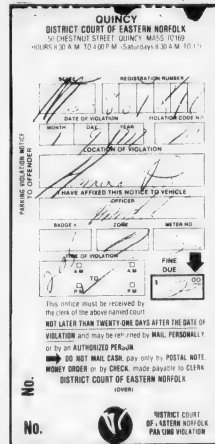

The planned computer assault on parking ticket scofflaws has already resulted in a bonanza for the city, even though the first summons has yet to be mailed.

City Auditor Charles Shea announced in mid-June the city would mail summonses for over 40,000 unpaid tickets and that an extra $3 would be tacked onto the usual $2 and $5 fines.

Since then, about $15,000 in fines have been paid voluntarily according to Ray Crombie of Quincy District Court.

The court collects about $2,000 in an average month, he said. Response by parking violators to published reports of the summons program has been "excellent," according to Dennis Ryan, clerk of the court.

The summonses, which have been delayed several times, will be mailed out "by the end of July or the first part of August," Crombie said. Until then, persons with unpaid tickets will pay only the $2 and $5 fees. Tickets which go on to the summons stage will incur the extra $3 penalty.

The summonses, originally scheduled for mailing in early March and then late June, have been delayed by a shortage of paper, a printers' strike and problems in setting up the computer program which governs the whole system, according to City Auditor Shea.

"We're very close now to having the whole operation in good shape," he added.

The tickets, which now number 44,000, go as far back as September, 1976, Crombie said.

At $5 to $8 per ticket, the city's general fund would gain between $220,000 and $352,000 if all the tickets were paid up.

The program's only expense to the city so far has been several thousand dollars taken out of parking meter funds to pay for the printing of the Proposal Under Study Mid-Winter School Closing Considered For Fuel Emergency

By TOM HENSHAW

City officials have been exploring the idea of an extended mid-winter school vacation - possibly a linking of the Christmas and February vacations - in an effort to conserve energy.

Although Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon does not like the idea of closing the schools down for five to six weeks during the coldest months, he concedes that it may be coming.

"I do not see it as realistic for the present time, certainly not for the coming school year," he told The Quincy Sun, "but we might if the energy situation continues to deteriorate.

"If some of the blackest projections come true that we're going to experience a winter without heat and people will be unable to get fuel oil for their homes, everybody's going to have to tighten up.

"Perhaps the schools eventually will be asked to run on a four-day week by executive order or will be shut down for a period of time so our fuel allocation can be made available to homes."

It was Mayor Tobin who proposed a couple of weeks ago that possibly the Christmas vacation could be stretched out to meet the February vacation in order to save fuel.

"The months of January and February are the coldest and most expensive period of time," he said. "If we could keep the thermostats at a certain level and close the buildings we would save a lot.

West Quincy Problems Discussed At Sheets' Meetings

City Councillor James A. Sheets scheduled meetings with two West Quincy groups last night (Wednesday) at City hall to discuss local problems.

The first group was to meet at 7 p.m. to take up the future of the vacant property between Wallace

Rd. and Stedman St. immediately behind the new branch office of the South Boston Savings Bank.

The second group was down for 8:15 p.m. to discuss traffic and pedestrian hazards at the intersection of Common, Reardon and Cross Sts.

19-Year-Old Announces

Third Mayoral Candidate Gets Nomination Papers

Although major opponents have been shunning a race against Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, there may be a preliminary contest for the top spot on the ballot after all.

Michael DeAngelo, 19, of 279 Newport Ave., Wollaston, a chef at a Quincy Center restaurant, became the third person to take out nomination papers for mayor this week.

Tobin is also circulating papers and Abe Itkin, a hospital social worker who was the first to return them, was the first to have at least 50 signatures certified.

If there are three or more candidates for mayor then there will be a preliminary contest on Sept. 11 to narrow the field to two candidates for the Nov. 5 general election.

Michael J. Kelly of 130 Standish Rd., Squantum, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 6, became the second office-seeker to return nomination papers with signatures last week.

Others who have picked up papers at the Election Office in City Hall include:

Leo J. Kelly, 143 Spring St., Houghs Neck for Ward 1 councillor.

Patricia M. Toland, 82 Cedar St., Wollaston, for School Committee.

Gerald V. Nobile, 102 Brook St., Wollaston, for Ward 3 councillor.

David MacMillan, 17 Bell St., Houghs Neck, for Ward 1 councillor.

Frank Anselmo, 135 Quincy Ave., Quincy Center, for School Committee.

William J. Reardon, 66 Ardell

St., Montclair, for Ward 3 councillor.

Arthur H. Tobin, 58 Huntley Rd., Quincy Center, for Mayor.

John J. Quinn, 86 Grand View Ave., Wollaston, for councillor at large.

Stephen J. McGrath, 36 Bass St., Wollaston, for Ward 5 councillor.

Christopher Kennedy, 27 Barham Ave., Montclair, for School Committee.

Daniel G. Raymondi, 88 Elm St., Quincy Center, for Ward 2 councillor.

John H. McDuff Jr., 216 South St., Squantum, for School Committee.

Kathleen O'Donnell, 1025 Hancock St., Quincy Center, for Ward 2 councillor.

Francis X. McCauley, 210 Manet Ave., Quincy Center, for councillor at large.

Joanne Condon, 70 Botolph St., Atlantic, for Ward 6 councillor.

Michael Faherty, 28 Furnace Brook Parkway, Merrymount, for councillor at large.

Candidates have until Friday, Aug. 3, to take out nomination papers, which must be returned with at least 50 certified signatures by Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Voters have until Tuesday, Aug. 21, to register for the preliminary election.

BICENTENNIAL COMMITTEE members and designers of a memorial sculpture gather around a scale model of the stone, which commemorates the 200th anniversary of the drafting of the state constitution in Quincy. From left are, Wilhelmina Harris; James McIntyre, chairman of the bicentennial planning committee; Ed Monti, sculptor; T. Owen Trainor, architect; Louise Brabazon; Gerry Raicher, designer; Joanne Condon and Brian G. Novak, architect.

IT'S NOT DARTH VADER or a refugee from Skylab, it's Quincy sculptor Ed Monti, working on a memorial honoring the state constitution's bicentennial. Monti uses a unique "thermal sculpting" technique.

60 Tons of Controversy?

Constitution Memorial Sculpture: They'll Talk About It But Will They Like It?

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

It will weigh about 60 tons and cost the city $12,000.

Some people will love it, some won't and others won't know what to make of it.

The memorial sculpture, chosen to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the drafting of the state constitution in Quincy, has been a mystery to many of those who have seen models or sketches.

"It will be a controversial design," admits James R. McIntyre, chairman of the committee planning the bicentennial festivities. "Some people won't like it, but people will talk about it. A lot of people will want to see it."

The unveiling is scheduled for the constitution's bicentennial celebration in Quincy, Sept. 6-9. Both McIntyre and Quincy Sculptor Ed Monti admit it might not be ready by then though.

"I'm going to try, but it's a huge project," Monti said. The "modernistic, symbolic" design is a seemingly aimless scattering of 14 granite blocks over an 18-by-14-foot, 8-foot-high area. But McIntyre says there's a method to the apparent madness.

Three of the stones represent the trio who drafted the Massachusetts Constitution in 1779: John Adams, Samuel Adams and Samuel Bowdoin, says the former mayor and state senator. Those blocks will blend into one huge stone, symbolizing the unifying influence of the constitution. Smaller nearby stones will represent the influence the state constitution, the first in the nation, had on others.

Monti, who said his partner Jerry Raicher did most of the design work on the memorial, seemed a little mystified.

"It's pretty symbolic," he said.

McIntyre says various aspects of the sculpture will emphasize the contrast between the historic and the modern evident in the bicentennial celebration. The famed Quincy granite blocks will be chipped away by a space-age technique, thermal sculpting, developed by Monti. The contemporary design applied to the historic subject and the location of the memorial, between 19th century City Hall and its recent annex, will also remind visitors of the old-versus-new theme, McIntyre said.

Today's Women

Carol Mahoney President

Mayor's Commission On Women Elect New Officers

Carol Mahoney, bookmobile librarian for the Quincy Public Libraries, was elected chairwoman of the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women at the commission's final meeting of the year held recently at the Barnside Tavern, Hanover.

Other new officers are: Deborah Ormon, North Quincy Branch librarian, co-chairwoman; Harriet Goldman, Holbrook Public Schools teacher, recorder; Dorothy Poutree, North Quincy High School administrative assistant, correspondent.

Members of the commission, established in 1974 by Mayor Walter J. Hannon, are appointed annually by the Mayor and the City Council. This year there were 54 members.

The purpose of the commission is to "address itself to the needs of women and to encourage them to participate more fully in the civic activities of the City of Quincy and also to lend support to other women's issues such as legislation or movements."

Among the past year's main projects was the establishment of a shelter for battered wives and their children, by DOVE, [Domestic Violence Ended], an organization set up under the auspices of the commission.

The shelter, set up in September, was the result of long hours of work by commission members, community agencies and concerned citizens, and DOVE has pledged its support until domestic violence is erased from society.

Other projects were: Project WAGE: The project was established in reaction to the commission's findings that employment is one of the most critical needs facing South Shore women.

The commission and Quincy Junior College Women's Center obtained a $54,000 grant from

CAROL MAHONEY

Quincy CETA to identify employment opportunities for women, facilitate placement of women in non-traditional jobs and expand job possibilities for women.

Project WAGE conducted interviews with South Shore employers and became an effective resource and referral agency. The project ended with the publication of three booklets, available through the commission or Quincy Junior College Women's Center: "A Women's Guide to Equal Employment Opportunity," "A South Shore Women's Guide to Low Cost Vocational Opportunities" and "A Working Women's Guide to Child Care".

Woman and Government Conference: Jointly sponsored by the commission and the Quincy Junior College Women's Center, the conference covered the working of local and state government, job possibilities and the power women can and do have in the community.

Rep. Barbara Gray addressed the role of women in government citing the importance of the Mayor's Commission and other groups that provide forums where women can share ideas.

Woman to Woman Day: The third annual conference included workshops on lifestyles, violence in the home, "Koping with kids", and investments for women.

The program, one of the few of its kind on the South Shore, provided an opportunity for women to exchange ideas, learn about resources available to them and learn more about themselves.

Women interested in participating in the work of the commission can write, including name, address and phone number, to the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women, City Hall, Quincy, attention: Carol Mahoney.

Lee Stevens Represents Quincy Legion Auxiliary At Girls State

SPRAY-CAN RUSSIAN ROULETTE

Our young people seem to love Russian Roulette. I read where the latest kick is the deadly game of inhaling aerosol propellant from spray cans in which various kinds of household products are packaged.

Several deaths have occurred from this cause. Evidently, it is mistakenly equated with glue sniffing. The latter - although potentially harmful - is not nearly so dangerous as the highly concentrated fluorocarbon gas from the spray cans.

Used for the purpose intended, the gas is entirely safe, but inhaling it in a high concentration can be quickly fatal due to the disruption of the normal pumping of the heart.

And it is dangerous to assume immunity because you may have sniffed an aerosol can once and didn't die. Heart fibrillation resulting in death could occur on the first try or the tenth, but the possibility of death is always present.

As usual, The Quincy Co-operative Bank is paying the highest interest rates allowed by law.

Effective July 1, banks have been authorized to increase their interest rates on certain accounts. The Quincy Cooperative Bank is offering, effective July 1, the highest yields allowed by law.

Regular savings accounts, for instance, will go from $5\frac{1}{4}$ per cent interest to $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, with an effective annual yield of 5.73 per cent. Also we will be offering a new four year term certificate pegged at one per cent below average four year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.

Our knowledgeable, efficient personnel will be happy to explain these accounts to you at our main office or at our branches.

Here are the varied investment offerings we have for savers:

Annual Interest Rate	Account	Effective Annual Yield [Continuously Compounded]
5.00 %	NOW Accounts [$10 minimum balance]
5.50 %	Regular Savings Accounts [$10 minimum balance]	5.73 %
5.75 %	Serial Share Accounts
5.75 %	Paid Up Passbook [$100 minimum deposit]
	Paid Up Certificate [$200 minimum deposit]
5.75 %	90-Day Notice Savings [$10 minimum balance]	6.00 %
6.50 %	1-2 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	6.81 %
6.75 %	2½-3 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.08 %
7.50 %	4-5 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.90 %
8.00 %	8 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	8.45 %
26 Week Term Deposit Certificates [$10,000 minimum deposit] Guaranteed rate is the maximum allowable under the law. Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest during term of the account. For the latest annual rate contact any of our offices. The bank reserves the right to terminate the availability of these 26 week certificates at any time without notice.
4-year Term Deposits [NEW] [$1,000 minimum deposit] 1% below average 4 year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.

State and Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of a Term Deposit. In addition, for all term deposits issued after 7/1/79, there will be a straight forfeiture of 6 months interest on accounts with an initial term exceeding 1 year and a straight 3-month forfeiture on times a year or less.

Sidewalk Bazaar Accents Music, Fun, Shopping Buys

The accent will be on music, fun and shopping values in downtown Quincy for the next three days for the 10th annual Sidewalk Bazaar.

From today [Thursday] through Saturday, Hancock St. will be closed between Granite and School Sts. for the bazaar, sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association (QCBPA). The street will become a pedestrian mall, featuring 27 canopied booths sponsored by stores and civic organizations.

Cliveden St. and Hancock Court will also be closed, according to Lt. John Flaherty, who said traffic would be rerouted along Chestnut and School Sts.

Highlight of the three-day festivities will be the selection and coronation, Friday night, of Miss Quincy Bay of 1979. Last year's winner, Kathleen Mann of Houghs Neck, will crown her successor, who will reign over Quincy Bay Race Week in August. The pageant will be on a portable boardwalk in front of the Hancock Bank, starting at 9:15.

As usual, music and dancing will be part of the weekend. Taking part in the festivities will be:

- Baron Hugo, famed band leader and his orchestra, performing Friday night and for the Miss Quincy Bay pageant.

- Mabel Biagini, popular strolling minstrel, performing with her accordion at various spots downtown on Thursday and Friday afternoons.

- Maxwell's Parrot singing waiters, singing popular favorites on Thursday and Friday nights.

- "Italian tenor" Louis Celona appearing Thursday and Friday nights.

- Dancers from Milton's Joy of Movement Center, who will demonstrate swing, ballroom and disco dancing on Thursday and Friday nights.

- The Milton Band, in concert Thursday night.

- A country band, in full western attire, will perform for square dancing Thursday night. All are invited to take part.

Also featured will be mime Ann Warren, Thursday and Friday afternoons, a "Moon Walk" for youngsters, rides on an antique fire engine, assorted clowns, a dunking booth and visits Thursday and Friday afternoons by the Franklin Park Zoomobile.

On the serious side are demonstrations of cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (C.P.R.) techniques by the Quincy Police ambulance team on Thursday and Friday nights, and a blood pressure screening clinic, staffed by Quincy Health Department nurses, on all three days.

LIBRARY VOLUNTEER - John Steen, 12, of Sea St., Houghs Neck, has completed 100 hours as a volunteer at the Houghs Neck branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library. Steen, who has finished sixth grade at Great Hill School, is the first boy to receive the 100-hour pin for volunteer work at the library.

$50,000 For Storefront Renovations

The city has received authorization of a $50,000 federal block grant to help finance redevelopment of downtown stores, Mayor Arthur Tobin announced Tuesday.

The funds will pay partial rebates for storeowners who redesign and renovate their storefronts, including signs. Tobin told a meeting of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association (QCBPA).

Edward Coyle, president of the QCBPA, called the $50,000 the Community Development Block Grant "a big step in the rebirth and rebuilding of Quincy Square" and "the biggest direct assistance step in our city in decades."

James Lydon of the city's planning department told the businessmen that since the federal block grant for the downtown area was increased this year, the maximum rebate to storeowners was also increased to $4,000. The city can now rebate 75 percent of the cost of storefront renovations, up to the $4,000 maximum.

The planning department also offers businessmen free advice from professional designers in planning the store renovations.

$79,283 In Plumbing Work

The city's department of plumbing and gas fitting inspection issued 240 permits last month, according to James A. Erwin, plumbing and gas inspector.

Erwin reported that 116 plumbing permits were issued for an estimated $79,283 work, $648 in permit fees were collected and 230 plumbing inspections were made.

Gas inspection accounted for 124 permits issued for fees of $658, $73,255 in work and 158 inspection visits.

This is your life.

This is it. Someone's finally come along with life insurance for you. Life insurance that's readable, clear and affordable. Savings Bank Life Insurance policies are individually suited to you. If you've hesitated buying insurance because of high costs or confusing policies — this is your life.

Life with no ifs, ands, or butts.

Savings Bank Life Insurance just did something great for you non-smokers. At Quincy Savings Bank, we're offering you special reduced rates for $50,000 Yearly Renewable Term. That means if you haven't smoked cigarettes for at least a year, you'll save on our already low rates. For example, the non-smokers rate at age 30 is only $79 annually. At age 35 it's only $84. And if you're 40 years old and haven't smoked a cigarette since you were a young 39, the annual rate is $132.00.

A new issue of life.

Savings Bank Life Insurance, in fact, has lowered all rates, some by as much as 42%. That means it's an even better buy than before, at Quincy Savings Bank.

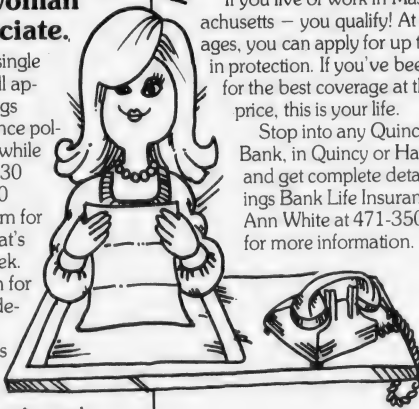

FOR EXAMPLE

$10,000 (Annual Premium)

Age	Straight Life	Life Paid-Up at Age 65	Five Year Renewable Term
25	$ 92.50	$ 99.80	$19.80
30	111.50	123.10	19.80
35	136.70	155.90	23.80
40	170.00	203.20	35.90
45	212.80	272.80	47.80
50	271.20	388.80	75.40

Life only a woman could appreciate.

Whether you're single or married, you'll appreciate a Savings Bank Life Insurance policy. For example, while you're under age 30 you can get $25,000 5-Year Renewable Term for just $50.00 a year. That's less than a dollar a week. Now there's no reason for any woman to be underinsured. At Quincy Savings Bank there's a wide range of low-cost policies to meet a woman's specific needs.

The easy life.

Ordinary life. Endowment and term. Non-smokers insurance. Each and every Savings Bank Life Insurance policy is easier to read. Easier to understand. And now, easier to pay for, too.

Because life insurance policies from Quincy Savings Bank are individually designed with you in mind. They're written in plain English.

If you live or work in Massachusetts — you qualify! At most ages, you can apply for up to $53,000 in protection. If you've been looking for the best coverage at the best price, this is your life.

Stop into any Quincy Savings Bank, in Quincy or Hanover, and get complete details on Savings Bank Life Insurance. Or call Ann White at 471-3500 soon, for more information.

Obituaries

Stephen Higgins, 73, Retired State Tax Official

A funeral Mass was celebrated in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, Tuesday, for Stephen S. Higgins, 73, of Quincy, a retired certified public accountant who was associated for many years with the state Department of Corporations and Taxation.

Mr. Higgins died Friday at the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute, Boston. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Born in Boston, he graduated from the High School of Commerce in 1923. He studied nights at Boston College and later at New York University. On his return to Boston he worked for the state income tax division while taking evening courses at Boston University and in 1942 received his certificate as a CPA.

Republican Gov. Christian A. Herter named him a deputy tax commissioner in 1953. He was the only Democrat on the three-man commission. Later he was appointed associate commissioner of the tax department and in 1963 was appointed chief of excises in the department of corporations and taxation.

He was a member of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants and a former president of the New England Tax Officials Association. He was also a member of the Holy Name Society and the Charitable Irish Society of Boston.

He was the husband of the late Anne (Boris) Higgins and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anne Kneclvis of Burlington, and a son, Anthony S. Higgins of Billerica; a brother, John D. Higgins of Wollaston, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Ralph George, 61, Former Owner Quincy Sheetmetal Company

A funeral Mass was celebrated Wednesday in Holy Family Church, Rockland, for Ralph S. George, 61, of Rockland, former Quincy sheetmetal company owner and mechanic at Quincy YMCA.

Mr. George died Sunday at South Shore Hospital following a long illness. Burial was in Holy Family Cemetery, Rockland.

Born in Haverhill, he attended Wrentham schools, and had lived in Rockland for 20 years.

He was co-owner of Quincy Sheetmetal Co. for 20 years, and later was employed by the YMCA. Recently he worked for the Foxmoor Casual Co., West Bridgewater.

He was in the Navy during World War II and served aboard the USS Boston.

He is survived by his wife Rita (Baldassini) George; two sons, Ralph F. George of Abington, Gunner Sgt. John P. George, USMC; four daughters, Miss Joanne George of Concord, N.H., Mrs. Kristine DesSanzo of Brockton, Mrs. Nancy Flaherty of Port Huene, Cal., and Miss Marianne George of Waltham; a brother, Edward George of Bradford, and nine grandchildren.

Harold W. Burrell Retired Bus Driver

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy, for Harold W. Burrell, 91, a bus driver for the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., until his retirement some years ago.

Mr. Burrell died Friday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

He was born in Weymouth and lived the past 60 years in Quincy. He was a Navy veteran of World War I.

Husband of the late Mrs. Margaret H. (Brennan) Burrell, he is survived by a son, Warren Burrell of Quincy, retired from the Quincy Fire Department; four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

William McCormack, 67, Boston Pipefitter

A funeral Mass was celebrated Wednesday at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, for William C. McCormack, 67, of Quincy, a pipefitter for P. J. Riley Co. of Boston.

Mr. Riley died at his home Sunday following a long illness. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy.

He was born in Boston and lived in Quincy for the past 25 years. He was a member of the Pipefitters' Union.

He is survived by his wife, Mary T. (Lee) McCormack of Quincy; five sons, John McCormack, Joseph McCormack, Francis McCormack, all of Quincy, William C. McCormack, Jr. of Brockton, and Paul A. McCormack of Raynham; two daughters, Mary O'Connor of Weymouth and Barbara Nadeau of Quincy, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Elderly Diabetes First Target

Dr. Robert McKeogh Named City Health Commissioner

One of Dr. Robert P. McKeogh's first innovations as Commissioner of Public Health will be a program to combat diabetes in the elderly.

"There are a lot of elderly people walking around who have not been diagnosed as diabetics simply because they haven't seen anyone to examine them," he said.

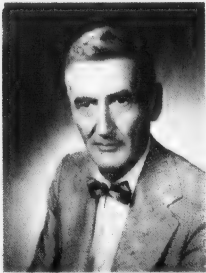

"I understand that there is a van that comes out from Boston every now and then to give examinations but I think that they should be given much more frequently.

"That's one area of expansion I can think of right away but I imagine there will be more once I find the parameters of the job."

Dr. McKeogh, 57, a Wollaston obstetrician and gynecologist, was named Commissioner by Mayor Tobin to fill out the last 18 months of the term of Dr. Samuel Solomon, who retires July 27.

A native of Gardner and a graduate of Holy Cross and Tufts School of Medicine, he has made his home in Quincy for 27 years. He lives at 30 Crabtree Rd., Squantum; practices at 85 Clay St., Wollaston.

Much of Dr. McKeogh's work in the public health field was carried on during a hitch as a major in the Army Medical Corps from 1953 to 1956 at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and the American Hospital in Paris.

His continuing medical education has involved diabetes detection, cancer screening, dental care and immunization of children, lead paint poisoning, pollution and such hazards as drugs, food poisoning and radiation.

He is a teaching fellow and instructor in obstetrics at Tufts and maintains affiliations as visiting surgeon with Carney Hospital and St. Margaret's Hospital in Boston and Quincy City Hospital.

He interned at Boston City Hospital from 1946-49, held a fellowship at the Free Hospital for Women in Brookline from 1949-50 and has also been affiliated with Lawrence Memorial, Cambridge City and Malden Hospitals.

Dr. McKeogh has delivered papers to the Boston Obstetrical Society and the Dublin (Ireland) Obstetrical Society and one of them was presented by the fourth World Congress of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Buenos Aires in 1964.

He was a member of the Soviet-American Symposium on Gynecology and Obstetrics in Moscow in 1969.

He and his wife Winifred, who is better known as Claire, have four daughters, Deborah, a Holy Cross graduate who lives in Braintree; Linda, who attends Lesley College; Patricia, who will enter Jackson College in the fall; and Jennifer, a student at Thayer Academy.

Constitution Sculpture Of Controversial Design

vote of support for the design is Quincy architect T. Owen Trainor, who called Monti and Raichler's proposal "magnificent". Trainor's firm designed the new City Hall annex and he advised McIntyre's committee on its choice of a memorial.

"It's a Picasso-type of sculpture, if you can imagine that," Trainor said. Like McIntyre, he predicted the design would be "very controversial".

There will be spaces between the boulders so visitors can stroll through. Eight plaques will be inscribed with quotations from the original constitution, including Article One, the "Declaration of Rights."

The design was accepted unanimously by the committee from among seven others, Trainor said.

The monument will cost the city $12,000, about $23,000 less than its actual value. McIntyre told the City Council on June 18. The council appropriated funds for it after hearing McIntyre's plans for the four-day festivities.

Speaking at his West Quincy workshop, Monti said he volunteered to do the work at such a low price because "I wanted to do something for the city, where we have lived all of our lives."

The thermal technique he is using on the blocks is one he developed, Monti said, and as far as he knows, he's the only person in the world using it. The process applies kerosene and liquid oxygen to the granite, which flakes off in small pieces. An eight-foot pile of granite flakes near Monti's work site is the after effect of about four weeks' work on various projects, he said.

Wearing a heavy, protective "spaceman" suit, Monti pointed a long metal pipe at the end of a hose at the granite. Flames and liquid poured out, accompanied by a roar sounding like the takeoff of a DC-10.

Later, while the liquid on the granite steamed, Monti said he wasn't sure about the meaning of the design or how it would be received by the city's folk.

But McIntyre had his own prediction:

"One third will like it, one third won't like it and one third won't know."

'No Money,' Pleads Tobin As Nurses March

"If they want to come down and picket City Hall, I'd love to have them, but I don't know what it's going to change," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin. "I don't know where to get the money."

Nearly 100 nurses from City Hospital, carrying signs and joined by some of their children, picketed City Hall for three and a half hours last Thursday in support of their demands for a pay increase.

The nurses, like many other city employees, have been working without a contract since July 1, 1978.

"They have been waiting over two years for a wage increase," said Eamon Hogan of the Massachusetts Nurses Association. "I hope this will demonstrate to the mayor and the public the depth of our feeling."

Nurses pay at Quincy City Hospital currently ranges from a minimum of $234.75 a week to a maximum of $286.68 weekly after 10 years, according to MNA figures.

Comparable figures at Cambridge City Hospital, says the MNA, are $257.60 and $327.20 after five years; at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston $249.20 and $368.40 after seven years.

"We are just looking to keep up with the area hospitals," said Hogan. He said officially negotiations are going on but there has been no meeting of negotiators for three or four weeks.

Mayor Tobin indicated that negotiations would do no good until the city learns what it will be receiving in state aid now that Gov. King's state budget has been passed.

"We will determine what can be done by the amount of money that's received back from the state," he said. "If we get enough money back to hold the tax rate then there could be raises."

"It's not just the nurses. We feel that the firefighters, the policemen, the clerical help, the laborers, the teachers, the maintenance men and custodians all need pay raises.

"But the city auditor informs me that if we give just a flat cost of living raise we could be talking somewhere in the ball park of $5 million, which is $18 to $22 on the tax rate."

"The problem is this: Do we raise the tax rate $18 to $22 or do we lay off people?"

Several signs carried by the pickets made blunt reference to the fact that a number of new administrative posts were created at the hospital in the fiscal 1980 budget.

Some raises in pay also were given to administrators in that budget following the recommendations of Touche Ross and Co., the Boston accounting firm that reorganized the hospital's money-handling procedures.

"Quincy City Hospital Melting Pot for 'Honorable' Mayor Tobin's Friends. Money for Management but not for Nurses," said one sign.

"Do We Need a Raise? Bet Your Fan-Too-Chio We Do," said another, referring to John Fantucchio, the hospital comptroller.

"Do We Need a Raise? Of Koose we do," said a third, an apparent reference to former Tobin aide Harold Koose, now assistant director for personnel at the Hospital.

Tobin defended the raises for hospital administrators as just a "pittance."

"You cannot go out and get managerial help unless you pay the price that is recommended throughout the hospital field," he said.

"If the nurses want to settle for the money that was recommended by Touche Ross for the reorganization, I'll be glad to give them that."

The Mayor noted that the Hospital closed the books on fiscal 1979 with a deficit of $1.9 million.

"You can't keep operating in the red and give pay raises," he said.

Throughout the afternoon of picketing, quite a few passing motorists sounded their apparent support for the nurses by blowing their horns.

And in midafternoon, when the temperature hit the high-80's, an anonymous benefactor dropped off four cases of cold soda pop, which went so quickly it threatened to break up the picket line.

Hogan said he wasn't sure when or if picketing would be taken up again.

"It depends on how the city responds," he said. "We're exploring our options now."

There is something very personal about a gift of jewelry. I'm not quite sure how it all started, but I have noticed that when someone gives a piece of jewelry as a gift, it usually means something special. Maybe it is because jewelry is worn on the body close to that person. As a result, the wearer of jewelry always has a little bit of the giver close to his or her heart. Maybe it has to do with the attention we all pay to our personal appearance, and jewelry certainly is an important part of our personal appearance.

When you have a gift to give to that very special person be sure to see us at GRONO & CHRISTIE, INC., 556 Adams St., East Milton, 696-1490. We're here to help you make that selection and are proud of the many fine pieces of jewelry we handle. Estate pocket watches are available. Some are more than 75 years old, run perfectly and are beautiful pieces. Stop by and see us Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Fagerlund Still Undecided

Will Mike run or won't he?
Elmer (Mike) Fagerlund, chairman of the Board of Assessors under Mayors Walter Hannon and Joseph LaRaia still hasn't decided whether to run for that office himself.
"I'm absolutely interested," he says. "There's certainly room for another candidate and another philosophy."

Sample philosophy: "Public support and tax support for private business is a dead end. Private business should make it on its own."

Fagerlund indicates he may wait until the Aug. 3 deadline for taking out nomination papers to make up his mind. And, even if he takes them out then, he may not make a final decision until Aug. 7 deadline for filing the papers.

He's had bumper stickers in circulation for months now. They say only: "Fagerlund".

Does that mean he might run for the City Council if he decides not to go for mayor?

"No way. The City Council, as far as I am concerned, is a dead end."

FAGERLUND

MEANWHILE, a few political observers still think Joseph LaRaia might jump into the mayoral ring as an 11th hour candidate.

They are the ones who think he timed the printing of his book to get it into circulation just prior to the election and cash in on its resulting publicity.

Most observers, however, dismiss LaRaia as a candidate-mayoral or council-at-large this year. But with LaRaia, you never can be sure until deadline time.

ABE ITKIN, candidate for mayor, has qualified for the ballot. Seventy signatures on his nomination papers have already been certified. That's 20 more than needed. Incidentally, he's the first candidate for any office to qualify for this year's ballot.

RENE LUMAGHINI, JR., who had been thinking of running for the Ward 4 City Council seat, has decided instead to make a bid for City Council at-large. He'll be making an official announcement shortly.

MEANWHILE, just about everyone is convinced that Ward 4 incumbent James Sheets will seek re-election. He had given serious consideration to running for Mayor and probably toyed with the thought of an at-large bid. But he appears to have settled for a re-election run.

JUST HOW QUIET this year's city election scene is was quite evident at last week's annual South Shore Chamber of Commerce clam bake. Usually the bake is a great opportunity for political handshaking. But the only Quincy elected officials we noted were: Councilors Frank McCauley, Leo Kelly and John Lydon and School Committeewoman Joan Picard.

GEORGE RILEY, Mayor Tobin's executive secretary, was scheduled to represent His Honor in presenting a trophy to the championship team in St. John's Little League at Faxon Park ceremonies. He couldn't because he had to accept the trophy instead.

RILEY

The Riley and Rielly team sponsored by his insurance agency won the title. So City Council President John Quinn stood in for the stand-in. The last time the Riley and Rielly team won the championship was in 1972 when Riley's oldest sons, Mark and Scott, played on the team.

JUST ABOUT EVERYONE has a pet dream of changing jobs and doing something all together different. Well, for Dr. B. Lawrence Shalit, 58, North Quincy dentist, his dream will soon become a reality. He has resigned from the Quincy Taxpayers Association board of directors and retired from dentistry to do what he's always wanted to do. He's going to school in the fall to learn to be a farmer. Then he's going to settle on his 450-acre farm in Cape Breton, N.S. and grow things.

CHARLIE SHEA, son of City Auditor Charles Shea, got to meet Marie Osmond the other day. He manages the Baskin Robbins Ice Cream shop at harborlight Mall, Weymouth, Marie, who was appearing at the South Shore Music Circus, came in with her mother for an ice cream cone. Charlie did the honors himself. Marie, in case you're interested, ordered a double dipped cone: whipped fruit pineapple and peanut butter and banana.

Mid-Winter School Closing Considered For Fuel Emergency

Commissioner told me that if there were severe snowstorms during that period we could also save money on the equipment that would be used to plow the sidewalks for the children.

"There could be a tremendous savings to the taxpayers."

Meanwhile, Tobin announced that Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti has already put his department on a 10-hour day, four-day week basis, at least through the period of daylight savings time.

Instead of quitting at 3:30 p.m., Public Works crews are now working until 5:30 p.m., which enables them to finish projects in a day and gives the departments vehicles a day for rest and repair.

And Richard J. Koch, the newly named Energy Commissioner, has begun collecting information on city-owned vehicles and any proposals that the various department heads may have to save energy.

The information is due on the desk of Robert Trankis, manager of the conservation office, by Friday, July 20.

But the School Department, which has been on a conservation kick since the last great fuel crisis in 1973-74, is far ahead of the rest of the city in preparation for the latest one.

A school task force, consisting of Creedon; John M. Browne, director of plant facilities; Frank Leporini, who has charge of the new computer at North Quincy High School; Stephen H. Moynihan, business manager; and Carl Leone, coordinator of athletics, has been exploring the energy situation all summer.

This, according to Dr. Creedon, is what they have come up with:

"We intend to curtail the use of Public School vehicles by those organizations not affiliated with the school system if the problems with gasoline continue," he said.

"If we are put on a gasoline allocation then outside groups will have to provide their own gasoline."

"We will limit the number of student field trips and their destinations, probably banning all field trips outside a 15-mile radius unless, there is some extraordinary reason."

"For instance, the ROTC has relations with military installations around here. They have to go there for training sessions. It is the only place they can get it."

"We are planning to close down the operation of the school system for all evening programs for the six or seven or eight weeks from the Christmas through the February vacations."

"We will also make every effort possible to consolidate afternoon and evening uses of the buildings so that we are not pumping heat all over the place in order to heat a certain small space."

"For instance, if we have three or four groups who want to meet in three or four buildings, we are going to try to combine them in the building where we can best control the energy situation."

Dr. Creedon said he has asked Leone to contact athletic directors in other school systems to see if they can tighten up the schedules for interscholastic games.

"We want to see what extent we can shift evening games to the afternoon like it was in the 1950's," he said, "so we can eliminate heating to heat and light the buildings all the time."

"We can also tighten up schedules so that we don't have the boys going to Weymouth on Monday for gymnastics and the girls going on Tuesday for basketball and somebody else on Wednesday for something else."

Meanwhile, school maintenance men, headed by chief electrician Thomas Picard, have been going over the schools to see which lights are not necessary to meet minimum state lighting standards.

The state requires that 50 candlepower of light fall on each desk.

"Where we can we are putting in more individual control of the light switches," said Picard. "In some places lights near a window can be switched off during the day and still meet standards."

Picard and others are going to school this summer to learn more about the electric control system that runs the Lincoln-Hancock School, which operates entirely on electricity.

Dr. Creedon said that the Quincy schools are entering the 1979-80 school year with "a very serious situation relative to costs."

When the present school budget was put together last December, the city was paying 35 cents a gallon for No. 5 oil to heat the schools.

"We projected it to 37 cents in the budget," he said. "Now we are paying 52 cents a gallon and obviously it is going to be going up and up."

"The money we have in the budget to pay the oil man is going to be between $250,000 and $300,000 short -- and we'll be burning less fuel, too."

By comparison, the schools spent $181,500 for 1,850,000 gallons of heating oil in 1972-73. It was $530,750 for 1,450,000 gallons in 1978-79. And now the oil is at least 14 cents a gallon higher than that.

Sunbeams Column On LaRaia Book Shocked Her

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I was quite shocked to read your "Sunbeams" column of July 12, 1979. It seems to me that if Joseph LaRaia spent his time making a book of accusations, you may be kind enough to let the reader determine that for himself.

I am a loyal reader of the Quincy Sun, and I was appalled to see such an outright attack on a former Mayor, and respected citizen of Quincy. You, and maybe your "resembling characters," may not respect him, but many citizens of Quincy still do respect, and wish that Joseph LaRaia was still our Mayor. I am not knocking Mayor Tobin, but I feel that Mr. LaRaia deserves a lot more credit than is given to him.

I believe that if you weren't so busy trying to figure out "who's who," you may notice that there is a story in the book.

And remember - it's classified as fiction. Leave it to the imagination, and you may find it familiar, let your imagination run away with you, and you create the monster.

People Of Quincy 'The Greatest'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Your paper presented a letter of tribute regarding a local official. I would like to voice my praise of those who are the greatest - "The People of Quincy."

Having lived in Quincy some 60 years, I have been very interested and concerned about what happens in Quincy. To me, Quincy people seem to have a special gift in enduring the many political follies and schemes which are presented as panaceas. Issues are clouded, legal jargon ferments and mis-statements abound. But the people of Quincy adjust and re-adjust.

Yes, the people of Quincy deserve my salute. They have endured the excuses and abuses of many.

One Oil Shortage Solution Wood-Burning Stoves In Demand This Winter

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Predictions of a home heating oil shortage and of prices of 85 cents to $1 per gallon have some people already looking at wood-burning stoves—as a solution to next winter's energy problems.

"We've gotten a lot of inquiries on them lately," says City Building Inspector Allan McDonald. "By fall, I think we'll be flooded."

The office of the building inspector, which since 1978 must approve all such stoves, has received about 30 permit applications in the past year, according to Taylor Ahearn, assistant building inspector.

Applications have been increasing in number and are expected to keep coming over the next few months, spurred on by reports of a coming shortage and higher prices.

Many homeowners hope to cut down on the winter heating bills by using the cheaper and easier-to-obtain wood instead.

But the stoves, while economical, can be dangerous if not used and installed properly, McDonald warns. Legislation pending on Beacon Hill could make the situation worse, he says.

A permit from the building inspector must certify that the installation meets the complex state building code. Strict regulation is necessary because wood-burning stoves are far more dangerous than conventional heating systems, McDonald claims.

The "stack temperature," in the flue can run as high as 2000 degrees in a wood-burning stove, while gas, coal and oil systems usually have stack temperatures between 400 and 800 degrees.

"We've already had a few fires from them lately," McDonald said.

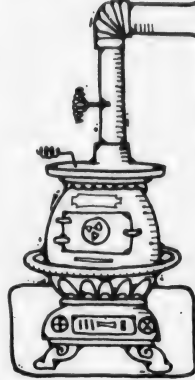

At least two serious fires in Quincy this year, and a handful of smaller ones, have been blamed on the wood-burning stoves, McDonald says.

"Installation is paramount," Ahearn says. The state code specifies such details as how far the stove can be from the nearest wall, how high it is to be set above the floor and the placement of the flue.

Even if the installation code is followed, extreme care must be used in operating the stove. McDonald recalls one fire last year occurred because the owner had stacked wood against the side of the stove.

Yet another danger is improperly built stoves, which could leak gas or flames. As of July 1, the state building code states local building inspectors may approve only those stoves labeled as approved by four certified testing laboratories: Underwater Laboratories, Inc.; Arnold Greene Testing Laboratories, Inc.; PFS Corporation and R. F. Geisser and Associates.

On Jan. 1, 1980, a more stringent code goes into effect, Ahearn said. All approved stoves must carry a label with eight pieces of information, including the name of the manufacturer, an approved testing laboratory and the testing date.

But Massachusetts House bill 6438 could void this regulation, McDonald says.

The bill, already passed through the House and now in the Senate, states "the testing or labeling of solid fuel burning appliances shall not be required for 'installation or the grant of a building or other permit.'"

"We are death on this bill," Ahearn said. "The stove people are trying to get this through" to sell their inventories of stoves, he added.

Its passage would throw out all regulation and result in the sale and use of substandard and possibly dangerous stoves, he claimed.

"We are fiercely opposed to it," Ahearn said.

Home Heating Oil Prices Continue To Rise

The price of home heating oil, which usually levels off in the summer, has continued to rise, the state energy office reports.

The average price in the Boston area is 74.4 cents per gallon, the Massachusetts Office of Energy Resources found in a July 6 survey. That's five cents more than on June 1, nine cents more than on April 30 and 13 cents higher than at the end of March.

In the survey of 108 dealers across the state, MOER found an average price of 74.7 cents per gallon, with oil averaging 76.2 cents in the western part of Massachusetts and 73.6 in the central section. Individual prices ranged from 67.5 to 80.9 cents per gallon.

Those prices don't reflect a pending 6-cent rise due to the recent OPEC price hike. That increase will probably take effect in late August, MOER reports.

"In addition to price increases, the supply of heating oil for the coming winter still remains a concern," said Joseph S. Fitzpatrick, director of MOER. "We have been in constant contact with federal energy officials and White House staff to insure that Massachusetts had adequate heating oil stocks as the heating season approaches."

McCarthy Mixup

Lawrence W. Parrish of 102 Edwards St., Quincy Point, a Fore River shipyard worker for 22 years, was subpoenaed to testify before Sen. McCarthy's investigating committee after FBI informant William H. Teto of Ashby identified him as a communist.

But when Parrish arrived in Washington it was discovered that the subpoena should have been made out to Lawrence T. Parrish and McCarthy apologized to Parrish. Fore River officials said they could find no record of a Lawrence T. Parrish ever working there.

"If Sen. McCarthy is as anxious as he would have us think about the healthy condition of defense plants in this area," said Parrish, "he might use the influence of his high office to see that contracts for more work are assigned to such plants as the Quincy Shipyard."

LUX' HOMER BIG BLOW

Bernie Lux' grand slam home run highlighted an eight-run first inning as Morrisette defeated Wollaston 23-4 in a playoff at neutral Milton Town Field to win the Junior American Legion Zone 6 baseball championship.

Morrisette went on to beat Abington, 8-4 and 9-6, to move into the second round of the state tournament against South Post of Worcester.

HOT RACE DUE IN 2ND

Exciting contests were forecast for State Rep in the 2nd Norfolk District as William W. Jenness and L. Paul Marini faced each other for the Republican nomination and David J. Crowley and Paul P. Duffey were vying for the Democratic spot.

Contestants for the three seats in the 1st Norfolk District were Republicans Amelio Della Chiesa, Clifton H. Baker, Carter Lee, Robert M. Ford and Frederick L. Farrell, and Democrats Joseph P. McDonough, Thomas N. Byrnes, Thomas H. Burke and Edward P. Goode.

SHIPYARD PROMISED FAIR CHANCE

Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas assured a delegation from the Quincy Shipbuilding Committee that the Fore River shipyard will have a "fair chance" to secure a contract to build the fourth Forrestal-class aircraft carrier.

Meanwhile, 1,126 of the 3,600 members of Shipbuilding Workers Local 5, meeting in CIO Hall, voted to authorize a strike whenever its leaders felt necessary to secure a new contract. The old one expired at midnight July 24.

Plan Movies, Stage Shows

Chandlers Purchase Wollaston Theatre

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Chandler of 320 Belmont St., Wollaston, have purchased the Wollaston Theater on Beale St., Wollaston, from Mrs. Harriet W. Sears of Elm Ave., Wollaston.

Chandler, an engineer with Metcalf and Eddy, and president of the Quincy Citizens Association, said that he plans to present stage productions and movies.

The new owner said he plans to show older movies part of the week and current film fare during the remainder of the week. He hopes that eventually the auditorium will be utilized for live stage events.

Chandler said that minor repairs and repainting are being undertaken and that every effort will be made to refurbish the theater.

The date for reopening will be announced later, Chandler said.

The theater was built in 1927 by the late Edward Sears and continued as a movie house until it was closed within the past year.

Brownell Asks Sand For Wollaston Beach

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell [D-Quincy] has asked for a general cleanup by the MDC and the addition of truck loads of sand to rectify the "deplorable conditions" on Wollaston Beach in the vicinity of Fenno St.

"This particular section of the beach is useless," said Brownell in a letter to MDC Commissioner Guy A. Carbone, noting the accumulation of rocks as well as the lack of sand.

"With hot summer days ahead we need all of the space available to accommodate residents and others who use this major recreational area."

Brownell also requested the MDC for additional traffic control and police visibility in the area.

Security Meetings Set In North Quincy

City Councillor Joanne Condon is holding a series of Wednesday night residential security meetings at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 245 Atlantic St., aimed at crime prevention in the Ward 6 areas.

Representatives of the Police Department's Crime Prevention Division are on hand to narrate slide presentations and give tips on vacation home security.

The first such meeting was held July 11 for Precinct 1 residents and the second was last night [Wednesday] for residents of Precinct 2.

Future meetings will be held on Wednesdays, July 25 for Precinct 4, Aug. 1 for Precinct 5, Aug. 8 for Precinct 3 and Aug. 15 for Precinct 6. All are set for 7:30 p.m.

Meetings were planned by precinct because it reflects the concept of Neighborhood Watch but persons from outside the precincts specified are welcome to attend other meetings.

Smoke Detectors For Seniors Program Starts In North Quincy

A pilot program, using $5,000 in federal funds, is starting in North Quincy to install smoke detectors in the homes of senior citizens through the Atlantic Neighborhood Self-Help Program.

Applications will be available Wednesday, Aug. 8, according to City Councillor Joanne Condon, and installations will start in mid-August on a first come-first serve basis.

If the program is successful in the pilot area, which includes Atlantic and a large part of Wollaston, it is planned to expand it into other sections of the city.

A Fire Department campaign was spurred on recently by fires in an apartment house on Washington St., Quincy Center, and on Riverbank Rd., Houghs Neck, in which smoke detectors saved lives.

Mrs. Condon said the money for the Atlantic program is coming from the Community Development Block Grant and will provide up to 400 photo-electric-type of smoke detectors.

"Maximum detection is our goal," she said. "If a home requires two or three smoke detectors, that's what we will provide."

"We have the original allocation of $5,000 but we also have the ability to elaborate on that amount of money and serve as many people as we can from the same source."

Senior citizens will sign up for the program and have their eligibility certified through the Atlantic Neighborhood Self-Help Program, which has been operating for the past five years.

Names will be forwarded to Fire Chief Edward Barry and a member of the Fire Department will visit the house to determine the best locations for detectors.

Then carpenters from the Self-Help Program will make the actual installations.

Suppliers already have been asked to bid on the smoke detectors, which usually retail for between $10 and $20 apiece, according to Chief Barry.

Mrs. Condon said that senior citizens comprise roughly 16 per cent of the population of North Quincy and none of them live in senior citizen housing where smoke detectors are available.

Chief Barry called the devices to be installed "single station, battery operated detectors," which need to have their batteries replaced at intervals.

"Every October," he said, "we are going to have a publicity program to remind people that now is the time to replace the batteries as part of our fire prevention program."

Sons Of Italy Elect Sebastian Papagno Grand Orator

Sebastian Papagno a member of the Quincy Lodge, was elected Grand Orator of the Massachusetts Grand Lodge, Order Sons of Italy, at the 65th annual convention of more than 400 delegates representing Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts at Kerkonson, N.Y.

Papagno and Mary Johnson, also of Quincy, were elected delegates to the national convention to be held in California in August.

summonses, Shea said. He estimated this cost at $10,000 to $12,000 and possibly less.

"We won't really know until we get the thing rolling," he said.

According to Crombie, he and Ryan decided late last year to apply for a federal CETA grant to help clear up the court's enormous backlog of unpaid tickets.

The $72,000 grant, approved in February, pays a year's salary for six full-time CETA workers and $2500 expenses in using the city's computer at Quincy Vocational-Technical High School.

"If it wasn't for CETA, we never could have gone through with this," said Crombie, who said the court's own staff lacked the manpower to get the program underway.

But once the system is set up, Shea said the city will be able to send out monthly mailings of ticket summonses at almost no expense.

Many of those who have come to the court to pay their tickets owe $100 or more, Crombie said, with some owing $400 to $500. Persons owing these large amounts may arrange to pay their fines in installments, rather than one lump sum, he said.

The attitude of persons paying up has been "surprisingly good," Crombie said. "They know they owe the money and that we'll catch up with them eventually."

The names of persons who ignore the summonses for 21 days will be sent to the Registry of Motor Vehicles for further action.

Quincy Summer Scene Players 6th Season Underway

The Quincy SummerScene Players will open their 6th season tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

Three one-act plays, musical numbers and interpretive dance selections will be presented at Atlantic Junior High School auditorium, 85 Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

The one-act plays are: "The Best There Is," a drama by Marion Wefer, directed by Doron Erickson, Mr. Erickson, a junior at Dartmouth College, has acted and directed for the SummerScene program for several years.

The second play is a comedy, "Our Time of Life," by Madeline Davidson and Joel Wyman, directed by Frank Moffett. Mr. Moffett has managed the SummerScene Theatre Arts Program for six years.

Robert Cotto, a language arts teacher at North Quincy High School, is directing the third play, "Stolen Identity," a comedy-drama in three episodes by Charles Emery.

Following the one-act plays will be five musical selections by Cat Stevens, Harry Chapin and Don McLean, with interpretive dance numbers.

The SummerScene Theatre Arts Program was originated so that the young adults of Quincy would have the opportunity to participate in an intensive theatre program involving acting, directing, backstage and technical work. Each student participates in each of these areas and learns the basis of play production.

YMCA Leaders Club Takes Field Trip To Nantasket

Quincy YMCA Leaders Club held its final social event of this year recently with a field trip to Nantasket Beach, where members were treated to Paragon Park, lunch and sun and sand.

Barbara Bowen, youth director, and Jackie Whitcomb, administrative assistant, were in charge on the trip. Making the trip were, Greg Freeman, Scott Freeman, Larry Carella, David Carella, Mark Sointu, Jeff Moy, Lisa Reynolds, John Swanson, Margaret Sheehan, Kim Whelan, Margie Donlan, Eileen Donlan, Pamela Doyle, Kathleen Doherty, Robert Burton, Bill Harris, Aileen Peterson, David Myett, Robert Cosgrove, John Falvey, David Ranieri and Don Barnard.

The Leaders Club is made up of active YMCA members willing to volunteer at least two hours a week assisting in various activities and duties at the Y. They are trained by the professional staff.

New members will be admitted to the club in September. It is open to Y members in grades 8 to 12, or are 12 to 16 years old. Information may be obtained by contacting the YMCA.

Christmas Parade May Be Biggest

Quincy's 1979 Christmas Festival Parade is expected to be the largest in the city's history, says Chairman George C. Fay.

The Nov. 25 parade, although almost six months away, already has 22 groups interested in entering floats. The committee expects 30 floats this year, the most ever. Persons interested in taking part in the parade should contact Richard Venna at 479-0454.

Quincy Performers In 'Fiddler On The Roof'

M&M Productions will present "Fiddler On The Roof," starring Rev. James O'Brien and Violet Villani, July 23-28, at the Old Colony theatre, Plymouth.

Rev. O'Brien, minister of the Congregational Church in Scituate for many years, is well known for his roles in musicals such as "Man of La Mancha" and "The Most Happy Fella". Other local performers include Ruth Ferrara who will play Yente, the match-maker. She has had singing and dancing roles in "Mame," "No, No, Nannette," "Funny Girl," and other productions.

23 To Compete In Quincy Bay Pageant

Twenty three South Shore girls are set to compete for the title of Miss Quincy Bay of 1979 and approximately $2,000 in prizes in a downtown Quincy pageant Friday night.

The event, which annually highlights the Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar at opening Thursday, will take place at 9:15 p.m. on a portable stage in front of the Hancock Bank on Hancock St.

The rain date is Saturday at 4:30 p.m.

The new queen, who will be crowned by last year's winner, Kathy Mann of Houghs Neck, will reign over Quincy Bay Race Week, Aug. 8-12, after winning the lion's share of the prizes.

The four runnersup will also share in the prizes and each of the 23 contestants will receive a pewter pendant as a memento of her appearance in the pageant.

The pageant is co-sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

Bernie Reisberg, owner of Bernie's Modern Formal Shop and past president of the Quincy Bay Race Week Association, will be the master of ceremonies. Baron Hugo and his orchestra will provide the music.

Contestants will be judged in evening gown and swim suit competition and for beauty and poise. They will be escorted by commodores of the Quincy Bay Race Week associated yacht clubs.

Pat Jones of the Quincy Cooperative Bank is chairman of the pageant.

The contestants are guests of the Neighborhood Club at a reception Friday night.

The contestants in alphabetical order:

Kimberly Marie Barba, 18, 28 Beechwood Rd., Braintree.

● HN Women's Softball Neckers, Bunnies Win

The Neckers defeated the Foxes Filles, 13-10, in the Houghs Neck Women's Softball League.

Peggy Wysocki went three for four and displayed some excellent base running. Connie Boudreau played well at third base. For the Filles Virginia Kamb was two for three, Lucy Daru had a double following a homer by Janet Kirby. Dru Madigan went three for four and pitched well in relief.

The Good News Bunnies outslugged the Sea Gals, 17-14, despite 10 runs in the first inning by the Gals. The Sea Gals still led, 12-10, after three innings but the Bunnies slowly moved into the lead. Marilyn Abboud played well at shortstop for the Gals and Denise Walter was outstanding on defense. Kathy McIntyre led the attack. For the Bunnies Sue Erickson and Karen Howard played well defensively and Trudy Gray had a long home run.

The Filles defeated the Broad Squad 13-10, on Kirby's grand slam homer in the final inning. In the first inning the Filles sent eight players to bat and took a 4-0 lead. Catcher Laura O'Rourke prevented a fifth run with a line tag at home. The Broad Squad came back with three in its half of the inning. The Broad Squad took a 7-6 lead in the fourth keyed by a double by Ruthie Burke, who went two for three. In the top of the sixth the Filles took a two-run lead with Lois Craig having the key hit.

The Broad Squad rallied again and took a 10-9 lead in the sixth on singles by Dee Hennessey, Joanne Dondero, Claire Barrett and Ruthie Burke. But in the seventh Vicki Mullaney, Marion Knudsen and Mary Gallagher singled to load the bases and Kirby came through with her game-winning grand slam.

FINAL TIPS on getting off the starting blocks are given 10-year-old Tommy Walsh of St. Mary's School, West Quincy, by Jeff Hennessey, Quincy Track Club coach. Tommy will compete as a sprinter in the national track meet at Richmond, Va., July 25-29. Coach Hennessey considers him one of the top young sprinters on the East Coast.

Eyes On Tommy Walsh

12 Track Club Members To Compete In Richmond

By TOM SULLIVAN

Twelve members of the Quincy Track Club will be competing for the Boston Youth Games team in the national meet July 25-29 in Richmond, Va., and much attention will be directed toward nine-year-old Tommy Walsh, rated by his coach, Jeff Hennessey, as one of the top young sprinters on the East Coast.

Tommy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Walsh of 56 Gridley St., West Quincy, a fourth grade student at St. Mary's School and a Quincy Sun carrier boy, already owns a shelf full of trophies and other awards.

Tommy's outdoor season is just starting and such major meets as the Taunton Olympics, Brockton Summerfest and the Hershey, Pa., Meet loom ahead for him. His other big race against the 'Iron' will be the Olympic Development Meet at Brown University in late August.

"The name Tommy Walsh has become well-known in track circles around New England and up and down the East Coast," Hennessey said. "Relatively new to the sport, he has won or placed in every major meet in which he has run."

Young Walsh started with the QTC in August of 1978 when only eight years old, and he "opened a lot of eyes, especially those of Joe Santo, a talent scout for the QTC. Joe spotted Tommy when he was running in the club's 'B' program, designed for new and inexperienced athletes. Santo immediately recommended him for the 'A' team, coached by Hennessey.

"With a week of practice under his belt, Tommy went on to demolish a field of more than 50 in the 50 and 100-yard dashes in the Brockton Summerfest Olympics," Hennessey said. "His winning margins were phenomenal. It was then that I predicted great success for Tommy. In those next few weeks, he went on to set club records for the 9 and under division in the 100 and won two races in Westerly, R.I.,

and ran for relay teams which never lost."

Hennessey recommended a season of cross country for the young star in order to build up his endurance, and it paid off.

"He did well running the mile and mile and a half distances and qualified as a member of the QTC for the Road Runners Club of American Cross Country championships at Van Courtland Park in New York," Hennessey added. "He received a trophy for his efforts there."

"His winter indoor season consisted of meets at Franklin High School and Taunton, where he ran his best ever time of 6.9 in the dash. At nine years old this ranked in the top 25 in the country. He then went to New York for the important "Stars of Tomorrow" meet at Brooklyn's Pratt Institute. There he went against the best 9 and under athletes in the East. The large field required several qualifying heats, but Tommy, with his quick start, made it through three qualifying heats to the finals, where a bad start cost him the race and he finished a close fifth.

"His semifinal time for 50 meters was an excellent 7.3, equivalent to 6.6 at 50 yards. Obviously disappointed, he made up for it with a good run in the 220, setting a club record but not finishing high in overall places."

Outdoors this spring Tommy has continued to improve, running the 100 in 13.2 and the 220 in 31.0, both club records, and much better than a year ago.

His greatest feat this year was coming back from defeat in his semifinal heat to win the 100 meters in a photo finish to secure himself a place on the Boston Youth team and a berth in the national meet in Richmond. His winning time of 13.80 is equal to 12.5 for 100 yards, which is national calibre.

"I feel Tommy is better suited for shorter distances due to his small stature and his quick starts," Hennessey pointed out. "Long legged boys tend to catch him in the late stages of a race. I firmly believe that the sprint techniques in which Tommy has been drilled were what won him a trip to Richmond. He kept his wits about him and leaned at the finish line, whereas the other boy did not."

"I'd like to see Tommy grow taller and develop a longer stride. His desire is unparalleled and if he physically develops and keeps his good attitude, he will become a great one."

Gabriel® RED RYDERS®

The heavy duty replacement shock with a bigger piston for more control

Replacing worn-out shocks with heavy-duty Red Ryders gives you extra control. Because a bigger than standard piston helps Red Ryders hold your wheels in better contact with the road.

$12⁹⁵ Installation Available

Coil springs for consistent operation—even after years of use. There are four in each Red Ryder. Two in many other shocks.

"O" ring piston seal—it makes sure the fluid flows through the valving—instead of uselessly bypassing it.

Red Ryder's 1 1/2" piston (40% larger than the pistons used in standard replacement shocks) helps Red Ryders shed heat faster—gives you more control when the going's rough.

Gabriel's special nine stage valving (many other shocks use only six) gives Red Ryders better resistance to fade.

Marshall Fine Winner Of Chamber Golf Tourney

Marshall Fine of the Patriot Ledger, shooting a low gross of 71, was winner of the Lou Cassani Trophy in the golf tournament at the South Shore Chamber of Commerce clambake at the Halifax Country Club.

This is the second year in a row Fine has topped the field to have his name inscribed on the trophy named for the man who has been a member of the outing committee for 33 years, 15 of them as chairman.

Approximately 750 members of the chamber and their guests attended the outing and enjoyed the sports events and a lobster dinner.

Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the chamber, completed the 18-holes with a winning low net score of 69. His gross was 95.

In the tennis tournament first place in the singles went to Pat Rogers with Tom Lydon as runner up. Allan MacKinnon and Walter MacKinnon won the doubles tournament. In second place were Peter Cook and Terry MacLaughlin.

Jack Comfort took first place in the golf chipping contest and Marshall Fine was second.

Charles Sapontis topped the field in the football throw and Ed Sanders was second.

First place in the basketball free throw went to Mark Dwyer. Ed Sanders was second.

The team of Arthur Borden and Jeffrey Kirpa won the egg throw with James McAuliffe and Michael Cummings in second place.

In horseshoe pitching Ray

Skellett and Fred Hakala were the winners, topping the team of William Carullo and Al Norton.

On the bocce court first place went to Remick's All Stars with a team made up of Bill Draicchio, Ray Josephine, Paul Zambrino and Ray Skellet. Runner-up was the team of Joe Avitable, Al Montani, Dick Sullivan and Joe Perroncelli.

A softball team fielded by WATD and the Norwell Chamber of Commerce won top place. Members of the team were: Pat Rogers, Tom Lydon, Fred Turner, Roger Homan, Frank Adam, Rick Merritt, Jack Cernes, Rich Hannon, Andy Emmanuel and Robert Firestone.

In volleyball, top honors went to a team made up of Ralph J. Rivkind, Warren F. Baker, William D. McVey, Carl R. Johnson III, George F. Kippenhan and Peter F. Harrington.

First prize in cribbage went to Dick MacKenzie and Mike Shaheen. Gene Roundtree was runner-up.

Earle Tosses 4-Hitter

Morrisette Holds Slim Zone 6 Lead

The Morrisette Legion baseball team held onto its slim Zone 6 lead over Weymouth Monday night when it won at Randolph, 5-0, behind Gary Earle's four-hit pitching to improve its record to 11-1.

Morrisette played Hingham last night (Wednesday), will play at Canton Friday at 6 and has a big week next week with three 8 o'clock games at Adams Field. Hoolbrook visits Tuesday. Weymouth (one game behind Morrisette) is the opposition Wednesday in a vital makeup game and Morrisette finishes its regular season against Braintree's Zone 6 B leaders on Friday the 27th.

Quincy (2-9) hosts Weymouth Friday at 8 at Adams and plays at Braintree Monday at 6.

Wollaston (3-8-1) plays at Hingham Friday at 6, hosts Randolph Saturday at 8 at Adams and will be home to Canton Monday at 8 at Adams.

Earle, unbeaten in regular season play for North Quincy High this spring, remained undefeated for Morrisette as he struck out nine and walked three. He finished with a flourish, striking out the side in the seventh inning.

Bill O'Connell singled home the winning run in the first inning and drove home the last two runs in the sixth with a bases loaded single to right. Earle tripled in the second run in the second and the third run scored in the third on a fielder's choice.

O'Connell and Earle had two hits apiece and Dave King and Harry Donaghue one each.

Morrisette received two-hit pitching for six innings from John Keaney last Friday as it defeated Wollaston, 9-4. Keaney struck out five and walked four and allowed only one run before being lifted for Paul O'Toole in the last inning.

Morrisette scored three runs in the third and four more in the fourth. King had three hits and drove in three runs. Billy Deitch had a double and three RBI and O'Connell drove in two runs. For Wollaston Frank Hacunda had two hits and scored twice.

Earlier in the week Morrisette won a big one from Braintree's Zone 6B leaders, 4-3, on a bases loaded walk in the final inning.

In the seventh Fran Donovan singled inside the third base bag. Left fielder Ed Keohan fired to second but his throw sailed into right field and Donovan wound up at third. The next two batters were passed intentionally but the Braintree Pitcher walked the next batter to force in the winning run.

Braintree had taken a 3-0 lead in the first but Morrisette scored once in the third on three walks and King's hit to left. A line throw by Keohan caught the second runner at the plate.

In the sixth Morrisette tied it on bases loaded hits by Donaghue and Ray Coscia but another strong throw by Keohan cut down a runner at home.

Coscia, winner in relief of O'Toole, Bob Biagini, Donovan, King, Donaghue and Don Perdios had the Morrisette hits.

The night before Morrisette had gone 13 innings before edging Milton, 7-6, on an error on Gary Dinardo's grounder to shortstop.

The anticipated mound duel between Earle, the MVP in the Suburban League pitching for North Quincy, and Milton's Greg Burdett, the top pitcher in the Bay State League, didn't materialize as the rivals left the game in the ninth tied, 5-5.

Donovan beat out a bunt to lead off the 13th, was bunted to second by O'Connell and scored on the error. Coscia was the winning pitcher. Perdios had a double and two singles, Donovan, Deitch, Ken Howlett and Donaghue two each, Biagini a triple, King a double and Earle a single.

Quincy bowed to Hingham, Friday, 6-1, as Hingham scored four runs in the third and received a six-hit pitching performance from Joe Connolly. Mike Smart was the losing pitcher, working five innings with five walks and four strikeouts.

Quincy defeated Wollaston, 6-2, with Smart pitching a one-hitter, the hit coming in the final inning.

Dean Prescott scored Quincy's first run in the first and drove in the second in the second. His sacrifice fly brought in Artie Roberts, who had singled and moved up on Rich

King's base hit. Roberts accounted for two more runs in the fourth with a two-run double. Singles by

Wollaston had previously absorbed a 17-1 beating at the hands of Weymouth.

St. Joseph's C Team

Blanks Hull, 10-0

Behind Travers' 2-Hitter

St. Joseph Girls C softball team traveled to Hull Monday night and blanked St. Mary's of that town, 10-0, with Mary Travers pitching a two-hitter.

St. Joseph's had only three hits but took advantage of six Hull errors and bases on balls. Tricia Travers hit a three-run homer in the first which proved more than enough.

St. Joseph's C walloped St. Joseph's A, 17-7, last Sunday with Janine LaFleur the winning pitcher. The game was played under the lights at Collins Bide-A-While. Jackie Glavin had a triple and double, and Tricia Travers two singles and a triple. Ann Abdallah had a triple for the A team and Susan Dacey had two hits.

St. Joseph's C topped St. Francis Xavier of Weymouth, 14-7, with Janice Glavin the winning pitcher. Jackie Glavin had two home runs and Tricia Travers and Mary Travers each went three for four including a homer.

St. Joseph's B team rolled over St. Francis of Weymouth, 23-3, with Karen Corliss pitching a four-hitter. It was the eighth win in a row for the B team. Beth and Kristin Fitzgerald and Pattie McBride had three hits, with Beth having a homer. Margaret Lacey and Tracie White had two hits each and Carla DiIulio, Karen Corliss, Rosann DiPietro and Robin Lewis had a hit each. Corliss won her eighth straight game to improve her record to 8-1.

St. Joseph's B also walloped St. Mary's of Hull, 17-5, with Corliss again the winner. Beth Fitzgerald had four hits including a home run. Pattie McBride had three including a homer and DiPietro had three hits. Fahey had two hits and Kathy McBride, Corliss, Kristin Fitzgerald and Lewis had one hit each. Joan and Janice Sullivan returned to the lineup after two weeks vacation. DiIulio played outstanding defense.

St. Joseph's B rolled over St. John's A, 16-5, with Corliss pitching a three-hitter. Rosann DiPietro went five for five, Corliss was four for five as was Kristin Fitzgerald. Carla DiIulio and McBride had three hits apiece. Beth Fitzgerald and Robin Lewis two each and Debbie Lewis and Margaret Fahey one apiece.

St. Joseph's B topped St. John's A again, 13-7, with Corliss again the winner. She also had a homer, triple and two singles. Carla DiIulio and McBride each had a homer and single, the Fitzgerald sisters, Rosann DiPietro and Debbie Lewis two hits each and Fahey and Robin Lewis one hit each. Sue Conti had a home run and two singles. Joanne Hall two hits for St. John's.

Mahoney, Finnegan 'Leaders Of Week'

Recreation Director Charles Alongi announces that Kathy Mahoney and Mitch Finnegan have been chosen playground leaders of the week by the Quincy Recreation Department.

A graduate of Quincy High School, Kathy will be attending Boston University in the fall. While at B.U., she will major in special education. Kathy has worked for the department for two years. Prior to working she did five years of volunteer service at St.

The following news is from the Recreation Department's summer playgrounds:

George Dunn, Supervisor

WOLLASTON - Over 60 boys and girls registered for activities at Wollaston with Kathy McNally, Mary Feeny and Harry Morash first in line to register. Drama and music specialists Gayle Kiley and Maureen McBride led a charade contest with Dana McGillicuddy and Anthony Cooks proved to be stand-outs. The boys' midget baseball team lost its first game to Russell, 7-1, but has high hopes on improving.

WHITWELL - Arts and Crafts proved to be a very highly enjoyable experience to Whitwell's participants with basket weaving the main activity. Kerry O'Driscoll and Alex Pincou made two of the fanciest baskets.

FORBES HILL - The midget boys baseball team opened its season with a 15-12 victory over Whitwell. Outstanding players for Forbes Hill were Chris Noble, Billy Lynch, Keith Segalla and Chris Ricciuti. In Arts and Crafts sand terrariums and puppet proved to be very enjoyable. Kerrie Torney along with Tom Walsh and Laura Julian made very original puppets.

STONEY BRAE - The first week of recreation at Stoney Brae the children and staff got to know one another and plan activities for the coming weeks. Some of the ideas were a checker tournament, beauty contest, a gong show, and the many activities offered by the Recreation Department. A number of races were held and Danny Biagini was voted the fastest runner on the playground. Adam Ayer created a snake out of beads while Sally Scheele made a necklace.

Tom Burke, Supervisor

MONTECLAIR - 108 youngsters registered during the first week at Montclair. Wheelbarrow, relay and piggyback races were held early in the week. Kathy Hendesbe along with Timmy Baker came out on top of the ten and under age group.

The baseball and softball clinic was hosted by Montclair with Katie Jenkins, Derik DiParno and Mike DiParno were a few who took part. The junior boys' baseball team won its first game, taking a 13-3 win over Atlantic. Chris Bunker fired a 4-hitter while Danny Baker, John Higgins, John Carneio and Tom Kennedy led the way with two hits each.

MYLES STANDISH - 45 excited youngsters registered on the first day which gives the park high hopes for a very enjoyable summer. Mary Grant scored the first bulls eye in archery while all the members enjoyed playing charades during music and drama. Both the boys midget and junior baseball teams look extremely strong with depth at all positions.

SQUANTUM - Attendance reached 95 participants at the park on the first day to set a record that should stand for quite a while. A bubble gum blowing contest was held in three divisions, the winners were Robby Costell, Anne McGuigan and Joy Pimentel. Squantum had quite a few golfers met golf specialist Brian Doherty, led by Johnny Cataldo, Jimmy Doherty and Gary Donaghue.

WELCOME YOUNG - The senior boys' baseball team looks very strong with the likes of Bill Bradley, Paul Rinehart, Paul Murphy, Bill Timmins and Greg DiBella all raring to go. The senior girls' softball team also looks strong with Donna Peterson, Edna McLaughlin and Jackie Thayer some of the teams leaders. The girls' basketball teams are also looking strong. The seniors are led by the Lindberg sisters, Faith, Robin and Lenore. The juniors will be led by Janice Avallon and Debby Katapolos. In short the sports teams at Welcome Young are really moving with all the kids looking forward to a fine year.

Paul McGuigan, Supervisor

TAFFRAIL - Chrissy Campbell was the first youngster to meet the leaders on the opening day. Ceramic sign-up was held with Bobby Sontag, Robin Ashewitz and Wayne Campbell signing up for lessons. Although a small park, Taffrail will have a boys midget baseball team as well as a girls' senior softball team.

ALLERTON - Thirty youngsters registered to join in the festivities to be held at Allerton. Junior leaders were chosen with Mike Sheehan and Frank McArdle helping out with the boys and Kelly Kceley and Linda Mahoney helping with the girls. A bulletin board was created with the help of Linda Mahoney and Cheryl Lenardis. Frankie McArdle won the bubble gum blowing contest while Cheryl Lenardis finished a close second.

QUARTERDECK - The first week at Quarterdeck saw sixty girls and boys register for the summer playground program. The midget boys' baseball team is expecting a late season with such players as Burzy Rose, Timmy Riley, Donny Remland, Tommy Horgan and Mike Horgan. The younger boys and girls enjoy playing games such as checkers, red rover, and steal the bacon.

SNUG HARBOR - A two-man stick ball tournament was held with the Stims Steamers. John Spencer and Robbie Steen, coming out on top with a perfect 5-0 record. Other teams were the Untouchables, Dave Austin and Chris Burt; the Bow Socks, Bill Stanley and Tony Cascarano; the Baltimores, Phil Cara and Steve Austin; the Brewsters, Jerry, Burt and Paul Connolly. The archery specialists paid a visit with Joe Burt just missing a bulls eye.

BAKER - Winners of the best pictures in the coloring contest were 1st place, Jane Hurley; 2nd place, Stacey Kelly; 3rd place, Melissa MacDonald, and honorable mention, Grene Andella. Another contest was held with Dave Murphy and Cathy Macauley voted the cutest babies. Junior leaders Susan Zeiba, Sharon DelGreco and Debbie Hannon did more than their share on the park.

CHAPEL STREET - The first week of the season saw Richie McDonald and Matthew Smith practicing very hard for the midget boys' baseball team. The girls' softball team has also been practicing very hard with the McDonald sisters, Nancy and Susan, two of the most eager ones. Sean Craig has beaten all comers in checkers while Jeff Craig is the wiffle ball champ.

LA BRIQUE - The first day of recreation saw 150 kids sign up. The boys' midget baseball team is practicing hard to defend its district championship. The girls' softball team will have Mary Kussman, Karen Daming, Maryann Agres, Joan Connolly and Susan Boudreau are some of the team members.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By ROBERT COLMAN

Although the most famous nickname in all of sports was Babe Ruth's, few people know how he got that nickname... Babe grew up in an orphanage in Baltimore... When he was just 18, and still a resident of the orphanage, the Baltimore baseball team signed him... Ruth had never seen much of the outside world up to that time, and looked even younger than he really was... Thus, when he joined the Baltimore team, some of the older players spoke of him as a "babe in the woods", and then, naturally, some started calling him "Babe"... Sportswriters covering the team picked it up, and that nickname became used so often that few people - then or now - know that his real name was George Ruth.

Here's the story of one of the most amazing performances in the history of sports... Did you know that one man once broke 3 DIFFERENT WORLD track records all in ONE AFTERNOON... and all within an hour-and-a-half... This was done by Jesse Owens at a track meet May 25, 1935, when he broke the world record for the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash and the long jump in an hour and a half... And if that wasn't enough, he also tied the world record for the 220-yard low hurdles that same afternoon.

I bet you didn't know... that Colman's has everything for fun at the beach, mountain, resorts, back yard or where ever enjoyment takes you. If you like the pool or shore Colman's has everything to make it a joy. Shop Colman's before you start your vacation, insure your pleasure. ● Junior League

HN Wins N.L. Crown As Comeau Hurls 2 Shutouts

Houghs Neck Legion, on the strong right arm of John Comeau, who pitched successive shutouts, 5-0 over Keohane's and 1-0 over the Elks, won the Quincy Junior Baseball League's National League title.

Comeau struck out 11 against Keohane's and 13 against the Elks and was one out away from a no-hitter against the Elks when a pinch hit ruined his bid. Comeau was given outstanding support in both games. Steve White had a double and four singles. John O'Connor, Mike Haynes and Mike Ash also had hits and Bob Kane, Rick O'Malley, Mark Walsh, Tim O'Brien and Ed Calley played outstanding defense. Houghs Neck has finished first in its division four of the last five years. The team goes into the championship playoffs with 10 veterans of previous playoffs.

The American League title is still up in the air and depended upon games played Tuesday. Going into those games Remick's and Foley Chrysler-Plymouth were tied with 18-3 records, the best in the league.

Keohane's finished its season with a 6-3 win over Remick's, behind the strong pitching of Paul Scibilio. Leading, 2-0, Keohane's scored four runs in the fifth on a double by Paul Scibilio, singles by Dan Baker, Dennis Cronin and Kevin Scibilio and walks to Tim Morrison and Dan Santry. Remick's scored all its runs in the bottom of the fifth, with Chris Bunker hitting a two-run homer.

Keohane's also edged the Elks, 9-8, with Scibilio the winner and Cronin earning a save. The lead changed hands several times with Keohane's scoring three in the bottom of the sixth and last inning to win it after the Elks had scored twice in the top half for an 8-6 lead. The Elks started with two in the first and made it 4-0 in the top of the third, only to have Keohane's tie it with four in its half on hits by Paul Scibilio, Cronin, Dave Britt, Santry and Keith Burt.

Keohane's took a 6-4 lead in the fourth on a long two-run double by Britt. The Elks tied it in the fifth on Steve Lowe's two-run single up the middle and they took an 8-6 lead in the top of the sixth. In the bottom half Paul Scibilio singled, Cronin was hit by a pitch, Kevin Scibilio singled and Burt hit a double to right to bring in the winning runs.

Foley's topped Remick's, 10-6, with Paul Marshall winning his seventh game of the year, yielding 10 hits, striking out six and walking three. In the first inning Chris Marshall doubles, stole third and scored on Jackie Bolster's sacrifice fly. Remick's came back when John McGlame singled, Steve Higgins doubled and McGlame scored on a passed ball. In the bottom of the second Chris McGlame walked, Chris Rossi singled, Steve Grotho doubled, John McGlame doubled, Higgins singled and Chris Bunker doubled to give Remick's a 5-1 lead. Foley's came back with three runs in the third when Ed Boyle doubled, Bolster hit his 12th home run of the year and Paul Marshall singled. Foley's scored five runs in the fifth when Bill Phillips singled, Pete Furtado singled, his second hit of the game, Bob Laracy singled in the tying run, Paul Miller tripled, Chris Marshall singled, Bolster was intentionally walked for the second time and Mat Elofson singled. Boyle doubled in the sixth, moved up on an error and scored on a fly to center.

Foley's topped VFW, 10-7, with Billy Phillips winning his 10th game, the most wins in the league. Bolster had a home run and double, Paul Marshall a double and two singles, Miller two singles, Boyle a double and single, Billy Phillips and Laracy doubles and Chris Marshall, Roy Peterson and Dave Phillips a single each.

Burgin Platner defeated Colonial Federal, 10-5, with John Cristiani the winning pitcher.

Boston Gear defeated Colonial Federal, 8-4, with Rich Pettinelli the winner in relief of Mike LaRocque. They combined for a six-hitter and struck out 13.

Sears walloped VFW, 17-5, with Tommy Logan the winner. Tom Connolly drove in seven runs with three hits including two long home runs.

Sears also defeated Kiwanis, 6-3, using five pitchers with Bob Pitts getting the win. Marty Tolson, Austin and Billy Connolly had two hits each and Pitts, Aimola, Danny Raymond and Joe Barnes played excellent defense.

No Shutoff Of Funds But—

QHA's Request For Extra Maintenance Money Turned Down

When is a "shutoff" not a shutoff?

A published report said Byron Mathews, state secretary of Community Affairs, has ordered a shutoff of state funding for the Quincy Housing Authority (QHA).

But QHA administrator Clement O'Brien and a representative of Mathews' office both said this week that, while the authority won't be getting any more money from the state, it won't be getting any less, either.

"There is no shutoff of funds," O'Brien said.

"We have not stopped any existing funding," said James Gaines, Mathews' administrator of housing.

What Mathews did shut off was a QHA request for extra money to help clear up the large number of vacancies in housing owned and run by the authority. Mathews made the decision last week after a tour of QHA housing in Germantown with Mayor Arthur Tobin and members of the QHA.

According to O'Brien, the QHA had asked Mathews for "20 to 25 thousand dollars, to pay for the hiring of three or four painters for three or four months," to handle the vacancies and whatever other emergencies came up in that time.

But, Gaines said, the QHA won't receive any money beyond that already budgeted until it comes up with a firm schedule for painting the now-vacant apartments and for overall maintenance.

"Secretary Mathews is

Tobin, Hospital Board Clash On Appointments

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Tobin and the Hospital Board of Managers appear to be heading for an open clash over areas of responsibility at City Hospital, which is currently undergoing a controversial financial reorganization.

The Mayor indicated that there may soon be wholesale changes in the Board of Managers, five of whose nine members were appointed by his predecessor, Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia, in an earlier political upheaval.

"Once we accomplish the reorganization of the financial section there may be other reorganizations, too," Tobin told The Quincy Sun. "I don't want to get into that now. We're going to get that working up there."

Some members of the Board of Managers have expressed dissatisfaction with the manner in which the Mayor has bypassed the board in making appointments to fill the new and well-paying positions created under the reorganization.

Tobin disclosed last week that he has named John Morris, assistant comptroller at the hospital for the past six months, to the new $20,375 post of budget director and The Sun has learned that two other appointments are imminent.

Agrippino A. (Rocky) Roccuzzo, currently the city purchasing agent, is in line for the $25,005 job as assistant director for operations. Reliable sources say he will be named in September, once the task of moving the purchasing department into the City Hall Annex is completed.

Joyce Baker, who has been a financial rehabilitation advisor in the Planning Department since last October, is slated to become patient accounts manager at $16,500. The appointment will be made in a week or two.

Unhappiness among some members of the Board of managers surfaced last week at a board meeting when they complained that Tobin had reduced the managers to the role of "rubber stamps" for decisions made in his office.

"Those who are calling themselves 'rubber stamps' are the same ones who were running around making irresponsible statements in the past that have placed the city auditor and the treasurer in embarrassing positions dealing with credit institutions," said Tobin.

"I did not want to make a federal case of it at the time. I thought things would straighten out. But I found it necessary to

Kennedy, Donnelly Spearheads

Navy's Aid Sought To Help Troubled Shipyard

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Some of the state's political heavy hitters were scheduled to go to bat in Washington Wednesday on behalf of Quincy's General Dynamics shipyard.

Congressman Brian Donnelly, Senator Edward Kennedy and House Speaker Thomas (Tip) O'Neill planned to meet with representatives of the department of the Navy to seek help for the troubled shipyard, according to Donnelly's Quincy office.

Representatives of Shipbuilders Union Local 5 predicted last week that "major layoffs will start about October, 1979 and the yard will be closed by August, 1980," if work is not found soon for the shipyard.

The yard is now working on the last three of 10 Liquid Natural Gas (LNG) tankers contracted in 1977, with no other work in sight.

Union president Arthur Durand, in a mailgram sent to Donnelly, Kennedy, O'Neill, Governor Edward King and four other members of the state's congressional delegation, stated the problem simply: "The Quincy Shipyard needs work."

"The closing of the shipyard will have dire consequences to the 5,000 workers and members of their families as well as approximately 45,000 other people who supply services and materials to the yard," Durand's message claimed.

The union has already met with Donnelly and representatives of Kennedy's office, Earle Christian, union executive secretary said last week.

"They're both with us; they're quite concerned about the shipyard," Christian said last Friday.

But, he said Tuesday, Kennedy and Donnelly were the only political figures to respond to the plea for help so far.

Those two, plus O'Neill, would lobby with the Navy on behalf of General Dynamics on some upcoming projects, Donnelly's spokesman said.

"Congressman Donnelly has met several times with representatives of the shipbuilders' union to discuss the shipyard's outlook. They both agree that the shipyard needs work," he continued.

Donnelly would be looking into the Navy's available funds and projects to be bid upon to try to find business for the yard, the spokesman said.

Strong Private Business Link $1M Training Program At CETA Center

Quincy CETA will spend nearly $1 million in the current fiscal year to implement a training program for high-demand, career-oriented occupations.

The program marks a shift from temporary, public service employment to an emphasis on establishing stronger links with private businesses, according to Wayne Griffin, public relations manager for the Quincy CETA.

The program combines classroom and on-the-job training at the CETA Skills Training Center, 11 Hayward St., North Quincy. The agency is currently recruiting applicants for the culinary arts and machine operator's courses.

The machine operator's course is designed to train students for entry-level jobs in machine shops. Students study shop skills and work directly with machines. Academics, such as shop math, blueprint reading and technical English, augment the hands-on training.

Culinary arts students are given a solid background in kitchen techniques and prepare a variety of foods. Meals are served in the skills center's "Top of the Works", a student-run "restaurant" serving CETA employees.

Other ongoing classroom training programs include a 16-week clerical course and a 15-month orthotics-prosthetics [artificial limbs] program.

Griffin said local employers have expressed interest in graduates of courses still in progress. The aim of the program is to place people in the private sector of business and industry after training them needed skills.

Many area businesses are already participating in the Quincy CETA's On-The-Job Training [OJT] program. OJT matches the job needs of private businesses with persons who need training. CETA reimburses employers for the cost of training up to 50 percent of the starting wage.

Promotion Boosts Business

Sidewalk Bazaar 3-Day Shot In Arm For Downtown

By BERNIE O'DONNELL
How did Quincy Center merchants fare during last week's 10th annual Sidewalk Bazaar? Depending on who you talk to, the three-day promotion went "good," "very good," "excellent," "tremendous," or "very, very nice." Almost unanimously, storekeepers reported increased sales over last year as a result of the fun event sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

"We've never seen so many people; we had more transactions than we ever had before," said Charles Ryder, of Ryder's Drapes and Curtains, 1617 Hancock St. "I've never done better business in July," said Paul Sturman, of Frantic Framers, 1592 Hancock St. "We had an excellent sidewalk sale and we were very satisfied with everything," said Elliot Cohen of Cummings, 1479 Hancock St. "Business was way up over last year."

Merchants mentioned several reasons for the improved crowds and sales. First and foremost was the weather, which featured plenty of sun and temperatures in the 80's. During last year's event, the mercury hovered around 100 degrees with equally oppressive humidity.

Also cited as a reason was the gasoline shortage.

"A lot of people are staying home this summer," said Jerry Veader, manager of the Friendly Family Center, 1453 Hancock St. "They were looking for good buys; they got good buys."

FFC's sales were "much better than last year's," Veader said. Whatever the reason, most merchants reported increased sales over the three days.

Burt Cook of Tags Furniture, 1568 Hancock St., said his actual sales "did not equal last year, but it seemed like there were more people." The weekend was still a big success, though, he said.

"We did very well compared to last year," commented Harry Tucker of Woolworth's, 1453 Hancock St.

"We did better than we did last year and the crowds were very good," said Mark Bertman of Rogers' Jewelry Store, 1402 Hancock. "We received some excellent comments from the people."

Taking part in his first Sidewalk

DUNKING BOOTH—A popular new feature of the Sidewalk Bazaar was the dunking booth. Those throwing strikes at the target sent the booth's unfortunate attendant into a pool of water. (Photo by Bob Frey)

Bazaar was Ed Elkins of Clogs To Boot, 1479 Hancock St. Business was "very good, way above the average weekend," he said.

Dan Jenkins of Kincaides said business was "a little better than we did last year," but he couldn't supply any figures.

"We weren't counting, we were just having fun," he said.

Two merchants said the weekend caused them to draw conclusions about the future of Quincy Center.

"Quincy Center isn't dead," said Ryder.

"It shows Quincy Center still has a lot of power," Cohen said.

Sheets Seeks Re-election

McHugh In Second Run For Mayor

Thomas P. McHugh, 39, of 26 Buckley St., West Quincy, the "mystery man" of the 1977 city election, has taken out nomination papers to make another run for Mayor.

McHugh, then a resident of 292 Quincy Ave., Quincy Point, and unavailable for interviews during the election, finished sixth and last in the 1977 preliminary with 123 votes.

Also taking out papers in the past week were City Councilors John J. Lydon Jr., 468 Beale St., Wollaston, and James A. Sheets, 926 Furnace Brook Parkway, candidates for reelection in Wards 3 and 4.

The candidates, who must return their papers with at least 50 valid signatures by Aug. 6, now line up like this:

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION — Emma Hassan, Director of Volunteers at Quincy City Hospital, was presented a citation "for outstanding and dedicated service" by hospital director Anthony DeFalco at a tea held recently for hospital volunteers. From 1958 to the present well over a million hours have been given to the hospital by volunteers.

Joyce Baker Elected Head Of Women's Caucus

Joyce I. Baker of 121 Marlboro St., Wollaston, was recently elected chairwoman of the South Shore Women's Political Caucus.

Other officers elected were Gloria Noble, co-chairwoman; Carole Leman, treasurer; and Joan Prezioso, secretary.

The caucus also announced its plans for a Sept. 29 garage sale and its first regular meeting of the 79-80 year, on Oct. 22 at Knights of Columbus Hall in North Quincy. Speaker at this meeting will be Janice Blood, publicist for "9 to 5", the organization for working women. All South Shore women are invited to attend the caucus' meetings.

Quincy Hospital Honors 38 Volunteers

Quincy City Hospital honored 38 volunteer workers recently at the annual recognition tea, attended by about 150 volunteers, parents and officials.

The hospital's board of managers presented a plaque to Emma Hassan, director of volunteer services, noting the 35,421 hours of service performed by volunteers from July 1978 to June, 1979.

Leona Bailey, who retired this year after 15 years service, was presented a framed certificate for her 5,513 hours of volunteer work.

Junior volunteers receiving individual recognition pins were Laura Papile, Karen Erickson, Laura MacInnis, Paula McLarnon and Maria Riccio, for over 500 hours volunteer work; Maureen Bythrow, Janice McMillen, Susan Barron, Sharon Cedrone, Mary Fineran, Sharon Crump, Maria Scappa, Anne Mallory and Eileen Rogatine, over 100 hours.

Pins were presented to senior volunteers Olive Gurney, Eva Gorman, Lee Gullage and Mary Murphy, over 1,000 hours; Anita Ross, Mary Boudrey, Emily Blampied, Milda Ziedone, Sam Abraham and Dorothy Hardy, over 100 hours and Doris Harney, over 500 hours.

Women's Auxiliary members receiving pins were Barbara Papile, Anna Tombari, over 2,000 hours; Addie Duane and Rose West, over 1,000 hours and Edith Cole, Maria Rucky and Esther Sauter, over 500 hours.

Also honored were Esther Salkins and Julia Gioncarda, over 500 hours; Beatrice Fitzgerald, over 1,000 hours; Anne Bissett and Archie Allison, over 2,000 hours and Pearl Quint, a Red Cross "gray lady", over 4,000 hours.

Miss Hassan made the following comments:

"To all my volunteers, and especially to you parents, I would like to say 'thank you' for helping to make my job such a pleasure. I'm sure you share with me a feeling of tremendous pride as you look over at your teenagers and realize what a vital and integral part of the hospital they are, and too, while they are giving of themselves unselfishly they are growing and learning. That's what today is all about.

"I have a lot of cherished memories of my volunteer family. As I look back on my 18 years as a director of volunteers, I remember them all and what directions their lives have taken. Over the years, many of our volunteers have gone into the nursing profession, in and around Boston and many others went into the service, Navy, Army Nurse Corps, Air Force, paramedical and allied fields.

"Most recently, two graduated from Brown University, one with a degree in medicine. One young man won a three-year scholarship to Oxford University in England. A few have passed away, one after reaching her goal, another before she could. I have so many beautiful memories.

"I am enormously proud of every volunteer and hope life leads them to whichever road they seek."

Carole Neitlich Presents Paper At Conference

Quincy resident Carole Neitlich recently presented a paper at the 81st annual meeting of the Conference of Jewish Communal Service, in Toronto. She is director of the South Area

Jewish Community Centers Nursery School.

The conference united more than 1200 Jewish communal service professionals from the United States and Canada, including center, community relations and welfare workers, synagogue administrators, planners and fund-raisers.

Her topic, "Developmental Approach to Special Needs in Early Childhood," detailed how special needs children can be integrated into a regular early needs childhood program.

GIRDLES AND VARICOSE VEINS

There is increasing evidence that girdles may contribute to varicose veins. Varicose veins are caused by a breakdown of the valves that ordinarily maintain a continuous flow of blood to the heart. When the valves cease to function properly, the blood accumulates at intervals causing dilations that project in lumpy fashion above the surface of the skin. Pregnant women and overweight people are especially susceptible.

A research team recently completing a study of nearly 1,000 English and Egyptian mill workers, found that only six percent of the Egyptian women had varicose veins as opposed to thirty-two percent of their English counterparts. The significant point was that three out of five of the English workers wore corsets or girdles. Only two of the Egyptian women wore them. The doctors concluded that girdles may significantly increase your chances of getting varicose veins.

As usual, The Quincy Co-operative Bank is paying the highest interest rates allowed by law.

Effective July 1, banks have been authorized to increase their interest rates on certain accounts. The Quincy Cooperative Bank is offering, effective July 1, the highest yields allowed by law.

Regular savings accounts, for instance, will go from $5\frac{1}{4}$ per cent interest to $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, with an effective annual yield of 5.73 per cent. Also we will be offering a new four year term certificate pegged at one per cent below average four year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.

Our knowledgeable, efficient personnel will be happy to explain these accounts to you at our main office or at our branches.

Here are the varied investment offerings we have for savers:

Annual Interest Rate	Account	Effective Annual Yield [Continuously Compounded]
5.00 %	NOW Accounts [$10 minimum balance]
5.50 %	Regular Savings Accounts [$10 minimum balance]	5.73 %
5.75 %	Serial Share Accounts
5.75 %	Paid Up Passbook [$100 minimum deposit]
	Paid Up Certificate [$200 minimum deposit]
5.75 %	90-Day Notice Savings [$10 minimum balance]	6.00 %
6.50 %	1-2 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	6.81 %
6.75 %	2½-3 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.08 %
7.50 %	4-5 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	7.90 %
8.00 %	8 year Term Deposits [$1,000 minimum deposit]	8.45 %
26 Week Term Deposit Certificates [$10,000 minimum deposit] Guaranteed rate is the maximum allowable under the law. Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest during term of the account. For the latest annual rate contact any of our offices. The bank reserves the right to terminate the availability of these 26 week certificates at any time without notice.
4-year Term Deposits [NEW] [$1,000 minimum deposit] 1% below average 4 year yield of U.S. Treasury Securities.

State and Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of a Term Deposit. In addition, for all term deposits issued after 7/1/79, there will be a straight forfeiture of 6 months interest on accounts with an initial term exceeding 1 year and a straight 3-month forfeiture on times a year or less.

Volunteers Assist In Classrooms

Art Education A Hit At Merrymount School

Volunteer parents have responded enthusiastically to an innovative art education program introduced this year at the Merrymount School and due to be expanded to several other elementary schools next year.

The enthusiasm of the volunteer instructors is reflected in the youngsters of kindergarten through the sixth grade, according to Richard D. Ramsdell, assistant director of the arts and humanities department of the Quincy school system.

Ramsdell and Walter E. Lunsman, department director, developed the program to give youngsters an early start in the appreciation of art.

"The objective," Ramsdell said, "is to help young people develop some degree of visual literacy. That is, to perceive objects in space, to use and comprehend graphic language and to recognize beauty, symbols, excellence and expression."

The volunteers at the Merrymount School are Mrs. Anne O'Donnell, Mrs. Dorothy Shea, Mrs. Judith Swanson, Mrs. Eileen Favata, Mrs. Dolores Rush and Mrs. Lee Morganelli.

The volunteers do not necessarily have any background in teaching. They are selected because of their desire to provide children with information and ideas which will enhance their ability to understand and appreciate the arts in general and selected works of art in particular.

Each volunteer is given a briefing to help them in the techniques of handling a class. They also have the moral support of the regular classroom teacher who sits in on the art appreciation course.

"We explain to them," Ramsdell said, "that appreciation is a pleasurable reaction to the thing experienced. It is largely emotional. All the children will not like all of the prints and this is as it should be. One of the aims of the program is to teach children how to look at a painting. Hopefully appreciation of the painting will follow."

The volunteers handle two classes each. The program is held once a month and each section takes from five to seven days.

A portfolio of five prints is provided each volunteer. One contains prints of five paintings concerning

"Children in Art," all done by such artists as Francisco Goya, Thomas Sully, Joshua Reynolds, Pierre Renior and Winslow Homer.

The children are given a brief biography of the artist and history of the period in which he lived. This is followed by a description of the painting on display and a short critique on what the artist was attempting to portray.

The children are then asked to give their impressions of the painting through a series of questions. What colors were used? Can you describe the colors by using other terms? Do the colors tell you about the mood of the painting?

The youngsters are also asked to identify shapes and sizes of various components of the painting. Questions are also asked on "what is the picture about?" "What is happening in the painting? Can you think of another title that would have explained it better?"

The volunteer asks the children about their feelings in viewing the painting and what part of the painting the title explains.

After each of the five paintings has been viewed individually they are grouped together for comparative study.

Since the children vary in age from those in kindergarten to sixth grade the questions vary, but the volunteers are cautioned never to "talk down" to the youngsters. The answers have in many instances shown an inherent appreciation of art.

The paintings are not viewed in isolation, but rather with a relation to the social history of the period in which the artist was working.

The course is an introduction to the art appreciation courses held at the higher levels and also to instill a knowledge of great paintings.

Ramsdell hopes that it will lead to field trips to various museums - such as the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston - where the children will be able to see many of the originals and compare them with other works.

'Lucky' Pilot Misses Homes In Plane Crash

"He was lucky to make it," said Police Sgt. Richard Laracy. "If it happened a few minutes earlier he might have gone into the houses on Liberty and Taber Sts."

Sgt. Laracy was one of the first on the scene in West Quincy Saturday when Donald Lewis, 49, of Nashua, N.H., and his single-engine Cessna fell out of the sky into the Old Colony Crushed Stone Co. gravel pit.

Lewis was enroute from Plymouth to tow an advertising banner over the crowds at Wollaston Beach when his engine temperature went up and his oil pressure went down and the engine began acting up.

The pilot tried to make it to Norwood Airport but his engine stopped dead as he made the turn so he dropped the banner, shut off the fuel lines and looked for a place to set down.

He chose the Old Colony gravel pit between the Southeast Expressway and the Centre St. section of West Quincy. The plane was badly damaged but Lewis walked away unhurt.

Lewis, a pilot for 17 years who had never before been in a crash or a forced landing, attributed his successful arrival on the ground to having simulated such landings many times as a flight instructor.

The banner he was trailing, which advertised a James Taylor rock concert, was found by youngsters on Liberty St.

The area of the crash was roped off for FAA inspectors, who arrived on the scene about an hour after the crash. A police guard was posted on the plane until it could be trucked out.

Sgt. Sweeney Hospitalized

Sgt. Edward Sweeney, 60, of 261 Washington St., a Quincy police officer for 32 years, was taken to City Hospital Monday after suffering a heart attack.

Only three days before Sweeney was sworn in as a sergeant in ceremonies in City Hall.

A hospital spokesman Tuesday reported his condition as "good".

Parents Anonymous

The Parents Anonymous Group will meet July 30 at 7:30. Call 472-4224.

Nothing succeeds like access.

Chances are, you're pretty busy these days.

We understand.

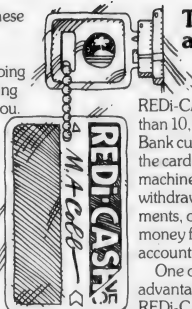

That's why Quincy Savings is doing everything possible to make banking here even more convenient. For you. So you have greater access to the money services you need, when and where you need them.

Whether it's making a deposit into your savings account, taking care of your bills (including loan payments), or cashing a check when you're away from home, Quincy Savings customers enjoy these important advantages:

We're very open with customers

Our six offices are open at convenient hours throughout the week. Saturday hours provide still more flexibility, as do walk up and drive-in facilities at most locations.

But in a sense, we're open all the time. Because our Plus/24 automatic teller machines make it possible for you to bank around the clock. You have access to money every day or night in the week.

The key to access

We call it a REDI-CASH card. More than 10,000 Quincy Savings Bank customers already use the card for our Plus/24 machines, to make deposits, withdrawals, or loan payments, or to transfer money from one account to another.

One of the further advantages of our REDI-CASH/VEC card is being able to cash personal, payroll or government checks both at our offices and 23 other banks, as well as at more than 100 supermarket locations. Think how convenient that is, when you're away from home!

Checking: with or without checks

Quincy Savings has a way to help you reduce the number of hours you spend paying bills each month. We call it The Bill System. It's simply a REDI-NOW Account, which pays 5% interest, with a Pay-by-Phone feature. The combination gives you the choice of writing and mailing out checks to various places, or having Pay-by-Phone take care of paying some of those bills for you, at 13¢ per transaction, which saves you time and postage. You can take advantage of Pay-by-Phone even when you're away on vacation.

Within easy reach

You'll find the other services you need, within easy reach, at Quincy Savings Bank. Day in and day out, you have a choice of savings accounts and term certificates, all paying the highest possible rates, plus direct deposit service. You'll find retirement plans to suit your needs, as well as Savings Bank Life Insurance, and lending services. In fact, we have about as accessible and wide a selection of bank services as there is anywhere. Maybe that's why we're the largest savings bank on the South Shore today. And why nothing succeeds like access.

To apply for any of these helpful services, visit our nearest office or call a customer service representative at 471-3500, soon.

St. John's Conducting Parish Census

St. John's Church, Quincy, is conducting a census of all Catholics within the parish in an effort to update parish records and welcome new church members.

Through the census, St. John's also hopes to determine the spiritual, social, material and financial needs of parishioners in order to serve individuals in the best possible way.

Another purpose of the census is to invite Catholics back to the church who do not attend Mass regularly or participate in parish activities.

Census representatives will explain opportunities that individuals have to become reconciled with the church.

Those living within St. John's parish boundaries are asked to greet census representatives cordially and with an openness to the church's desire to help.

Harold Demands MBTA Beef Up Station Security

Sen. Paul D. Harold has called upon MBTA Chairman Robert Foster to increase security personnel in MBTA parking facilities in Quincy in the aftermath of a recent attack on a woman in the Quincy Center garage.

Harold told Foster in a letter that he strongly protests the lack of security and the danger to the public using the garage, particularly at night.

He noted that although the MBTA's leases with Allright Boston Parking, Inc., operators of the parking facilities at all three Quincy stations, call for "maximum security," no security personnel were in evidence on the night of the recent attack.

The leases also provide that at least two attendants are to be on duty around the clock on weekdays at the Quincy Center station, that one of these is to serve as a roving patrol guard, and that the primary responsibilities of the attendants at the parking facilities include surveillance and security.

In the attack incident, Harold said, the woman fought off the attacker and a neighbor on Burgin Parkway heard the screams and called police. A Quincy police car which had been on the first floor of the garage, responded and police arrested the assailant.

Harold said the operators of the parking facilities are responsible under the leases for security and equipment, and perhaps ought to install closed-circuit television cameras, which would also help alleviate vandalism and rowdyism.

"I believe it is obvious that the lack of security at the Quincy Center station, as well as the other stations in Quincy, poses a most serious and immediate danger to the safety of the public, and must be rectified at once," Harold said.

He called upon Foster "to enforce the terms and provisions of your lease agreements with Allright Parking, Inc., by insisting on adequate security forces, or by invoking provisions for immediate termination of the lease and repossession of the premises and assumption of security duties by MBTA security personnel."

Harold said if the MBTA is unable to resolve the problem promptly, he will ask for special hearings by the legislative Transportation Committee to consider the security problem.

Building Permit Issued For Brackett St. Complex

The Quincy building department has issued a permit for construction of a nine-story, 151-unit apartment complex at 45 Brackett St., Quincy Center, at an estimated cost of $3.2 million.

The permit, one of 121 issued during June, was granted to prebuddy Construction Co., 536 Granite St., Braintree, acting for Wollaston Lutheran Church Apartments, sponsors of the complex.

Estimate of the cost of work to be done under the permits issued during the month is set at $3,716,462. Permits were issued for construction of five one-family dwellings at a cost of $119,472, and a four-family dwelling to cost an estimated $60,000.

The department issued 86 permits for residential alterations to cost $201,600 and eight permits for other alterations to cost $70,000.

Permits were also approved for two removals costing $2,050; an elevator, $38,140; signs, $2,400, and miscellaneous, $22,700.

During the month the department had receipts of $12,197 and $662 for public safety inspections.

In June, 1978, a total of 119 permits were issued for work costing an estimated $484,370.

State Funding Asked For Two Police Motorcycles

The Quincy Police Department has applied for state funding for the purchase of two motorcycles plus radio equipment to increase radar coverage throughout the city.

Mayor Tobin and Chief Francis X. Finn said they feel the two motorcycles would be a partial solution to problems of traffic enforcement and vandalism.

"These motorcycles would be assigned to the Special Operations Unit for the purpose of accident prevention through radar controlled traffic enforcement," said the Mayor.

"The other vehicles already assigned to this unit could concentrate their efforts to the vandalism problems in parks, public buildings and commercial areas."

Cost of the program is $9,000.

Your Dental Health

by Daniel P. Sweeney D.D.S.

X-rays are a necessary part of complete dental care. Early decay, bone loss from gum disease, impacted teeth, tumors and abscesses are some of the conditions that X-rays expose or confirm. Modern X-ray methods and safeguards assure that there will be no danger to your health. The amount of radiation reaching sensitive cells in the body is less than that received from natural sources such as cosmic rays. There are five common types of X-ray pictures: periapical, bisecting, occlusal, extra-oral and panoramic. A comprehensive set could include all types, but usually only one of these is required on a regular visit.

General dental care for the entire family is offered at the office of Dr. Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S., 539 Adams St., East Milton Square. Stressing preventive dentistry, Dr. Sweeney uses X-Ray methods judiciously, when necessary to detect dental conditions that would - if left untreated - affect the function and appearance of the teeth. Call Dr. Sweeney at 698-3636 for an appointment at your convenience. Master Charge, Visa, and most dental plans are honored.

Nancy Myers New Queen

Miss Quincy Bay, Runnerup Have A Lot In Common

EMCEE Bernie Reisberg escorts Nancy Myers, 19, Miss Quincy Bay of 1979 on triumphant walk along runway. (Quincy Sun Photo by Jack Tolson)

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Nancy Myers, crowned Miss Quincy Bay last Friday night, and her first runner-up, Betty O'Neill of Braintree, have more in common than the average beauty pageant contestants.

Nancy, a 19-year-old Hingham resident, explained the two both attend Bridgewater State College, are members of the class of '82, study communication arts and sciences and attended many of the same classes last year. But, strangely, the pair had never met until last week.

The two met during preparations for the pageant, learned about their many similarities and seemed to hit it off, Nancy reports. "I think we're going to be very good friends," she said.

Making a new friend wasn't her only surprise during the pageant, of course.

She says of the moment when it was announced that she was the winner: "I just couldn't believe it. I felt like it was happening to someone else and I was sitting back watching."

A Colchester, Vt. native, Nancy has been living with her aunt and uncle, Ida and Bill Cutler of 187 East St., Hingham, while attending Bridgewater State. It was her aunt, in fact, who talked her into entering the contest.

"She had mentioned it to me a few times," she said. And Nancy, who hopes to make a career of broadcasting news on radio or TV, thought it would be a good idea to "get used to being around a lot of people."

Miss Quincy Bay wasn't her first beauty pageant and might not be her last. Nancy, who represented her town in the Vermont Junior Miss pageant, says she's thinking about entering the Miss South Shore pageant. She admits, though, that a pageant which includes a talent competition might require more preparation than she has time for.

"I don't know... I'll have to think about it," she says of emulating Kathy Mann, last year's Miss Quincy Bay, who also became Miss South Shore.

"I'd love to try it," she said. If she does enter, chances are she'll be cheered on by the same group, including relatives, school friends and her boyfriend, who accompanied her to last week's pageant. "It helped an awful lot having them there," she said.

As Miss Quincy Bay, Nancy will reign over Quincy Bay Race Week, Aug. 8-12 and receive the lion's share of over $2,000 in prizes donated by Quincy Center businesses. The pageant is co-sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

She keeps busy at school, as secretary of the Student Government Association, a freshman senator and a member of the student rights committee.

As for her other interests, she says "I like sports, and I love to play tennis." She also enjoys sailing and water skiing. She's spending the summer working in the installment loan-Master Charge department of the Hancock Bank in Quincy Center—only yards from where she was crowned Miss Quincy Bay.

Nancy is the second of five children, with brothers Michael, 21 and Bill, 17 and twin sisters Jayne and Joyce, 13.

The identical twins look like Nancy and are potential future contestants.

After Nancy and first runner-up Betty O'Neill, 18, of 71 Partridge Hill Rd., Braintree, came second runner-up Kimberly Barba, 18, of 28 Beechwood Rd., Braintree; third runner-up Mary Drogo, 19, of 70 Marjorie Rd., Braintree; and fourth runner-up Laure Leonhardt, 16, of 123 Cedar St., Wollaston.

Other contestants included: Dorothy T. Calarese, 19, 48 King Hill Rd., Braintree; Susan M. Erickson, 18, 115 Edgewater Drive, Houghs Neck; Janet M. Hall, 16, 199 South St., Quincy Point; Linda Ann Hunt, 20, 54 Yardarm Lane, Germantown; Linda C. Lanoue, 21, 71-A Station St., West Quincy; Kim M. McFarland, 20, 918 Nantasket Ave., Hull; Angela M. Nicastro, 17, 241 Centre St., West Quincy; Karen Elizabeth O'Jennos, 18, 22 Babcock St., Houghs Neck; Debra A. Osmond, 18, 407 Grove St., Braintree; Jane M. Papile, 18, 12 Harkins St., Quincy Point; Laurel J. Peterson, 18, 52 River St., Quincy Point; Patricia R. Pflaumer, 18, 3 Judith Rd., Weymouth; Lisa Marie Pollini, 18, 193 Woodland Drive, Hanover; Letitia F. Wilson, 16, Connell St., West Quincy; Barbara A. Wynn, 17, 12 Thompson St., Quincy Point; Maria L. Zona, 17, 60 Tower Hill Drive, Hanover.

Despite Deficit

City Breaks Even On '78-'79 Snow Removal

The Fourth of July may not be the appropriate time to disclose it but Quincy is starting fiscal 1979-80 with a clean snow removal slate for the first time in three or four years.

Actually, the city went more than a quarter of a million dollars in the hole for snow removal last winter but there were available funds to cover the deficit.

"It's a significant step forward, in my way of thinking," said City Auditor Charles L. Shea.

"Although some people would say we didn't have very much snow last winter."

Prior to 1974-75, the city would budget for snow removal for the coming winter and then pass a supplemental budget to cover the deficit that usually occurred.

That year, however, a special act of the State Legislature permitted cities and towns to appropriate the same amount each year and add the deficit to next year's tax rate.

For Quincy, the fixed amount in the budget for snow removal is $127,461, equal to the amount budgeted in fiscal 1973-74.

"In effect," said Shea, "the act lets us spend next year's money this year but we don't have to because this year we generated enough surplus to cover the deficit."

The breakdown of the $253,593.15 snow removal deficit for 1978-79 includes $196,066.43 for expenses and $57,526.72 for salaries.

Boat Ramp Proposed For Town River

A Quincy man is seeking permission from the Army Corps of Engineers to construct a 95-foot boat ramp in the Town River.

The corps is inviting comments from any interested persons on the request of contractor Raymond Giagrando to build the ramp on land off Field St. owned by the Palmer Family Realty Trust. It would be located in the marshy area between the Southern Artery and Sea St.

According to Ralph Atkinson of the Corps of Engineers, his department is asking for comments on the proposal by Aug. 20, but will consider any comments before ruling on the permit application. He can be contacted at 424 Trapelo Rd., Waltham, Mass., 02154 or by calling 894-2400. Ext. 332.

Housing Code Violations Cited By Health Department

The Quincy health department during the year ending June 30, made 4,654 inspections of housing units for violations of the housing sanitary code, according to health commissioner Dr. Samuel Solomon.

Inspectors found 1,583 dwelling units with violations of the code. In 1,064 cases the violations were corrected after the inspection.

In 285 cases complaints were filed with the clerk of the Quincy District Court and in 235 of these cases owners brought their property into compliance with the code. Thirty-four other cases were settled out of court or are still in litigation.

Inspections were carried out by Leonard Purpora, principal code enforcement officer, and a staff of three inspectors.

Brett Ready To Call It A Career

After two decades in political life, City Councillor Joseph Brett seems ready to call it a career.

"I haven't made a definite decision not to run this year," he says. "But I am leaning that way."

He's 72 now and reports he is in good political shape.

But he feels a little out of place on the present City Council. He finds a sort of philosophical generation gap with the younger members.

"We get along all right, there's no problem like that. It's just that I am a lot more conservative than most of them."

Brett's political career goes back to 1958 when he began his first term in the City Council and Quincy was returning to the Plan A form of government after a short, stormy marriage with Plan E.

He was then elected a state representative and spent 18 years on Beacon Hill until 1976 when he was upset by Michael Morrissey.

Brett returned to political life in January of this year when the present council elected him to fill the seat vacated by Paul Harold to serve full-time as state senator.

He sincerely sounds like a man who wants to leave but seems to be finding it hard to let go.

"A lot of people are urging me to run," he says. "Especially the older people. They feel I represent them in the City council."

"But, I'm really leaning toward retiring."

And, he sounds like he means it.

During the past 20 years some people, of course, agreed with Brett's philosophy, and others didn't. But you always knew where he stood. He wasn't a fence straddler. He wasn't afraid to speak his mind.

Nobody could ever buy him. He was never for sale.

BRETT

IF HE GOES through with what appears to be retirement plans, it will leave the "open" Council seat wide open this election.

If Brett decided to run, he would not technically be a candidate for re-election, but for election. However, he could have the advantage of a "present councillor" designation under his name on the ballot.

Only at-large candidates for the three seats this fall so far are incumbents John Quinn and Frank McCauley and challengers Richard Koch, Jr., Michael Faherty, and Rene Lumaghini Jr. (Still too short for a primary contest.)

THEY SAID IT couldn't be done, but they did it. For three whole days during the Sidewalk Bazaar, Chestnut St. in Quincy Center was actually cleared of parked cars. But it took 13 extra "No Parking" signs and two full-time parking meters to do it. (They still had to shoo a couple of cars away). The street was kept clear for traffic because it was needed as a main downtown access while Hancock St. was blocked off for the bazaar.

It'll probably be another year - next Sidewalk Bazaar - before we see Chestnut St. again clear of illegally parked cars.

150,000 Norfolk County Vacation Guides Maps Distributed

Distribution of 150,000 vacation guides and 150,000 map brochures outlining Norfolk County's attractions and facilities to visitors has just been completed.

The 1979-80 editions have gone out to information centers and other high traffic areas in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, carefully selected to be "within a gas tank's distance" from Norfolk County, according to John C. Nourse, Executive Director of the county's Development and Tourist Council.

Some 50,000 of both the guides and map-brochures are being distributed within the county itself to aid visitors already in the area.

One of the information centers handing out the free literature is the Massachusetts Tourist Information Center on busy I-95 northbound, in Mansfield, two minutes from the county's southwest border.

According to Joanne Creighton McGlynn, the center's administrator, more than 160,000 visitors stop in at the center on a yearly basis.

The center offers travelers a free overnight reservation service which last year accounted for more than 600 rooms and campsites reserved in Norfolk County alone.

In addition, the council's advertising program in key traveler-oriented publications generated over 35,000 inquiries during 1978, with that figure showing signs of increasing during the current year, according to Nourse's estimates.

James J. Collins, chairman, Norfolk County Commissioners, credits the council's promotional efforts as a factor in the county's rise from sixth to fifth place in the state in both visitor-days and travelers expenditures.

Collins points out, tourism is a $73 million dollar business in the county.

According to a study prepared by the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, visitors spent 2,865,015 days and $72,939,000 dollars in the county in 1977 alone; the latest year for which the statistics are available.

Between 1976 and 1977, while tourism actually declined slightly in the state, Norfolk County showed a 22 percent increase in travelers expenditures and 16 percent in visitor days.

This is the seventh year the county has published a vacation guide and a map brochure.

The map brochure folds out to show a large map of Norfolk County with 14 different "stops" offering 27 major and 8 minor visitor attractions.

The companion vacation guide has listings and advertisements for accommodations, restaurants, shopping places and services of interest to the travelers within the county.

Among its unique features, Norfolk County is the birthplace of three U.S. presidents, contains the world's largest revolving globe, the state's largest recreation area, and a dozen museums of various sizes and interests.

Save The Lyons Turning Mill And Quarry

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The granite quarrying industry made Quincy known worldwide as "the Granite City".

Important buildings in Quincy and in other parts of the country were constructed of Quincy granite. Such historic buildings, locally, would include the King's Chapel, Boston, 1754, with its stone originating from the [then] South Common; the Bunker Hill monument, 1825; the First Church, Quincy, 1828, built of granite from the quarries given to the town by John Adams.

Its four, large Doric columns were the first single-block columns of that magnitude to be quarried in Quincy. These came from the Rattlesnake Hill Quarry, in later years known as Rodgers. Fuller quarry was first opened around 1825. In 1894, James Lyons built a turning mill adjacent to the quarry and continued operations until 1907. Fuller's quarry soon became popularly known as Lyons quarry, as it is today.

The three-walled remains of the Lyons Turning Mill is the last large evidence of the granite industry in Quincy. This impressive ruin ... called "the cathedral" by hikers as they rest in its shade - is all that remains of what was a major building business, at the time when the Quincy was the nation's leader in the granite business. The building's size - about 158 feet by 40 feet is impressive. A railroad line ran through it to carry giant granite shafts to be turned into columns. Its walls were buttressed to support the tons of weight imposed upon them by the heavy shafts.

The building is a reminder of the magnitude of the granite operations here at the turn of the century. The Lyons quarry is one of the most scenic of those that have survived. Unless the great building is saved, it will be impossible for future generations to visualize and therefore understand and appreciate the importance of the quarry industry as the single important foundation of the present-day Quincy.

This building is all that remains reminding us of the thousands of men - English, Scotch, Finnish, Scandinavian, Irish, and Italian - who quarried, fashioned, transported and constructed the Quincy granite. It is a permanent, lasting, ever-present memorial to them. The Lyons Turning Mill and Quarry remains not only the best, but the only existing sites for preservation, with this Memorial in mind.

Upon reading the above, there should be no question in anyone's mind as to the historic value of the Lyons Turning Mill and Quarry. All interested parties have attested to this fact.

Against this historicity on one hand is the problem of the tax-dollar on the other: By keeping the Turning Mill and Quarry, it has been estimated that there will be a rise in the tax rate from $4. to $6. ... the cost of transporting landfill to a site outside of Quincy.

The Turning Mill and Quarry area measures two acres. The proposed landfill, to begin in about one year, would build a 200 foot hill by filling the quarry hole and burying the Turning Mill site. This assumes that the Conservation Commission will permit both the filling of the quarry-hole and the adjacent wetlands. That such permission will be granted is questionable. It is also questionable that the owner of the site will permit the destruction of the Mill.

The Quincy Historical Society makes the following suggestions in hoping to save both the Turning Mill and the Quarry:

- Keep the Turning Mill and Quarry as they are and use them to sell to a Developer of Condominium apartments and/or a Center for offices around which the Turning Mill would have historic and cosmetic value. This would add to the aesthetic value as well as the monetary value of the area.

Corporate developers are looking for such historic buildings around which their interests center - as well as contributing to the historic preservation of such sites. The site would very soon pay for itself.

- Make the Mill and Quarry an integral part of a historic conservation, preservation and recreation district. Beginning at Quincy Bay, hiking trails would eventually connect the Iron Furnace, Bunker Hill quarry and incline, the Railroad, the Lyons Turning Mill and onto the adjacent trails in the Blue Hills. The development of this is the untouched Quincy Resource which should not wait much longer to be fulfilled.

An increase in tourism would be stimulated by these inter-connecting trails and stopping places along the trails and the beauty of it is that the hiking trails would be along a "green-belt", along the boundaries of the developed areas.

The Quincy Historical Society strongly urges the saving of the Mill and Quarry site through the implementation of the above ideas in a single package. In this way, all parties would gain and none at the expense of the other.

Our heritage must be protected. Our heritage ... in this case, the Mill site can survive. It is an economic asset. It is an historic asset. Forget the stereotype of history being associated with the fossils of a dead past. History is a living thing. The Lyons Turning Mill and Quarry are a part of the living Quincy history.

By implementing the above suggestions, the site would bring in a higher corporate dollar; lower the tax rate; provide a greenbelt and hiking area; attract tourists to a now and isolated, economically depressed district of Quincy. The image of historic/industrial Quincy would place Quincy in an enviable position in New England in the Northeast and in the Nation.

$15,000 Fireworks Set For Constitution Celebration

The city is planning to spend up to $15,000, most of it raised through private subscriptions, on fireworks in connection with the observance of the 200th anniversary of the drafting of the state constitution.

The fireworks, provided by the same company that handled the explosives for the Bicentennial in Boston in 1976, will be shot off at 9:15 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 6, from a barge in Quincy Bay at the start of the four-day celebration.

The state constitution was drafted by John Adams, Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin in the law office of John Adams on Franklin St., South Quincy, in September, 1779.

The draft, which is kept in the archives in the State House, is to be brought to Quincy in a heavily guarded Brink's truck, arriving at the Adams Birthplaces at 10 a.m., Sept. 6, to be placed on display.

State Secretary Michael J. Connolly will turn the ancient papers over to Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's temporary sleepkeeping after they are escorted from Boston by an armed guard that will include motorcycles and helicopters.

Tobin spent part of last Tuesday morning conferring about the fireworks on Wollaston Beach.

The company, Pyrotechnics,

Inc., of New York, promised a first class display, he said, with 25 to 30 minutes of non-stop high aerial bombs plus a grand finale.

He said the fireworks would cost $12,500 with another $2,500 going to have them shot from a barge in the bay as a safety measure. He said $6,700 has already been raised from the business community.

The Mayor said 26 bands have already been lined up for the parade and there is room for six more. The parade will last two hours, he said, with Gov. Edward J. King and Cong. Brian J. Donnelly as grand marshalls.

Tobin conceded that some city money will be spent on the celebration. $17,000 has already been appropriated by the City Council.

"The people realize that this is a cost conscious administration," he said, "but I think they would want a first class celebration."

City Refuses To Pay Parking Rent Hike

The City Council once again refused to appropriate money to cover the rent increase demanded by Hia Pearl Co. for land leased by the city as a parking area to the rear of stores on Hancock St.

The city had been paying $175 a month but Hia Pearl raised the rent to $300 a month as of April 1, 1936. The company claimed it was owed $1,125 for unpaid rent in 1936 and $2,100 in 1937.

City Council President David S. McIntosh urged that the city pay up.

"The $175 per month rent only about covers the actual annual taxes on the property," he said, "and, like every other landlord, that company is entitled to a fair return."

Tobin, Hospital Board Clash Over Appointments

have the city solicitor inform the people making these irresponsible statements just what the function of the Board of Managers is.

"The financial policy of the Hospital is going to be established by the Mayor."

Tobin said he was angered by the fact that, during his 18 months as mayor, "at no time has the Hospital Board ever invited me to sit down with them and help me determine policy. They have been going off on their own."

"If they can't go along with the financial and operational policies being established by the city auditor and the treasurer and the director of the Hospital, then I will take the appropriate action at the right time."

Tobin said City Solicitor Robert Fleming was called on to remind the board that "they were advisory only; that they don't dictate policy."

Fleming said he explained to the Board that the hospital is a department of the city government and, under the Plan A charter, all departments are under the Mayor.

"The Mayor is responsible for all hiring," said Fleming, "except for the post of director which is by ordinance up to the Board of Managers. The capacity of the board is pretty much advisory."

Five members of the Hospital Board were appointed by former Mayor LaRaia.

They are Joseph M. Aristide, Robert F. Denver Jr., David B. MacIntosh, Simon C. Fireman and Ruth Janus. Aristide and Janus were named after LaRaia had fired members Edward V. Cronin and John T. Williams.

Members John J. Cheney Jr., Syria Mayo and Leslie M. Brierly received appointments from Mayor Walter J. Hannon and the ninth member, Dennis F. Ryan, was reappointed by Tobin in January, 1978.

Tobin was reminded that the appointments of Aristide and Brierly expired last January but he declined to comment on why he had not yet reappointed them to new five-year terms or replaced them.

Members of the Hospital Board who were contacted by The Sun were reluctant to comment on the apparent strained relations with the Mayor.

"The Hospital setup is strange," said Cheney, who was recently elected chairman of the Board. "Just who is responsible for the hospital? We hope to define that in the coming months."

Cheney said he plans to hold a couple of meetings of the board's executive committee during August. It is made up of Cheney, Denver, the vice chairman, and Janus, the secretary.

"We want to make this a working board," he said, "and to do that we have to do things at a committee level. We want to eliminate the archaic committees and establish some new ones."

Meanwhile, Hospital Director Anthony DeFalco said the Hospital finished the 1978-79 fiscal year with a cash surplus of $37,397, which touched off another minor furor.

Earlier, Mayor Tobin had predicted that the Hospital would wind up the year $1.9 million in the red and, he said, there actually was a deficit of around $500,000.

Auditor Charles L. Shea explained the apparent contradiction like this:

At the start of the year, the Hospital estimates its revenue for the coming 12 months. This figure is used to calculate the tax rate. If the estimate is exceeded, there is a revenue surplus. If not there is a revenue deficit. The $500,000 is a revenue deficit.

On the other hand, the Hospital has a budget, an appropriation surplus. If not, there is an appropriation deficit. The $37,397 is an appropriation surplus.

"Actually," said Shea, "there is no surplus yet. We don't have the final figures yet. It is a long process closing the Hospital books."

QHA's Request For Extra Maintenance Money Turned Down

reluctant to release any more funds until he sees a scheduled plan," Gaines said. "We couldn't clearly see what their maintenance system was."

James D'Olimpio told the QHA at its June 20 meeting that 48 of the authority's 1,355 units were vacant. He attributed the large number of vacancies to a shortage of painters on the QHA staff.

The basic tenant agreement states that each unit shall have a fresh coat of paint before a new tenant can move in, noted D'Olimpio's brother, QHA chairman Carmine D'Olimpio. "We are certainly restricted as to the availability of apartments," the chairman said at that meeting.

But the QHA should be able to paint each vacant apartment using its regular maintenance budget, Gaines said. "That shouldn't be that difficult to accomplish," he said.

O'Brien said the QHA painters handle the empty units, which number 36 as of July 9, on a chronological basis, as they become vacant. The painters are frequently delayed by emergencies in other apartments he admitted. So, apartments sit vacant while waiting to be painted.

When asked why Mathews wasn't satisfied with that plan, O'Brien said "he didn't go into many details."

According to Gaines, Mathews wants the QHA to present a firm plan with specific apartments being painted on specific dates and stick to it. Otherwise, if the painters are continually delayed by emergencies elsewhere, "it'll never get done," he said.

"You get delayed by this, delayed by that, delayed by something else," Gaines said.

"As long as they're empty, you're losing money," he said of the vacancies. "It's costing the taxpayers money; that's why he's [Mathews] concerned," Gaines said.

When the QHA does come up with the painting timetable, Mathews will consider funding it, Gaines said. But he wants the authority to consider other alternatives, too.

Gaines noted that the QHA employed a total of 17 maintenance workers and wondered why some of them couldn't share in the painters' workload.

The QHA's problems also might hinder it in seeking other state funding, Gaines said. "We're looking at whether there is a good system for spending money there," he said.

10 Fire Lieutenants Named At Fire Academy Opening

The Quincy Fire Department Academy was opened this week at 100 Southern Artery, Quincy, with ceremonies during which Fire Chief Edward F. Barry introduced 10 newly appointed lieutenants who will be sworn in at 10 a.m. today [Thursday] at City Hall.

The new lieutenants are: Joseph Tocchio, 64 Washington Ct., Gerald J. Galvin Jr., 14 Franklin Ave., Eugene P. Griffin, 69 Edison St., John V. Cummings, 14 Edinboro Rd., John W. Lydon Jr., 7 Orchard St., John R. Menz Jr., 60 Stoughton St., all of Quincy; Richard G. Coffey, 463 Pleasant St., South Weymouth; Edward R. Delgizzi, 276 Franklin St., Braintree; Thomas E. O'Connell, 47 Ponderosa Dr., Hanover, and John T. Griffin, 95 Tower Rd., Hingham.

The new academy quarters have been set up to provide training for officers and firefighters and to keep them abreast of the latest techniques in fire protection and prevention.

Barry expressed his thanks to Mayor Arthur Tobin for having approved establishment of the academy. He also thanked Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Park and Recreation Board, for having made space at the 100 Southern Artery complex available to the firefighters.

Captain Thomas Andrews has been named director of the academy. He will be assisted by Lt. Robert McCarthy, Deputy Chief Carl Valenti and Firefighter Robert Mood.

Chief Barry told members of the first class that the department has purchased films, visual aid equipment, cameras, projectors, overlay projectors, screens and other educational equipment to be utilized in training courses.

In his address to the new lieutenants Barry said "there is no question in my mind that the strength of a fire department is in the fire officer and the men in his company."

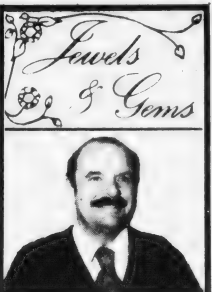

He said the department officers should try to motivate their men and see that the work flows properly.

3 Residents Named

Most people know that the price of gold has risen dramatically in the past few years. The big change came in 1976. In 1975, only .5 metric tons of gold were bought for hoarding purposes in small ingot form. In 1976, the figure rose to 175 metric tons, or an increase of 349%. Gold used in karat jewelry rose 83% in price from 1975 to 1976. And the amount of gold used in medallions and nongovernment issued coins rose from 17.9 metric tons in 1975 to 41.4 in 1976 for a 131.12% rise. That is a lot of gold.

People like to come to us at GRONO & CHRISTIE, INC., 536 Adams St., East Milton, 696-1490 because of our wide selection of jewelry and our friendly, helpful staff. We always have a fine choice of diamonds, loose or mounted and welcome you to come in, select the diamond you like and have it mounted in one of our many settings. Diamond setting, remodeling and designing is done on our premises. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Cong. Donnelly Reminds Low Rate Flood Insurance Available

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, noting that the hurricane season is approaching, is calling the attention of Quincy homeowners and tenants to a federal program that enables them to buy flood insurance at a reasonable cost.

The program is known as the National Flood Insurance

Program, passed by Congress in 1968, which allows people living in flood-prone areas to purchase subsidized flood insurance at affordable rates.

The insurance covers losses due to flooding of normally dry land areas from the overflow of inland or tidal water, the unusual and rapid accumulation or runoff of surface water from any source, and mudslides.

Donnelly said persons interested in the program can obtain more information by calling their insurance agents or the NFIP toll-free number, 800-638-6620, or the Congressman's Quincy office, 472-1800.

Brownell Commends MDC For QSD Traffic Crackdown

The Metropolitan District Commission reacted "in a positive manner" to complaints on traffic conditions on Quincy Shore Drive, says Rep. Thomas Brownell [D-Quincy].

Brownell praised the reaction of the MDC police to complaints from him and others on the large number of accidents on the road, especially between Furnace Brook Parkway and Sea St.

"The MDC has assured me that a patrol unit is now assigned to this location between the hours of 11 p.m. and 3 a.m.," Brownell said.

The MDC issued 1,000 citations along Quincy Shore Drive, Brownell reported, with about 100 of those in the danger area between Furnace Brook Parkway and Sea St.

The commission also moved a 30 mile-per-hour sign to the corner of Furnace Brook Parkway, placed a curve arrow at Squanto Rd, two reflectorized warning signs and a four-inch edge line along curbs.

"The MDC is reacting to this situation in a positive manner. Hopefully, the sign changes and increased citation activity will have a deterrent effect," Brownell said.

Councillor McGrath Attends Conference At Brandeis

Quincy City Councillor Stephen McGrath was one of 37 municipal officials to participate in a recent statewide conference at Brandeis University called to discuss current problems confronting communities throughout the Commonwealth.

In a series of panel workshops McGrath joined with government officials and academic figures in discussions on budgets, taxes, labor management relations, the use of state and federal resources for program planning and development, ethics and inter-governmental relations.

The two-day program was co-sponsored by Brandeis University's Center for Public Service, Harvard's Kennedy Institute of Politics and the Massachusetts League of Cities and Towns.

Revaluation Underway In Montclair, Squantum

Revaluation of residential real estate began this week in the Montclair and Squantum sections of Quincy.

Teams of CETA workers are going from door to door gathering information on the property that will be used later by city assessors as a basis for implementing the Tax Classification Amendment.

Montclair streets on which the teams will be working this week and next include

Farrington St., Holbrook Rd., Safford St., Wilson Ave., Fayette St., West Squantum St., Small St., Belmont St., Hamilton Ave., Elliot Ave., Amesbury St., Bowdoin St., Harvard St., Barham Ave.

Squantum streets include

Park Ave., Standish Rd., Huckins Ave., Bellevue Rd., Dundee St. and Bloomfield St.

The assessors have requested residents of the streets to be surveyed to restrict the movement of their dogs during the period when the teams will be in their area.

William Geary Listed

Summer Scene Open Houses At Merrymount, Sterling Schools

Summer Scene '79 at the Merrymount School is planning an open house from 9 a.m. to noon on Tuesday, July 31.

The program will begin with a gymnastics demonstration put on by the students. Afterwards, coffee and refreshments prepared by the children will be served.

Following the refreshments, the children will present a musical, "Bye Bye, Birdie". Later, parents will be able to observe their children in their usual learning activities.

For further information, call 471-0100, extension 202.

The Quincy Public Schools invites parents and friends to attend its "Summer Scene Open House" Aug. 1, 9-11:45 a.m. at The Sterling Junior High School Center, 444 Granite St., Quincy. Activities will include a musical variety show, gymnastics demonstrations, and refreshments [prepared by students], as well as the opportunity to view the learning centers.

Benefit Party To Aid Quincy Fire Victim

A benefit party to assist Douglas Lloyd, of 100 Washington St., Quincy Center, has been scheduled for Friday, Aug. 3 at the Eagles Hall, Route 53, Weymouth. Lloyd narrowly escaped injury in a fire in his apartment early July, but lost virtually all of his furnishings and belongings.

The benefit will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. and entertainment will be provided. Donations for the event are $10 per person.

Tickets can be obtained by contacting Michael Linnane at 472-0879 or Daniel Monahan at 472-8732 or Senator Paul Harold's office at 727-0914.

Council Urged To Adopt Home Improvement Act

The Quincy Citizens Association and the Wollaston Park Association have urged the City Council to adopt a state act which would permit homeowners to maintain and improve their property without facing additional assessments.

The act, known as the Home Improvement Act of 1978 which was sponsored by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell [D-Quincy], came before the City Council earlier this year but was placed on file.

"We trust the City Council will reconsider this tabled home rule amendment so that homeowners will be encouraged to repair, maintain and even upgrade their homes without fear of a big real estate assessment increase," said the WPA.

"Although we understand Quincy's assessors have made it a practice not to increase assessments when repairs are made, to lawfully continue to do this, we believe it is advisable for the City Council to formally accept the legislation."

The act specifies:

"The assessors of each city and town, beginning Dec. 31, 1978, shall not consider expenditures for normal repairs and maintenance in determining fair cash valuation of property for assessment purposes.

"In no event shall the amount excluded exceed $4,000 each year, not to exceed three consecutive years."

Brownell called the Council's action in tabling the measure "detrimental to every homeowner in the city of Quincy especially in the light of revaluation which is now taking place in the city."

"Unless Quincy adopts this legislation, people who have over the years maintained and improved their property will experience a higher assessment than those who have allowed their property to deteriorate."

"If we are to maintain and improve our residential neighborhoods it is absolutely essential that Quincy adopt this policy."

Cable TV Topic For QCA Aug. 1

Jeff Forbes, executive director of the State Cable Television Commission, will be the speaker at the Quincy Citizens Association monthly meeting Wednesday, Aug. 1, at 8 p.m. in the Montclair Men's Club.

Forbes will explain cable television and how licenses are granted.

For Quincy alone it means over $250,000 in funds for half the fiscal year. To override the veto requires a two-thirds vote of

Smart Shines For Quincy

For Morrisette, It's The Week That IS!

By TOM SULLIVAN

This is the week that will decide if the Morrisette Legion baseball team wins its 22nd Zone 6 championship and advance to the state playoffs.

Going into last Tuesday's game with Holbrook, Morrisette had a 12-2 record and trailed Weymouth [13-2] by half a game. Morrisette and Weymouth were scheduled to clash last night [Wednesday] and Friday night at 8 at Adams Field. Morrisette will finish up against Braintree's Zone 6A leaders [10-4].

"We have to win every one of these games," said Morrisette Coach Ray Cattaneo. "We can't depend on anyone else beating Weymouth, we have to do it ourselves and we also have to beat Braintree. We defeated them both before, but both were tough games."

Morrisette made its job a bit harder last Thursday when it was upset by Hingham, 9-6, but rebounded Friday to bomb Canton, 13-0.

Last Friday Gary Earle remained unbeaten and pitched his second straight shutout as Morrisette rolled over Canton. Earle pitched his second four-hitter in a row and struck out nine.

He received plenty of batting support as Kevin Howlett had a double and three RBI, Dave King had two hits and two RBI, Bill O'Connell had two hits and an RBI, Bob Biagini had a hit and two RBI and Bill Deitch had a double.

Thursday Hingham teed off early on Ray Coscia, who worked six innings. Paul O'Toole finished up effectively.

For Morrisette Deitch had a triple and single, Howlett and King a double and single apiece and Don Perdios two singles.

Quincy's Mike Smart, who has been pitching extremely well, hurled one of the season's best games last Friday, holding Weymouth to two hits. But Weymouth scored all five of its runs in the third inning on no hits, taking full advantage of three Quincy errors, to win, 5-2, as Quincy's record dipped to 4-10. Smart struck out six and retired 10 of the final 11 men he faced. Four of his six walks came in the fatal third.

"Both teams deserve a lot of credit," said Quincy coach Fred Prezioso. "Our kids really played tough and we gave them a good game."

Quincy had taken a 2-0 first inning lead on a single by Tony Camillo and a bases loaded walk to Mark Messina.

Earlier Quincy had staged a great comeback, overcoming a 6-0 deficit to edge Canton, 8-7.

Jamie Burke had a bases loaded triple, Dean Prescott hit a two-run triple and Ron Prezioso was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded to force in the winning run.

Wollaston [3-11-1] was clobbered by Hingham, 11-0, last Friday, but in its previous game against Braintree turned in a fine performance but lost, 5-3.

Wollaston led, 3-0, going into the sixth inning but made three errors, helping Braintree to tie the score. Braintree won it with two runs in the seventh.

HN Legion Takes A.L. Title, Finishes With 18-4 Record

Houghs Neck Legion, which earlier had clinched the Babe Ruth League's American League championship, won its 11th game in a row and finished the most successful season of its 17 years in the league with a 5-3 decision over Local 1139 to end up with an 18-4 record.

Tom O'Connor was the winning pitcher, improving his record to 6-2, and Marty McLoughlin had a save. HN, trailing, 1-0, scored four runs in the second when O'Connor singled, Ross Connerty reached on an error, O'Connor scored on Dan Dunn's squeeze bunt, Dewey Wilcoxon singled and Dale Adams squeezed home the second run. The other two runs scored on an error and a passed ball. HN scored its final run in the fourth on singles by Rich Monahan and Chris Matthews, a sacrifice by McLoughlin and an RBI single by Scott Matthews. Local 1139 scored in the fifth on Bill DiMatteo's triple and Jack Venezia's single.

Houghs Neck dropped the Police Club back into a first place tie with Morrisette in the National League by topping Police, 7-1, on a one-hitter by Dunn (8-0). Dunn also had three two-hitters. McLoughlin, Connerty and O'Connor had two hits each, while Wilcoxon drove in two runs with a bases loaded single.

Houghs Neck, the winningest team in the League, topped the Firemen, 11-3, to clinch the American Division crown with Dunn the winning pitcher. Dunn won his seventh game and also had a triple and two RBI. Adams and Scott Matthews had two hits each and O'Connor hit a home run. Mike Miller and Bob Graham had three hits each for the Firemen.

Houghs Neck also defeated

Barry's Deli, 7-2, with O'Connor pitching three-hit ball for five innings to get his fifth win. He also had a triple and an RBI. Ross Connerty and Matthews had two RBI each, with Matthews having three hits and catching an outstanding game, throwing out four runners trying to steal. Steve Sacchetti played excellent defense and Rich Monahan pitched two innings of one-hit relief in his first pitching appearance for HN.

HN also defeated Hancock Bank, 10-5, with Sacchetti the winner in his first Babe Ruth pitching appearance, giving up five hits and blanking Hancock in every inning but the sixth. Matthews had two hits and Marty McLoughlin and Connerty had two RBI apiece. Matthews played a different position in every inning and made excellent plays at first and third base.

Babe Ruth International

Quincy Co-op Leads N.L., Owens, S. Boston Tied In A.L.

Quincy Co-op leads the International Babe Ruth League's National League with an 11-3 record, while Owens A.C. and South Boston Savings are tied in the American League with 9-5 marks.

Owens walloped the K. of C., 19-8, with Chris Connolly the winning pitcher. Mark Chambers had a double and two singles and a double and Kenny McDonald had a double for Owens.

Owens topped NFPA, 13-10, with Chambers the winner. MacDonald had two home runs and George Wilson had a homer.

Owens also walloped Tuff-Kote, 9-2, with Billy Harris getting the win and Chris Connolly a save. Scott Owens and Wilson each had two runs batted in and Ray Welliver continued to sparkle at second base.

South Boston Savings rolled over the K. of C., 22-10, with Bobby Flynn the winning pitcher.

Quincy Co-Op also walloped

Quincy Savings, 17-7, with Connolly getting the win. For Co-Op Gerry Connolly had two doubles and two singles, Gary Connolly a double and two singles, Frank Maloney two doubles and a single and Cullen a triple, double and single. For Savings Bob Leonard and Larry Costello had two hits apiece.

Quincy Co-Op defeated South Boston Savings, 7-3, with Steve Turner the winning pitcher. For Co-Op Gerry Connolly had a double and single, Gerry Connolly had two hits and Cullen a double.

Tuff-Kote defeated South Boston Savings, 10-4, with Kevin Coymann the winner. Steve Hall had a home run for Tuff-Kote and Peterson had a homer and Steve Evans a triple for South Boston.

Tuff-Kote also topped Millard, 7-3, with Coymann again the winner. Paul Mediche had a homer for Tuff-Kote and Scott Andrews had one for Millard.

Quincy Wins Fast-Pitch Softball Tourney

Quincy topped Lexington with four runs in the seventh inning. Cindy Tozzi drove in two with a double and Lois Malvesti the other two with a single.

MacKenzie Wins Second Track Letter

Jerry MacKenzie of North Quincy was recently awarded his second varsity track letter at Northeastern University.

MacKenzie, a sophomore, ran short and middle distances for the Huskies, who had unbeaten seasons both indoors and outdoors. Their unbeaten streak now stands at 34.

MacKenzie ran both indoors and outdoors with strong showings in both the indoor and outdoor Greater Boston championships. His 1:13 in the 600-yard run was good for a win against Boston College. He graduated from North Quincy High in 1977, and captained the winter and spring squads in his senior year.

St. Joseph's C Team Snaps B Team's Streak

St. Joseph's Girls C softball team edged St. Joseph's B, 5-4, Sunday night with Janine LaFleur the winning pitcher and Karen Corliss the loser. The loss ended a 10-game win streak for the B team.

The teams were tied at 4 going into the bottom of the seventh inning when Mary Thibodeau tripled and, with two outs, Janice Glavin singled in the winning run. Thibodeau also had a home run and a single and Glavin had a triple. Margaret McBride made a sensational game-saving catch. LaFleur struck out 10. For the B team Roseann DiPietro went three for four.

St. Joseph's B routed Sacred

Heart of North Quincy, 22-4, with Corliss the winning pitcher. St. Joseph's was helped along by numerous bases on balls. DiPietro, Beth Fitzgerald, Kristin Fitzgerald, Carla DiTullio and Margaret Fahey had the key hits. Pattie McBride, Janice Sullivan, Theresa Roberts, Kathy McBride, Robin Lewis and Caryn Lewis made outstanding plays in the field.

St. Joseph's B also topped St. John's B, 18-10, with Corliss the winner. Beth Fitzgerald went five for five and DiPietro was four for five. Pattie McBride and DiTullio had three hits each. Corliss had two hits as did Kristin Fitzgerald, Tracey White, Sullivan, Fahey and Kathy McBride had one hit each.

● Junior League

Foley, Remick's Burgin Playoffs Winners

The Quincy Junior Baseball League is in the midst of its playoffs after Foley Chrysler-Plymouth edged Remick's for the American League championship and Houghs Neck Legion nipped Keohane's for the National League crown.

In the opening round of the playoffs Foley edged Rotary, 4-3, with Pete Furtado having a double and single, Ed Boyle a double and Jackie Bolster a single. Billy Phillips started on the mound, giving up four hits and two runs and Paul Miller relieved, giving up two hits and a run. For Rotary Jack Outerbridge had a double and single, Brian Sullivan two singles and Ken Runge and P. J. Hussey a single each.

In other first round games Remick's walloped Keohane's, 9-0, with Chris Bunker pitching a one-hitter and hitting two home runs, John McGlame hitting a home run and Tom Ryan having two singles and a double; and Houghs Neck edged Burgin Plater, 3-2.

In the second round Burgin Plater upset Foley, 5-1, with Jimmy Salvati pitching a three-hitter. Burgin scored all its runs in the fifth inning when Mike Cocci singled, Derek Holt walked, Jay Osogood tied the score with a single and Andrew Pugliese singled for his second hit. John Cristiani hit his second double and Danny Kelley singled.

Foley's run came in the third or a single by Dave Phillips, a fielder's choice, a walk and Jack Bolster's RBI double. Losing pitcher Paul Marshall allowed seven hits and struck out 11. Jack Kelly and Tommy Richardson made outstanding catches in the outfield and Eric Roukey, Mike Coese, Holt, Cristiani and Rich Horrigan excelled in the infield and Pugliese was outstanding behind the plate.

Remick's pounded Houghs Neck, 11-1, with Steve Higgins pitching a four-hitter. Remick's exploded for seven runs in the second inning on seven hits. Bunker had a three-run homer, a double and single. Ryan had three singles and Matt Hanley and Chris Rossi had a double each.

In other second round action Keohane's defeated Rotary, 8-6.

Foley's had defeated Rotary, 7-3, in the final regular season game to take the American League pennant.

Billy Phillips pitched his 11th win of the year with Paul Marshall having a save. Runge hit a home run in the second inning.

Burgin Plater walloped Kiwanis, 9-1, in its final regular season game, with Kelley pitching a seven-hitter. Burgin scored four in the first inning, added three in the third and finished up with four in the fourth, while Kiwanis avoided a shutout in the third. Burgin played another outstanding defensive game with Pugliese having another good day behind the plate. Osogood threw out a runner at the plate from left field. Richardson and Coese excelled at second and shortstop respectively and Roukey was brilliant at third base.

The all-star game will be played Saturday night at 7:30 at McCoy Field (Artery Field 2). The game will go nine innings with all 18 players from both leagues playing half the game.

Playing for the American League will be Richardson, Coese and Salvati, Burgin Plater, Bolster, Bill Phillips and Boyle, Foley, Steve Kelly, Steve Durante and Joey Monahan, Kiwanis, Bunker, Don Guthro and Matt Hanley, Remick's, Tom Connolly, Jim Sheets and Matt Macelli, Sears, and Brian Chase, Ed McArdle and Jerry Arroyo, VFW.

The National League players are Bill Chaisson, Steve Dever and Dennis Napier, Boston Gear, Mike O'Reilly, Mike Farrand and Chris Roberts, Colonial Federal, Brian Lowe, Steve Warren and Rick Brooks, Elks, Mark Walsh, Bill O'Malley and John Comeau, Houghs Neck, Dan Baker, Mike Canavan and Keith But, Keohane's, and Kevin Sullivan, Ken Maher and Range, Rotary.

Bob Foley is the American League manager and Tom McCloughlin the National League manager.

In the event of rain, the game will be played Sunday at the same time and place.

RECREATION ROUNDUP

The following news is from the Recreation Department's summer playground program:

Kevin McCarthy, Supervisor

BEECHWOOD KNOLL - Music and drama proved to be one of the week's highlights at Beechi with a puppet show enjoyed by all. Betsy McDonald along with the Gralton sisters, Maureen, Kathryn and Karen, all took part in creating puppets. Alison Morach and Shelby Carty took part in the production of a play written by the Beechi children. Beechi's junior boys baseball team suffered a 10-2 loss to Massfield. Beechi was led by the hitting of John Joseph and Billy Cahill.

FENNO ST. - Friday afternoon's special event was a watermelon eating contest with Brian Webb coming out on top. Brian Carney will represent Fenno in the district finals of Junior Olympics where he will compete in the 100 yard dash. The boys senior basketball team defeated Massfield 50-32 behind the 18 points of Mark Milliane. Teammate Brian Reele added 16 points while Jamie Walsh and Steve Healy stood out on defense.

HERON ROAD - The junior girls softball team won their first game on the hitting of the Thornton sisters and the pitching of Carol Lynch who tossed a strong four-hitter. The junior boys baseball team was also victorious in their game defeating Fenno 15-3. Heron Road was led by Peter Lynch, Dave Marrocco and Paul Sullivan.

PERKINS - Gus Gonzales pitched a no-hitter to lead

Perkins to a 6-0 win over Beechwood Knoll in senior boys baseball action. Joseph Gonzales sparked a field and added two hits. Puppet making also proved to be a highlight with Christine Kelley, Kerry Tolson, Theresa Noenicky and Mathew Noenicky showing some fine talent. Maureen and Billy Roche represented Perkins in the city finals of the Junior Olympics and came away with a first place trophy in their events.

MASSFIELD - Joanne Runge won the city championship in the junior girls softball throw in the Junior Olympic competition. The junior boys baseball team won their second straight game with a 13-2 win over Perkins. Stephen Kelly, Pat O'Sullivan and Brendan Cox led the attack for Massie. Debbie McGovern and Donna Walty collected four hits apiece as the junior girls suffered their first loss by a 15-10 score to the Beechwood Knoll girls.

Mark Dwyer, Supervisor

ELM ST. - Arts and crafts were the hit of the week where yarn dolls were made by all the participants. The senior boys basketball team overpowered Pond St. 74-21. Pat Fay led the Elm hoopers with 19 points while Peter Papile and Alvin Memmolo each chipped in with 16. Winners in the district Junior Olympics were Brett Burns, 50 yard dash; Brett Heeney, running broad jump; Anthony Battistone and Brian Glavin, three-legged race; Richie Pettinelli, softball throw; Kevin Wood, 100 yard dash; Mark Murphy, 220 yard run, and Chris McCray, running broad jump.

POND ST. - The senior girls softball team remained undefeated by taking a 6-2 win over Faxon Park. Janine LaFleur pitched a strong four-hitter while Tricia Travers, Patte McBride, Jackie and Janice Glavin led the offense. Anna Marie Cicerone took first prize in the yarn monster project done during arts and crafts. Also made were tissue paper flowers by Donna Paolilli, Claudia Cicerone, Barbara Rudnicki and Kristen Curtin.

FORE RIVER - Bill Shaughnessey won the weekly scavenger hunt while Mark Lotti came in second, with Danny Piccini third. Decorating the bulletin board proved to be an enjoyable Friday afternoon special event. The junior girls basketball team defeated Pond St. 28-14. Kathy McBride with 12 points and Margaret McBride with 10 were Fore River's high scorers.

FAXON PARK - Kickball and wiffleball are two favorite activities which are enjoyed by Nancy Martin, Susan Morrison, Sherri Cavallo, Paul Gibbody and Kirk Riley. Representing Faxon at the district Junior Olympics were Bobby Laracy, Heather Polley, Rita Sandanto, Mary Deauan, Erin Polley and Michael Savage.

POLLARD - The Pollard boys midjet baseball team defeated Pond St. 10-0, to take their first win. In arts and crafts road signs, key chains were made by Lori Whyte, Tim Brillo, Kathy McNaughton and Peter Whyte.

During drama, charades were enjoyed by Patty Harkins, Renee LaPlume and Erin McNaughton. The junior boys baseball team lost a hard fought 5-4 game to Fore River despite a strong pitching performance by Eddie McAurde.

DISTRICT 6

Ken Furfuri, Supervisor

O'ROURKE - The junior girls got the basketball season off on the right foot with a 16-6 win over Shea Rink. Beth Veneto, Mary Shea and Chris Cucinatta led the scoring attack for the O'Rourke girls. The midjet boys baseball team lost a tough 2-1 game to Kincaide. Robert Higgins pitched a three-hitter and Jimmy Morris hit a long triple. In archery, Jimmy McSweeney bettered his first week's performance by hitting three bulls eyes.

GRASSO - Friday's special event was tie dying T-shirts to be used by the sports teams in their district games. Terrariums were the arts and crafts project of the week. Guido Pazzini and Marie Pagnano were chosen junior leaders. Mike Corleoni was voted the park's outstanding golfer during golf specialist Brian Doherty's weekly visit.

ADAMS - Some of the park's young Robin Hoods are Scott Buchanan, Jon Beniers, Paul Kenney, Lesley DiStefano and Scott Palosi. The nature trip saw Marcy DiStefano, Kim Contrino, Scott Palosi, Donna Deloray, Linda Mahoney, Robbie Buttmore and Jimmy Thomas all enjoying the Pond Meadow Park in Braintree. The best checker players are Scott Buchanan and Jon Beniers.

SHEA - Kevin Drake won the weeks tie-tac-toe - tournament while Traci Miller finished second. Other tie-tac-toers were Jennifer D'Amico, Michelle Webber and Joyce Iavocelli. David O'Connor was chosen playground person of the week by the recreation staff. Julie Callahan scored six points for the junior girls hoop team in a loss to O'Rourke.

KINCAIDE - The district baseball and softball clinic was held during the week and some of Kincaide's best took part. Mark Tusi, Sean Joyce, Dean Vanelli and Vinny Elgart represented the boys. Softballers who took part were Michelle Joyce, Kelly Joyce, Patti Joyce, Genevieve Ford and Kristin Egan. The midjet boys baseball team made it two in a row with a 2-1 victory over Shea Rink. Stephen Fox pitched a two-hitter striking out 13 batters along the way. Glenn Hermanson, Ed Tusi, Peter DePaulo and Stephen Scigliano provide the offense for the Kincaide boys.

The Siamese archer fish feeds by knocking insects off twigs several feet above the surface of the water with a drop of water spit from its mouth.

The Quincy Recreation Department is bringing Jokari to town.

Jokari is a new indoor-outdoor game much like racquetball that will be featured in a local tournament beginning Monday, July 30 and continuing through Wednesday, Aug. 1.

In Jokari, two players compete by using paddles and trying to hit a ball attached to a super-stretch band connected to a weighted base. The band automatically returns the ball for the players to hit again and again, until one player cannot return the ball in one bounce.

Registration for the 1979 Jokari Paddle Ball tournament, which is one of the 1,000 sanctioned Jokari Tournaments throughout the entire country this year, is now taking place, and is open to everyone from age 8 to 18.

Those wanting to pit their skills against others from throughout the city may register by going to one of the city's playgrounds.

All entrants must register by Friday, July 28, to play in the tournament.

Although no formal court is needed to play Jokari, the Recreation Department is providing practice sites at the city's playgrounds.

Because Jokari is a new sport, coaches will be at each practice site to give free pointers to budding paddle ball players. The experience of Jokari novices in tournaments elsewhere have proved the game to be painlessly quick and easy to learn.

During the tournament, boys will compete against boys, and girls will compete against girls. The players will also be divided into four categories by age: 8-10, 11-12, 13-14, 15-18.

Everyone who competes in the tournament will receive a special participation patch, and each divisional winner will receive a specially designed trophy.

Sports Physical Exam Schedule

Athletic Coordinator Carl Leone announces the following schedule for physical examinations for all fall sports:

Saturday, Aug. 18, North Quincy and Quincy boys, 9 to 11 a.m., and girls from 11 to noon.

Saturday, Aug. 25, North Quincy and Quincy girls, 9 to 11, and boys, 11 to noon.

All students must have parental permission cards signed before taking the exams.

300 Attend Softball, Baseball Clinics

Director of Recreation Charles Alongi announced today that over 300 boys and girls took part in the Quincy Recreation Departments recently completed baseball and softball clinics.

Five separate clinics were held under the direction of the department's four sports specialists, John Franceschini, Mary Anderson, Noreen Guest and John DiNardo. Each participant was taught the fundamentals of infield and outfield play as well as base running and tips on hitting and bunting.

Clinics were held at Bishop Park, LaBrecque Park, Perkins, and O'Rourke. The clinic scheduled for Fore River was cancelled due to inclement weather and will be made up at a later date.

Muscular Dystrophy Swim-a-thon Aug. 2

Sponsor pledge forms are now available for a Swimathon For Muscular Dystrophy on Thursday, Aug. 2, 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool.

Recalls Many Changes In Area

Roy Sidelinger Honored For 53 Years Service On Colonial Federal Board

Roy L. Sidelinger of 58 South St., Quincy, was honored recently by Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association of Quincy for 53 years service to that institution as a member of its board of directors.

Appointed to the board in 1929, Sidelinger was then an official of Jordan Marsh Company with which he was associated for 32 years. A graduate of MIT, he was a contractor prior to joining Jordan Marsh where he was an operations manager.

Sidelinger entered the construction business after service in World War I, building many homes in the Brighton, Cambridge, Wollaston and Weymouth areas.

Recalling some of the many and great changes which have occurred in the Quincy area since the time when he began building, Sidelinger said the average lot with a 50-foot front cost, at that time, from $400 to $500 and a sturdy comfortable 6-room house could be erected and sold for $7,000 - $8,000. He said it was gratifying to see houses he had constructed still in good condition. He noted, however, they are priced at figures many times the original selling price.

When he became a director, Sidelinger said the stock market crash was imminent. Then followed years of depression and economic struggle which were hectic years for the people and for the bank, then known as Wollaston Co-operative and located on Beale Street opposite the original Howard Johnson site. Despite efforts to save homes from foreclosure, many were forfeited. The bank holiday was experienced when all banks were closed by government order and no money was available.

"Those were difficult times,"

Sidelinger said, "and no one can understand them or appreciate the hardship unless he has experienced them. We pulled through, though, but as I fear for the future then, I fear for it now. I have faith, but it is hard to be optimistic. However, as difficult as things are now, they were more difficult then."

Sidelinger said he had watched the then Wollaston Co-operative grow from a small neighborhood institution to a Federally chartered institution now known as Colonial Federal Savings and Loan Association of Quincy with three branches reaching as far south as Wareham.

"I have enjoyed being involved in this growth and participating in the programs of development and community service which have evolved over the years. Transition is more rapid now than it has been in the past, and we can expect even more and interesting changes to come."

Sidelinger pointed out that thrift programs and the provision of mortgages for private residences continues to be the primary purpose of Federal Savings and Loan Associations. With the current explosion of inflation, the myriad types of thrift institutions from sources other than thrift institutions, the high cost of housing and the highest cost in history of financing a home, the challenges set before a Board of any thrift institutions are substantial and continuing.

"We have a fine board of Directors," he said, "probably the best in our history, and we are ready to meet the many and sometimes very difficult challenges which are inevitable in these times."

Howard Johnson Sales, Revenue Up 6%

The Howard Johnson Company's sales and revenues increased six percent in the second quarter of 1979 over last year, the company announces.

Second-quarter figures for sales and revenues [up from $141.7 million to $150.3 million], net income [from $9.50 million to $9.92 million] and earnings per share [from $.43 to $.45] all increased over the second quarter of 1978, the company reported.

Howard Johnson, president and chairman of the board, noted the increases were achieved in spite of the gasoline shortage and a general national decline in retail sales.

Customer counts at Howard Johnson restaurants and motel lodge occupancies declined throughout June as a result of the gas shortage, Johnson said.

June Wilson Elected Old Colony Loan Officer

June E. Wilson has recently been elected Loan Officer of the Old Colony Bank and Trust Company of Norfolk County, an affiliate of the First National Bank of Boston.

Miss Wilson joined the Old Colony Bank in 1978 as the Manager of the Quincy office. She was formerly employed by the First National Bank of Boston where she held various positions. An honor graduate of North Quincy High School, she received her B.S. degree at Northeastern University. She is presently enrolled in the MBA program at Northeastern University.

Acupuncture Associates

Serving South Shore Area

Acupuncture Associates of Ashmont, 231 Ashmont St., Dorchester, have opened a treatment center recently to bring the ancient Chinese medical technique to the South Shore area for the first time.

The center is staffed by acupuncturists David Kailin and Jerry Kantor and Dr. Maria Gerson. They hope to make the 5,000 year-old Oriental practice of needle insertion familiar to people of the area.

Kailin noted that 80 percent of all painful conditions respond, at least in some degree, to needle and heat stimulation.

"Frequently pain can be eliminated completely with a few treatments, especially if it is acute," Kailin said. "Chronic conditions take longer. Naturally not all conditions are cured. Acupuncture is not magic."

The acupuncturists claim to have had their best results in treating lower back pain, headaches, menstrual disorders, athletic injuries and tobacco addiction.

Dr. Gerson said the acupuncture is not painful. "The needles are very thin, like fine wire, and the quickness of insertion speeds them past the pain receptors in the skin. Acupuncture is bloodless. It is not like getting a shot."

Kelly Thanks MDC For Rock Island Repairs

Councillor Leo J. Kelly has written a letter to Andrew C. Patton, of the Metropolitan District Commission (MDC) thanking him for help with problems in the Rock Island Cove area.

Early in July, Kelly and Patton, acting director of the MDC's sewage division viewed the steps between the boardwalk and the dike area, the guardrails in need of repairs or replacement and the culvert beneath the dike. They also viewed that portion of Rhoda Street in need of resurfacing.

Since then, three concrete stairs have been added in the dike area, the guardrails have been worked on and the MDC is cleaning and repairing the culverts to try to alleviate the area's flooding problems. The MDC has also put out to bid that portion of Rhoda Street on MDC property which needs resurfacing.

Kelly said "the prompt and courteous action by Mr. Patton and the MDC is most commendable and sincerely appreciated."

80% Of City Out

Mass Power Cut Hits 10,000 Quincy Customers

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The power failure that affected much of southeastern New England Monday also hit about 80 percent of Quincy.

The outage knocked out power in about 10,000 homes and businesses in scattered sections of the city, according to Paul Doucette of the Massachusetts Electric Company of Weymouth. Only West Quincy was completely unaffected by the power cuts, he said. Other Mass. Electric customers lost electricity for only a few minutes, he said.

Quincy police were flooded with calls during the two-hour power failure, a spokesman for the department said. However, no emergencies related to the power outage were reported.

According to Doucette, the loss of power was traced to a line between Connecticut and Rhode Island that, inexplicably, shut down Monday morning. This had a "domino effect" of overloading and then knocking out the Brayton Point station in Somerset and the Mystic station in Everett.

Around 10:10 a.m., Mass. Electric received an alert that it might have to shut down power for some of its lines, Doucette said. At 10:37 the definite order to shut down lines came.

Besides Quincy, Mass Electric also services Weymouth,

Holbrook and Randolph. Quincy customers lost power because those lines, which run through the manned Field St. station in Quincy Center, were the only ones which could be shut down on short notice, Doucette said.

Mass Electric was in the process of putting some of its Quincy customers back on line and cutting power for customers in other towns when permission came to restore power to all lines, around 12:35 p.m.

"I don't like to have just one group of customers share the joy of having their power out," he said.

Could Save 2,000 Jobs

GD Hopes To Land Repair Ship

By TOM HENSHAW

General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard will learn in about two weeks the fate of its cost-plus bid to build a cable repair ship for the Navy, a one-shot deal that could mean the saving of 2,000 jobs.

"Vice Admiral C. R. Bryan, the chief of naval procurement, told me that we can use Aug. 15 as a ball game figure for the announcement of who gets the ship," said Cong. Brian J. Donnelly.

"I keep hearing rumors that we're fourth out of six in terms of our price but the Navy is looking to the shipyard that can build it the quickest and the best."

Donnelly has been deeply involved in the world of Navy shipbuilding intrigue for the past two weeks since it was disclosed that the shipyard faces possible major layoffs of workers in October.

The yard also may have to be shut down in August, 1980, if new contracts are not obtained for continuing work after the last of 10 liquefied natural gas (LNG) tankers is finished.

Donnelly said he is trying to schedule a visit to the Quincy shipyard by Navy brass early this month to "open their eyes about the facilities and the work force at the shipyard."

"Some of the individuals who make the decisions in Washington either haven't been in the Quincy shipyard at all or haven't been in it since General Dynamics took it over 15 years ago," he said.

"They admitted to me that the last time they were here Bethlehem was building barges."

Among those Donnelly said he hopes to bring to Quincy are Adm. Bryan, acting Secretary of

5 Departments Moving

City Hall Annex To Be Occupied This Weekend

Five city departments are set to move into the new City Hall annex either Friday night or Saturday morning.

They are the Mayor's office, the City Solicitor, Planning, Personnel and the Assessors.

Mayor Tobin said other moves will be made on the following weekend, Aug. 10 and 11.

Actually, the opening of the $1.9 million glass structure behind the old City Hall will touch off a game of musical chairs involving four buildings.

In addition to the City hall complex, they are: the J. F. Kennedy Health Building, the Public Works garage and 1 Cliveden St., where the city leases office space.

Eventually, the auditor's office will move into City Hall from the JFK Building and will be replaced Energy Saver And . . .

Four-Day Week Brings 'More Productivity' In PW Dept.

The new four-day week in the Public Works Department has resulted in "more productivity," according to its innovator, Commissioner James J. Ricciuti.

"In such jobs as asphalt application the men have been able to stay on the job longer and finish it in one day," he said. "They don't have to be called back. They start each morning fresh."

Ricciuti started the four-day week in his department July 16 as a measure to conserve energy.

"It's definitely saving energy," he said, "but I don't have any figures to prove it."

"We are compiling them on a monthly basis. We have the old figures from June 16 to July 16 and we'll compare them to the figures from July 16 to Aug. 16."

Ricciuti said the new four-day schedule is saving money for DPW employees, some of whom commute to the job from as far away as Plymouth, Norwood and Westwood.

The four-day week will continue until the return of standard time in October when the department will go back to the old five-day week for the winter.

"Consistent with the energy crisis" said Ricciuti, "it was a good move."

McCauley Explains Opposition To Home Improvement Act

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley says he is against Council acceptance of state legislation that would permit homeowners to maintain and improve their property without facing additional assessments.

Quincy's present handling of home improvement assessments is even more liberal than the legislation, he said in a letter to Arthur M. Chandler, president of the Quincy Citizens Association.

The QCA and the Wollaston Park Association recently urged the city to accept the act, which was sponsored by Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy). It came before the Council and was placed on file.

McCauley said he consulted Assessor Chairman John Comer and City Solicitor Robert Fleming and found that the city's policy on ordinary home improvements is much more liberal than the bill.

He noted that one sentence in the legislation says that "in no event shall the amount excluded exceed $4,000 each year, not to exceed three years."

"Mr. Comer and Mr. Fleming feel that sentence restricts not only the amount to be included but that the improvements would have to be assessed after the third year," he said.

"I agree with Mr. Comer and Mr. Fleming's position and I feel that our present system has worked well for many years and should not be changed at this time."

Harold 'Optimistic' On Hospital Reimbursement

Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) says he is "very optimistic" that the Senate will override Gov. King's veto of an item in the state budget that would have brought a $500,000 reimbursement to Quincy City Hospital.

The money would have gone to pay the cost of treating welfare patients, an expense the Hospital has had to pick up since 1975 when former Gov. Michael Dukakis ordered an end to such state subsidies.

Harold said the movement to override the veto will start in the Senate Monday, July 30, when the Legislature goes back into formal sessions.

"The chances of an override are very good," he said. "It is a statewide issue that is supported by the Senate leadership. People are aware of the unfair treatment being accorded to municipal hospitals."

Other city hospitals that would get reimbursements include Boston, Cambridge and Worcester.

45 Vacancies Blamed On Painters Shortage

QHA Still Has Hopes For Extra Maintenance Funds

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The Quincy Housing Authority (QHA) is still hoping it can receive extra state funding without making any changes in its maintenance schedule.

The board is under orders from Byron Mathews, state secretary of community affairs, to straighten out its maintenance plans and put them down in writing before it can get any extra money.

"I don't think we understood what he wanted and I don't think he understood what we were saying," Clement O'Brien, the authority's administrator said Tuesday. The QHA plans to describe its maintenance system in more detail and submit them to Mathews in writing in hope of receiving the extra funding.

Some members of the authority, at their regular meeting last week, seemed to feel there wasn't anything to straighten out.

"The remark was made, we don't have a schedule," said Chairman Carmine D'Olimpio. "We do. It's not a written schedule, but each man knows what he's doing on a particular day."

D'Olimpio referred to a quote by Mayor Arthur Tobin, when the mayor discussing the QHA maintenance situation, reportedly commented: "I could be critical of the Housing Authority, but that wouldn't help the situation."

"Being critical certainly doesn't help the situation," D'Olimpio said. "The problem is painting. The problem is filling up apartments. The problem is making housing available. We can't do that without help."

The QHA has drawn criticism from city and state officials for its large number of vacant apartments. James D'Olimpio, superintendent of maintenance, has blamed the vacancies—45 as of July 25—on a shortage of painters. Three painters are responsible for maintaining the QHA's 1355 housing units.

The authority's basic owner-tenant agreement states each apartment vacated shall have a new coat of paint before a new tenant can move in. Thus, apartments sit vacant while waiting to be painted.

On a July 18 tour of QHA units, Mathews told authority officials he wanted to see a written maintenance schedule before he approved any extra funds to paint the vacant apartments.

James D'Olimpio told the authority last week the painting crew handled vacancies on a chronological basis, as they occurred, but were frequently sidetracked by emergencies elsewhere.

"It's impossible to have a schedule," he said.

"I'd be very happy to help you do just that," said Edward Graham, vice-chairman of the QHA. "The point is, he (Mathews) asked for a schedule and we're not going to get any help until he gets one."

Graham questioned D'Olimpio on the number of vacancies.

"In my experience on the board, it went from zero to 20 vacancies, and sometimes it was zero," Graham said.

Carmine D'Olimpio told Graham that the number of vacancies have decreased from 61 to 48 from Jan. 1, 1978 to June 30, 1979. Maintenance crews painted 288 apartments during that time, he reported.

Furthermore, a study of the QHA by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development described its "maintenance procedures as 'good to very good.' " "I think that speaks for itself," Chairman D'Olimpio said.

In other business, the authority awarded contracts in four advertised categories. In three of those contracts, only one bid was received.

The Quincy Motor Company was the sole bidder on two contracts, for a 1980 pickup truck and a 1980 cargo van. The company bid $9,269 and $6,096 on the two contracts, respectively.

"We couldn't understand why there was only one bidder," O'Brien said. "Neither could Quincy Motor Company."

Also a sole bidder was McDonald-Sprague Roofing Co., Inc. of Weymouth, which bid $139,629 for "extraordinary maintenance" of roofs in the QHA's Snug Harbor project.

General Hardware and Supply of Cambridge was awarded a $2,799 contract for basement doors. Quincy Lumber Company bid $3,556.80.

Norfolk County Residents Second Lowest In Service Costs

Norfolk County residents pay an average of $21.69 per person for county services, the second lowest of any county in the state.

The county's $13.5 million expenses, shared by over 620,000 people, means that for the eighth straight year, Norfolk County has the lowest or second lowest average cost, according to Norfolk County Commission Chairman, James J. Collins.

Other average costs ranged from Bristol County's $17.59 per person to Hampden County's $31.68.

Future county costs will be reduced about one-third with costs of the court system now assumed by the state, Collins said.

QHA May Seek Court Action Over Safford St. Home

The Quincy Housing Authority last week authorized its attorney to look into the possibility of a suit against Allan McDonald, city building inspector.

McDonald has refused to issue a building permit for a proposed home for mentally retarded adults at 215 Safford St., Wollaston.

McDonald claims zoning restriction prevents the former nursing home from being used as anything but a two-family home. According to QHA administrator Clement O'Brien, state housing chapter 689-I, which created funding for this and similar homes, gives the housing authority power to supercede local zoning laws in locating the homes in residential areas.

At a recent meeting, QHA chairman Carmine D'Olimpio conceded that the proposals had originally "run into some flak" from residents of the neighborhood, but said community objections to the home have been satisfied.

According to O'Brien, QHA Attorney Paul Hunt has not set any date on filing the suit.

The QHA has awarded a $93,000 contract to Ecologue Systems Inc., of Boston for renovations to the former nursing home.

Fagerlund Bows Out As Mayoral Candidate

Former Assessor Chairman Elmer K. (Mike) Fagerlund, who has been thinking about it for several weeks, has decided not to run for Mayor of Quincy.

Fagerlund said that, although he has detected broad popular support for his candidacy, he decided he would not have the support of the "establishment communities" necessary for election.

He said in a statement Tuesday:

"The successful candidate for Mayor of Quincy in the upcoming city election must have, in addition to popular support, the support of the planning, business, banking, news media and political communities.

"There is broad support for my candidacy among the taxpayers, voters, rent payers, small businessmen, veterans and elderly who have urged me to be a candidate.

"I have discerned, however, that those establishment communities I mentioned, though not overly enchanted with the present leadership, are so deeply committed to the present course of funded programs, tax concessions and public debt that I would, because of my philosophical opposition to that kind of development, not have their support.

"Therefore, I will not be a candidate for Mayor in this fall's election."

Fagerlund, a real estate man and owner of a mail order firm, served on the Board of Assessors under three mayors until he was not reappointed in March, 1978, by the current Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

Deadline Friday To Take Out Nomination Papers

Friday is the last day in which potential candidates can pick up nomination papers to run for office in the fall city election.

And next Tuesday (Aug. 7) is the deadline for returning those papers with at least 50 valid signatures of voters.

The preliminary election this year is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 11, provided there are enough candidates to make such an elimination race necessary.

If more than two candidates qualify for Mayor or any ward councillor race or if more than six, candidates qualify for councillor at large or school committee, then the preliminary will be held.

The general election will be Tuesday, Nov. 5.

No new candidates took out papers for any post during the past week and, thus far, not enough candidates have qualified in any race to force a preliminary election.

After 20 Years

Brett Won't Run, Announces Retirement

"The time has come for me to slow down my life style," said Joseph E. Brett and he added quickly, "but I am not headed for the rocking chair."

And with that, Brett, 72, announced his retirement from active politics after more than 20 years of service to Quincy as a city councillor and state representative.

Brett said that he will not be a candidate for City Council at large, a seat he has held since last January when he was named to fill the unexpired term of Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

He said his decision to end his political career came "after many weeks of soul-searching consideration."

"I wish to express my deep appreciation to all of my fellow citizens of Quincy who have supported my many political campaigns during the past quarter century," he said.

JOSEPH E. BRETT

"It has been my pride and pleasure to have served the citizens of Quincy in public office for so many years.

"Although I am retiring from public office, I want my fellow citizens to feel free to call upon me at any time if they think I may be able to be of some service to them."

Brett first ran for State Rep in 1932 and for the City Council in 1945 and 1947, losing all three times by narrow margins to the then powers in Quincy politics.

He was first elected to the City Council in 1957 and gave up the post two years later after he was elected State Rep. He was reelected to the State House eight consecutive times.

Twice he was a candidate for Mayor, the first time against Amelio Della Chiesa in 1961 and again against Walter J. Hannon in 1971. He lost both times, but Hannon's margin was only slight.

Brett finally lost his State House seat to young Michael W. Morrissey in the Democratic primary in 1976 and a comeback attempt was thwarted when he ran for City Council again in 1977.

But when Councillor Harold ran successfully for the State Senate in 1978, the other members of the City Council unanimously selected Brett to fill out the remaining year in his term.

Fine collections of silver take time to create. You should not feel as though you have to go out and buy a whole set of silverware and silver serving pieces at one time. Few of us can afford that. But, often, we can afford one or two basic pieces, and can slowly add to the collection ourselves, or request pieces singly as gifts. You may also consider the purchase of a place setting. In a short period of time you will have a collection of which anyone would be proud, one that will enhance any meal served.

We're proud of our fine collection of pewter, crystal, clocks, Belek china and jewelry. When looking for a piece for yourself, or as a gift, be sure to visit us at GRONO & CHRISTIE, INC., 536 Adams St., East Milton, 696-1490. We're here to help you make your selection, or just welcome you to browse. Hours: 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Mon. thru Sat.

Two QHS Students Tops In Math Competitions

Mark Hamel, 154 Spring St., Houghs Neck, and Larry Rosen, 59 Pontiac Rd., Merrymount, both entering their senior year at Quincy High School this fall, have distinguished themselves in the field of mathematics.

Hamel was one of 30 Quincy High School juniors and seniors chosen to take the 30th annual high school mathematics examination during the past academic year. He received the highest score among the group and has been presented a math award pin.

As a senior advanced placement student he will be studying calculus this fall.

Rosen, earned a score of 800 on the College Board Achievement Examination in mathematics this past spring.

As a sophomore he was in a standard geometry class. During the summer he worked independently and was able to complete the next sequential course in Algebra II. When school opened in the fall he was able to pass a comprehensive exam in Algebra II and was admitted to the advanced placement Analysis class. He will be taking calculus during his senior year.

4 CETA Projects Underway At $300,000

Several groups of Quincy CETA employees are engaged in four projects with an aggregate cost of more than $300,000.

Ten CETA workers are engaged in a one-year project organizing the health records at Quincy City Hospital. The $103,252 project will integrate the records into a centralized area to improve the hospital's health care delivery system.

Working through the city clerk's office, 10 CETA workers are computerizing the city's voting list. Once the project is completed the list will be made available to other city departments. The one-year project is costing $72,971.

A $46,242 project is underway at Merrymount and Faxon parks where eight CETA employees are clearing and cleaning the areas. This six month project was undertaken to make the parks more enjoyable and also to afford more visibility for police protection.

At Quincy Junior College seven CETA participants are working on a one-year community outreach project. They are developing a plan to address the training needs of under-enrolled target groups. The project is costing $81,403.

Brownell Backs Bill Requiring Smoke Detectors

Rep. Thomas Brownell recently announced his support of a bill before the legislature requiring the use of smoke detectors in certain cases.

House Bill 6429 would require that when any home is sold, the new owner must install an approved fire warning system, if he or she has children under 16.

"Smoke detectors are invaluable in saving both life and personal property, as recent fires in Quincy and throughout the state have clearly demonstrated," Brownell said. Two July fires in Quincy were detected early, saving lives and property, due to smoke detectors, according to the Quincy Fire Department.

"To the extent that less than half of the homes in Quincy are equipped with any type of fire warning system, I consider this legislation necessary to protect the citizens of Quincy from catastrophe and to insure the future of our children," Brownell said.

He noted that smoke detectors can be purchased for $20 or less.

GD Hopes To Land Cable Repair Ship

the Navy R. James Woolsey, and Edward Hidalgo, assistant secretary for logistics.

The visit by Navy brass, plus Gov. Edward J. King's meeting with President Carter Monday, are part of what Donnelly called his "three-pronged attack" to win contracts for the yard.

"The more we go after them the more pressure we want to put on that middle of August date," he said.

"We want the entire Massachusetts community waiting for that announcement. They're not going to slip that one by us. We want it to make a big impact and we want them to know it's going to have an impact."

"That's the way President Carter operates. He's operating almost totally political today. Can Carter afford to come into Massachusetts with 4,500 guys laid off and billions lost to the economy?"

"If I was his campaign manager I'd tell him he'd better spread out the work a little bit. This is a bread and butter jobs issue and that means Democratic voters."

Donnelly and Gov. King conferred with officers of Shipbuilders Union Local 5 Saturday afternoon in the Congressman's Quincy office prior to King's leaving for Washington to see President Carter.

Union officials present were Tony Swizzero, New England regional director; Arthur Durand, president of Local 5; Richard Piccuito, vice president; Earl Christian, executive secretary; and Leonard Shepard, trustee.

Donnelly said King's meeting with the President was important because he has a "gut sense" that the Quincy shipyard will get government contracts only if Carter himself intervenes.

"I think the Department of the Navy has built-in procurement discriminations and it has a built-in negative image of Quincy," he said. "That's why we're bringing them to Quincy."

"General Dynamics has been criticized for not aggressively chasing Navy repair work. But you can't have repair work until you have an empty dry dock. That's the built-in negative. They criticize you for something you can't do."

Donnelly said the Navy thinks of Bath, Maine, when it builds frigates; Groton, Conn., with nuclear subs; Mississippi with destroyers; and San Diego when it's building other ships.

"There is plenty of work in all those places," he said, "but in between there's nothing."

"They have very good arguments that it is very cost effective to keep going to the same people but there are other good arguments saying we can't afford to lose the shipbuilding capabilities of this country."

We need the ability on the East Coast to move quickly into shipbuilding in time of a national emergency.

"Under the Defense Department's own plan, the next war -- if there is one and it's not a nuclear holocaust -- will be a land war in the NATO countries of Europe."

"That means that a shipbuilding capability on the East Coast is an absolute necessity so that we would be able to send supplies and personnel by ship."

Donnelly said he sees himself as the quarterback of the political operation to land contracts for the yard, maneuvering his "heavy hitters", Sens. Kennedy and Tsongas, House Speaker Thomas (Tip) O'Neill, and Gov. King.

"Maybe we're playing it all wrong," he said. "But I just don't know what else to do. That's my forte, putting on the political pressure."

"Now General Dynamics has to come in with substantive bids. If they don't, we're done."

Obituaries

Edward M. Mitchell, 53, Electrical Shock Victim

The flag at the Quincy Youth Hockey Arena will be at half staff for the month of August in memoriam of the late Edward M. Mitchell Sr., a guiding spirit behind Quincy hockey for 20 years.

Mr. Mitchell, 53, of 128 Glendale Rd., Quincy Center, died at Boston City Hospital Monday, six days after he suffered an electric shock while working outside the 11th floor of a Boston building.

A funeral mass will be said Friday morning at 9 at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy. Burial will be at St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Visiting hours at the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., will be Wednesday, 7-9 p.m., and

EDWARD M. MITCHELL

Thursday, 2-4 p.m., and 7-9 p.m.

Mitchell was a member of the board of directors of the Quincy Youth Hockey Arena since 1974 and before that on the board of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association, since the early 1960's.

A native of Roxbury, he was a Navy veteran of World War II and was a member of the crew of the USS Missouri when the cease fire with Japan was signed on its deck in 1945.

He was a resident of Quincy for 28 years and worked for the Brisk Waterproofing Co. of Needham for the past 27 years. Before that he was a foreman for the Diamond Match Lumber Co. of Roxbury.

He leaves his wife, Patricia A. (Connolly); two sons, Edward M. Jr., and John P., a junior hockey player at Boston College, both of Quincy; a daughter, Mrs. Ann Stevens of Weymouth; a sister, Mrs. Mary E. Rush of Jamaica Plain; and one granddaughter.

Sol Verdun, 71, Former School Teacher

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Temple Beth El for Sol Verdun, 71, who taught for 42 years in several school systems.

Mr. Verdun died at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston after a brief illness.

Born in Russia, he lived 35 years in Quincy before moving to Del Ray Beach, Fla., five years ago.

A 1930 graduate of Harvard College, he taught at schools in Milwaukee, Wisc., Abington, Avon and Newton before retiring in 1974. He was principal of Avon High for eight years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs.

Eleanor (Rappaport) Verdun, two sons, Lawrence of Stoughton and Michael of Trumbull, Conn., a brother, Maurice Verdun of Quincy, a sister, Mrs. Sophie Hurwitz of Brighton and four grandchildren.

Burial was at Sharon Memorial Park.

Louis Della Lucca, 83, Retired Deputy Fire Chief

A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday at St. John's Church for Louis Della Lucca, 83, a retired deputy chief for the Quincy Fire Department.

Mr. Della Lucca died at Quincy City Hospital Saturday after a brief illness.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, he spent 38 years with the fire department until retiring in 1958. He was also a World War I veteran, with the army.

He was a member of the George F. Bryan VFW Post.

Husband of the late Ruth J. (Bertrand) Della Lucca, he is survived by three sons, Donald A. of Harrington, Del., Owen L. and Edwin J., both of Quincy, three daughters, Mrs. Jean R. Barrett of Albuquerque, N.M., Mrs. Lois E. Wlodyska of Beverly and Mrs. Joan Sullivan of Rockland, a sister, Mrs. Brownrigg of Quincy, 11 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Burial was at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals.

Elliot Bowker, 87, Quincy's 'Santa Claus'

Private services were held Tuesday for Elliot Bowker, 87, "Santa Claus" in Quincy's Christmas parade for many years.

Mr. Bowker died Sunday in the Dell Manor Nursing Home in Rockland after a long illness.

Mr. Bowker retired from the New England Merchant's National Bank of Boston in 1952, after 50 years' service, and was also a long-time swimming instructor at the Quincy YMCA.

He was also a member of the Squantum Yacht Club, the Rural Masonic Lodge and Taleb Grotto.

Husband of the late Mrs. Mary (Murphy) Bowker, he is survived by a daughter, Louise Coughlin of Hingham, three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Burial was at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Harry Johnsen, 90, Retired Merchant Marine

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Lydon-Russell Funeral Home for Harry Johnsen, 90, a former member of the Merchant Marines.

Mr. Johnsen, reportedly the oldest man in the state to hold a mastermate and pilots' shipping license, died at his home Sunday.

Born in Bergen, Norway, he went to sea when 15 and spent much of the next 50 years working for several cargo companies on three continents. He retired to Quincy at the age of 65.

Husband of the late Inga M. (Hagberg) Johnsen, he is survived by a sister and several nieces in Norway.

Met At Eventide Home

Bride, 77, Groom, 79, 'Very Excited' At Wedding

Two residents of the William B. Rice Eventide Home were married Saturday at Houghs Neck Congregational Church.

Arthur Anderson, 79, and his bride, the former Mrs. Helen Lord, 77, are believed to be the first residents of the home to marry in its 50-year history.

The pair met at the rest home, at 215 Adams St., Quincy Center, about a year ago.

The couple were attended during the ceremony by the bride's daughter and son-in-law, Grace and Frank Hirlhy of Rochester, N.H.

After the ceremony, the pair visited friends in Connecticut over the weekend and also plan a week-long trip to Pennsylvania Dutch country later this month.

The candlelight ceremony was attended by about 40 persons, mostly relatives and other residents of the home. Louise Drew, also an Eventide resident, was the organist.

The couple was married by Rev. Alicia Corea of Houghs Neck Congregational Church, who described the ceremony as "very enjoyable; it was great."

The bride and groom were "very excited, very exuberant," she added.

Rev. Corea congratulated

Paint John Adams Birthplace White?

The Adams birthplaces have long been known to thousands of visitors and passersby as "the little red cottages."

Their new caretaker, the U.S. National Parks Service, indicates they may be repainted a cream color when the interiors are restored to the way they were in 1807.

But why not white? That's the color John Adams liked.

In fact, just two years before his death, the second President directed that his birthplace be painted white. And, it was.

In the "Memoirs of John Quincy Adams," his son and sixth president, is this diary entry dated Sept. 9, 1824:

"I took a ride of almost three miles with my father in his small carriage, called at Mr. Marston's and rode to the foot of Penn's Hill by the houses where my father and myself were born."

"That of his nativity has within the last year, at his request been painted white."

The diary notation was made just a few months before John Quincy Adams was inaugurated president.

There is no indication what the color of the house was before it was painted white. Nor what the color of the John Quincy Adams cottage was at the time.

No one really knows what color they were when John Adams was born (Oct. 30, 1735) and John Quincy Adams was born (July 11, 1767).

And no one seems to know when the cottages were painted red. But, if the U.S. Parks Service is thinking cream—why not white? John Adams would have liked that.

Although, most people seem to prefer the present bright red.

PRESIDENTIAL HOPEFUL Howard Baker will speak at a

South Shore Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon Aug. 21 at Valle's, Braintree. It'll be interesting to see what kind of a drawing card the Tennessee senator is, compared to Ronald Reagan who spoke at a Chamber breakfast at the Lantana in Randolph in June. Regan packed in some 850 persons—the largest crowd ever for a Chamber function. (It dropped Ted Kennedy to second place in the crowd pulling department.)

The Chamber, incidentally, hopes to have former Texas Gov. John Connally here in October and may later get California Gov. Jerry Brown in its Presidential series.

APPARENTLY A LOT of people not only like to be frightened but frightened again by the same thing. Joe O'Connor reports that the revival of "Jaws" gave the Strand Theater its best week in 10 years. They're living at 57 Holyoke St., North Quincy, just a couple of streets over from where Mike grew up. He and Joanne chartered a 30-foot sailboat out of Newport and sailed to the Cape and islands. Quite appropriate for a wedding trip. They first met at a Sailing Club meeting at U-Mass while students there.

U.S. Stamp Proposed To Hail State Constitution

Mayor Tobin is proposing to the federal government that a commemorative stamp be issued sometime in 1980 in observance of the bicentennial of the Massachusetts Constitution.

The Mass Constitution, forerunner of the U.S. Constitution, was drafted in John Adams' law office in South Quincy in September, 1779, and ratified by voters of the state in June, 1780.

Quincy is celebrating the drafting of the historic document by John and Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin with a gala four-day party Sept. 6-9.

Tobin has sent letters to Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Paul Tsongas and Cong. Brian J. Donnelly asking them to co-sponsor legislation commemorating the Mass Constitution nationally.

"It is the oldest written constitution still in force," said the Mayor, "and historians claim that it provides the legal and moral basis for the federal constitution."

The commemorative stamp is part of Tobin's proposal to the congressional delegation.

He suggested that it feature the painting done by the father of former Gov. Christian A. Herter that hangs in the State House depicting the drafting by Bowdoin and the two Adamses.

"The Constitution was drafted in 1779 and ratified in 1780 so the timing is perfect," said Tobin. "The stamp would give us national recognition."

The Mayor also disclosed that Quincy businessmen and bankers have already subscribed the sum of $12,500 to pay the cost of the half hour fireworks display set for the evening of Sept. 6.

"We are getting a tremendous amount of support from the business and banking community in helping me to fund the celebration," he said. "I must express my grateful appreciation."

Senator Baker To Speak At Chamber Luncheon Aug. 21

Senator Howard H. Baker Jr., of Tennessee, Republican leader of the U.S. Senate and the Republican party's highest ranking elected official, will be the second in a series of Presidential candidates to appear before the South Shore Chamber of Commerce membership Aug. 21 at Valle's, Braintree, for a 12 p.m. luncheon.

Baker was the first Republican ever popularly elected to the Senate from Tennessee and he was re-elected in 1972 and 1978. He was elected Senate Republican Leader in 1977 and was re-elected to that office in 1979 by a unanimous vote of the Senate Republicans. He won national recognition in 1973 as vice chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee and was keynote speaker at the Republican National Convention in 1976.

A long time proponent of reversing the concentration of political power in Washington, Senator Baker played a leading role in securing passage of the original revenue sharing legislation in 1972.

In the Senate, he is the senior Republican on the Committee on Environment and Public Works, and also serves on the Committees on Foreign Relations and Rules and Administration. He is an ex officio member of the Select Committee on Intelligence.

Senator Baker will concentrate his remarks to the Chamber in the area of "SALT II" while he will touch on other national and international issues.

This luncheon will be open only to members with their tickets. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Take Advantage Of Second Opinion On Surgery

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Thousands of Americans face surgery daily, often with fear and with doubts about whether the right step is being taken. No one wants to have surgery unless there is no other satisfactory way to handle a medical problem.

To help eliminate that concern, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has initiated a program to encourage Americans to ask the advice of at least two doctors before deciding to undergo non-emergency surgery.

The Second Opinion program is designed to find possible alternatives to non-emergency surgery with little or no cost to the patient. Medicare will pay 80 percent of the cost of obtaining a second doctor's opinion. Most Medicaid programs will also pay for a second doctor's opinion.

Residents of Massachusetts facing surgery may call 1-800-392-6141; 1-800-922-8380; 1-800-342-3785; or 1-800-332-8545 to obtain the names of physicians in their area who will help them to get a second opinion. A 24-hour nation-wide number, 800-325-6400, is also available.

Second opinions are a long and honored practice in the medical profession. Many physicians seek a second opinion for their patients, and for themselves, prior to surgery.

When non-emergency surgery is recommended, a patient should learn, through a second opinion, the benefits, risks and alternatives to the recommended surgery.

I urge all patients recommended for non-emergency surgery to take advantage of the Second Opinion program by calling one of the above numbers. It could result in a possible alternative and reduced medical costs.

Project IMPACT Getting Youngsters—And Parents—Ready For Kindergarten

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

If the idea of pre-school children attending school in midsummer doesn't seem strange enough, imagine their parents going to school with them.

Neither the parents nor youngsters taking part in the Lincoln Hancock Community School's Project "IMPACT" seemed to mind, though.

The three-week summer program, which gives both parents and kids an idea of what to expect when the child enters kindergarten in September, has been increasingly successful in its four years, according to Mary Jo Riley, director of the community school.

Project IMPACT [Interaction Mixing Parents and Children Together] involved 22 parents and their pre-school children this summer, according to Jeanne Perliss, program leader.

Despite family vacations and the attraction of beaches on the warmer days, attendance averaged between 15 and 20 parent-child teams per day, she added.

"That we can get these kind of numbers is terrific; I'm really impressed," she said.

Also impressed were some of the parents taking part.

"It's an excellent program. I think they should make more parents aware of it," said Eileen To of West Quincy, attending with her son Chuckie.

"I really have learned a lot," said Carol Manganaro of Quincy Center, whose daughter Trina will be attending kindergarten in September. Mrs. Manganaro said she enjoyed meeting and comparing notes with other parents on the problems of raising kids.

In addition there is a social factor, as well.

"We live in an apartment and my daughter doesn't get a chance to meet too many children. I thought it would be a good idea for her to meet some before she goes to school in September," she said. "She's met a lot of children and I've met a lot of really nice parents."

"It's a good program. I came here last year with my other child and decided to come back," said Fagima Sidahmen, whose family moved here seven years ago from Egypt.

The group discussions will cover children's problems in starting school; "how to handle them and what to expect," she said. Mrs. Sidahmen attended the classes with her daughter, Suzanne.

According to Miss Perliss, the average two-hour day went like this:

The parent and child report to the Lincoln Hancock School at nine a.m. and are split into separate groups: the parents to join in a discussion with Miss Perliss and the kids to take part in some learning-playing activity, similar to what they'll be doing in kindergarten.

The parents' discussions covered different aspects of a young child's learning and frequently involved a guest speaker.

For example, typical speakers might discuss speech and language developments, preparing children for learning to read, motor [muscular] development or how children learn. The parents could join in, sharing their own experiences.

During the second half of the daily session, parents and kids join together in some activity that emphasizes the theme of the day's discussion.

For example, on days when the parents discussed their children's coordination development, parents and kids both tried together to use hula hoops and skate boards.

'Too Many Lives Lost'

Morrissey Supports Smoke Detector Bill

A bill requiring the installation of smoke detectors when a dwelling is sold has earned the support of Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) when it reaches the floor of the House.

The bill, filed by Rep. William Keating (D-Sharon), would have the state require installation of detectors only when a dwelling is sold.

The House is also considering legislation which would enable communities to adopt a uniform standard to make detectors mandatory within the town.

"It's important for us in the city of Quincy as well as statewide to establish some kind of regulations for the installation of smoke detectors," Morrissey said.

"Too many lives have been needlessly lost because smoke detectors have not been installed. Smoke detectors have saved lives twice in Quincy alone in the past few weeks."

Morrissey also expressed full support of the smoke detector program proposed by City councillor Joanne Condon. Through a federal grant 400 smoke detectors will be installed for the elderly in the Atlantic section.

"It's time for the state to act," Morrissey said, "before it's really too late."

Army Engineers View Ward 5, 6 Flood Areas

City Councillors Joanne Condon and Stephen J. McGrath toured problem areas of the waterfront in Wards 5 and 6 recently with a representative from the Army Corps of Engineers.

The two councillors, along with Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, have been seeking assistance from the engineers in solving flooding and erosion problems in the two wards.

The Army Corps of Engineers will make a determination in the near future as to whether the areas will be eligible for federal funding to alleviate the problems.

Areas toured included the Strand-Watkins St. area of Ward 5 and the Squantum Causeway area and the Bayside Rd. section of Ward 6.

Representing the Army Corps of Engineers was Joseph J. Miliano.

Craft & Produce Market Opens In North Quincy Aug. 11

The successful Quincy "open air" Craft & Produce Market will be repeated in the North Quincy Business District Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., beginning Aug. 11 through Sept. 8.

Portions of Billings Rd. will be closed to vehicular traffic on Saturdays and transformed into a colorful street market.

Craftspeople from the New England area are invited to participate and local farmers are invited to bring fresh produce to sell.

Sponsoring the market will be the North Quincy Development Corporation and will coincide with the first in a series of streetscape improvements to the business district.

Koch Club Scholarship Fund Over $9,000 Mark

The Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund has exceeded the $9,000 mark announces Richard J. Koch, executive director.

The total was achieved with a donation in memory of Reuben and Lizzie Grossman, checks from the Koch Club Men and Women's Bowling League and individual contributions from Ellen McAdam and Trudy Kimball.

Founded in 1973 on the 25th anniversary of the Koch Club, a $5000 grant was presented to the City of Quincy through the City Council to establish the fund.

The funds were derived from a $3,000 received from the silver jubilee booklet and $1,000 gifts from the North Quincy and Broad Meadows Districts, senior groups of the city-wide four Koch Club geographical districts.

The additional $4,000 has been received from interest and individual gifts presented to the City Treasurer in the past five years.

Persons may make gifts or contributions to the fund by making checks payable to the Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund, c/o Robert E. Foy, City Treasurer, Quincy City Hall, 1305 Hancock Street, Quincy, MA 02169.

In 1998, on the 50th anniversary of the Koch Club, the interest accrued on the principal from the previous year will be used to provide scholarships for graduates of the high schools in the City of Quincy and each succeeding year the procedure will continue guaranteeing that the heritage and tradition of the Koch Club, serving youths, will continue should the organization no longer exist.

The Active Scholarship Fund of the Koch Club started in 1959 and will continue each year with $500 in scholarships awarded to boys and girls graduating from the North and Quincy High Schools and the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Eighty-four hundred dollars has been presented to high school graduates in the past 21 years from Koch Club Scholarships or a grand total of $17,400 presented or reserved for scholarship awards by the organization.

Purpose of the scholarship fund is to impress upon the boys and girls that the Koch Club although primarily engaged in recreational activities recognized the importance of the scholastic ability of students in academic, technical and vocational education and training for their future success and happiness.

18 Central Students Honored At Achievement Breakfast

Members of the Central Junior High School administrative and pupil personnel staff prepared breakfast for 18 of the school's students and the homemaker teacher at the annual Achievement Breakfast held on Flag Day.

The breakfast honored students who served on the Nutrition Council, and Leadership Forum, directed Earlybird Basketball, and cooked and served refreshments at staff gatherings as part of the Earlybird Breakfast Club.

The students included Daniel Johnson, Ashot Gheridian, Michael Guidice, Wesley Paul, John Taglieri, Raymond Mallory, Kate MacDonald, Mary Kate Kennedy, Diane Joseph, Kathy Mulvey, Christine Mulvey, Christine Irvine, Emilie Donlan, Leah Klingenstein, Kevin Arthur, John Keenan, Lisa Welby, and Shiohan Corrigan.

Homemaker teacher Mrs. Lillian Balasalle was a special guest.

Preparing and serving the bacon, eggs, pancakes and coffee cake were Principal Vincent Moscardelli, school nurse Dorothy Raimondi and guidance counselors Carter Caudle, Mary Catherine Iannoni and Joseph Ryan.

TO ALL HOMEOWNERS:
SAVE MONEY WHILE SAVING ENERGY
AT THE SAME TIME.

Today when mortgage rates are so high, many home-owners are looking to improve what they already own. They are also looking for ways to combat sky-rocketing fuel prices at the same time.

If you are looking to insulate or weather-strip your home, or if you want to install energy saving devices such as storm windows and doors, wood stoves, insulated drapes or window quilts, a heatolator for your fireplace, solar panels, water saving devices for your faucets, you qualify for some real savings from us and the Federal Government.

We'd like to help you make these energy saving conversions.

Our Energy Saving Home Improvement Loans are available at 10% per annum which, as you know, is lower than most mortgage rates today. And remember at Income Tax time, an IRS approved energy loan allows 15% Federal Tax Credit up to $300.

The time to act is now before materials and rates become higher than what they'll be in the Fall.

Offspring Top Parents At 32nd Koch Family Picnic

Sons and daughters whipped mothers and fathers at the 32nd annual family picnic of the Koch Club of Quincy held in 90-degree heat at Pageant Field, Merrymount Park.

Some 300 parents and children attended.

The daughters prevailed 5-2 over the mothers in the annual softball clash while the sons topped the fathers 28-25 in a hard hitting baseball encounter.

In the adult egg-throwing contest, Debra Koch and Gary Cunniff were the finalists with a 65-foot throw deciding the winners.

A new activity, the adult race program, proved successful as George Fahey was first in a fathers contest followed by Charles Hughes in second spot.

Lillian Sheehy was tops for the mothers while Karen MacDougall and Kathy Fahey tied for second.

The distance baseball throw for boys was won by Michael McDermott, 5-6 year olds, William MacDougall, 7-8 year olds, Kenneth Kemp, 9-10 year olds and Steven Mackay, 11-12 year olds.

Winners of the distance softball throw for girls included: Mollie Glavin, 5-6 year olds, Christian Drake, 7-8 year olds, Ann Anderlonis, 9-10 year olds and Noreen Connolly, 11-12 year olds.

The winners of the basketball throw, best of five shots, were boys, Stephen Noyes, 7-8-9 year olds and Michael Murphy, 11-12 year olds. The girl winners were Melanie Kovalski, 7-8-9 year olds and Ann Anderlonis, 10-11-12 year olds.

Winners of the boys and girls races were: Under 5 years old -- First, Regina Murphy, second, Kim Moore and third, Michael MacDougall; 5 and 6 year olds -- first, Ronald Last, second, Mollie Glavin and third, John Fahey; 7 and 8 year olds -- tied for first were Karen Cashman and Dairde Murphy, second, Christopher Linsky and third, Joseph Anshewitz; 9 and 10 year olds -- first, Sean Hunter and second, Paula Operach; 11 and 12 year olds -- first, Chris McAluff and second, Kelly Pratt.

Lunch will be provided, and entertainment is planned for the afternoon along with the presentation of awards.

Bert Eckblom Presented Rotary Club Award

Bert Eckblom of Braintree, president of President Press, South Quincy, was named a Paul Harris Fellow at a recent meeting of the Quincy Rotary Club at the Neighborhood Club.

The award is made annually to a Rotary Club which has donated $1,000 to the Rotary International Fund. The fund supports Rotary Foundation which is the world's second largest organization in the distribution of student scholarships and grants. The award is named for Paul Harris, founder of Rotary.

Quincy Rotary this year named Eckblom as recipient for the club. He has been a member of Rotary since June, 1942, and served as club president in 1969-70.

Presentation of the award was made by George Sagean, Will Davis, Ken Fallon Jr., and Dr. Bill Ridder.

Also attending the luncheon were Eckblom's wife, Gladys, his sons, Russell Eckblom and Jay Eckblom, both of Braintree, and a daughter, Mrs. Lois White of Centerville.

Other members of the family at the luncheon were, Walter Eckblom, a brother, and three sisters-in-law, Mrs. Ella McKinnop of Hull; Mrs. Evelyn Tribou, Mrs. Mildred Grant and Mrs. Majdis Flynn, all of Weymouth.

Sullivan Wants Residents

6 Teachers Appointed By Quincy School Committee

It took two votes by the school committee at its last meeting to approve appointment of six teachers after school committeeman John J. Sullivan balked at voting for non-residential candidates.

Sullivan has consistently insisted on appointment of Quincy residents to any vacancies in the school system. School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon assured him that the appointees are the most qualified for the posts now open, regardless of their residency. He pointed out that the appointees have specialized areas of teaching.

On the first vote the committee approved appointment of Linda B. Doherty of Brook St., Wollaston, as a teacher for emotional growth and development at the Willard School; Paulette Johnson of Hilltop St., West Quincy, teacher of foreign language at North Quincy High School; and Paul E. Dunford of Narragansett Rd., Merrymount, teacher of technical drawing at Quincy High School. The latter two are for a half-year.

Committee member Mary Collins then moved approval of appointment of the other three candidates for one year. The motion was approved by five members of the board with Sullivan voting present.

Teachers approved by the committee on the second vote are: Anna M. Barinella of Adams St., Arlington, a foreign language teacher at North Quincy High School; Robin R. Billing of Parker St., Norwell, a special needs teacher, assigned to Willard School; and Edith H. Propp of Hyde St., Newton, a reading teacher at Central Junior High School.

At the same meeting the committee tabled the pending appointment of five non-residential custodial employees whose names were given to the school department by the civil service commission.

Zone 6 Race Question Mark

The American Legion Zone 6 champion race is still up in the air as a result of two Morrisette defeats during the past week.

Morrisette had to defeat Braintree Tuesday night to tie Weymouth for first place, necessitating a playoff game for the zone title.

A loss Tuesday for Morrisette would give Weymouth its second straight zone crown.

Braintree won the Zone 6B title and a best of three playoff series between Braintree and Weymouth or Morrisette would decide which team would enter the state playoffs.

Morrisette was shut out by Milton's Greg Burdett, 3-0, Sunday, despite another fine performance by pitcher Gary Earle, who suffered his first loss of the season.

Both pitchers allowed only four hits and Earle struck out 11 to six for Burdett, but errors hurt Earle's cause as they had a hand in all Milton's runs.

Bob Biagini had two hits for Morrisette including a leadoff triple in the third but he, like Billy Deitsch, who led off the sixth with a double, was left stranded.

Earlier in the week Morrisette had pounded Weymouth by a surprising 14-5 score with Earle going all the way for the win, striking out five.

Morrisette scored seven runs in each of the third and fifth innings. Dave King went three for four including a home run and Earle also had three hits including two doubles and drove in two runs.

In its previous game Morrisette's chances were handed a severe jolt when it was shocked by Holbrook, 3-0, having only one hit. John Keaney and Ray Coscia pitched well in defeat.

Braintree handed Quincy a 14-8 setback, scoring 12 runs in the opening inning.

Quincy took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first and, after Braintree's explosion, added four runs in the second and two in the fifth but they were far too little.

SPLASHING A REMINDER that the Muscular Dystrophy Swim-a-thon will be held tonight (Thursday) from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. are Terry McLaney, Nancy Myers and Kathy Mann, Misses Quincy Bay of 1977, 1979 and 1978 respectively.

At Lincoln Hancock Pool

Muscular Dystrophy Swim-a-thon Thursday

Entries for the Swim-a-thon for Muscular Dystrophy from 5:30 to 9:30 tonight (Thursday) at the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Pool will be accepted up until the event starts.

The swim-a-thon is being sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee and the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Council, in cooperation with the Quincy Recreation Department.

Each entrant is to obtain sponsors who will pledge an amount of money per lap he or she swims. A lap is one length of the pool and is equal to 25 yards. There is a 200-lap limit for all swimmers as well as a 90-minute time limit.

Sponsor pledge forms are available at Quincy city playgrounds and beaches, the Lincoln Hancock pool at 300 Granite St., Summer Scene offices at the Merrymount School, Atlantic and Sterling Junior High Schools and The Quincy Sun, 1372 Hancock St.

Each swimmer should bring his or her sponsor form upon reporting to the pool tonight. The swimmer can start any time from 5:30 to 9:30.

Jerry Lewis wrist watches will be given to the boy and girl turning in the most pledge money. Jerry Lewis T-shirts will be given to everyone turning in $25 or more in pledge money and every participant who turns in pledge money will receive a citation of merit from the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The deadline for turning in pledge money is Friday, Aug. 24. Members of the Muscular Dystrophy Swim-a-thon Committee are Chairman Charles Alongi Jr., Director Recreation Department; Barry Welch, also of the Recreation Department; Kathleen Mann of Quincy, Miss Quincy Bay of 1978.

Terry McLaney of Weymouth, Miss Quincy Bay of 1977, and Winnie Burchell, Beverly Goodwin, Edith Ruta, Jeannie Giagrande and Joanne Vacca, representatives of the Lincoln Hancock Community School Council.

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Notes from the City Recreation Departments' summer swimming instruction stations.

AVALON BEACH: The non-swimmers are rolling along with over half the class able to do the back float. Leading the way is Jimmy Surgne who set a record with a 28-second float. Dean Morris and Peter Curley have mastered the crawl stroke in the beginners class. New comers Jennifer Pallucio and brothers Derek and David Page showed a lot of improvement during the week. In advanced beginners Vincent Mood and James McLarron have mastered the crawl stroke.

BAKER BEACH: A total of 67 youngsters have registered for lessons so far at Baker. William Chu, Randy Chu, Dougie and Ben Johnson have all progressed to floating on their backs. Dawn Lasse has learned to do the back stroke, while her sister Sherree has advanced to the prone float level. Jeanne Kelly has completed her first step in the advanced life saving class, while Cathy Megnia is one step from her life saving certificate.

BAYFIELD BEACH: James Tiberio and Laurie Lundtry have perfected their crawl stroke while Barbara Korzenowski, Christine Kane and Michael Douglas have worked overtime on their beginners skills. Andrea Gelsomini, Mary Fahy and Donna Gelsomini have been chosen junior leaders. They have been of great assistance to the recreation staff. Intermediate swimmers Kim McAlduff and Kevin Flaherty have both mastered the side stroke with the back crawl stroke their next step.

EDGEWATER BEACH: Keith Norris passed non-swimmers with a lot of hard work and practice. Irene Garneau has advanced to the swimmer level. Timothy McCarthy and John Evans have been progressing all summer and are now entering advanced life saving.

ELM AVE. BEACH: Deborah Lyman has floated her way into the beginner class while Erin Bellefontaine and Nicole Tiro are two of the best kickers in beginners. Advanced beginners Mark Kelleher and Steve Benner both did their crawl stroke with rhythmic breathing 10 times which brought them one step closer to moving up a class. Sarah Edwards and Dedra Murphy have moved up to intermediate and are now perfecting their breast stroke.

FENNO ST. BEACH: Five youngsters passed into beginners during the week including James Blyth, Kenny Calwesi, Alison Morash, Ken Arnott and Irene Lutts. Non-swimmers are working hard to perform the prone float as well as the back float. Included in non-swimmers are Cheryl Devin, Dennis Ruggere, Bryan Sears, Peter Crosby and Cynthia Ruggere. Beginners Tracey Nickerson, Robert Papagno and Eric Lutts are concentrating on performing the crawl correctly while Robert Kualnes and Barbara Kualnes have mastered swimming a crawl with breathing.

ADAMS SHORE BEACH: All the members of the beach are practicing for the upcoming Muscular Dystrophy benefit swim-a-thon. Suzanne Shea, Linda Flaherty and Annemarie Shea are only a few of the kids who will be swimming for Jerry's kids. Intermediates Leanne Holbrook, Donna Lynch, Cheryl Malvesti and Mary Thorton have all been progressing and should be moving up a class soon.

MOUND BEACH: In beginners class Carrie Carney, Kevin Littlewood, Paula Peccrone, Laura Tully and Kristan Thibodeau have passed the back float and finning and sculling. Tricia Hunter and Bobby Pitts are in training for the intermediate test. Jimmy and Brian Abdallah, Nicki Kardoose and Ricky Noman are also working hard in the advanced beginners class. Twenty members have signed up to participate in the M.D.A. Swim-A-Thon, with practice sessions being held daily.

NICKERSON BEACH: A mother's swim class with over 25 registered has begun. All the mothers have been making great progress, mastering the side stroke, the elementary backstroke and the breaststroke. The non-swimmers class headed by Michael McDonald, Greg Gale, and Bridget Dixon have also been progressing right along. Kristen Reister and Loribeth Olgive came in for special praise for the determination and hard work they have shown.

ORCHARD BEACH: Beginner Scott Kemp mastered the arm stroke while advance beginner Greg Sullivan is working hard to achieve the intermediate level. The basic rescue and water safety class led by Junior Leader Billy Doherty visited The Lincoln Hancock Pool to practice what had been taught this summer.

PERRY BEACH: The non-swimmers class has seven members with perfect attendance, they are Mark Larson, Darlene Magee, Andy DiBona, John Anthony Cronin, Lauren Keith, Jane Compton and Kerrin Barry. The advance beginners are really moving along, Jackie Mina, Maureen Burgess, and Karen and Julie Damiano have all proved to be great swimmers and will soon pass on to the intermediate level.

ROCK ISLAND BEACH: The non-swimmers class which includes Susan MacKay, Kerry Wysocki, Kristin Holliday and Tricia and Greg Bentley are all learning to float on their backs. The large beginners class includes Bobby and Hank Miller, Chris Bentley, Debbie and Karen Brown, Jason MacKay, Kristin Short and Ginty Logan. Kristin Hardy, David MacLean and Brenda Logan are members of the swimmers class and are swimming long distances each day to strengthen their abilities.

SNUG HARBOR: Aldon Streker and Anne Ferrerio have mastered all the skills required in the beginner level and have moved on to advanced beginner. Timmy Frabracco has demonstrated the skill of under water swimming while Brenda McCarthy has passed onto the intermediate class.

Best Exercise For Mr. Chub

What's the best exercise for a fat man? You say, "Pushing away from the table." Well, don't believe that old saw. According to the President's Council on Physical Fitness, the best exercise for weight reduction of the plain old, grunt-and-groan kind, And that's the modern fat American's tragedy - he's concentrating on calories and forgetting about exercising. And this lack of exercise is considered the most important cause of "creeping obesity" found in modern mechanized societies.

Few occupations, says the Council, now require vigorous physical activity. And as for Americans who exercise in their spare time, most do too little, too late. Authorities point out that adding 30 minutes per day of moderate exercise to one's schedule can result in a loss of about 25 pounds a year - assuming food intake remains the same.

Remick's Wins Title

Remick's, second place finisher in the American League, won the Quincy Junior League championship with a 10-4 win over Houghs Neck Legion's National League champion. It was the fourth straight playoff win for Remick's.

Earlier Remick's had eliminated Keohane's, 4-3, as Bunker pitched a three-hitter, had three hits and scored three runs. John McGlame, Jim Mayo and Greg McGlame had doubles.

Steve Higgins was the winning pitcher and finished 11-1. He also doubled and tripled. Chris Bunker, who had a fantastic season, finished up with a home run, triple and double. Chris Rossi had two hits and Tom Ryan, John McGlame and Matt Hanley had key hits. Higgins and Bunker combined for a 20-2 pitching record.

'Hot Shot'

Contest Opens

The Quincy Recreation Department will again sponsor Pepsi-Cola's N.B.A. "Hot Shot" program on city playgrounds.

The contest, beginning Aug. 2, calls for competitors to score as many points as possible in a one-minute period, shooting from "hot spots" marked on the court. It is open for boys and girls from 9 to 18.

Prizes and awards will include Hot Shot patches, certificates and, for winners of the later rounds, trips to N.B.A. cities.

The program is conducted in co-operation with the Boston Celtics and Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Milton. Further information can be obtained by visiting one of the city's 32 playgrounds.

● Babe Ruth League

HN Wins 13th As O'Connor Hurls 1-Hitter

Houghs Neck Legion defeated Golden Print, 4-2, Monday night in the Babe Ruth League playoffs after eliminating the Firemen Sunday, 9-8, in 13 innings.

In Sunday's game from O'Connor pitched a one-hitter as HN won its 13th game in a row. He struck out five and also walked five. Golden had a 2-0 lead going into the bottom of the fifth inning, one run scoring on an error and the other on John Balzano's single. HN came back with its four runs in the bottom of the fourth on walks to Dale Adams and Steve Sacchetti, a double by Dan Dunn and singles by Ross Connelly, Scott Matthews and the game winner by O'Connor. Golden's only hit was a bloop single into left field that bounced off the shortstop's glove.

Sunday's game was one of the most exciting of the year. It was the first playoff game for HN, the American League champion and it was the second loss for the Firemen, who had lost to Golden, 16-0, and eliminated them from the playoffs.

The Firemen opened with three runs in the first on an error, a single by Dan Eames, a double by Glenn Oriola and a single by Frank McPartin. HN came back to tie it in the third on a single by Marty McLoughlin, an error and RBI singles by Connelly and O'Connor.

The Firemen added two in the third on singles by Brian Gibbons and Oriola, an error and two walks. HN again tied it in the fifth on singles by Connelly, O'Connor, Dunn and Dwayne Wilcoxen. Again the firemen took a three-run lead in the bottom of the fifth on hits by Tom Scolari, Dan Pearson and Paul Durante and three errors.

HN tied it with three in the seventh on hits by Scott Matthews and Dunn and three more errors.

The winning run in the 13th scored on a single by McLoughlin, two stolen bases and a 10-foot passed ball. Joe Conti, a 13-year older, came on to pitch in the bottom of the inning with two ones and one out, retired one batter on a fly ball and struck out the final batter to get the save.

McLoughlin pitched 10 innings, giving up only three unearned runs and six hits, walked six and struck out eight.

In National League playoff games Morrisette defeated the Police and The Sons of Italy topped Morrisette. Morrisette and Police had finished in a top tie in the National League and Police won the playoff, 10-9.

A six year rivalry exists between the two teams in independent action, with the record tied at three wins and three losses each.

All proceeds will go to the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis

Telethon for Muscular Dystrophy research, education, and patient service.

Tickets are $1 and may be purchased from any of the following committee members. Richard J. Koch Jr., David Koch, Steven Koch and any of the Koch Club Softball Team members, while James Cocce, Albert Mancuso and Paul Koch are heading up the DuBurgue Packing Team Ticket Committee.

Tickets may also be purchased at the gate.

● Triple A League

White Sox Sweep 3 From Pirates For Title

The White Sox swept the Pirates in three games to win the Triple A Baseball League championship. The White Sox, managed by Bob Maimaron and assistant Joe Gibbons, had won the American League title and the Pirates, managed by Wayne Elmore and assistant Joe Macedo, were the National League champs.

In the deciding game Monday, the White Sox slaughtered the Pirates, 20-0, as Pat Faherty pitched a no-hitter, struck out 12 and walked only one. For the White Sox Kevin Golden had three doubles and a triple, Joe Ciardi two doubles, Steve Walker, Faherty, Mike Huygo, Eddie O'Brien and George Smart two singles apiece. Pat Mulken a double and single and Brian Morris and Rickie Fitzpatrick a single each. For the Pirates Pat Hennessy was outstanding at shortstop and behind the plate.

In the second game Sunday the White Sox won, 4-1, with Smart and Ciardi combining to strike out 10. Walker had a single and double, and was outstanding at shortstop, Ciardi had a double and Golden, Huygo, Brian Morris and Smart had a single each. For the Pirates Hennessy had a home run and Tommy Elmore sparked it at third base.

The White Sox had won the opener, 10-1, with Faherty striking out eight and losing pitcher Elmore seven.

Ciardi and Smart had two doubles each, Walker and Faherty each had a double and single, Huygo and Joe Riley had doubles, Golden a single and Walker scored four runs. For the Pirates John Roney had a double and single and Billy Doyle three singles.

● HN Women's Softball

Castaways, Bunnies Neckers Winners

The Castaways defeated the Hustlers, 19-11, in the Houghs Neck Women's Softball League and the game ball was given to Donna O'Hare, the Castaways' third baseman, who underwent surgery the day of the game.

Karen Leuchte pitched well for the Castaways in her first pitching appearance, and Jayne Reynolds hit a grand slam homer in the first inning. Kit Smith hit a home run for the Hustlers. Kathy Scheurch doubled and catcher June Farrand made a brilliant catch. Sandy O'Hare was the winning pitcher.

The Good News Bunnies walloped the Sea Gals, 17-3, with Jean McKay the winning pitcher. Monica Gamache and Tracy Gray were the hitting stars. For the Sea Gals Barbara LaBel scored a run, Dot Morgan excelled at first base and Paula Monroe played well at shortstop.

The Castaways outslugged the Sea Gals, 25-18, with June

Brundle pitching well until the fifth inning when she broke a finger and was replaced by Sandy O'Hare. Jayne Reynolds hit a home run and drove in three runs and Donna O'Hare and Karen Leuchte had doubles. For the Sea Gals Marisa D'Angelo went three for three and played well behind the plate. Cathy Bask sparked defensively. Nancy Matthew played well in right field and Madelyn Knopf went three for three.

The Neckers topped the Steamers, 12-9, coming from behind. The Neckers scored three runs in the first on singles by Lee Macedo, Bobby Casey and Claire Sullivan but the Steamers scored five in their half of the inning on home runs by Joan Cameron and Mal Morrell and a triple by Joan Witham. They picked up two more in the second. The Neckers went scoreless until the sixth, exploding for five runs on singles. They added four in the seventh.

The Steamers scored two in the seventh but the rally was halted by two fine catches by Claire McCloskey.

The Broad Squad defeated the Foxy Fillies, 15-7, with Nancy McArdle the winning pitcher. Barbara Boushy had a two-run double in the second inning. Clare Barrett and Laura O'Rourke each went four for four and Chris Noren hit a three-run homer. For the Fillies Lois Craig and Margo Acciavatti went two for three and Sheila Chenette caught an excellent game.

The Castaways romped over the Bunnies, 28-6, with June Brundle the winning pitcher. Jackie Gardner drove in two runs in the third inning. Ruthie Galligan had a home run and Diane Maher played strong defensive game for the Bunnies. For the Castaways Linda Mortimer played well at second base. Gabe Hanley scored twice and Jayne Reynolds had a three-run homer.

● Girls CYO Softball

St. Joseph's C Team Wins Second Title In Row

St. Joseph's Girls CYO softball team clinched the league championship by trampling St. Joseph's D team, 26-2, and, with a 15-1 record, is looking forward to the Archdiocesan tournament.

It is the team's second straight league title. St. Joseph's C pounded out 30 hits to support Mary Travers' five-hit pitching and Janice LaFleur went six for six including two home runs. Janice and Jackie Glavin went four for five each with Jackie contributing a triple. Every player had a hit with Mary Travers, Lisa Charamonte, Joyce McLoughlin, Mary Thibodeau and Margaret McBride having two each.

St. Joseph's B team topped St. Mary's of Hull, 14-11, although outhit, 13-6, for its 12th win.

Karan Corliss won her 12th game. Pattie McBride had two hits and played well in the infield. Janice Sullivan, playing her first game at third base, made some outstanding plays and Carla DiTullio, Beth Fitzgerald, Rosanne DiPietro and Corliss all had hits.

Harold Says Quincy Should Get $1,597,366 More

Sen. Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) figures Quincy should receive an additional $1,597,366 in state aid under the proposed distribution of $166 million additional funds.

That is the equivalent of a $6.39 reduction in the tax rate, Harold said.

The funds, which have the tentative approval of the Senate and House Ways and Means Committees, would be distributed according to the Lottery and Chapter 70 School Aid formulas.

Harold said he is hopeful that the tentative agreement will be finalized shortly so that local governments can set their tax rates and avoid unnecessary borrowing in anticipation of revenues.

"Hopefully, there will be no further delays for local governments, which we first disrupted with delays in the Tax Cap system, and now have left in the dark on how they will receive the increased state aid promised them before they set their budgets," Harold said.

He noted that borrowing in anticipation of revenues by local communities could wipe out any benefits gained by the increased state aid if the final figures are played too long.

Communities cannot set their tax rates until they know the amount and form of their state aid, and cannot end temporary borrowing in anticipation of funds until after the tax rate is set.

Two New Stores Seen For Downtown Area

Location of one, possibly two, new retail stores in now vacant buildings in downtown Quincy

No Parking Enforcement

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond has asked the Police Department for strict enforcement of the new "No Parking—Tow Zone" signs on Mary St., Quincy Point.

will be announced in about two weeks, Mayor Tobin confirmed Tuesday.

The Traffic Commission recently approved Raymond's request for the signs on the easterly side of Mary St. in order to clear the area for emergency vehicles.

"We feel that both of these happenings will be a tremendous shot in the arm to downtown Quincy," he said.

The Mayor declined to say what buildings the new store or stores would occupy but he added that about a half million dollars would be spent to renovate and beautify them.

One of the stores is "definite," he said, while the other is still in the negotiations stage. One would occupy 15,000 square feet of space, the other 30,000.

"Heretofore development in downtown Quincy has been office space," said Tobin. "These are two retail businesses."

One of the proposed retail outlets, it was learned, deals in the sale of name brand merchandise at reduced prices.

New Store Coming .

$800,000 Renovation Planned

At Old Gilchrist's Store

Grossman Properties is planning to float a commercial revenue bond, possibly the first in the state, to finance an $800,000 renovation of the old Gilchrist Building in the Ross Parkingway.

After the renovation, said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, some 15,000 square feet of space in the building will be occupied by a "reputable merchandizing company," the name of which will be announced next week.

Acting Planning Director

James Lydon explained that under state-approved commercial revenue bonds the borrower gets a preferred rate of interest.

"The bank does not have to pay taxes on the interest so that's how it can give a preferred rate to the customer," he said.

Tobin said the new firm will occupy part of the Gilchrist building along with Garland Corp., which opened a branch store in the building last December.

"There's a third company that we will be talking to after that," said the Mayor.

He added that he was told by the State Department of Public Works this week that the 25 per cent review of the Burgin Parkway Extension has been completed on schedule and is ready to go into public hearings.

The schedule calls for the first construction contracts to be let next December and the whole project to be completed in the spring of 1982.

Navy Impressed

GD Hopeful For Future LNG Work

By TOM HENSHAW

It was an impressive display of political and economic clout but whether it really impressed its intended target, the U.S. Navy, was left open to question.

High Navy officials toured the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard Monday, under close political and economic escort, but the most encouraging word came from General Dynamics itself.

"They are very hopeful about future LNG work," said Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, following a high level 45-minute conference at the Yard. "It's the first time I've heard them so hopeful."

Donnelly said General Dynamics expects a sharp drop in employment at the Yard next summer when the last of 10 LNG (liquefied natural gas) tankers is completed.

"But then in 1981," he said, "they're going up with LNG work. Their argument to the Navy was that they needed something to carry them over. They were saying, 'Get us through the next two years and we'll take care of it on our own.'"

"That was the most hopeful sign of the day."

"I was frankly surprised that they were so optimistic. It's good for us because it shows that GD has some sort of commitment."

They'll try to keep the place open by hook or by crook if they see a profit-making venture two years down the road."

Touring politicians included. Donnelly, Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Paul Tsongas, Gov. Edward J. King, Mayor Arthur H. Tobin and representatives of Cong. Gerry E. Studds, Joseph Moakley and Margaret M. Heckler.

On the economic side were the General Dynamics trio of David S. Lewis, chief executive officer; P. Takis Veliotis, vice president; and Joseph H. Lennox, general manager of the Quincy Yard; plus Thomas E. Curtis and Ronald E. Zooleck of the Chamber of Commerce.

The objects of all these attentions were acting Navy Secretary R. James Woolsey and Rear Adm. Francis Manganaro of the Naval Sea Systems Command.

Mayor Tobin, who also attended the closed session with the Navy officials said that

LaRaia Entry Livens City Election

Former Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia's last minute entry into the race for one of the three at large seats on the City Council has injected some life into an otherwise dull city election.

There will be a preliminary election Sept. 11 but there will be only one race on the ballot and that one is not guaranteed to stir much interest among the voters.

It will pit Mayor Arthur H. Tobin against Abe M. Ikin of 176 Presidents Lane, Quincy Center, and Michael Jovanovic of 62 Town Hill St., West Quincy.

Ikin is a hospital social worker who ran as a write-in candidate for governor in 1978 and Jovanovic is a college professor who got 211 votes in a previous bid for Mayor in 1975.

City Clerk Gillis estimated it will cost the city about $35,000 to conduct the preliminary election for a single office.

He said it was the first time in his memory that there would be no preliminary elections in any of the ward fights. There will be none for councillor at large or the school committee, either.

There was no preliminary election at all back in 1940, when

Out Of Court Settlement

Weymouth Man Shot At MBTA Station Wins Reported $235,000

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

A Weymouth man shot by a Quincy policeman at the Quincy Center MBTA station in 1974, has settled his suit out of court for a reported $235,000.

"The matter has been resolved," said Joseph F. Killion of Quincy, attorney for Gary F. Evans, of 43 Bicknell St., Weymouth.

Sources have placed the settlement at $235,000 but Killion said he could not discuss the figures involved.

"I'm sure there will be rumor and innuendo, but I can't disclose the terms. My client has asked me not to discuss the settlement," he said.

Evans, 28, has been a paraplegic paralyzed from the chest down since the May 10, 1974 incident, according to Killion.

Killion and Evans had named policeman Ronald H. Hegblood, of 73 Tremont St., Boston in the $10 million suit against the city, filed in Boston's U.S. District Court.

According to Killion, Evans was leaving the MBTA station on the night of May 10, 1974 but did not deposit his quarter and jumped over the turnstile instead. He was then confronted by Hegblood, the two men argued and Evans broke free, Killion said. Evans was shot in the back by the policeman while

DeAngelo, Lumaghini Withdraw From Races

Two prospective candidates for the fall election, one who had announced his candidacy and one who didn't, this week announced that they aren't going to run after all.

Michael DeAngelo, 19, of 279 Newport Ave., Wollaston, who earlier announced for Mayor, said he decided over the weekend not to run even though he had obtained the required 50 signatures.

Rene Lumaghini Jr., of 79 Woodcliff Rd., West Quincy, who never did get around to announcing for city councillor at large, said he was withdrawing from that race for family reasons.

He and his wife, Marie, are expecting their first child in January.

"I am very eager to run for public office and serve the people of Quincy, however, the needs of my wife and my new family require a fulltime commitment," he said.

"I will continue to remain active and involved in the issues and concerns affecting our city and I look forward to an opportunity for public service in the future."

Coliform Count Shows:

Water Quality At City Beaches 'Very Good'

Richard J. Koch, executive secretary to the Park-Recreation Board, announces the bacteriological quality of city beaches throughout July was very good.

The Quincy Health Department provided the Park Department a weekly account of testing at the 13 beaches where swimming instructions are conducted by the Recreation Department. In 65 samples taken in the four week period, the 1,000 coliform count was recorded only four times and the remaining 61 counts were all good to excellent in quality.

Starting in 1970 and in each succeeding year, Koch said, the water quality has improved continually and has been good for the past several years. Extensive use of the salt water natural swimming beaches during the lengthy spell of humid weather has not affected the excellent water quality, he said.

According to the State Department of Public Health, the bacteriological quality of bathing beach waters indicates that sewerage or other hazardous substances are being discharged into the bathing areas and swimming areas or that high bathing density has created a condition which is or may be dangerous to the public health. A coliform count of over 1,000 per 100 millimeter is considered as a guide requiring additional investigation, survey or special analysis necessary.

Chlorination of street drains emptying into the beach areas, elimination of the Moon Island sewerage treatment plant and chlorination of the general beach area have all attributed to the reduction of water pollution during the bathing period since the 1970 season, Koch said.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health reduced the coliform count from 1,500 that was allowable in 1968 to 1,000 allowable in 1969. This action results in greater protection to the swimmers.

Koch also announced that a total of 810 cubic yards of beach sand costing $3,402 was purchased by the Park Department and spread at 10 city beaches.

The lowest bidder of sand for the 1979 season was C. P. Gardiner Company of Quincy at $4.20 per cubic yard, an increase of $1.40 over last year's price of $2.80 or a 50 per cent increase.

The city beaches receiving the greatest amounts of sand includes: Avalon Beach in Quincy Point, 252 cubic yards; Perry Beach on Parkhurst St., Houghs Neck, 162 cubic yards; Orchard Beach, 36 cubic yards and Nickerson Beach, 54 cubic yards, both located in Squantum and Baker beach, Germantown, 180 cubic yards.

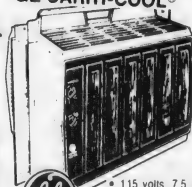

Each of the other locations required less than 100 yards. Mound St. Beach in Quincy Point and Rocky Beach, Germantown, required very little sand due to recent major renovations, Koch said.

POLITICAL CLOUD of Quincy and the South Shore is put on display for the benefit of the Navy Department during a tour of General Dynamics Quincy shipyard in support of government contracts. Lewis, chief executive officer of General Dynamics; Thomas E. Curtis, president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce; and Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

GD Hopeful For More LNG Contracts

Woolsey appeared to be impressed by two points advanced by Sen. Tsongas and by James McLaughlin, secretary-treasurer of the State AFL-CIO.

Tsongas explained to the Navy secretary that if the Yard has no work between LNG contracts the workforce will scatter.

"If you have a skilled labor market with a track record and they are very competitive within the private sector, would it not behoove the U.S. government to step in during that dip period to keep the Yard in full force?" Tsongas asked.

"The secretary thought that was an impressive argument," said Tobin.

McLaughlin pointed out to Woolsey that, while there are only 5,000 employees at the Yard, such companies as General Electric in Lynn, where engines are made, and other subsidiaries employing upwards of 25,000 would be affected by the closing of the Yard.

"The secretary thought that was a good argument, too," said Tobin.

But, the Mayor hastened to add, Woolsey was "not the least bit optimistic."

"He made it quite a strenuous point that no one should leave that meeting and misinterpret anything he had to say," Tobin said. "But he was very impressed with those two arguments."

Donnelly said they also talked to Woolsey about the possibility of opening up the second of the so-called Aegis destroyers, the DDG-48, to competitive bidding, which would include the Quincy Yard. The first will be built at the Litton Shipyard in Pascagoula, Miss.

"Up until this point," said Donnelly, "the Navy has been saying they will only go to a second shipyard in 1983 when they are projected to build three Aegis destroyers a year."

"Now they're saying they may go to competitive bidding when they're building two a year, which would be 1981 and 1982. They're still holding strong that the second ship will go to Litton."

"We talked about allowing us to compete for the DDG-48 and the Secretary of the Navy said he'd look into it but it doesn't look good at this point."

Donnelly said the discussion also revolved around the possibility of allowing the Quincy Yard to do nuclear submarine repair work.

"There was no firm commitment on that, either, only that they would look into it," he said.

Donnelly conceded that the tour of the Yard, and particularly Sen. Kennedy's role in the visit, was a media event.

"Obviously, President Carter's political advisors in this state -- if he has any -- are going to take notice of it," he said.

"It would be a good move for Carter to throw a ship our way but I don't know if they have the ability down in Washington to read political situations and understand what this all means."

"There is the possibility of people being out of work because of a lack of interest on the part of one of the President's agencies and by the time he comes here looking for votes it's going to be too late for him."

"They're just going to have to understand that if the yard goes down somebody is going to have to pay the price."

Shortly after he returned from the tour of the Yard, Donnelly received a telephone call from the politically sensitive Washington Post. The caller wanted him to assess the affect of the Shipyard's troubles on Carter's bid for re-election.

"If he loses the Massachusetts primary, he loses the White House," Donnelly told the Washington Post.

Energy Audit

City department heads and their energy conservation coordinators will meet with Energy Conservation director Richard J. Koch Thursday, Aug. 16, at 8:30 a.m. in the Park and Recreation Complex to discuss preliminary energy audit forms.

The forms, which are prepared by the State Energy Office for municipal use, were made available to the School and Hospital Departments this week from Robert Traknis, program manager for the Quincy Energy Office.

The preliminary energy audit is the first step in a three-phase process to determine the energy conservation potential of each building and complex. This is a rudimentary form which can be completed by each city department's energy conservation coordinator and forwarded to the state.

The second step is a more detailed energy audit requiring the consultation of a professional energy engineer which targets

'Vial Of Life' Campaign Underway During August

A drive for plastic vials for the Quincy Council on Aging's and Quincy Lodge of Elks' "Vial of Life" program will be conducted during the month of August.

Mrs. Marion Andrews, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging, announced receptacles to collect the vials are being placed at the various senior citizen housing units including: Tobin Towers, Pagnano Towers, Oceanview, Sawyer Towers, Granite Place, 1000 Southern Artery, Wollaston Manor, Fenno House and the senior citizen luncheon site at the Atlantic United Methodist Church.

The "Vial of Life" program is being co-sponsored by the Quincy Lodge of Elks and the Quincy Council on Aging. Goal of the program is to register all senior citizens and handicapped persons in the city. Each will be required to fill out a form recording pertinent information concerning diseases, medication, allergies etc. which will be placed in a plastic vial which in turn will be located in an easily accessible place such as a refrigerator or medicine cabinet so in the event of an emergency this important data will be available.

It is hoped that the enrollment will be underway after Labor Day.

Mrs. Andrews has expressed appreciation to those senior citizen clubs and individuals who have already donated to the program. Further information may be obtained by calling the Quincy Council on Aging office at 1 Cliveden Street.

Historic Commission To Act On Signs

The Quincy Historic Commission will meet Monday, Aug. 13 in the conference room at 55 Sea St., at 7:30 p.m.

The following proposed property changes will be discussed:

- A walk-up teller sign at the corner of Hancock St. and Russell Park, for the Quincy Savings Bank.

- A sign for Lobo Boutique, 12 Maple St.

The commission will also hear any other new business which it may legally consider.

MPA Scholarships Awarded Daughters Of Two Quincy Officers

Daughters of two Quincy police officers were awarded $600 scholarships by the Massachusetts Police Association at a dinner held recently at Cottage Crest Restaurant, Waltham.

Recipients of the awards are Lori J. Laracy, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Richard Laracy of Quincy, and Bernadette Mitchell, daughter of Quincy Patrolman and Mrs. Maurice Mitchell of Randolph.

The scholarships are presented to the children of police officers who are entering college in the fall. The South Shore girls were chosen from the eastern Massachusetts region. Students from four other regions throughout the state also received awards.

Lori Laracy is a graduate of Quincy High School. She was a cheer leader and a member of the Future Nurses Club in high school. This fall she will enter Salem State College to major in nursing.

Bernadette Mitchell, a graduate of Randolph High School, was a member of the track team. She will enter Providence College and will major in political science.

Your Dental Health

by Daniel P. Sweeney D.D.S.

Plaque is the number one cause of tooth decay and gum disease. It is an invisible, sticky coating of germs. These germs feed on various foods, especially those with sugar, and form acids which cause tooth decay. Cavities begin when the acids created by plaque eat through the enamel, or hard covering of the teeth. If not arrested, the decay progresses into the dentin, the layer beneath the enamel. Finally, the pulp, the soft inner tissue, is affected. Plaque can build up on gums too, causing irritation, bleeding, and ultimately periodontal disease. It is essential that plaque be removed, with regular brushing and flossing and professional cleaning.

Prevent plaque build-up by having regular dental check-ups. Dr. Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S., 539 Adams St., East Milton Square, stresses preventive dentistry for all members of the family. Parents are urged to bring young children to the office to learn good hygiene habits and to become acquainted with dental procedures. Call our office at 698-3636 for an appointment at your convenience. Master Charge, Visa, and most dental plans are honored.

"Where You're a Neighbor -- Not just a number!"

Hospitals Shouldn't Use State Funds For Anti-Union Expenses, Harold Says

State Senator Paul D. Harold supports a bill prohibiting hospitals from using public funds to dissuade employees from forming unions.

The bill, filed by state Reps. Barney Frank, (D-Boston), Robert Ambler (D-Weymouth) and Charles Flaherty (D-Cambridge) has passed the house and is awaiting action by the senate.

The Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare has barred hospitals from being reimbursed for expenses in hiring anti-union consultants, Harold noted.

"In the past few years, non-profit hospitals have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to persuade employees not to form unions," Harold said.

"They have a right to take that position, but they should not have the right to use public funds to carry on anti-union campaigns."

In the past eight years, hospitals have applied to the state rate-setting commission for reimbursement of over $500,000 for such expenses, he said.

If hospitals are allowed reimbursement for anti-union expenses, Harold said, "it amounts to the state taking sides in collective bargaining matters, when we are supposed to be neutral. It also forces patients to subsidize the hospital's decision to dissuade employees from forming unions, which is highly unfair," Harold said.

Brownell Staff Conducting MBTA Passenger Survey

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) announces that his staff is conducting an MBTA passenger survey at the Quincy Center, Wollaston and North Quincy stations.

The survey started Wednesday at the Quincy station and is continuing today (Thursday) at Wollaston and Friday at North Quincy.

The survey is purely informational and will not require those surveyed to give their names. The intent of the survey is to capture the mood of the residents of Quincy on an array of public transportation concerns by inquiring as to the benefits received versus private and public costs of the MBTA system.

Brownell said his membership on the Transportation Committee provides the citizens of Quincy an opportunity to impact transportation public policy decisions at the state level. Brownell urges participation in the survey and would appreciate hearing from the citizens of Quincy on any transportation issue. His telephone number at the State House is 727-4646.

QJC, ENC To Receive SDIP Grants

Congressman Brian Donnelly announces that both Quincy Junior College and Eastern Nazarene College will receive grants-in-aid from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the Strengthening Developing Institutions Program (SDIP).

Awards from SDIP are granted to institutions of higher learning that demonstrate exceptional community responsiveness through unique program offerings and service to economically disadvantaged students. The dollar amount of SDIP assistance to the two Quincy Colleges will be determined through individual analysis of the school's budgetary needs.

In announcing the award, Donnelly said, both colleges have been aggressively pursuing avenues of increased federal funding. This fruition of their efforts is especially gratifying as it recognizes the great contributions these schools have made by serving the people of the South Shore area in an affordable fashion.

Eugene O'Malley, 20, Drowning Victim

Funeral services will be held today (Thursday) for Eugene J. O'Malley, 20, of 22 Winslow Rd., Squantum, youngest of 12 children, who died suddenly Monday in a drowning accident.

Police said O'Malley and a friend, Brian Palmer of Park Ave., Squantum, had tried to wade from Squaw Rock in Squantum to Thompson's Island, 300 yards away.

The pair were apparently overcome by the strong current in the channel. Palmer was rescued by boaters in the area, treated and released from Quincy City Hospital.

O'Malley was a student at Massachusetts College of Art in Boston, where he would have entered his second year this fall. Apparently he and Palmer had planned to spend the afternoon drawing on Thompsons Island.

A graduate of Quincy Vocational Technical High School, he was employed for the summer by Framers' Workshop, 1356 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Michael Dudgeon, a co-worker at Framers' Workshop, described O'Malley as "a very nice guy. It's quite a shock to find out something like that can happen," he added.

O'Malley is survived by James J. and Florence E. (Nemenski) O'Malley, brothers James of Dorchester, John of Weymouth, Edward of Foxboro, Thomas of Weymouth, Stephen of Dorchester, Richard of Boston and Kevin of Quincy and sisters Mrs. Beatrice Thompson of Needham, Mrs. Maureen Richmond of Quincy, Miss Ann Marie O'Malley of Quincy and Mrs. Carol Cuddy of Weymouth.

A funeral mass will be said today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at Star of the Sea Church, Squantum. Burial will be in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Visiting hours at the Lydon-Russell Funeral Home, 644 Hancock St., Wollaston, were 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Francis Kiernan, Past Commander Bryan VFW Post

Funeral services were held yesterday (Wednesday) for Francis Kiernan, of Quincy, a retired hotel manager and past commander of the George F. Bryan VFW Post. Mr. Kiernan died Monday in Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

Mr. Kiernan was born in Boston but lived for most of his life in Quincy. He was a World War II Navy veteran and was also past commander of Hull's J. W. Richardson VFW Post.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Catherine B. (Connors) Kiernan; a daughter, Winifred Kiernan; two brothers, John of Boston and Joseph of Littleton; three sisters, Mrs. Katherine Wedgeworth of Dorchester, Miss Mary Kernan of Boston and Mrs. Louise Yancovitz of Melrose.

Services were held at St. Agatha's Church, East Milton and burial was at St. Benedict Cemetery, West Roxbury.

15 Central Students Receive Special Awards

Fifteen Central Junior High School students received awards at the school's ninth grade final assembly held recently.

Robert Eng, past Quincy Legion Post and State American Legion past commander, presented American Legion Awards for courage, scholarship and integrity to Shiohan Corrigan and Wesley Paul.

Citizenship Awards for outstanding school citizens went to Raymond Mallory, class mayor, and John Taglieri.

Principal's Awards for consistent service to the school in various areas of activities were presented to Rasa Cepas, Kate MacDonald, Daniel Johnson, Mary Kate Kennedy, Diane Joseph, Holly Bumpus, Edward Ramsden, Ashot Gherdian, Lisa Welby and Gail MacDonald.

Kim Connolly received the Hallem Haddad Memorial Award in memory of the late Mr. Haddad, a science teacher on the Central staff for 20 years. The award reads, "Enthusiasm for science and respect for learning."

The assembly began with a Flag Salute and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" led by class president Daniel Marsters.

The Central Band played "Children's Prayer" and Daniel Marsters gave the welcome.

Class mayor Raymond

Mallory introduced student speakers Kim Connolly, who spoke on "My Most Difficult Assignment"; Mary Louise Flemming, "The Best"; Daniel Johnson, "Looking Back"; and Diane Joseph, "The Age I'd Like to Be".

Head Counselor Mary Catherine Iannoni's topic was "I'll Lend a Helping Hand", and class vice president Paul Quigley discussed "The Social Calendar in Review".

Following the awards presentations, by Principal Vincent Moscardelli and others, the Morning Chorus sang "What a Wonderful Day Like Today" and "Now the Time Has Come for Parting".

Raymond Mallory presented "Charge to the Class" and a recessional ended the assembly.

areas that require extensive retrofitting, relamping or other measures aimed at reducing energy consumption.

Money is available from the state on a matching basis to conduct this second audit for cities and towns that have completed all the preliminary energy audits and

The third step is a grant application form for federal assistance for retrofitting existing building to maximize energy efficiency.

The Energy Conservation Office also conducts a citizen referral service for Quincy residents who have questions on energy conservation.

fleeing. Killian said.

Evans' suit claimed Hegblood used "excessive force" in capturing him and thereby violated his civil rights.

According to Robert Fleming, city solicitor, the out-of-court settlement is not city funded, but an award from New Hampshire Insurance Co., which protects policemen and other city employees.

Fleming said he wasn't sure of the exact settlement, since William Kendrick, attorney for New Hampshire Insurance, did the actual negotiations with Killian. Kendrick, on vacation, was not available for comment.

The settlement came about after lawyers for the plaintiff and defendants met for pre-trial discussions with Peter Princi, magistrate at the federal court.

"After we had several of them, we started to discuss a settlement," Killian said.

The suit was dropped June 11, according to court records.

LaRaia Picks Easier Road

The return of Joseph LaRaia to the political ring took most people by surprise but not everyone.

A few observers who—pardon the expression—feel they know LaRaia like a book were convinced he would make an 11th hour move knowing his flair for political dramas.

They weren't too sure, however, whether he would pop up the last minute or two as a mayoral or councillor at-large candidate.

When he took out nomination papers for councillor-at-large at last week's deadline he did what some observers—call them LaRaia watchers—months ago thought he would do.

Back then, they figured he would try a political comeback and the easiest road back was via the City Council where you can pick up one of three votes rather than for a mayor where it is a one-on-one situation.

And, with an open seat this year (the one vacated by Senator Paul Harold) it seemed even a less bumpy comeback road to travel.

And, the way they saw it, LaRaia two years later would take another shot at the mayor's office, using those two years to campaign from the City Council floor.

But then LaRaia started acting like a mayoral candidate as he did a Marco Polo around town turning up at just about every social, civic and political function after months of hibernation following his defeat at the hands of Arthur Tobin.

When his book came out conveniently timed for this year's election, the LaRaia watchers were certain he was going to run for something. For awhile, it looked like for mayor.

But he then decided to take the easier road—the councillor-at-large race as those observers thought he would do in the first place.

As a mayoral candidate, the still fresh memories of his ill-fated two years in the mayor's office would still be there. His inept administration and the scandals involving appointees may be easily blamed on everybody else in a book but how well would they hold up under campaign scrutiny?

In a City Council race, the spotlight might not be so bright and those issues not so exposed.

And, two years from now? Well, people do forget.

A NEW WALL decoration is attracting attention in Senator Paul Harold's State House office. It's a framed steel engraving and autograph of Germantown's Gen. Joseph Palmer, who represented Quincy in a Colonial version of the Senate. It's the autograph that's attracting most of the attention. It's on a note dated Feb. 4, 1788 promising to pay—with interest—the five dollars he borrowed from one William Irving. (No one knows for sure whether he did.)

THE WOLLASTON THEATER under new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler with James McGroarty as manager will have a "Grand Re-opening" Saturday with a social hour starting at 7 p.m. "Sound of Music" a perennial favorite, will be shown at 8 p.m.

An appropriate selection because the fact that the shuttered theater is being re-opened should be like the sound of music to the area. It was sad, indeed, to drive or walk along Beale St. and see the theater—a Wollaston landmark since 1927—closed.

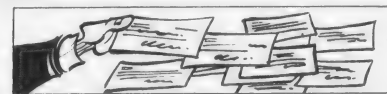

We congratulate the Chandlers for bringing new life to the theater—and to the area—and wish them SRO success.

STEVE LISS, who got his photography start with The Quincy Sun, is now working for the Associated Press. Steve, who comes from Quincy, snapped some outstanding photos for The Sun including two New England Press Association award winners. He also covered Jimmy Carter's inaugural for The Sun. More recently he has been working with the UPI in New Hampshire and doing assignments for Time. Steve's father, the late Fred Liss, was a well known Quincy attorney.

Harold Bill Would Make Felons Ineligible For Liquor Licenses

Convicted felons would be ineligible to hold liquor licenses in Massachusetts under legislation filed by Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

The late-filed bill expands the present prohibition against licenses for those convicted of narcotics offenses to include persons convicted of any felony.

Harold said he filed the legislation because local licensing authorities are presently unable to conduct criminal background investigations of persons who apply for liquor licenses.

The state's privacy act prohibits the release of such information, and subjects anyone who violates the privacy law to heavy fines.

"This legislation would allow local licensing authorities to check the records of applicants by receiving criminal record information from the commissioner of public safety," Harold said.

He noted that the present law requires local license boards to make certain applicants are of "good character", but provides no machinery for them to determine whether the applicant has a criminal record.

Under the Harold bill, the local licensing authority would submit a copy of the applicant's fingerprints to the commissioner of public safety, who would be required to report any criminal record of the applicant.

Under the state's privacy law, only "criminal justice" agencies are allowed to have access to criminal records, unless a special determination is made that other agencies can obtain it. That determination has not been made for local licensing authorities, Sen. Harold said.

A Commendation For Sgt. Robert Quintiliani

Editor's Note: Following are two letters written by City Councillor Joanne Condon commending Quincy Police Sgt. Robert Quintiliani for his actions following the shooting of 2 Boston police officers.

Dear Chief Finn:

I would like to take this opportunity as an elected official in the City of Quincy to express my deep pride and respect for Sergeant Robert Quintiliani for his outstanding efforts in assisting the Boston Police last week when a fellow police officer was shot.

He has won the respect, confidence and admiration of the community and the Quincy Police Department should be very proud of his accomplishments.

We are fortunate to have him as a member of the Quincy Police Department and my thanks to him for making our community a better place in which to live.

Sincerely,
Joanne Condon
Councillor, Ward VI

Sgt. Robert Quintiliani
Quincy Police Department

Dear Bob:

Just a note of sincere congratulations to you for your outstanding efforts in assisting the Boston Police last week when a fellow police officer was shot. Your compassion, leadership and courage deserve a sincere word of gratitude from all of us.

As an elected official in our City and more particularly as a classmate of yours, I am indeed proud of your dedicated and distinguished service to our community.

Once again my congratulations to you on a job well done and my best wishes for continued health, happiness and success.

Sincerely,
Joanne Condon
Councillor, Ward VI

Planning September Reunion

Because 1979 marks the 10th anniversary of the return of a group of New England area SEABEES from Da Nang, Vietnam, a 10th anniversary reunion has been scheduled. To assist us in locating these individuals, would you place the following message in the "letters to the editor" column of your newspaper:

A 10th anniversary reunion is scheduled for Sept. 7-8-9, 1979 for the SEABEES who served with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion Twelve (MCB-12) in Da Nang, Vietnam as well as all past and present of MCB-12, MCB-27 and the 7th NCR. If you served with MCB-12, MCB-27 or the 7th NCR and would be interested in attending the reunion, would you please forward a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Bob Horigan, 95 Plain Drive, Stoughton, MA 02072.

Thank you for your interest and assistance in this matter.

Respectfully yours,
ROBERT M. HORIGAN
MCB-12 Reunion Committee

A 'Thank You' From

Houghs Neck Women's Softball League

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I would like to thank the Quincy Sun and sportswriter Tom Sullivan in particular for printing the results of the Houghs Neck Women's Recreational Association Softball League.

This is strictly a fun league and we don't even like to be called a league. It really means a lot to these women to see their names in the paper for something most of them didn't think they could do. The association is mostly housewives and mothers who, in the beginning, said they couldn't hit the side of a barn, and are finding out they themselves can play instead of watching their husbands and sons play.

The average age of these women is the mid-30's, the youngest being 18 and the oldest being 63. I have 120 women playing softball and they are having a fantastic time doing it. Thanks again for everything.

'Anybody Can Do It'

He Receives His Law AND Medical Degrees On Same Day

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Mixing torts and tongue depressors, subpoenas and stethoscopes isn't the average college student's curriculum.

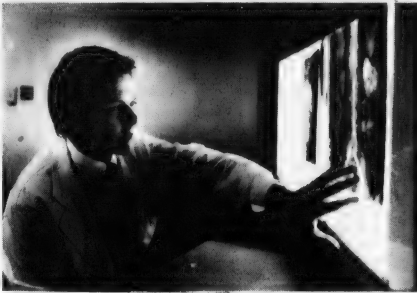

But a University of Louisville student who recently received law and medical degrees on the same day said "anybody can do it."

Robert Eilers, 24, whose parents and grandparents are Quincy natives, may think of his studies as "simple," but the Associated Press and United Press International were impressed enough to circulate stories on his accomplishment. The Louisville [Kentucky] Times also published a front-page feature on the hectic work and study schedule leading up to his dual degrees.

Eilers told the Louisville Times his average day at school went something like this:

He'd be up at 6:30 a.m. and off to Louisville's General Hospital for a morning of making the rounds with doctors and fellow med students. The afternoon would be devoted to working in one of the hospital's departments or wards and at medical lectures.

Around 5:30 or 6 p.m., Eilers would put on his law student's hat and drive across town to the law school, where he would attend lectures until 9:30 or so.

MEDICINE AND LAW can mix, says Robert Eilers, who received degrees in both from the University of Louisville recently.

DOROTHY MITCHELL

After that he would spend a few hours hitting the books, either at home or at the law library.

The whirlwind schedule ended on Mother's Day, when he received his degrees. Eilers is now at Northwestern University's Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, where he will serve a three-year internship.

His unusual double degrees isn't Eilers' only distinction. His sister, Dorothy Mitchell, is a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology in Louisville. The two are believed to be the first brother and sister pair ever to be graduated from the University of Louisville's medical school.

Eilers' grandparents, the late Patrick and Ellen Flaherty, of Merrymount and his parents, Edwin and Dorothy Eilers were born in Quincy.

The Eilers now live in Louisville.

Banks Can Now Establish Branches 25 Miles Away

A new law allowing banks to establish branch offices within 25 miles of their main offices will become effective this fall, Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) reports.

The new law, recently signed by Governor Edward J. King, extends the previous 15-mile limit for savings banks, cooperative banks, credit unions and trust companies to establish branches, Harold noted.

It becomes effective Sept. 11.

"This increased limit should improve service to banking customers, both by allowing for the placement of more convenient offices, and by encouraging competition among banks," Harold said.

"It will also give banking customers a wider choice among banks in their communities, and allow them to shop around more effectively for mortgage and loan money."

The establishment of bank branches will still be under the Commissioner of Banking, who must approve applications by banks, and make findings that the public convenience would be served by a new branch in a given community, Senator Harold said.

License Board Denies Fuel Storage Permit

The Licensing Commission refused to grant a permit to Thomas H. Reardon Jr. of Somerville to establish a storage depot for gasoline and fuel oil on Hancock St. near the Neponset River.

The Commission, which was composed of City Clerk Emery L. Crane, Fire Chief Alfred L. Mead and Police Chief Ernest H. Bishop, issued the following statement:

"While the Board has no desire to restrict the development of the waterfront of Quincy, they feel that it is a grave question whether an oil storage plant would not hinder, rather than help, the proper development of the waterfront."

The storage facility would have included seven tanks to hold 227,500 barrels of gasoline and one tank for 32,500 barrels of fuel oil.

UNLUCKY THIRTEENTH

James Wood, a driver for the Whiting Milk Co., returned to the barn from his daily rounds with the vow that "never again will I work on Friday the 13th."

Wood had barely started on his route that morning when his wagon was upset while making a turn and $30 worth of milk spilled out on Houghs Neck streets. He returned for a new load.

Then his horse bolted and crashed into the side of a house owned by Herman Erhardt, 46 Center Rd., causing $100 damage to the wagon and tearing a 12-inch hole in the living room.

FORE RIVER WINS SEVENTH

Fore River edged Dorchester 4-3 at Fore River Field for its seventh straight Boston Twilight League win as a near riot broke out among the 1,600 fans over a disputed play at third base.

Fore River lineup included: Jerry Shanahan 3b, Fritz Costigan rf, Orrie Corrella 2b, Hal Janvrin 1b, Frank Roach c, Spike Bonafini lf, Dave Nelson ss, Herb Stokinger cf, Dave Caldwell p.

NEW LIGHTS ON HANCOCK ST.

Mayor Percy E. Barbour directed the Quincy Electric Light and Power Co. to proceed with the installation of new and more powerful lights on Hancock St. from Dimmock to School Sts.

"They will eventually take the dark spots out of Hancock St. and intensify its illumination," said John F. Scott, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who had sought the lights for 15 years.

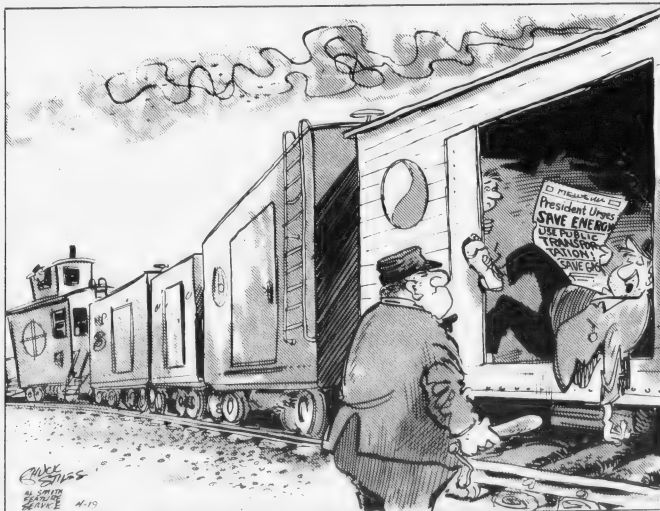

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON CLOSINGS

Petitions were circulated requesting all merchants in Quincy Center to close their stores Wednesday afternoon all year 'round instead of just during the summer months.

Clerks in many of the stores were working 10 hours a day, five days a week, and 13 to 14 hours on Saturday.

QUINCY-ISM

Mayor Barbour named Capt. Ernest H. Bishop chief of police succeeding Alfred W. Goodhue, who died in June. . . Bishop was a member of the force since 1905. . . More than 400 parents and friends visited Camp Massasoit in Plymouth where Quincy youngsters had been quarantined for a week following discovery of one case of scarlet fever. . . A 1922 Hupmobile coupe was selling for $200 at the Central Garage, 254 Washington St. . . James Baker, Quincy's best known motorcycle officer, received a post card from Skowhegan, Maine, addressed simply to "Two Gun". . . The 1926 tax rate was set at $27.60, an increase of 60 cents, much less than expected due to a substantial hike in valuation. . . Cong. Louis A. Frothingham announced that two vacancies in the Naval Academy from the 14th district would be filled by an examination Oct. 23. . . Secretary of the Interior William M. Jardine and his family stayed overnight at the Hotel Curtis on a tour of historic spots in Quincy. . . "The Palm Beach Girl," starring Bebe Daniels, and "The Shadow of the Wall," with Eileen Percy, were playing at the Alhambra Theater, where it was "10 degrees cooler than the street". . . J. Lawrence Bough, general manager of the Quincy Motor Co., was back to work after several months illness. . . Former Mayor Chester I. Campbell filed nomination papers for Governor's Council from the Second District. . . The Squantum Improvement Association launched a petition for a sewer in the district where 55 new houses had been built in the past year. . . Association President Charles J. Herbert said it would cost about $20,000 a mile or $100,000. . . R. Cody Loud presided over the opening of the new Adams Shore Community House at the corner of Petrel and Curlew Rds. . . Smoked shoulder was 25 cents a pound at Casey's Market, 117 Garfield St., West Quincy. . . Word was received that Willard E. Edwards of Wollaston walked from Quincy to Los Angeles in 40 days—about he rode the last 310 miles from the Grand Canyon with a carful of tourists. . . Marie Hazner of 26 Whiton Ave., Quincy Point, was crowned Miss Community Beach at the Quincy Point Community Beach Water Carnival.

THE 42ND EDITION of Quincy Bay Race Week is underway.

42nd Edition May Be Biggest

Large Turnout Of Boats, Sailors For QBRW

By TOM SULLIVAN

According to Quincy Bay Race Week President Chet Gillis of the Wessagussett Yacht Club, the 42nd edition of Quincy Bay Race Week starting Wednesday and continuing through Sunday will be the biggest of them all.

"Interest in sailboating has taken a big jump at my club and I think this is true of every other club," Gillis said. "We have many more boats at Wessagussett and I expect to see more boats in just about every class."

"The ocean racing will definitely have many more boats. As of last week we had 35 to 40 already registered, about double that of other years, and the fleet should increase even more when we get the North Shore entries."

Sports

Gillis also said the popular Marine Parade is expected to be larger and "all in all, it looks like a great week. Now, if the weather man will only cooperate."

Boys, girls, men and women of all ages will be among the competitors.

Racing is being held each day from one of the participating clubs.

Gala Night will be held Friday night at Town River Yacht Club with Gillis and Town River Y. C. Commodore Gerard Gallinaro as hosts.

Rendezvous Night will be held Saturday at Town River with Gillis and Gallinaro again hosts.

The colorful Marine Parade will be held Sunday with boats rendezvousing between Town River Y. C. and Wessagussett Y. C. at noon.

Trophy Night will be held Sept. 7 at Wessagussett Y. C. with all winners and guests invited.

REMEMBER WHEN?

... the Quincy Yacht Club looked like this in 1894? This etching was taken from the Quincy Yacht Club yearbook of the same year. The yacht club, now in its 105th year, was heavily damaged but survived the Great Blizzard of 1978. The club's sailors have played an active role in every Quincy Bay Race including this year's.

Bermuda Cup, Remick Warner Trophies Prizes

Ocean Racing Saturday Off Hangman's Island

Ocean racing, stimulating continued interest in the cruising type of sailboat, is an annual feature of Race Week and this year will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. off Hangman's Island.

The City of Boston Bermuda Cup, a beautiful and historic punch bowl, has been in the custody of the Quincy Yacht Club for 50 years. It was presented by the City of Boston around 1905 for a yacht race from Boston to Bermuda. This race was never held and in 1911 the city again put the cup up for an ocean race to be held Labor Day 1911 to become the permanent possession of the winner. That race was won by Hollis Burgess, a Quincy Y. C. member, in his sloop Marie L.

Burgess generously made the Quincy Y. C. trustee of the cup with was to be placed in annual competition as a perpetual trophy. In 1968 the QYC presented the trophy to the OBRW Association for race week competition. This beautiful and valuable trophy is to be presented to the annual winner to be held by him until the succeeding race week. The winner is to be presented a suitably engraved trophy for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Ronald Gaudet.

The Frank E. Remick Trophy was presented in 1959 to the OBRWA by Frank E. Remick of Quincy to stimulate interest in competition between cruising-type sail boats.

Because of the large number of boats competing, it was decided to divide the race into two fleets and Remick presented a second trophy for the Fleet 2 winner. Two years ago a third trophy was added for Trimarans.

Bad weather forced postponement of last year's racing and when it was held later in the month, only one race was held with Raymond Smith the winner.

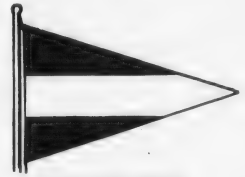

The Harry Warner Memorial Trophy race is for cruising type trimarans. The Trophy was presented to the OBRWA in 1968 by the Warner Family and the Town River Yacht Club as a perpetual trophy. It is to be annually engraved and is to be held by the winner until Race Week of the following year when it is to be returned to the association. Last year's winner was John Barmack.

It's rapidly becoming one of the most talked about new sailboats of the year. The Harpoon 5.2, from Boston Whaler. Like all Boston Whalers, Harpoon 5.2 is completely unsinkable. So it's safe — really safe. But it's also a real performer. Loaded with equipment like North sails, Harken blocks, Schaefer hardware, Samsen line, and Elstrom bailers. All standard. Plus there's a long list of optional gear, too. The Harpoon 5.2. It's spearheading a whole new generation of sailboats. And it's here now.

Nearly 3,000 To Compete For Trophies

Nearly 3,000 men, women, boys and girls will compete for a number of handsome and coveted trophies this week during the 42nd edition of Quincy Bay Race Week.

The Fred Hunt Memorial

Trophy is a perpetual award presented since 1966 by the Patriot Ledger in memory of the late yachting editor who served more than three decades.

This trophy is awarded annually to a person who has demonstrated a high degree of sportsmanship and a willingness to help others in the advancement of the yacht racing sport and who has contributed to the success of Race Week. It is to be held until the succeeding Race Week by the home club of the winner who is to be awarded a suitable keeper trophy for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner of the Fred Hunt Trophy was Albert Woodman.

The Capt. James Berwick Finlay Memorial Trophy was presented to the Quincy Yacht Club in 1948 by Albert W. Finlay, his father, for competition during Race Week.

This handsome trophy is presented in loving memory of a son who, during his lifetime, did much to advance the sport of yachting on Massachusetts Bay, to the yacht or yachtsman considered to have performed some single act of sportsmanship during Race Week.

It is to be suitably engraved annually and will remain in the custody of the Quincy Yacht Club. A suitably engraved keeper trophy will be awarded to the winner for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Ed Simpson.

The Commodore Isadore Bromfield Trophy was presented three years ago to the QBRWA by the Commonwealth National Bank of Boston. It is awarded annually to the Race Week winner according to the deed of gift. The winner is to be presented a suitably engraved trophy for his permanent possession.

Last year Doug McGregor was the winner.

The 1300 Trophy has been presented each year since 1960 to the QBRWA by Radio Station WJDA to demonstrate its great and cooperative interest in Race Week and to aid in the stimulation of racing interest among the junior classes.

This beautiful trophy is awarded annually to the winning skipper in the Turnabout Class and become his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Holly Bumpus.

The Reynolds Memorial Trophy is a perpetual trophy presented to the QBRWA in 1966 by the family of John Reynolds, an ardent supporter of and skipper in the Day Sailor Class until his untimely death in 1965.

This trophy is awarded to the Race Week winner in the Day Sailor Class and is to be held by him until Race Week of the following year when it is to be returned to the association.

A suitably engraved keeper trophy is to be presented to the winner for his permanent possession.

Ron Pletsch was the winner a year ago.

Tradition Marks Race Week

Quincy Bay Race Week is marked by 42 years of tradition and yachtsmen have a lot to live up to in this week's racing.

QBRW has been an outstanding success since it was established in 1938 by the Quincy, Wollaston and Squantum Yacht Clubs, which formed the association.

In the years that followed, Town River and Wessagussett joined up to make the event an area success.

Five years ago Braintree and Metropolitan clubs were added to the association, completing the seven-club association.

King To Present Governor's Cup Saturday

Quincy Bay Race Week will experience a "first" when Governor Edward King awards the Governor's Cup Saturday.

Although this is the sixth year that the trophy has been presented, it's the first time a governor has actually shown up to make the award personally.

The cup will be awarded to the winner of a race which has not yet been chosen. According to Ray Regan, race week chairman, the race week committee will meet Saturday morning to choose a race to be so honored.

The race chosen is usually one in the class considered the most competitive, Regan said.

Last year's winner, Jack Healy of Wollaston Yacht Club, represented the Hustler class of sailboat.

King will present the trophy Saturday at 5 p.m. at Squantum Yacht Club.

Wollaston, Braintree YC Co-Hosts

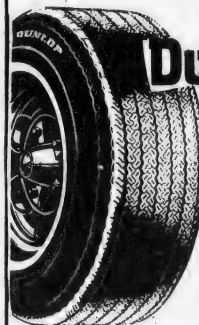

The Wollaston Yacht Club, in its 82nd year, is enjoying another banner season and is co-host with Braintree for the first day's racing Wednesday at Squantum Y. C.

A.L., Triple A All-Stars Bomb To Wins

Quincy teams are doing well in the Junior League Baseball Tournament being held at Artery Fields 1 and 2 in Quincy. The Quincy American League

All-Stars bombed Brighton, 14-0, with John Comeau pitching brilliantly and also hitting a home run and single. Chris Bunker had a home run and two singles. Dave

Maloney, Steve Higgins and Steve White had two hits apiece and Bill Shaughnessy, Paul Marshall, Matt Elofson and Jack Bolster one each. The Quincy Triple A League

All-Stars outslugged South Boston Nationals, 11-8. In the first inning for Quincy Joe Ciardi, Dave Zurums and Pat Faherty had doubles for a 2-0 lead but South Boston tied it in the bottom of the first on Sean Costello's home run. Southie took a 3-2 lead in the second on Ron Lerincas' homer but Quincy came back with three in the third on a single by Ciardi, a walk to Zurums, another double by Faherty, a walk to Tom Elmore and a single by John Reinhardt.

Another two-run homer by Costello tied it for South Boston in the bottom of the third but Quincy exploded for six runs in the fourth to clinch the win. Kevin Golden singled, Pat Hennessey reached on an error, Bob Reidy walked, John Rency singled, Zurums reached on an error, Jerry Martin singled and Elmore reached on an error.

Quincy National League All-Stars squeezed by Colombo of Norwood, 10-9, in an eight-inning game.

Norwood went ahead, 1-0, in the first inning but Quincy tied it in the second on hits by Dennis Cronin and Jim Salvati. Norwood went ahead, 4-1, with three in the third on a three-run homer by Andy French.

Quincy came right back with five runs when Tom Richardson walked, Mike Cocce also walked, Mike LaRocque singled to load the bases, designated hitter Dan Baker singled in two runs and Jack Outerbridge, Richie Pettinelli and Brendon Cox singled.

Norwood scored three in the fourth to take a 7-6 lead but Quincy tied it in the bottom of the inning when Joe Barnes singled, Cocce walked, Barnes stole third and scored on LaRocque's infield out. The score remained 7-7 through the fifth, sixth and seventh innings as both teams passed up scoring opportunities. Pettinelli, pitching in relief for Quincy, got out of trouble thanks to fine defense by Ed Boyle, Cox and Outerbridge.

In the top of the eighth Norwood scored twice to take a 9-7 lead but Quincy refused to give up and scored three for the win as Cronin walked as did Jim Milano, both moved up on a wild pitch and Pettinelli doubled for the tying runs. Pettinelli moved up to third on the play at the plate and when Norwood's catcher threw the ball by the pitcher, the alert Pettinelli scored the winning run.

South Weymouth defeated St. John's of Quincy, 4-2, taking a 4-0 lead after three innings.

St. John's scored a run in the fourth on a walk to Bob Kingsbury and a long double by Pat Calabro. St. John's scored again in the sixth on Jim Stasio's single, an infield out and an error.

Other scores: Norwood Police 5, East Braintree 3; Milton 14, South Boston Nationals 3; Hanover 6, South Braintree 5, and Westwood 6, Hingham 0.

The double elimination tournament continues Saturday and Sunday with St. John's facing South Boston Nationals Saturday at 8 at Artery 2, Quincy Nationals playing Norwood Police Sunday at 8 at Artery 1, Quincy Triple A meeting South Weymouth Sunday at 8 at Artery 2 and Quincy Americans taking on Milton Sunday at 6 at Artery 2.

Other games: Norwood, Colombo vs. East Braintree, Saturday at 8; South Boston Americans vs. Brighton, Saturday at 6; South Braintree vs. Hingham Saturday at 6 and Hanover vs. Westwood, Sunday at 6.

American League All-Stars Win, 7-1

The American League defeated the National League 7-1 in the Quincy Women's Softball League All-Star game played recently at Merrymount Park.

The American Leaguers scored two runs each in the third and eighth innings, and single runs in the fourth, seventh and ninth to post the win. The pitching of Margaret Bertoni and Nancy Willard held the National League to one unearned run, in the first inning, and five hits.

Jean Quinn was the only

American Leaguer to get two hits, with nine teammates getting one apiece.

Lillian Callahan of the National League went two for four, as well as playing a strong game at second base.

Also performing well in the field was American Leaguer Janet Burns, with two fine catches in the outfield.

● Babe Ruth International

Quincy Co-op won the International Babe Ruth League's National League championship with a 15-4 record, the best in the league, while South Boston Savings won the American League title with a 13-7 mark.

The top four teams are currently engaged in a double elimination playoff series for the league championship. Taking part are South Boston Savings, managed by Chuck Woodman; Quincy Co-op, with Jack Ward as manager; Owens A.C., managed by Tom Owens, and Tuff-Kote, with Joe Ryan manager.

In the final regular season game South Boston Savings edged NFPA, 3-2, with Bobby Flynn the winning pitcher. John Spencer was the hard luck loser and he also went two for three at the plate. Steve Evans had a single and double and drove in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh. Kenny Wright had two hits and Willie Schumaker played well at shortstop. The win clinched the

Owens A.C. topped South Boston Savings, 5-3, with Billy Harris the winner and Chris Connolly having a save. Kenny

MacDonald had a double for Owens, Brad Kenyon went three for three with two RBI. Ray Wellington, Jim Garrity, Kenyon and Brian Reardon played strong defense. For South Boston Kenny Wright doubled, losing pitcher Dave Clifford pitched well in defeat and Bob Peterson and Bob Flynn played well in the outfield. Quincy Co-op defeated Tuff-Kote, 9-4, with Gary Connolly the winning pitcher. Gerry Connolly had a triple and two singles. John Ward two hits and Turner a triple. Turner almost had an inside-the-park home run but was thrown out at the plate on a fine-relay from shortstop Dave Mazzulli.

Owens A.C. walloped Quincy Co-op, 12-3, with Chris Connolly getting the win and Harris a save. Harris had a home run and double. MacDonald a homer and single. Scott Owens a double and Vinny Barry went three for three. Gary Connolly had a double for Co-op.

3 Cited As Playground Leaders

Recreation Director Charles Alongi announces that Gregory Zoia, Joan Galosso and Kathleen McSweeney have been chosen "Playground Leaders of the Week" by the Quincy Recreation Department.

Gregory is a 1978 graduate of North Quincy High where he was a member of the football team. He will be entering his sophomore year at Plymouth

State College where he is majoring in business management. He enjoys sports of all kinds as well as the outdoors.

Joan is a 1977 graduate of North Quincy High School. A junior at Framingham State College, she is a food and nutrition major. She is a member of the Home Economics Club, and an employee of the College Activities Center.

Kathy, a 1977 graduate of Archbishop Williams High School, is attending Bridgewater State College, majoring in physical education. She plays on both the varsity basketball and lacrosse teams and this past fall was named to the division 3 New England College lacrosse team. Kathy plays summer basketball and softball and her future plans include both teaching and coaching.

Many of the more experienced sailors are enrolled in a racing class which meets on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons to compete for a championship trophy. Participants include: John Toland, Greg McKinnon, George Dolbec, Susan McGrail, Amy McGrail, Cindy Olsen, Larry Micklas, Billy Hughes, Eddie Flemming, Bobby Fleming, Paul Dindy, Peter Schow, Steven Schow, John Toland, Sean Killon, Larry Zieper, Michelle Burke, Christine Collins, Mike King, Bobby King, Vito Barresi, Rich Marnell, Garath Petracca and Susan Ranahan.

News from the Recreation Departments' Summer specialists program.

MUSIC AND DRAMA: During Nature week a skit festival was held with the different playground competing. District 5 was first to compete with Pond St. taking top honors, with their puppet show. Those included in the performance were Noreen McBride, Krista O'Brien, Denise Curren, Diane Curren, Diane Heeny, Donna Paoilli and Jim Baldi. District 3 winning park turned out to be Quarterdeck with the youngsters performing Cinderella. Quarterdeck players were Kathleen Fidler, Valerie Ferry, Susan Cullen, Jennifer Sulger and Tracy McDonough.

ARCHERY: With the Tournament just around the corner the biggest tournaments have been at Squantum, Myles Standish, LeBreque, O'Rourke and Montclair playgrounds. Some of the young Robin Hoods Shawn Craig, Rich MacDonald, Peter Schuerch, Chris McSweeney, Brian Ellis and Eddie Wejkus.

ARTS AND CRAFTS: Macrame belts were the weekly project at Forbes Hill with Keith Segalla making one of the best. At Pollard playground felt banners were made by Patty Harkins, Tina Cobbs, Tracy Cahill and Lori and Peter Whyte. Pond Street's project was macrame bracelets with AnnMarie and Claudia Cinceron, Noreen McBride and Gloria Battistone all making some very nice ones.

TENNIS: Even with the very hot weather tennis continues to be a very popular event on the playgrounds. Atlantic's Joe Barnes, Dennis Croke and Jim White are all improving with each lesson. Forbes Hill's Sally Scheele, Jennifer Shores, Julie Killon, Lisa Lagzdins, Michael Grindlay, Kerry Torney, DeDe Ferrara and James Ferrara are all practicing for the upcoming tournament.

23 Gold Included

Track Club Wins 58 Medals At Brockton

The Quincy Track Club youngsters nearly doubled the amount of medals won in last year's Brockton Summerfest when they won a stunning total of 58 last week, including 23 gold, 19 silver and 19 bronze.

Maureen Roche and Denise Santo captured three golds each to lead the scorers.

Other gold medalists were Kevin O'Brien in the 6-8 year old 50 and 100, Jamie McArdle in the 9-10 440 and long jump, John Delapelle in the 11-12 high jump, Fred Bickford in the 11-12 shot put, Chris McCray in the 13-15 shot put, Rich Palma in the 13-15 100 and Kevin Wood in the 13-15 high jump.

Other boys winning medals were Bobby Roche, two silvers; Mark Porzio, a silver; Stuart Coull, two bronze; Ed Munroe, a silver; McCray, a silver; Mike Ross, a bronze; Mike Williams, two bronze, and Wood, a bronze.

Girls winning gold medals were Kim Marlowe in the 9-10 50 and 100; Georgia Traficante in the 11-12 440, Margaret Osterman, 440; Caroline Mitchell, 880 and the relay team of Santo, McLoughlin, Osterman and Brenda Joybe.

Other medalists were Marisa Zona, Tracey Nave, Lorrie McNeill, Denise Petta, Terry Hamilton, Sandy Dunn, Geraldine Murphy, Beth Veneto, Karen Lindenfelzer, Faith Bickford and Martha Donaghue.

Earlier, the Quincy Track Club athletes represented Boston in the 13th annual U.S. Youth Games at Richmond, Va., racking up 27% of Boston's 79 points. Nine Quincy boys and girls placed.

Bronze medals were won by Georgia Traficante in the 12-13 high jump, Mike Williams in the 12-13 440 and Tommy Walsh, who led off the 10-11 440 relay team which finished third.

Ribbons, won by 4th, 5th and 6th place finishers, were won by Denise Santo, fourth in the 14-15 long jump (16-6 1/2) and Kara Crehan, fourth in the 14-15 high jump (five feet).

Mike Williams and Mike Ross were part of the Boston relay team which took fifth, and Kristine Picarski took fifth in the 12-13 long jump. Kevin Wood took fifth in the 14-15 high jump at 5-10 and Bryan Ellis took sixth in the 12-13 high jump at 4-6.

Georgia Traficante, 12, stunned the crowd when she appeared to have cleared 4-10 in the high jump, only to catch the bar with her heel.

If she had cleared that height she would have won but had to settle for third place on the basis of previous misses. She will be back in the same age group next year.

Mike Williams ran two excellent 440 races with a 54.8 qualifying heat on Friday and a 55-0 final race on Saturday.

Tommy Walsh, the club's other medalist, led off the relay which had a fine 55.2 trial race, but had handoffs cost them the win and they finished a close third. Tommy will be back in the same age group next year.

Other members of the relay team were Mark Robinson of Peabody, and Craig Rose and James Moore of Boston.

● Babe Ruth League

HN, SOI In Showdown

Houghs Neck Legion, the American League champion, and Sons of Italy, the National League winner, are currently facing each other in a best of five series for the Quincy Babe Ruth League championship.

Houghs Neck clinched its series with Golden Print with a 6-2 win with Marty McLoughlin, pitching only his third game of the year, allowing only six hits, striking out 10 and walking only two. This win clinched the American League round robin playoffs.

HN came out swinging and scored four runs in the first inning. McLoughlin, Scott Matthews and Ross Connerty had singles and Dan Dunn had a two-run double. HN added a run in the second when McLoughlin walked, stole second and scored on Connerty's single.

Tom O'Connor hit a home run for the final run in the fifth.

Golden scored a run in the sixth on John Balzano's triple and an error and scored again in the seventh on a single by Mike Bourikas, a walk to Bob Ready and Balzano's single.

Bow In Playoffs

Morrisette Loses Zone Crown To Weymouth

The Morrisette Legion baseball team's season came to a disappointing end last week when it dropped a 4-3 squeaker to Weymouth in a playoff game to decide the Zone 6 championship.

Morrisette had forced the playoff game the previous night by topping Braintree's Zone 6A finalist, 6-2. Morrisette and Weymouth thus ended their regular seasons with 14-4 records.

Weymouth then went on to top Braintree, 7-2, to win the overall zone title and move into the state tournament with Foxboro as its first opponent.

It was particularly disappointing to Coach Ray Cattaneo and his Morrisette players, who defeated Weymouth in both their regular season meetings, the second time by a 14-5 score.

Going into the final week Morrisette appeared to be in a great position to win its 22nd zone title but it was shocked by Holbrook, 3-0, and, after its surprisingly easy win over Weymouth, it was shut out by Milton and ace righthander Greg Burdett, 3-0.

In the deciding game with Weymouth under the lights at Adams Field, Gary Earle, pitching with only two days rest, struggled but pitched a good game in defeat. He allowed only six hits and struck out 10 but also walked six.

Weymouth's Albie Buresh, getting stronger as the game progressed, pitched his best game of the year, giving up seven hits, striking out four and not issuing a walk.

Greg DiBona, who had hit some long shots in previous games with Morrisette, belted a 420-foot two-run homer in the first inning, one of the longest ever hit at Adams Field.

Morrisette bounced back to tie it in its half of the first as Fran Donovan singled, moved to second on a wild pi-pickoff attempt, Bill O'Connell was hit by a pitch, Bill Deitsch tripled into the gap in left-center but was thrown out at the plate by Jim Moriarty following a fly to right.

Weymouth added single runs in the third and sixth and Morrisette added a run in the bottom of the seventh on singles by Don Perdios and Kevin Howlett and a fielders choice.

"This was a great game but what can you do? They played well enough to win," Cattaneo said. "It was a disappointing ending but we had a fine season." Unexpected losses to Holbrook, Hingham and Canton came back to haunt Morrisette.

Ray Coscia pitched Morrisette to victory over Braintree, forcing the playoff game with Weymouth. He scattered seven hits, struck out four and walked four. He also hit a bases loaded single for two runs to spark a three-run seventh inning.

Morrisette took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first when Donovan reached on an error and scored on successive singles by O'Connell and Bob Biagini.

Braintree tied it up in its half but Morrisette, taking advantage of more loose play by Braintree, added two in the second. Perdios had the only hit of the inning and three errors accounted for the runs.

Braintree made it 3-2 in the third and that is the way it stood until the seventh when Deitsch blooped a single to right, Dave King bunted him along and Perdios was intentionally walked. Earle hit a hotshot that handuffed shortstop Gary Burke, filling the bases, Coscia drove in two with a line single and after a forceout at the plate Harry Donahue scored when the throw from center field hit him on the back.

Bunker Fans 11, Homers To Spark Quincy A.L. All Stars

The Quincy Junior League American League all-stars, with a 3-1 record, attempted last night (Wednesday) to remain in the running in the Stoughton Tournament.

Quincy won its tournament opener, 5-2, over South Weymouth as Chris Bunker struck out 11. He also hit a home run. Paul Marshall had a hit and two RBI and John O'Connor and Matt Elston had key hits. Dave Maloney made two outstanding catches in right field.

Quincy then blanked Cedar Grove, 3-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Paul Marshall, who struck out 11. Steve White had a home run and single, Bunker had another homer and Jack Bolster, Marc Abboud and O'Connor also had hits.

In a 3-1 win over Parkway 1,

Steve Higgins struck out seven. Bolster had four hits, Bunker three. Steve White and Higgins two apiece and Maloney, Paul Miller, Bill Shaughnessy and Tom Ryan one each.

Quincy dropped a 2-1 squeaker to Westwood despite the excellent pitching of Paul Marshall. Higgins and Bolster had two hits apiece and Bunker and Marshall one each.

300 Youngsters Take Part In Pellagrini Baseball Clinic

Over 300 youngsters took part in Recreation Department's third annual Eddie Pellagrini Baseball Clinic at Adams Field recently.

Pellagrini, the former Red Sox infielder who is now head baseball coach at Boston College, instructed the boys and girls in fundamentals of pitching, fielding, throwing and baserunning.

He was assisted by former major league pitcher and Quincy native Dick Donovan; Northeastern University head coach John Connelly; Mark Driscoll, head coach at Framingham State; Bobby Defelice, Bentley College coach and former Boston College player Greg Stuart.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

Knowledge of artificial respiration is a MUST during vacation season. When it's needed, there can be no delay in its application - the result could easily be the difference between life and death. Here's how...

Place the victim on his back with chin up and head tilted back. This will create a straight passage from the mouth to the lungs. Open your mouth wide and place it directly over the victim's mouth. At the same time pinch his nose closed and blow into the mouth. When you see the victim's chest rise, stop inflation, raise your mouth and let him exhale. Your breathing cycle should be about 12 times a minute.

With infant and small child victims, place your mouth over both the nose and mouth. Babies require only small breaths of air because of their small lung capacity. Repeat breaths 20 - 30 times a minute.

Kelly Urges Open Meeting On Airplane Noise

Michael J. Kelly, a candidate for the Ward 6 seat on the City Council, has called for an open meeting of North Quincy residents with city, state and federal officials "to develop a realistic course of action" in alleviating airplane noise.

Kelly told a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ahern of Squantum that "the city can no longer wait for Massport and the FAA to solve a problem which is of their own creation and in their best interest to ignore."

"It is imperative to coordinate our own efforts with groups in neighboring areas who are also working to do away with the excessive airplane noise," he said.

Kelly praised the Citizens Against Airplane Noise (CAAN) for "their untiring efforts in the battle against Massport and the FAA. It is time to derive a final and permanent solution to this problem."

George Wolusky Receives Parachutist Badge

Quincy resident George A. Wolusky recently received a parachutist badge after completing a three-week course at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

Central 7th Graders Take Part In Plymouth Learning Experience

Nearly 150 seventh graders from Central Junior High School recently took part in a five-day learning experience at Camp Bourndale, on Herring Pond in Plymouth.

Parents and teachers joined in the program, which featured recreational and educational activities. Among the courses were marine biology, survival, pottery, forest community, debating, drama, water safety, sailing, canoeing, human relations, sketching, hiking, tennis, archery, soccer, water skiing, CPR, orienteering and field trips. Students spent free time making entries in their daily logs.

Students were assigned to cabins in groups of ten, and were assigned to eat meals with another group, giving them the opportunity to make new friends and become better acquainted with old ones. Sharing in the week were teachers who stayed for all five days and others who visited on a rotating basis.

Evening programs at the camp included lectures, a slide show and a dance.

All of the seventh grade teaching staff took part, coordinated by Ralph Koelsch, Raymond Whitehouse and William McWeeny. Assisting were principal Vincent Moscardelli and head counselor Mary Iannoni.

Other visitors included Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon, Asst. Supt. John Osterman, Director of Elementary Education Wilfred Nolan and School Committee member Patricia Toland.

Many women possess a diamond sometime in their life, more often than not in the form of an engagement ring. But men do not wear diamonds as much, or at least they have not in recent history. In the 19th century, if a man wore a diamond, usually in the form of a stick pin, cufflinks, or ring, he was usually thought of as a gambler, a rake, or enormously, but rather uncouthly, wealthy. Now, diamonds and men make more suitable partners. Diamond cufflinks are not thought of as garish, and diamond studded watches for men are quite respected and respectable. Certainly a man does not have to be uncouthly wealthy in order to wear a diamond ring.

When you're ready to make the purchase of a diamond, we hope you'll take the time to see our fine selection at GRONO & CHRISTIE, INC., 536 Adams St., East Milton, 696-1490. We will give you full information on the value of the stone you are considering, and encourage you to examine and compare for yourself the beauty of individual stones. Choose your diamond and setting from our wide selection. All diamond setting, designing and remodeling are handled on the premises. Open: 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Mon. thru Sat.

Quincy City Club To Host Happy Acres Staff At Cookout

The Quincy City Club will sponsor its fifth annual cookout for the staff of Happy Acres Day Camp for the Retarded Wednesday, Aug. 15, at noon at the Park and Recreation Complex, 100 Southern Artery.

The summer day camp program is conducted each year during the months of July and August by the Recreation Department.

Richard J. Koch, president of the City Club, said the cookout is one of the public service events sponsored by the organization and that 100 persons are expected to attend.

The City Club also provides Christmas gifts for those attending the annual party for the retarded sponsored by the Recreation Department each year.

Koch announced the following members of the City Club have been appointed to serve on the committee: Theodore DeCristofaro, David Rubin, Raymond C. Cattaneo, Richard M. Morrissey and Charles L. Alongi.

The committee will organize and prepare the cookout while the staff of the Happy Acres Day Camp will serve the members attending.

HARBOR TOUR -- Quincy residents Richard Brooks, Ann Fraser and Jennifer Casey enjoy a cruise of Boston Harbor arranged by the Atlantic Neighborhood Center. They and others from North Quincy were guests of Boston Gas, which sponsors the tours for non-profit community organizations. The 90-minute tour, aboard a Mass. Bay Lines boat, allowed close-up views of Logan Airport, the waterfront and Castle Island, among other sites.

Naval Academy Show Band Here For Constitution Bicentennial

The U.S. Naval Academy Show Band from Annapolis, Md., will participate in Quincy's bicentennial celebration of the drafting of the Massachusetts Constitution Sept. 6-9.

The Show Band, which has performed only once before outside of Annapolis, will hold two concerts during the Bicentennial weekend.

The first will be at 11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 8 during the dedication of new City Hall annex.

The second will be at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 9, at Pageant Field, Mefrymount Park, prior to the 8 p.m. bonfire at Black's Creek.

The members of the band are fulltime musicians whose performances are used as moral boosters for the Midshipmen at the Naval Academy.

Tickets Still Available For MDA Softball Game

Three hundred tickets have been sold for the softball game to benefit Muscular Dystrophy Saturday, Aug. 11 at 8:30 p.m. at YMCA Rotary Field.

Tickets will be available at the gate and all proceeds will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association to aid in its research and education program.

The game will feature the Koch Club men's softball team and the Dubuque Packing softball combine featuring a long standing six year rivalry between the teams. Each has won three games in the series.

The Koch Club team is a member of the South Suburban League with a record of 12 wins and eight losses and will participate in the league playoffs starting Sunday while Dubuque Packing is in the South Shore Slo-Pitch League having compiled a 12-12 record to date. Their playoffs also start on Sunday.

Persons unable to attend Saturday's game but wishing to donate to the Muscular Dystrophy event may contact Richard J. Koch or any of the following Committee Members: Steven Koch, William Clapp, Albert Mancuso, David Koch, Daniel Finn, Richard J. Koch Jr., James Cocco or Daniel Flynn.

Openings Available At YMCA Camps

Openings are still available for the Aug. 11-25 sessions of the YMCA resident camps, Camp Hayward and Burgess, in South Sandwich.

Both camps are under the direction of Gilman Fernald. For more information, call the Quincy YMCA, 479-8500.

Wayne Logan Honored For Saving Woman's Life In Fire

A Quincy man was recently honored for his part in saving the life of a woman in a North Weymouth fire on July 3.

Wayne A. Logan of 19 Germaine Ave., Quincy Point, a real estate salesman for the Jack Conway Company, was arriving with a potential buyer to view the home of Mrs. Martha Pomer on Prospect Hill Drive.

"I saw flames coming from the home," Logan said, "and one of the neighbors screamed that someone was in the house. The front door was covered in flames, so I ran to the side door and tried to look in, but the house was so full of smoke I couldn't see a thing.

"Then I got down low, and I saw Mrs. Pomer lying on the floor, semi-conscious and groaning. I crawled in and pulled her out."

Aided by one of Mrs. Pomer's neighbors, Logan got the woman outside and patted out the flames in her hair.

Logan was presented a special citation for "courage and bravery," by Jack Conway, president of the real estate company.

"I'm very proud that Wayne thought first of the woman trapped in the burning house

● Houghs Neck Women

Steamers, Neckers, Castaways, Bunnies Win

The Steamers defeated the Foxy Fillies, 15-7, in the Houghs Neck Women's Softball League.

The Steamers led by only one run after three innings but exploded for eight runs in the fourth, three scoring on a triple by Mal Morrill. Judy Morris went two for three and Judy Hall and Elaine Gibbons played well defensively. For the Fillies, who were finishing their season, Mary Gallagher and Janet Kirby each went four for five and Nancy Sullivan sparked at first base.

The Neckers defeated the Fillies, 9-2. Again it was the fourth inning which ruined the Fillies, who trailed, 2-0, after three. The Neckers scored four in the fourth, with Bobby Casey and Kathy Picarski having the key hits. Each went two for three. Chris Rimovitz played solid defense at second base. For the Fillies Margo Acciaviatti went two for three and Marion Provost's excellent base running accounted for one of the team's two runs. Defensively Lucy Daru excelled in short field.

The Castaways scored eight runs in the last two innings to come from behind and top the Good News Bunnies, 12-9. A grand slam home run by Jayne Reynolds highlighted a five-run sixth which tied the score. Jeanne Reynolds and Sandy O'Hare also hit home runs. For the Bunnies Shirley Lyons was two for three. Roberta Hurley pitched well and Bobbi Foley, playing third base for the first time, made some outstanding plays.

The Bunnies defeated the Hustlers, 9-7, as a switch in positions had Diane Maher playing third and Sue Hartley playing first. The moves paid off as each came up with excellent plays. For the Bunnies Sue Erickson went three for three and Shirley Lyons had some key hits. Bobbi Foley did some fine base running. June Farrand and Sue Pacetti hit well for the Hustlers.

The Castaways pushed across a run in the eighth inning to edge the Hustlers, 9-8. For the Castaways Sandy O'Hare pitched well and had two home runs. Linda Tatem drove in a run with a triple and scored herself. Gail Curran had a key hit and made a fine catch. For the Hustlers Helen Kelly had three hits. Sue Pacetti tripled for two runs and June Farrand and Pat Donovan played well on defense.

The Bunnies edged the Neckers, 6-5, with Roberta Hurley pitching and fielding her position well. Anne Maher, playing third base for the first time, played well and Monica Gamache sparked the Bunnies' hitting attack.

Aug. 16 At Adams Field

City Officials, News Media, Police Firefighters In MDA Doubleheader

The Quincy City Officials, News Media All Stars and the Quincy Police and Firefighters will play in a softball doubleheader to benefit Muscular Dystrophy Thursday, Aug. 16 at Adams Field, Quincy.

The Police and Firefighters will play in the first game starting at 6:30 p.m. The City Officials and News Media will clash at 8 p.m. under the lights.

All proceeds from the games, sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. City Councillor and Mrs. Leo Kelly are co-chairmen of the doubleheader.

City officials expected to play include Mayor Arthur Tobin, City Council President John Quinn, Councillors Daniel Raymondi, James Sheets, Steve McGrath, John Lydon, Joanne Condon, Frank McCauley, Leo Kelly, Senator Paul Harold, Rep. Michael Morrissey, Sheriff Clifford Marshall, School Committeewomen Mary Collins and Patricia Toland, City Treasurer Robert Fay, Executive Secretary George Riley, Purchasing Agent Rocky Rocuzzo, Assistant City Solicitor Dennis Harrington and Acting Planning Director James Lydon.

The News Media team will include Henry Bosworth Tom Henshaw, Bernie O'Donnell of The Quincy Sun, Bill Ketter and Fred Turner of The Patriot Ledger, Jay Asher, Herb Fontaine, Roy Lind of WJDA, Phil Canady of the Associated Press, and John Carlson of WEEI.

The Police lineup will include Ed Widdleton, Ernie Field, Dick Laracy, Tom Malvesti, Tom Fabrizio, Rich Tenore, Jerry Nichol, Tom Hickey, Frank Calabro, Jerry D'Arrigo, Tony Balzano and Bill Murphy.

The Fire Department has not yet released its lineup.

Old Colony DeMolay Defeats Peabody, 7-3

Old Colony DeMolay softball team of Quincy, the South Shore champion, defeated the Peabody chapter, the North Shore' top team, 7-3 Sunday.

Ken Olson pitched a four-hitter, errors helping Peabody score its three runs. Quincy collected 11 hits.

Old Colony started with two runs in the first inning on a single by Karl Olson, a triple by Ken Olson and a sacrifice fly by Bob Thomas. Peabody scored a run in the top of the second but Quincy came back with a run in its half when Steve Olson reached second on an error and Don DeCristofaro singled his home.

Peabody tied up with two in the top of the third but Quincy scored the winning run in the same inning when Karl Olson doubled, advanced on a fly by Steve DiMasi and scored on a single by Thomas.

Quincy added two runs in the fourth when Steve Olson reached second on an error. Dave Abbott reached on another error allowing Olson to score and Abbott scored on a double by Doug Eisan.

The final run scored in the sixth when Frank Rogier blasted his fourth home run of the season.

In Peabody's seventh, with a runner on first and one out, the first baseman Rogier made the play of the game when he grabbed a hard liner and tagged the runner for a game-ending double play.

Sunday Old Colony will play in the state finals.

Koch Broad Meadows District Awards Night

The Broad Meadows District of the Koch Club boys baseball and girls softball leagues will hold their 18th annual Parents and Awards Night tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m. at the Broad Meadows Junior High School field, Calvin Rd., Quincy.

Trophies will be awarded to boys and girls based on their attendance and will be presented to boys and girls in both leagues who have demonstrated reliability to their team and continued attendance during the playing season. Ice cream will be distributed.

The Koch Club is in its 31st year with the Broad Meadows District founded 18 years ago by Anthony T. Delmonico, district director. Delmonico has been associated with the Koch Club for 20 years spending two years with the North Quincy District before returning to his own area to form the Broad Meadows District in 1962. He and his wife, Mrs. Gerry Delmonico, have been instrumental in providing wholesome recreational enjoyment for thousands of boys and girls and men and women in baseball, softball, basketball and bowling activities.

The Broad Meadows District, since 1964, has annually awarded $100 each to a boy and girl graduate of Quincy High School. These scholarships have totaled $3,200 of the $9,000 presented by the Koch Club since 1959. The Koch Club, in 1973 on the 25th anniversary of the organization, established a long range proposal guaranteeing perpetual annual scholarships. The 25th anniversary events brought $3,900 for the project and the North Quincy and Broad Meadows Districts donated $1,000 each. The interest and donations have increased the fund to over $9,000.

The Broad Meadows District since 1962 has held annual Christmas programs, including food baskets, toys and Santa's visits to shut-in children.

$1.6 Million Seen

State Aid To City Less Than Mayor Hoped

Mayor Tobin is disappointed in the amount of state aid that is projected to be coming to Quincy and he has let Gov. Edward J. King know of his unhappiness.

will override the veto too.

Tobin said it's too early to tell what the anticipated return from the state will do to the city's tax rate since the cherry sheet is not expected for a few more weeks.

The lesser amount of state aid is also expected to play a role in the efforts of city employees to obtain a raise. Some have been working without a contract for a year.

"We were anticipating a greater amount of local aid," said Tobin. "We have been telling union representatives of this right along."

Tobin estimates that Quincy will be getting about $1.6 million in new state aid under the state's distribution formula.

But that figure could rise to $2.1 million if the city receives $500,000 in state reimbursement to City Hospital for care of welfare patients.

Earlier this week, the Mass House overrode Gov. King's veto of the hospital reimbursement and Sen. Paul D. Harold said the possibility is good that the Senate

"We're still looking for money. I need between $4 and $5 million over and above all our other problems to grant cost of living raises. I don't have it. I don't know where it is. Nobody else will tell me where to get it. It's either that or a substantial tax increase or lay some people off."

City Gets New Major Retailer At Gilchrist's

By TOM HENSHAW

T. J. Maxx, a major retailer selling brand name merchandise at discount prices, will be opening a new store late in the fall in a completely renovated Gilchrist Building in the Parkingway.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Mayor Tobin; Mark Dickinson of Grossman Properties, owners of the building; and Richard Stoller, director of operations to T. J. Maxx.

Stoller said the store will occupy 21,000 square feet of the building and will employ close to 100 people at the start, "shading down" to about 65, most of them from Quincy, within two months after the opening.

Dickinson said he is also dickering with a clothing store and a shoe store for space on the ground floor and with a furniture and appliance store for space on the lower level.

The building, including the Garland store, will be completely refurbished at a cost of some $800,000 which Grossman Properties will obtain through issuance of a commercial revenue bond, at a preferred interest rate.

A special meeting of the City Council Tuesday night approved the bond, a state-approved financial maneuver under which the lender does not pay taxes on the interest.

Stoller described T. J. Maxx as a wholly owned subsidiary of Zayre's -- but not a discount store.

"We dislike the use of the term discounting because we're not doing it," he said. "We don't discount. We just pass on savings at 20 to 60 percent off on brand names."

"The Quincy area offers us a good opportunity from the standpoint of the potential shopper we are looking for," said Bernard Galtman, real estate manager for T. J. Maxx.

"We are looking for an upper middle class market with a family size over three. The Quincy trading area has 250,000 people with an average family income of $16,000 and a family size of 3.2."

T. J. Maxx is based in Framingham. The Quincy facility will be its seventh store in Massachusetts. By the end of the year there will be 30 stores nationally, including ones in Chicago and Charlotte, N.C.

"We are starting to ring the Greater Boston area," said Stoller, noting that there are other stores in Stoughton and Norwood.

"We look at Quincy as an opportunity for us to present our merchandise in a city that seems to be on the upsurge once again," he added.

"The improvement in the highway network serving downtown Quincy is a valuable tool in attracting people to the

Tobin Gets Top Spot On 3-Name Primary Ballot

Mayor Tobin's name will appear first on the ballot in the Sept. 11 preliminary election, followed by those of Abe M. Itkin and Michael Jovanovic, in that order.

The ballot spots were drawn Tuesday by City Clerk John Gillis for the $35,000 election in which the only contest will be the one to reduce the number of candidates for Mayor from three to two.

The general election, in which voters will cast ballots for a mayor, nine city councilors and three members of the school committee, will be held Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Tobin Blames State

Tax Bills To Be Late Again—Around October

Quincy's tax bills will be in the mail late again this year -- but, Mayor Tobin hastened to add, it is the fault of the state and not of his administration.

For one thing, the cherry sheet, the yearly statement under which the state balances its financial give and take with the city, is late in getting out. It's expected late this week or early next week.

For another thing, the state has not yet approved the format of the tax bills, including the interest rate for late payment. A bill setting a new format currently is awaiting Gov. King's signature.

"We should have the bill forms printed and in hand by Sept. 15 so that we can work on them," said Tobin. "They should be in the mail by Sept. 30."

"The treasurer and the auditor have informed me that we can't meet that timetable."

Treasurer Robert Foy said the very earliest that tax bills can be put in the mail is the end of October, after which the taxpayers will have 30 days in which to get up the payment.

Due to the delay, Foy said, the city will have to borrow about $4 million more to meet ongoing expenses while waiting for tax collections to start rolling in.

Along with a "roll over" past Nov. 1 of past borrowings in anticipation of taxes, the city will be paying $70-75,000 in interest on loans totalling $12-16 million, said Foy.

Announcement of the tax rate also will be delayed until after the arrival of the cherry sheet, which tells how much the city will have to pay out to such as the MDC, the MBTA and the county, as well as how much it will receive in state aid and reimbursements.

The delay in getting out the cherry sheet was occasioned by the late passage of the state budget and a long period of state indecision on the formula under which state aid to cities and towns would be distributed.

City Auditor Charles L. Shea said the administration will have to study the cherry sheet for a few days before calculating the 1980 tax rate, which then has to be approved by the State Department of Revenue.

But even if the tax rate is set within a week of the cherry sheet and the state approves the billing format, there will still be a wait of six to eight weeks while the bill forms are printed and days longer than that while 23,000 tax bills are filled out.

'Wildcat' Or Stray?

Girl 'Doing Well' After Attack By Mysterious Cat

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Police are investigating a report of a wildcat or bobcat, but more likely a large and dangerous stray cat, in the Germantown housing project.

The report comes from an attack by the still-identified animal on an eight-year-old girl outside her Duane St. home Saturday night. The child required plastic surgery after being clawed and bitten, suffering severe cuts and scratches on her face, eyelid, mouth and head.

"She's doing well, thank God," her mother said Tuesday. "It could have been worse."

The mother was reluctant to discuss the incident.

"We have no idea what it was, and we don't want to start a panic down here," she said.

The girl reportedly told police the animal was much larger than a domestic housecat possibly a bobcat or wildcat.

But police and Clement O'Brien of the Quincy Housing Authority, which runs the project, have their own ideas.

"People down there are claiming there is a wildcat or something like that. We don't believe that at all,"

New Houghs Neck Drugs, Alcohol Committee Meets

The newly formed Houghs Neck Community Committee for the Illegal Use and Sale of Drugs and Alcohol scheduled its first meeting for Wednesday, Aug. 15, at 8 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, Houghs Neck.

A panel of city officials and professional people will be present to answer questions from the community.

Panel members will include:

Nancy Sullivan, community resident; David Colton, president of the Houghs Neck Community Council; Ward 1 Councillor Leo Kelly; Councillor Francis McCauley; John Mahoney, of the School Department; Lts. William Murphy and Walter Lynch, of the Quincy Police Department, and Quincy Court Clerk Dennis Ryan.

The committee will meet monthly. Residents are invited. News items on the committee will be published in the Houghs Neck Bulletin.

Committee members are Nancy Sullivan, David Colton, Joan Withan, Hank Dondero, Sally Burge, David McMillan and Priscilla Little.

Save Gas and Money ...

City Councillor Leo J. Kelly took the Army Corps of Engineers on a tour of the Ward 1 waterfront last week and came away hopeful that something may at last be done about flooding and erosion problems.

"Some areas look like something will be done," said Kelly after spending four hours with Corps Planner Joseph J. Miliano while other Corpsmen took pictures and sightings of the problem areas.

Two areas that look promising, said Kelly, are Island Ave., where erosion has created a 100-foot drop, and Edgewater Drive, where water continually breaks over the low sea wall.

Raising the Edgewater Drive sea wall, he said, would relieve a dangerous situation in the Turner St. area.

"The federal government spent a lot of money to improve the Turner St. area after the blizzard," said Kelly, "but water has been coming over the sea wall even without a driving wind."

"It would cost less money to raise the wall than it's costing to repair homes."

Kelly and Miliano also toured the St. Germaine area of Germantown, Heron Beach, Chickatabut Beach and Rock Island Cove.

He said they talked about employing means other than sea walls to control flooding and erosion. They spoke of dams, rip raps and breakwaters, he said.

Kelly said the City Planning Department is redesigning its specifications for a new public boat landing, which was badly damaged in the Blizzard of February, 1978.

The city has $43,000 -- $30,000 in federal funds and $10,000 from a city appropriation -- to pay for repairs but the first time the job went out for bids the low bid was far in excess of it.

$180,000 In Plumbing, Gas Fitting Work

The city's department of plumbing and gas fitting inspection issued 277 permits for over $180,000 in work during July, according to James A.

Erwin Jr., plumbing and gas inspector.

In the plumbing category, 222 inspections were made, 136 permits issued, for an estimated $92,890 in work and $752 in fees collected.

The estimated cost for gas fitting work approved totalled $88,735, with 133 inspections made, 141 permits issued and $782 in fees collected.

Declining Enrollment Cause

School Committee Cuts Four Teachers, Fifth Bows Out

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The School Committee has confirmed its cutback of four elementary school teachers due to declining enrollments.

A fifth teacher, who had planned to fight her dismissal, dropped her request for a hearing when she got a job in another school system.

The four teachers dismissed were Cheryl Cahill, Patricia Smith, Karen Flaherty and Mary Kennedy. They were chosen on the basis of seniority - the so-called "last hired - first fired" system.

The five women are teachers in the system's elementary schools, which has been hit first by the declining enrollments, and where 90 percent of the teachers are female.

Mary Foley had originally agreed to be dismissed with the other four, then changed her mind, saying she was qualified for another opening in the Quincy school system.

The committee had been ready to hear her side of the dismissal, but was informed by School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, that she had received a job offer from another school system, making the question moot.

The four teachers dismissed had signed agreements accepting a termination date of Dec. 31, 1979. They have been placed on leave without pay until then and will be offered, in the order of their seniority, any elementary school openings between now and then.

The four dismissals were approved but not until after some parliamentary wrangling.

The dismissals required a two-thirds vote - five votes from among the six elected members and Mayor Arthur Tobin, who acts as committee chairman.

On the first ballot, committee members Joan Picard, Francis Anselmo, Mary Collins and vice chairwoman Patricia Toland approved the dismissals.

Voting "present" were Christopher Kennedy, whose wife, Mary, was among the four to be dismissed; John Sullivan, whose daughter is a teacher in the system and Tobin, who said he had not been provided with enough information to make a judgement on the cutbacks.

Kennedy would have been placed in a direct conflict of interest by voting on the dismissal, while Sullivan described his situation as "a possible conflict of interest."

Noting that the committee had reached an apparent impasse on the matter, Sullivan offered to change his vote to support the dismissals "if I can be assured that there is no conflict of interest on my part and that this will not come back to haunt me."

Atty. James Toomey, representing the committee's counsel, the firm of Murphy, Lamere and Murphy, told Sullivan that since his daughter was not being considered in the vote, he did not have "a direct financial interest" in the matter, as outlined in the state's conflict of interest law.

The committee voted to reconsider its earlier ballot, and Sullivan's change of heart gave the board the five votes needed to officially approve the dismissals.

Committee member Mary Collins, noting the problems the board has had getting a two-thirds vote on dismissals and commenting that layoffs may become an annual ritual in the next decade, said the board should try to change the law in question.

Instead of requiring a two-thirds vote of all members, she said, the law should accept a two-thirds vote of eligible members, discounting those in conflict of interest.

Tobin, after describing the lengthy legislative procedure necessary to change a state general law, told her "I wouldn't hold my breath."

"It's better than we have now," she answered.

"I'm not disagreeing with you," Tobin said.

"There's a lot of merit to what Mrs. Collins is saying," commented Anselmo.

The committee, on the advice of Mrs. Toland, voted to table the matter, while gathering more information on changing that part

Brink's Truck, 24-Hour Guard For Constitution's Visit Here

A Brinks security truck, accompanied by state, MDC and Quincy police, will bring several sheets of aging and yellowed paper to Quincy next month.

The paper is the Massachusetts State Constitution, now approaching its 200th birthday and the centerpiece of the constitutional Bicentennial celebration, scheduled for Sept. 6-9 here.

Secretary of State Michael Connolly last week approved the loan of the constitution to the city for four days and spelled out security measures to be taken on behalf of the precious documents.

Those measures include a full police escort between the State House on Beacon Hill and the John Quincy Adams house on Franklin Street and back, a 24-hour guard by a Quincy policeman and firefighter and a viewing case to be constructed for the fragile papers.

Connolly listed the following specifications for the display case:

"Chrome legs, (detachable), wooden sides, ultra-violet shielding plexiglass top, perforated masonite, felt-covered bottom (for air circulation) set at a front-to-back upward slope, front height, 30 inches, rear height, 40 inches."

"The cabinet itself will measure 36 inches wide and have a straight run of 8 feet and have a curved section of 15 feet, for a total length of approximately 23 feet."

The constitution, upon which the U.S. Constitution and many others are thought to be modeled, will be on display to the public during the four-day celebration.

"It should be understood that placement of the Constitution is undertaken as a special exception for the City of Quincy in recognition of the uniquely important role of the Adams site in the preparation of this document and the 200th Anniversary of its drafting," Connolly said in a letter to Mayor Arthur Tobin.

The city is responsible for the safety of the constitution during its four-day stay, Connolly said.

Germantown Girl Attacked By Cat

said Lt. Thomas Casey.

"Nobody down there has any animal like that, that we or the police could find out," said O'Brien, QHA administrator.

The victim, who is about four feet tall and weighs about 50 pounds would have been hurt much worse by a full-sized wildcat or bobcat, Casey said. "It would have torn her head off," he said.

Police are keeping an open mind on the matter, though. "We don't know for sure; we're still looking into it," he said.

According to O'Brien, the family gave this account of the incident to the QHA:

The girl heard the sound of a cat crying outside their home at about 11 p.m. Saturday and thought it was the family cat. She opened the door, stepped out onto the porch and the unknown animal leaped upon her head, biting and scratching. Her injuries were "pretty extensive," according to O'Brien.

Casey thought the cat may have been an unusually large stray.

"A stray cat will attack," he said. QHA regulations allow tenants to own cats, O'Brien said.

"According to the tenant agreement, we can't do anything about pets, unless they become a health hazard. And how can you prove that?" he asked.

of the law.

The committee has until early December to file a bill on the matter, if it so chooses, Tobin said.

In other business the School Committee:

- Tabled any action on the North Quincy High honor roll until its next meeting. Mrs. Toland said some parents of North students, who want the present system changed, had been told the matter wouldn't come up that night and didn't attend the meeting. In fairness to them, she said, the board should delay any action.

North's honor roll system was changed this year to match that of Quincy High, which includes ability rather than marks alone. Grades in advanced and college-prep courses are weighted heavier than those in basic and standard courses. Critics of the new system claim it denies students in basic and standard courses the incentive of making the honor roll.

- Received Dr. Creedon's financial report on the 1978-79 fiscal year. The department returned $29,864.71 in appropriations to the city, the smallest amount returned in several years, according to Dr. Creedon.

- Approved a work schedule for the school department's custodians for 1979-80.

The schedule cuts from 29 to 20 the number of Saturdays during the school year in which all schools are fully staffed.

When asked by committee member Joan Picard if this cutback would hurt the system in any way, Dr. Creedon replied Saturday "is not a time of high productivity. However, there are things that need to be done."

Each school will have at least one custodian on every Saturday, he said.

Unfortunately, he added, Saturday work has become a tradition for the system's custodians and they have come to count on the overtime pay - at "time and a half" - as part of their regular salary.

- A scholarship honoring Miss Janet Jensen, retiring assistant principal of the Cranch School, was approved as part of the department's official scholarship program. The winner of the award, to be chosen by merit, will be a Quincy High graduate who is a former student of Miss Jensen until 1984 and, after that, any Cranch School graduate.

Chaplain Malcolm Brummit To Speak At Houghs Neck Congregational

Chaplain Malcolm J. Brummitt will return to speak Sunday at Houghs Neck Congregational Church, where he was ordained into the Ministry in 1959.

Chaplain Brummitt, now a Major in the U.S. Army, will speak at the 9:30 a.m. service of worship. A 1953 graduate of Quincy High School, he attended Boston University, received his bachelor of arts degree from Baker University, Kansas, majoring in philosophy and psychology, and also graduated from Hartford Seminary.

Hartford, Conn.

While a pre-ministerial student at Hartford Seminary, he served the Memorial Methodist Church where a newly built auditorium in the educational unit was named "Brummitt Hall" to honor his work.

Chaplain Brummitt was an active member in the Houghs Neck Congregational choir and president of the youth groups, served as sexton, and was the first in Houghs Neck and second in Quincy to receive the Boy Scout's "God and Country Award".

Major Brummitt has served as chaplain to Army troops in Vietnam and Washington, D.C. His parish is now on the Army base in Brooklyn, New York.

Friends of seven Brummitt children and their parents who now live at Tobin Towers, are invited to attend on Sunday for worship, with a coffee hour after the service.

Rev. Robert L. Johnston, of Quincy, also ordained in the Houghs Neck Congregational Church will be the speaker Aug. 26.

RSVP To Receive $24,950 In County Funds

The Norfolk County budget will include $24,950 for the South Shore Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP). State Senator Paul D. Harold has announced.

Harold said the matching funds -- more than double last year's $10,000 -- will remain in the budget after conferences with the Joint Legislative Committee on Counties.

The county funds are matched with federal funds, and will allow the South Shore RSVP to continue and expand its programs this year.

The Norfolk County budget is expected to be enacted in the Senate this week, and Senator Harold said he had flagged the RSVP money for special attention to make certain the funds remained in the budget.

"The RSVP program has been of tremendous benefit to our cities and towns through coordination of volunteer programs for senior citizens, and I felt it was extremely important that this excellent program be maintained and expanded," he said.

In Quincy, South Shore RSVP operates at 22 locations, including: the American Red Cross, Atlantic Neighborhood Center, Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore, Children's Protective Services, Family Service Association, Fenno House, Friel Nursing Home, Jewish Community Center, Lincoln-Hancock Senior Citizens Club, Long Island Hospital, North Quincy Nutrition Site, Pagnano Towers, Quincy City Hospital, Quincy Nursing Home, Quincy Nutrition Site, Quincy Public Libraries, Quincy Public Schools, Quincy YMCA RSVP Blood Pressure Clinic, Patrick Quill, 41,

Carmen's Union Official

A funeral mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) for Patrick Quill, 41, a union official who died Friday while visiting relatives in Ireland.

Mr. Quill was a special representative with the international office of the Amalgamated Transit Union, AF-1-CIO and past president of the Boston Carmen's Union. Born in County

Kerry, Ireland, he came to the country 22 years ago and was a Quincy resident since 1969.

He is survived by his wife Nora Mac (Sheehan) Quill of Quincy, his mother, Mrs. Nora (Sullivan) Quill of Ireland, a daughter Peggy Marie and two sons, Daniel J. and John Francis, all of Quincy; three brothers, John and Frank of Ireland and Daniel of Africa and two sisters, Maureen Quill and Ita Quill of Ireland.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) at Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy and burial will be in Pine Hill Cemetery. Visiting hours were scheduled Wednesday for 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. at the Stephen Higgins Funeral Home, 2 Neponset Ave., Dorchester.

Mrs. Gertrude McInnis, 66, Retired Nurse

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Mrs. Gertrude (Swinson) McInnis, 66, who died Saturday after a short illness.

Mrs. McInnis, a retired nurse at the Tufts New England

Medical Center in Boston, was born in Gloucester but lived the last 25 years in Quincy.

She was the wife of the late John A. McInnis. She is survived by a son, John A. McInnis, Jr. of Amherst, N. H.

Funeral arrangements were by the Deware Brothers Funeral Home of Quincy and burial was in Cherry Hill Cemetery, Gloucester.

Fall Liturgy Conference At Notre Dame Academy

The South Region Liturgy Committee announces that a Fall Liturgy Conference will be held Sept. 21 and 22, at Notre Dame Academy, Hingham.

The conference will feature talks by local liturgists and some members of the St. Louis' Jesuits. Persons interested in improving the quality of worship such as pastors, lectors, cantors, religious and laity, are invited to attend the conference.

The conference will aim to help those just beginning to develop their liturgy skills, those who have some experience and those who have long standing experience in planning the worship experience.

Red Cross Weekly Blood Donor Center At Point Congregational

The Greater Quincy Chapter of the Red Cross has established a weekly blood donor center at Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy.

The center will be open every Monday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and appointments may be made by calling the Red Cross at 472-2700.

Gregory I. Galvin, chairman of the blood services committee of the chapter, reminded prospective blood donors that summer blood needs of patients are constant, with a 1,300 blood unit demand each day. The center will operate throughout the summer and on a year round basis.

The weekly center was established to give Quincy residents a regular donor site with the same hours in the hope people will make it part of their routine to donate blood.

In addition an 8 week Club is being organized for donors willing to donate every eight to 10 weeks up to five times a year.

Valerie Cogswell,

Melinda Meredith Baptised

Valerie Cogswell and her daughter, Melinda Meredith, were both baptised Sunday by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor of the First Church of Squantum.

The right hand of fellowship was extended by Dr. Langevin and Ellen Ogilvie, who represented the Board of Deacons of the church.

The sermon was "What Protestants Believe About Baptism." It was one in a series that Dr. Langevin is preaching this summer on Protestant beliefs.

Mayor Tobin said he plans to ask the City Council at its first meeting in September for authority to transfer $180,000 to refurbish the Ross Parking garage, adjacent to Gilchrist's.

Austin Wickens, executive secretary of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, greeted T. J. Maxx with the words, "You're just the type of store we've been looking for."

Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore chamber of Commerce, also was on hand for the announcement.

"The thing I find most encouraging," he said, "is the fact that this decision wasn't made with the heart. It was made with the head on the basis of cold, hard statistical facts."

Iranian, Polish Youths Accepted

Two Foreign Students Given Green Light To Attend School Here

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The School Committee, which usually deals in matters of interest only between the Neponset and Fore Rivers, engaged in some international maneuvering at its most recent meeting.

Two foreign students one Polish, one Iranian will attend city high schools, but only if their families can pay the annual tuition of about $3,000.

The board reviewed the case of Bozena Brodzik and decided the 17-year-old's knowledge of English had progressed far enough for her to attend regular classes at North Quincy High School.

Also discussed was the request of Jamshid Ashourian, who asked that his cousin Ramin Lavi, now in Iran, be allowed to enter 10th grade here. The committee agreed to approve a federal 1-20 form, the first step towards a student's visa.

Miss Brodzik first came before the committee in August of 1978 when her aunt Mrs. Jadwga Osmak of Wollaston asked that the young visitor be allowed to enter Quincy schools. Miss Brodzik, then on a visit from her native Poland, spoke little English at the time.

She was assigned to the Boston school system's Abraham Lincoln School, which teaches non-English speaking children and trains them in the new language.

Her tuition at the school was billed to the Quincy school system, which, in turn, billed the Osmaks for that amount.

Twelve months later, according to Carol Lee Griffin, Quincy's director of pupil personnel, Miss Brodzik's English has progressed to the point where she is ready to attend regular classes in the system. The committee agreed to approve her assignment to North Quincy High, providing the Osmaks sign a notarized statement of agreement pledging to be responsible for the annual tuition.

The tuition is a figure based on the school system's cost per pupil which School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon said was $1,800 during 1978-79 and is expected to rise each year.

A similar amount is billed to all foreign students who attend schools here, said Creedon, under the belief that Quincy's taxpayers shouldn't bear the cost of their education.

"People who would like to attend Quincy school system should have to pay," commented committee member Joan Picard, after hearing the request of Jamshid Ashourian, on behalf of his cousin Ramin Lavi.

Lavi's entire family is hoping to leave Iran to escape the turmoil there, Ashourian said. Ramin, the youngest in the family, is the only one who would be attending Quincy schools.

"I know his parents are willing to pay the tuition," Ashourian said, but he pledged, in their absence, to be responsible for the payments.

Like the Osmaks, he will be asked to sign a notarized statement of agreement for the tuition.

Board member Francis Anselmo went even further, proposing that the family post a performance bond against the payment. However, Creedon, noting that the student could be deported for non-payment, said he felt this was sufficient protection for the city.

Upon Ramin's arrival in the county, a decision will be made as to whether his English is advanced enough for him to enter regular classes or whether he should be assigned to Boston's Abraham Lincoln School, said Bozena Brodzik was.

"We won't know until we talk to him," Creedon said.

Jewels & Gems

by Stan Manin

The trend in ring fashion is following the trend in other jewelry, toward the simple. A medium-sized ring, set with several small stones, more tailored and less ostentatious, goes best with today's practical and more tailored clothing. Tiger's eye and opals have the kind of subtle tone that is popular. The future seems to hold a movement toward even more simple lines. Delicate, feminine, cut out shapes with perhaps a single tiny set stone, a diamond or colored gem, seems to be the way of the future for rings. Fashion trends in general determine jewelry fashion. A coordinated look is always an attractive look.

You'll find a complete choice of precious and semi-precious stones, for rings or other pieces of jewelry, available from us at GRONO & CHRISTI, INC., 536 Adams St., East Milton, 696-1490. Jewelry, for men and women, of all ages, is handled and we're always happy to help you. When looking for fine lines of greeting cards and gifts, stop next door and visit our girls, Ellie and Meryl, at "Something Special". We're open from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Mon. thru Sat.

HELPFUL HINT:
Do not hesitate to give a ring as a gift. It can always be fit and sized later.

Robert E. Dunn, Jr. Awarded Holy Cross' Bean Classic Scholarship

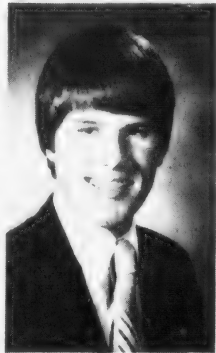

Robert E. Dunn Jr., of Quincy, a recent graduate of Boston College High School, has been named a winner of Holy Cross College's prestigious Henry Bean Classic Scholarships.

This is the second straight year a Quincy student has won the award. Last year Steven M. Penella, of 49 Holyoke St., North Quincy and also a Boston College High graduate was a winner.

The award, which covers tuition for all four years of study is given annually to two freshmen, who will major in the classics. The award is based on academic merit alone.

Dunn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dunn of 97 Putnam St., Quincy Center, was senior class valedictorian and the top student in each of his four years at Boston College High. He is a member of the National Honor Society and a commended student by the National Merit Society.

Among his other activities and honors are:

ROBERT DUNN

Winner of the City-wide Bicentennial Oratorical Contest and a two-time county finalist in the American Legion Oratorical contest.

Third-prize winner in the National Historical Society's essay contest.

Selected as a member of the Irish Way Program - in which students from across the country are chosen to study Irish history and culture for six weeks, member of the Irish American Cultural Institute and Comhaltas Ceoltóirí Éireann and chairman of St. John's Irish Cultural Night.

Member of the Quincy and National Historical Societies.

Member of the State Police Striders Track Team.

Member of St. John's Spiritual Development Commission and choir member, guitarist, acolyte and lector at the church.

Member of the National Pastoral Musicians group and volunteer worker for Cancer and Cystic Fibrosis campaigns and in the last governor's election.

He has a brother Brian, 17, who is a senior at BC High and two sisters, Colleen, 11 and Kristin, 9.

Quincy Employees For Dedication

Thirteen Quincy residents were among 60 employees of Milton Hospital cited for their dedication and service to the facility at a dinner dance at the Sheraton-Tara Hotel, Braintree, in observance of National Hospital Week.

The Quincy employees who received recognition pins are with the business office, dietary, housekeeping, maintenance, purchasing, admitting and nursing departments.

Pins were given to:

Anne McDonald, Ida Barese, Charles Matkamski, Mary Locke, Amelia Koss, Eleanor Nason, Philip Donnell, Mary Pettitt, Marjorie Galvin, Margaret Quinlan, Phyllis Watt, Barbara Gilliland and Mildred Stewart.

City Club Donating $1,000 In Equipment To Quincy Hospital

The Quincy City Club is planning to provide $1,000 in equipment for the Quincy City Hospital announces Richard J. Koch, president of the organization.

Arrangements for the gift have been made with Dr. Gerard L. Guaghan. The gift includes a projector and six medical cartilage programs to be used in the Intensive Care Unit of the Hospital for the education of patients with heart disease.

The gift will be formally presented to the City Council for official acceptance on behalf of the City at a later date. City Councillor Joanne Condon will introduce the Order for official Council action.

The equipment donated is in memory of the late Richard J. Conboy, with a $1,000 donation to the Quincy City Club with the stipulation that could assist others.

The City Club held its fifth cookout for the staff and members of Happy Acres Day Camp Wednesday at Pageant Field, Merrymount Park with 100 persons in attendance.

The annual event is one of the Community Projects sponsored by the Quincy City Club in its yearly series of charitable and civic programs.

Harold Seeks Ban On Cancer Insurance

Sen. Paul D. Harold says he plans to support legislation to ban the sale of "cancer insurance" policies in Massachusetts because "they do not deliver the coverage they promise."

Harold said sales tactics, especially by insurance companies which sell policies by mail and flyer prey upon the fears of the public and discourage people from providing themselves with adequate general health insurance.

He cited a study by the National Consumers Union which found such policies offer only "fragmentary protection", even though they appear to be comprehensive, and usually provide no coverage at all for complications caused by cancer.

Harold noted that New York allows "cancer insurance" to be sold only in conjunction with broader health coverage, while New Jersey calls the "cancer policy" inherently misleading and bans it entirely, as does Connecticut.

He said Massachusetts Health Commissioner Alfred Frechette has concluded that "cancer insurance" is of little value and has urged the legislature to ban its sale.

"Companies which prey on the fears of the public, promising them coverage for extremely expensive treatments, but failing to really provide it, must not be allowed to delude our citizens into believing they are getting something they are not, and certainly should not be allowed to frighten them into buying coverage which will do them little good," Harold said.

New Emergency Technician Courses At Hospital

Applications are now being accepted for a new series of Emergency Medical Technician Courses which begin at Quincy City Hospital Sept. 17.

Two classes will be held: Monday and Wednesday, 7-10 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursdays, also 7-10 p.m.

The course will deal with basic level care in an emergency setting.

Subjects will include an overview of the components of the Emergency Medical Services System; management of respiratory and cardiac disorders; care of trauma victims; management of hypovolemic shock, emergency child birth and other topics.

For more information, call 773-6100, ext. 308.

John Felci is the hospital director of training.

McGrath Asks MDC To Clean Glass From Wollaston Beach

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath has asked the MDC to do something about the constantly recurring problem of broken glass on Wollaston Beach.

"I have received quite a few complaints from parents concerning this problem," he said. "They are quite naturally afraid that their children will suffer cuts from the glass."

"It is the responsibility of the MDC to have the beach properly cleaned.

"There are still a couple of weeks of warm weather ahead for beach users, who should not have to worry about problems of broken glass littering the beach."

Atlantic Seniors May Apply For Smoke Detectors At Center

The Atlantic Neighborhood Center will be accepting applications for smoke detectors for senior citizens Friday, Aug. 17 from 9 a.m. to noon.

The center, aided by a $5,000 federal Community Development Block Grant, hopes to provide 400 smoke detectors for senior citizens in the area, according to Jane Ford, director of the center. Initial response to the program has been "excellent", she said.

It is the center's policy that, to maintain the confidentiality of the applicants, applications will be taken only by members of the Atlantic Self-Help Paint Committee, which arranged the grant. Thomas Nutley, chairman of the committee, will meet with applicants at the center Friday morning.

Senior citizens unable to make it to the center can meet with members of the committee in their homes.

To receive the smoke detectors, applicants must meet the following guidelines:

- They must be residents of "the Atlantic target area," a 120-street section.
- They must be 60 or over.
- They must own and live in a one- or two-family home
- Annual income must not exceed $10,000 for one person and $11,500 for two persons.

To find out if you live in the Atlantic target area or for any other information on the program, call the Atlantic Neighborhood Center at 328-1708.

TO ALL HOMEOWNERS:
SAVE MONEY WHILE SAVING ENERGY AT THE SAME TIME.

Today when mortgage rates are so high, many home-owners are looking to improve what they already own. They are also looking for ways to combat sky-rocketing fuel prices at the same time.

If you are looking to insulate or weather-strip your home, or if you want to install energy saving devices such as storm windows and doors, wood stoves, insulated drapes or window quilts, a heatolator for your fireplace, solar panels, water saving devices for your faucets, you qualify for some real savings from us and the Federal Government.

We'd like to help you make these energy saving conversions.

Our Energy Saving Home Improvement Loans are available at 10% per annum which, as you know, is lower than most mortgage rates today. And remember at Income Tax time, an IRS approved energy loan allows 15% Federal Tax Credit up to $300.

The time to act is now before materials and rates become higher than what they'll be in the Fall.

GERMAN MEASLES DANGER

Women who contract German measles while pregnant - especially during the first three months - run a high risk of suffering miscarriages or giving birth to children with heart defects, blindness, deafness, bone abnormalities, brain damage or other serious problems. The last epidemic of German measles occurred in 1964. It caused about 50,000 expectant mothers to suffer miscarriages or give birth to babies afflicted with a variety of severe physical and mental defects.

The most common carriers of German measles are children between the ages of one and 12 and especially those in kindergarten through the fourth grade. In children, German measles is a common and relatively mild disease characterized by fever, a runny nose and a rash lasting two or three days.

Measles [rubeola] and German measles [rubella] are two separate diseases and immunization for one does not offer protection against the other.

John Lydon Candidate For Ward 3 Re-election

John J. Lydon Jr. has announced his candidacy for a fourth term as city councillor from Ward 3, promising a firm commitment for continued constituent services.

"The ward councillor is the main point of interface between a citizen and his government," he said in his announcement.

"In light of this strategic position, the ward councillor is in a unique position to affect what appears to be a trend toward increasing voter alienation.

"It is the duty of the local councillor to be responsive and effective in dealing with the needs of his constituency. This is his primary responsibility."

Lydon, who has lived in Quincy for 21 years, is president of the Lydon Russell Funeral Home and a former director of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association.

He is a former Grand Knight of the North Quincy Knights of Columbus and a member of the Quincy Elks, St. Ann's Holy Name Society and the Democratic City Committee.

He was educated at Gate of Heaven High School in South Boston, Northeastern and the New England Institute. Presently, he serves as chairman of the Council's Finance Committee.

Lydon lists as some of his most recent accomplishments:

- Conceptual origin of Granite Place, senior citizens housing, and traffic lights on Granite St., resulting from his efforts on behalf of senior citizens and the handicapped.

- Introduction of an amendment to the zoning ordinances that would rezone the Furnace Brook Golf Course to open space, thus preventing future development of the area.

- Opposition to the issuance of a liquor license at the former Wollaston Golf Club.

- Worked for the completion of the North Quincy High School addition and renovation and opposed the closing of the Cranch School. He has advocated the concept of neighborhood education.

He said he was also instrumental in Council moves that resulted in a $1 million addition to Pneumatic Scale Corp. and the UDAG grant for a parking garage in downtown Quincy.

He also noted that he worked with residents of the Lakin Square area and bank administrators to bring about the new Quincy branch of the South Boston Savings Bank.

As chairman of the Council's Public Safety Committee, he said, he sponsored the Fire Department's efforts to acquire a new 100-foot aerial tower so badly needed by a modern fire department.

MDC Promises Cleanup Of W. Quincy Playground

The Metropolitan District Commission has promised to provide more maintenance activity in its playground on Bunker Hill Lane in West Quincy.

"The MDC district superintendent has said he will increase maintenance efforts in this area immediately and we should see an improvement there shortly," said Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

Morrissey said he had had a number of constituent complaints about the condition of the playground.

Primary Election $35,000 Farce

The stage has been set for one of the duller and in a sense, costliest preliminary elections in the city's history.

There's only one contest for Mayor on the Sept. 11 ballot. But City Clerk John Gillis estimates it will still cost an estimated $35,000. Or about as much as it would if there were also contests for City Council and School Committee.

GILLIS

Neither of incumbent Arthur Tobin's two challengers can be considered a major-name candidate so one of the smallest voter turnouts in the city's history is predicted.

If one of the two, say, was named Joseph LaRaia, you could count on a large voter turnout Sept. 11. A Tobin-LaRaia rematch would have them flocking to the polls.

Tobin's challengers are Abe Itkin and Michael Jovanovic.

Jovanovic, a college professor, ran for mayor four years ago as a complete political unknown and polled 211 votes.

Itkin, a hospital social worker who ran for governor last year as a write-in candidate, was recently released from Quincy City Hospital after a five-day stay. He had been admitted with chest pains.

"It was from too much heat, I'm running all the time," Itkin said. "There was no indication of a heart attack."

And there's no indication of one as he resumes strolling Hancock St., stopping passersby to "God Bless" them and in some instances break into song.

Neither Jovanovic or Itkin is going to generate much voter interest. Most voters are going to be turned off until the November final election and even that one won't exactly have voters storming the polls.

Meanwhile, the Sept. 11 one "contest" preliminary election looks more like a $35,000 farce.

It's a shame when a community can barely come up with enough candidates to hold an election.

DESPITE THE EXPECTED small voter turnout, the City Clerk's office must print enough ballots for every registered voter just in case some miracle day every registered voter decided to vote.

As of July 1, Quincy had 46,414 registered voters. Gillis has to have that many ballots on hand. With no major contest Sept. 11, he may not even need 5,000.

The $35,000 cost for ballots, police, poll workers, etc. might break down to somewhere around $5 to $7 for each vote cast.

INCIDENTALLY, in case you like to keep track of such things, those 45,414 registered voters include; 29,804 Democrats, 9,712 Independents and 6,898 Republicans.

Thirty or so years ago Quincy was a Republican stronghold and the standing joke was that Democrats held their political rallies in a telephone booth.

Times sure have changed.

YOU MIGHT ALSO be interested in another statistic. Women voters now outnumber men by 5,316. Women voters total 25,865 and men 20,549.

It would seem inevitable that some day in the near future we're going to have a Her Honor in what has always been His Honor's office.

WELL, James Sheets and Stephen McGrath don't have to worry about voter turnouts this year. Both have "free rides" to reelection.

Sheets has no opposition for his Ward 4 City Council seat and Stephen McGrath seeking his second term, also is unopposed. Both are all but officially re-elected now unless write-in candidates pop up in November.

RUTH GORDON will be honored in Westboro Aug. 25 when the Ruth Gordon Flicks theater is dedicated. She will be there to make the dedication speech.

Here's hoping that Quincy will soon finish the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater and have her back home to dedicate that. She's one of the great actresses of all times. A theater here named for her is a most appropriate honor.

JOHN BLAKE of Colony, Inc. just returned from a fishing trip to Lake Ontario, Canada. It was his second fishing expedition - first fresh water and he caught the most fish: 28 bass... The only other time he tried the rod and reel was as a college student and he landed a 6-foot sailfin deep sea fishing. (I don't know about you, but I'd like to get him on a lobster boat.)

425 From Quincy

Over 1,100 Youngsters E

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Most people don't think of summer jobs for high school- and college-age youths when they think of the CETA program.

Yet, the federally funded job program has provided jobs for over 1,100 local youths this summer - including 425 from Quincy - according to Kathleen Linehan, Quincy program manager for CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act).

The 425 young Quincy adults are employed in the summer youth programs, she said, in jobs as diverse as clean-up and maintenance, putting out a newspaper and working with handicapped children.

"We have people working with computers, with other people in hospitals, with old people, in carpentry and in day care," she said.

The youth workers make the minimum wage - $2.90 per hour - and work about 30 hours each week for two months. Their families must meet federal income limits to qualify for the program.

"The most obvious benefits of the summer youth program are the conservation projects that make the community look better. Less obvious is that we're taking 1,100 kids and trying to make them more responsible and to help them get a sense of value and self-worth," she said.

Congressman Brian Donnelly is a slightly less biased, but no less enthusiastic observer of the CETA programs. After visiting two CETA worksites in Quincy recently, he said, "I'm very impressed. I've always been a big supporter of CETA."

Besides the benefits for the cities and towns involved, he said, "it's a great education for the kids." Working on a community service project the youths learn "the work ethic" and pride in their city. Donnelly said.

"For $80 a week, it's not a bad investment. You save more in the long run," the congressman said.

Some of the CETA summer youth programs in Quincy include the following:

In Germantown, 70 youths are helping to clean up the Snug Harbor and River View housing projects. Under the direction of supervisor Jerry Swolnik, the group trim hedges, clear cellars, mow lawns, clean the beaches and sweep the streets, as requested by the area's residents.

THE SHOW GOES ON at the Crestview Nursing Home, as Kevin Daly, part of the CETA drama group, entertains residents of the home.

It's Like a Horror Movie

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

June, July and August - humid weather, relentless heat, but we could do nothing about it. To top this off, we had planes roaring over our heads - starting at 6:45 a.m. and taking our roofs off until 11:30 p.m. What can we do about this in North Quincy?

Don't attempt to telephone anyone during these hours; don't turn on the TV - it is useless, you won't hear a thing; the radio is out - and if you think you are going to read in silence - forget it. The planes are overhead, every few minutes. There is no relief.

This I suppose come under the heading of PROGRESS... but where can we go to find a little peace - even in our own homes? A respite from the struggle with the MTA - and then, the planes screaming overhead - its almost like one of those horror movies and you think it will stop any minute, but it doesn't.

Where can we go to get rid of this constant nuisance? Doesn't North Quincy rate at all with anyone who has some influence with the powers that be? Is anyone listening?

Five girls, employed at the South Shore Mental Health Center's Education Unit at Squaw Rock, Squantum, fill in for the school's staff during the summer, acting as both instructors and companions to the retarded children there.

Another group of youngsters, interested in the theater, put their talents to work entertaining the residents of the city's nursing homes. The drama group, under the direction of Bob Caputo, spent most of July at Central Junior High School preparing for its 29 performances for senior citizens during August.

The City of Quincy's printing department has gotten a lift this summer from 22 CETA teenagers working at the Quincy Vocational Technical High School. The school's print shop handles printing for the school, fire and police departments, among other customers.

Future journalists helped out on CETA's monthly newsletter, "Medley", and with "Flypaper", a publication sponsored by The Way Up, a non-profit corporation of churches, community groups and individuals.

Julie Deery, a CETA worker assigned to the city's planning department, is studying the history of some of Quincy's oldest buildings. Her supervisor, Robert Luongo, hopes the reports she researches and writes will help the owners of the buildings to receive federal funds for renovations.

High school students looking to catch up on school during the summer and earn some money at the same time take part in the CETA summer school at Eastern Nazarene College in Wollaston. The 22 youths attend classes in the morning and do general labor—painting, raking or cleaning—up during the afternoon, four days a week.

Referring to the wide range of CETA summer jobs, Kathy Linehan said, "many people think these kids only do maintenance work. There are in fact people doing maintenance work, but there's nothing wrong with that if they're well supervised. If they learn job responsibility at age 14, that's great. The kids actually pick up job skills."

Blood Supplies Low, Red Cross Seeks Donors

Jerome Hauer, of the American Red Cross Blood Services, reports that regional blood supplies for area hospitals will drop to the lowest level of the summer this week.

The Greater Quincy Chapter of the Red Cross urges local residents to donate blood at local donor centers or bloodmobiles to be set up at the following times and locations:

Mondays, 11 a.m.-5 p.m., Quincy Donor Center, Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy.

Aug. 20, 10 a.m.-4 p.m., South Shore Bank Annex, 1400 Hancock St., Quincy.

Aug. 15, 1-7 p.m., Summer School, South Franklin St., Hobb Brook.

Aug. 23, 2-8 p.m., Randolph Elks Hall, 21 School St., Randolph.

For an appointment, call the Greater Quincy Chapter at 472-2700.

People are the only source of this precious commodity and the need by hospital patients is always there.

Art And Humanities Matching Funds Available

Applications for the Massachusetts Council on the Art and Humanities matching funds program are now available. Senator Paul D. Harold announces.

The council's program provides matching state funds for non-profit organizations to preserve objects of artistic and historic significance to Massachusetts.

Harold said paintings, documents and rare books are among the kinds of materials which are eligible for preservation under the program, which last year totalled $35,400 for 46 projects statewide.

Awards are based on the artistic or historic merit of the material to be preserved, its accessibility to the public for viewing, the applicant's capacity to preserve the material, and financial need. Decisions on applications are made by the 15-member council.

The council also sponsors a Financial Assistance Program, a Local Projects Program, and a Technical Assistance Program.

Applications and further information may be obtained from the council's office at One Ashburton Place, Boston, Mass., 02108 or by calling 727-3668.

WEATHER CONDITIONS weren't the best for Saturday's racing but the full program was run. Here the 210s are shown on the second leg of their race.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of why Friday's Race Week activity was canceled. Richard Marcel of Wessagussett tries to right his boat after it tipped over because of the high winds.

2 Days Cut

Weather Hurts But Racing Outstanding

By TOM SULLIVAN

Although disappointed that two days of racing had to be canceled because of inclement weather, Quincy Bay Race Week Association President Chet Gillis calls last week's 42nd edition "a success".

"Three out of five isn't a bad average," he said. "What racing we did have provided some outstanding competition and we were pleased with the three days of racing we were able to have."

Gillis was especially disappointed that the colorful Marine Parade had to be canceled

Sports

Sunday.

"As far as we can figure out, it was the first time in at least 20 years that the parade had to be canceled," he said. "It was a shame because so much time and effort is put into decorating the boats."

Beautiful weather greeted the boatsmen on the first two days of racing with bright sunshine and favorable winds but on Friday high winds, heavy seas and the threat of squalls forced cancellation of all racing.

Saturday the weather was far from good but all classes raced from both the inside and outside lines and all divisions of the ocean races were held.

Sunday was the most disappointing day with all racing canceled and the Marine Parade washed out.

It was a wise decision to cancel the racing as winds gusting 35-45 knots out of the northeast were forecast along with heavy seas and intermittent rain. Outside Line chairman Ray Regan and Inside Line chairman Don Mathewson agreed on the cancellation.

The decisions were unpopular but the race chairmen must concern themselves first of all with the safety of the boatsmen.

Wessagussett Dominates Green Fleet Competition

The Green Fleet racing was dominated by Wessagussett skippers, sweeping the top three places and taking seven of the first 14 places.

Joseph Gallagher was the winner with 6 3/4 points, Susan Mathewson was second with 7 and Robert Costello third with 10 3/4.

Following were Tricia Moody, Town River, 11; Amy Hanrahan, Wessagussett, 15 3/4; Teddy Adamson, Town River, 17; Billy Dailey, Hull, 21; Chris Elsmore, Town River, 24; Brian Chase, Wessagussett, 30; John Knight, Wessagussett, 34; Kris Howard, Town River, 34; Kathy Fries, Hull, 34; Shelagh Kenney, Wessagussett, 36, and Billy MacDonald, Town River, 37.

Defeat Houghs Neck

Sons Of Italy Babe Ruth Champs

Quincy Sons of Italy Lodge is the city Babe Ruth League champion after defeating Houghs Neck Legion, three games to one, in the title playoff series.

The SOI won the deciding game, 6-1, after winning the first two games, 4-3 and 3-1, and losing the third game, 2-1.

The champions received excellent pitching from Brian Donovan, who won two games in the championship series, and from Pat Connelly and Jim Austin.

They also received timely hitting from Jim DePietro, Steve Howley and Bobby O'Brien. The defense was outstanding with Austin, Connelly and Mike Cristiani making excellent fielding plays in key situations.

In Houghs Neck's only win, Marty McLaughlin pitched three-hit ball while striking out 15 and walking only two. He struck out the first nine batters and his mates reeled off their fifth double play in three games.

HN scored a run in the second on a single by Tom O'Connor, who stole second and scored on Danny Dunn's single. HN added the winning run in the fourth on a single by Dunn and a double by Steve Sacchetti. The only SOI run came in the sixth on O'Brien's triple and a wild pitch.

McCann, Serafini FB Foursome Winners

Ginny McCann and Mario Serafini shot low gross of 40 in the weekly Scotch foursome at the Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Isabel Morrison and Jerry Petrocelli shot low net of 30. Priscilla O'Neill and Tony Spinello had second net of 31 and Pat Cugini and Matt Smith and Pat Tehan and Dick Corbin tied for third net of 32.

In last week's member-guest tournament Edna Phelps of Furnace Brook and Esther Aimola of South Shore shot low gross of 86.

New England AAU Junior Race Sept. 1

All interested Quincy runners under 19 are invited to run in the New England AAU junior 15-kilometer race sponsored by the Somerset Recreation Dept. Saturday, Sept. 1, at 11 a.m.

The race will start at Somerset High School on Route 138.

AAU championship medals will go to the first three juniors and the first junior team. There also will be awards to the first place finisher in Open, female, master and Somerset resident categories, also female master and junior.

Entries with $2 fee should be mailed to William Aguilar Jr.,

Director of Recreation, Town Office Building, Wood Street, Somerset 02726.

On the average it takes 1.2 seconds to make a field goal in football, including the snap from center, the ball placement and an accurate hit by the kicker.

LEARN NOT TO BURN tee shirt that help spread the fire safety message of the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) is presented to Vic DiGravio (center), a member of the NFPA sponsored Quincy team in the Babe Ruth League and a Quincy Sun news carrier. Coach Lee Staskiewicz (right) looks on as Corinne Broderick, association public affairs assistant, (left) makes the presentation. All team members received shirts from the nation's public advocate for fire safety which will move its headquarters from Boston to Quincy in 1981.

Brian Buckley Named Head Basketball Coach At QJC

Brian Buckley of 14 Ernest Avenue, Quincy, a longtime coach for the Quincy Recreation Department, has been appointed head basketball coach at Quincy Junior College by the School Committee.

Brian, who played four years of basketball at Abp. Williams and freshman ball at Boston State, has coached many Recreation Department teams and last winter his team won the city championship in a game played at Boston Garden as a preliminary to the Celtics game.

"While a senior at Boston State, I coached the junior varsity team at Boston College High," Buckley said. "I've also coached various amateur teams which have played in the Charlestown Boys club tournament and other tournaments. For one year I assisted Earl Vermillion at Quincy Junior College."

Brian played under two outstanding schoolboy coaches, Don Edmonston and Chuck Chevalier, at Abp. Williams.

He also is an avid golfer and played on the Abp. Williams golf team. He plays regularly and, although not a member of any club, usually plays out of the Presidents course in Wollaston.

Buckley was a substitute teacher for two years in Quincy.

He succeeds Vermillion, who has coached QJC for the past several years.

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Notes from some of the Quincy Recreation Departments playgrounds:

RUSSELL PARK - Friday was Nature day at Faxon Park. Kevin DiCesare and Maura Norton excelled in the arts and crafts program. The scavenger hunt proved to be a hit with Danny McCarthy, Sylvia Picrov leading the way. The midget baseball team is practicing hard for the playoffs led by Billy and Brian Campbell.

ATLANTIC - The Junior girls softball team defeated Montclair 12-8. Atlantic was led by Chris McSweeney, Donna Weijkus, Beth Pacino, Linda Sayers, Nancy Leonard, Lucy Chmiel, Noreen Connolly and Cheryl Chetwynd. The Eddie Pellagrini baseball clinic was held Thursday with Linda Sayers, Beth Pacino and Joe, Brian and David Barnes all taking part. Nature day at Faxon Park was enjoyed by the participants of Atlantic.

MASS FIELDS - Jokari playoffs were held in three different age groups with Janice Ruane winning the junior girls division and Lisa Cavanaugh winning the senior girls division. Billy Heffernan, Bob Climo and Frank Hogan were the boys winners. Pepsi Hot Shots were held with Janice Ruane, Debbie Cavanaugh and Lisa Cavanaugh winning the girls events. The boys winners were Mike O'Hare and Steve Cahill.

PERKINS - Both the boy's midget baseball team and the girls senior softball teams have won the District 4 championship and will be moving on to the City Finals. Billy Roche, Stevie Keddy and P. J. Hussy are some of the midgets standouts. Debbie Noe and Chrissy Keddy will represent the park in the district finals of the Pepsi Hot Shots.

SNUG HARBOR - With the city playoffs coming up the Senior boys' baseball team and basketball are leading the district and look to be the teams to beat. Pepsi Hot Shots was a big hit at Snug with Steve Austin, Tony Cascarano and John Cascarano winning the boys competition and Barbie Steen winning the girls event. Robert Steen, Donald Noll, Paul Connolly and Mike Notarangelo were all strong competitors.

CHAPEL ST. - John Steen, Tom and Tim Murphy, Dean Aiguier and Lynn Rimoritz are all working hard on the Arts and Crafts projects. The midget boys baseball team won the district championship behind the play of Shaun Craig, T. J. Steen, Chris Loud and Mike Perkins. The Junior girls also have won the district championship in both softball and basketball. Outstanding players have been, Lisa Steen, Susan and Nancy McDonald, Denise Loud, Janice Shuerch, Mary Perkins, Kelli Keefe and Donna Elsmore.

BAKER - Nature week was a big hit at Baker with Matt Colby, Mike Macauley, Cathy Skarbinski, Sue Zeiba and Dawn Loose all taking part. Cathy Thurston and Sharon Delgreen both won in their age groups during the Pepsi Hot Shots competition. The weekly scavenger hunt saw Debbie Thurston and Mary Connolly come out on top.

FORE RIVER - The junior boys basketball team beat Pollard by a score of 30-22. Fore River was led by the over all play of Dave Britt, Billy Shaughnessy and Larry Lacours. Chris Marshall pitched a no-hitter as the midget boys baseball team defeated Pollard 5-0. Marshall had 12 strikeouts, while Rob Fitzgerald led the offense with 3 hits. Dan Memmolo, Robbie Fitzgerald, Dave McArthur and Linda Caporale all took part in Archery and are waiting for the district competition to begin.

POND ST. - Some 150 youngsters from District 5 were welcomed to Pond St. for an almost anything goes competition. Events such as a clothing race, Dizzy Izzy, Life Saver and Water Balloon slide were held. Denise and Karen Curran, Noreen McBride, Donna McBride, Kathy Corliss, Jim Baldi, Erin McNaught and Lisa Boyne all stood out in the events.

POLLARD - The weekly boys vs. girls softball game was held with the girls coming out on top (8 to 5). Ronnie Harkins, Willy Cullen and Ed O'Brien stood out for the boys. The girls were led by Julie Coste, Patty Higgins and Lori Whyte. The overnight camp out saw Patty, Lori, and Debbie Harkins, Tina Cobb, Patty Higgins, Tina Cobb and Barbara Higgins all enjoyed the great outdoors.

ADAMS - Kristin Contrino was crowned Miss Junior Recreation and will represent Adams at the City Finals. John Harris mastered the fine Art of Archery when he shot a bull's eye. Others who took part were Scott Buchanan, Scott Pelosi, Steve Mallet, Marcy DiStafano, Diane Light, Mike Marris, Mike Sheils and Erick Wickson. Winners of the Pepsi Hot Shots were Mike Sheils, Austin O'Malley and Julie Beniers.

O'ROURKE - Six members represented the park at the district competition of Jokari. The six were Renee Felker, Robyn Pruitt, Nancy D'Olimpio, Steven White, Paul Cronin and Dennis Shea.

HAPPY ACRES DAY CAMP - Beginning the week was a trip to Logan Airport to bid fellow camper Bruce Attleburg goodbye, on his move to Florida. Monday's highlight was camper John Yuscavitch's victory over Captain John Osgood in a championship wrestling match. Other campers to win their matches were Peter Lewis, Ricky Smith, Donny Pickwick, Tim Murphy and Joe Mazza. A car wash raised $65 which will be used for a future field trip. Needless to say all the campers had a very enjoyable and wet day.

Report Called 'Outrageous'

FAA Proposes No Change In Noisy Takeoffs

By TOM HENSHAW

Residents of North Quincy, Wollaston and Squantum apparently can expect little, if any, relief from airplane noise in the near future.

The Federal Aviation Administration has called a news conference today (Thursday) at 1:30 p.m. to disclose a draft environmental impact statement for takeoffs from Logan International Airport.

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, who was briefed on the statement Monday along with Cong. John J. Moakley, called it "outrageous," and "totally unacceptable."

Both the FAA and Donnelly declined to reveal the contents of the report before Thursday but The Sun learned from an informed source that it will include these points:

- Headings of 195 to 220 degrees should be used during peak traffic hours by planes taking off from the controversial Runway 22.

These headings in the past have raised protests from residents of North Quincy, Wollaston, Squantum, South Boston and Milton, as well as Hyde Park, Jamaica Plain and West Roxbury.

• A heading of 180 degrees with a full left turn, the so-called "corkscrew," should be used during off-peak hours.

This heading has been the target

Donnelly Asks Carter To Visit Shipyard

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Congressman Brian Donnelly has asked President Jimmy Carter to visit the troubled General Dynamics Shipyard in October.

The request was made in a telegram to Carter Monday, Donnelly said.

Carter is scheduled to visit Boston Oct. 20 for the dedication of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library in Dorchester.

What are the chances of Carter accepting the invitation to tour the shipyard?

"I don't know," Donnelly said. "But he'll be 10 minutes away and I'll be with him. If he needs any directions, I'll show him the way."

The invitation is yet another instance of high-level politicking on behalf of the shipyard which, so far, has failed to bear fruit.

Union officials have claimed that almost all of the yard's 5,000 workers could be laid off within the next year unless the Navy can help bolster General Dynamic's lagging workload.

The latest blow to the shipyard was its loss to a San Diego firm of a contract for a Navy cable ship, announced last Friday. The Navy chose the National Steel and

Local Fuel Allocations To Be Discussed Aug. 30

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli (D-Quincy) announces he has invited fuel oil dealers from Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree and Milton to meet with him and other state officials Aug. 30, to discuss fuel allocations and other problems local dealers may be experiencing in the near future.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse, Quincy Point.

Cerasoli, who serves as a member of the State Legislative Energy Caucus, said:

"I have received conflicting reports concerning possible shortages of fuel oil in different regions. It is my understanding," Cerasoli continued, "that local dealers may be faced with inadequate fuel allocations, and that this problem could escalate to serious proportions in the coming winter months.

"The only way to confirm or deny reports concerning the seriousness of this shortage is to speak directly with the dealers in the area."

Cerasoli said the meeting is one of several to be held by Energy Caucus members throughout the state during the months of August and September to facilitate a proper flow of information to state and federal legislative delegations.

"I feel this meeting will provide invaluable information for myself and other elected officials to determine the nature of the problems we will be facing and begin to deal with them immediately," Cerasoli said

Building Work In City Drops $3.4 Million Over Last Year

Most building activity in the city dropped in the past fiscal year from the previous one, according to Building Inspector Allan MacDonald's annual report.

The estimated total value of all work fell $3.4 million, from $15.7 million between July, 1977 to June, 1978, to $12.3 million from July, 1978 to June, 1979. The total number of permits issued by the building department also dropped, from 1,204 to 1,045.

Only 350 new dwelling units were constructed in the past year, compared to 514 in the previous one.

The total value of construction of multi-family dwellings (from $6.4 million to $5.8 million), mercantile developments ($1.6 million to $1.2 million), residential alterations ($2.7 million to $2.2 million) and other alterations ($3.8 million to $2.1 million) also dropped.

Building work approved in July also dropped by more than half since July of 1978.

The department issued 126 permits for work costing an estimated $670,786 during July - while about $1,369,590 worth of work was approved a year before.

Last month the department issued two permits for one-family dwellings worth a total of $41,600, one for a mercantile development valued at $145,000, 85 for residential developments costing an estimated $234,001 and 17 permits for other alterations costing $216,655.

Receipts for the month totaled $2,338, with $1,149 in inspection fees collected.

Cherry Sheet Disappointing

State Aid Figures Cloud Tax Rate

Quincy's tax rate is expected to be set in the middle of September and, based on projected state aid figures and other financial problems that beset the city, the outlook is not promising.

According to cherry sheet estimates announced Monday by Gov. King's office, Quincy will receive $12,826,880 in state aid for fiscal 1980, an increase of $1,678,715.

"I'm disappointed," said Mayor Tobin, who has said in the past that he was depending upon a sizable state aid package to provide wage increases for disgruntled city employees.

"This is going to put a greater burden on us. We are trying to ascertain where the money could come from for city employees who have been working without a contract since June, 1978.

"I'm not saying they are not deserving. But the only ways to give them pay raises is to increase the tax rate $20 or go into layoffs. That's not a scare tactic. I'm just stating a fact."

Tobin said he is "gravely concerned" about the financial effect on the city of potential layoffs at General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard, which just lost a $107 million Navy contract.

The Mayor estimated that, in a work force of 4,800 at the yard, about 1,700 are from Quincy and, with an average of three persons per family, "we are talking about 5,000 people directly affected."

"Suppose it (the layoffs) happened," he said, "and we get an influx of people coming to City Hall saying, 'We can't pay our excise taxes, our water bills, our real estate taxes?'"

"This places an additional burden on Quincy's finances. How are you going to tax 1,500 people who are unemployed, have no money coming in and have a tough time just putting food on the table?"

Actually, the figure for Quincy's state aid return was not really a surprise, not since the Legislature had decided on the 'formula under which it is to be distributed.

"If they had accepted the formula that was suggested by the mayors of the older and larger cities we would have gotten approximately $3.3 million more, just about double," he said.

State aid is being distributed under what is known as the "Nesdic" formula, a complicated calculation that is based chiefly on the wealth of the community, according to Auditor Charles L. Shea.

The mayors' "growth policy" formula, said Shea, "would have based the aid on the community's effort to provide services as reflected in the municipal budget."

"The intent," said Shea, "was to leave the Nesdic formula intact for the same amount of aid that was distributed in fiscal 1979, then take the additional state aid and base it on the growth formula."

The Legislature decided not to. Tobin said it is not yet possible to figure Quincy's 1980 tax rate from the figures announced Monday since they did not include city assessments toward county, MDC, MBTA and similar budgets.

The full cherry sheet, including income and outgo, is expected to arrive at City Hall by mail yesterday (Wednesday) or today.

"Usually," said Shea, "we are able to set the tax rate about a month after we get the cherry sheet. We can possibly have it ready by the middle of September."

Quincy's tax rate for fiscal 1979 was set at $196.60.

Indications are that the failure to be able to grant city employees a pay raise in an election year is weighing on Tobin, even though he has little opposition for re-election.

"I'm well aware that the buck stops here," he said, as he passed at least a little bit of it along by noting that the 4 per cent cap on the city budget was established by Gov. King and the Legislature.

"We brought our budget in a little over 2 per cent. In order to go over the 4 per cent cap we would need a two-thirds vote of the City Council in an elected year.

"Has anyone polled the candidates running for the City Council and the School Committee to see if they would be willing to vote a $20 tax increase to grant public employees pay raises?"

"This should be asked of all the candidates."

Tobin figures that, in order to grant cost of living pay increases to all city employees, it would require a supplemental budget of $5 million, or about $20 on the tax rate.

Funds Sought To Synchronize Quincy's Traffic Lights

The city of Quincy is on the prowl for more than a half million dollars in state or federal funds with which to synchronize traffic lights all over the city.

"From the Neponset River Bridge to the Fore River Bridge," said Mayor Tobin, "we have a lot of antiquated traffic signals that are not synchronized with the modern ones."

"It's causing problems in other sections of the city, too."

Tobin said that Edward Lynch, superintendent of traffic and signals, has estimated that it would cost $546,800 to synchronize the entire city for a smooth traffic flow.

"It's expensive," said Tobin. "The electrical components are very expensive. We're exploring areas now to fund this."

The Mayor said the problem is particularly acute on Granite St. between Hancock St. and the new senior citizens' housing project at Granite Place.

"We are having a lot of trouble with the lights at the South Shore Bank, Upland Rd. (Burgin Parkway), and Whitwell St. and the pedestrian lights at Granite Place," he said.

"There are four sets of lights that are not properly synchronized and it will be worse when the Upland Rd. (Burgin Parkway) Extension goes through."

Synchronizing the first three sets of lights on Granite St. would cost about $25,000, he said, with another $10,000 needed for the lights at Granite Place.

Tobin To Seek Federal Aid On W. Quincy Flooding

Mayor Arthur Tobin says he plans to see what federal aid is available to help alleviate the flooding problems that have plagued residents of Ballou and Seymour Sts. in West Quincy.

The source of the flooding is Furnace Brook, which earlier this year was eliminated from an Army Corps of Engineers flood control project as a local responsibility.

Tobin said he plans to take up the matter with Cong. Brian J. Donnelly to see if the Corps of Engineers project can be revived or if federal funds are available from other sources.

Earlier this month, 43 residents of the area signed a "formal complaint" against Tobin and his administration for a "lackadaisical and uninterested attitude" toward the problem.

Tobin, noting that the area has been subjected to flooding for at least 20 years, called the petition "political."

Nevertheless, he said he sympathizes with the people of the area and promised to do what he can about it.

Women South To Meet Aug. 28 At Neighborhood Club

Women South will hold a special meeting Aug. 28, at the Neighborhood Club, 27 Glendale Ave., to provide members and prospective members with information on the positions and events represented within the organization.

A social hour will be held at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Members are asked to bring promotional material about themselves and their organizations, business cards, news about events, employment opportunities, and other material of interest to members.

A resource table and bulletin board will be available for display of material at this and subsequent meetings throughout the year.

There will be available for announcements from members during the meeting.

Women South, begun this past spring at the request of South Shore women, is a professional, business and volunteer women's network group.

The group's evening dinner meetings provide a forum for women in leadership positions to communicate with women in similar positions of responsibility. A guest speaker discusses topics of interest at each meeting.

Women South, along with Women West the western suburbs network group, is comprised of women in law, medicine, business, education, responsible volunteer positions and government as well as entrepreneurs.

For more information on Women South, contact Margaret C. Stone, 35 Standish Rd., Wellesley Hills, tel. 237-1700.

Woodward's New Principal To Speak At Houghs Neck Church

Rev. Robert L. Johnston, new headmaster of the Woodward School for Girls, will be the last in a series of guest speakers at Houghs Neck Congregational Church Aug. 26, at 9:30 a.m.

His subject will be, "The Practical Application of Meditation, Contemplation and Prayer".

Rev. Johnston was the third minister to be ordained at Houghs Neck Congregational Church after earning three degrees at Boston University.

Associate minister at the church for several years, he subsequently served as minister of Edwards Church, Framingham, for more than 10 years.

Rev. Johnston and his wife joined the International Training Institute in 1971.

Several years later, he and his wife moved to Japan where he was director of an English language school teaching business and executives and corporate leaders during the day, and seminars on business theories and ethics in the evening in both Japan and Korea.

Rev. Johnston has been involved in educational institutions as a teacher and director for many years.

Ministers Dr. Peter V. Corea and Rev. M. Alicia Corea will return to the Houghs Neck pulpit Sept. 2, at 9:30 a.m. after a month's vacation.

A coffee hour will follow each service, and everyone is welcome.

Most precious gems grow as crystals remarkable for their extraordinary neat and precise growth patterns. A crystal's unvarying form is a polyhedron bounded by natural plane surfaces. The natural plane surfaces are the result of the internal order of the crystal, and the direction in which the crystal grows, the "habit", is decided by directional forces inside. Once the direction is set, the crystal will try to grow in that direction against all obstacles.

For centuries, even though diamonds were highly prized, their capacity to gather, bend and reflect light was little understood or utilized. Gem cutters just polished the stones to give them luster, cutting facets to eliminate imperfections, and produce some light reflection, while maintaining maximum weight. Today, a diamond that is ideally cut, has 58 facets placed in precise symmetrical relation to others to produce the brilliant glow we're familiar with.

Laurence Mattie, 73, Owner Of Quincey Yellow Cab

A funeral mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) for Laurence Mattie, 73, retired owner of Quincey Yellow Cab Co. and former City Civil Defense Director.

A funeral mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and burial will be in Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Mattie, who died Monday at Quincey Nursing Home after a long illness, served as Civil Defense Director under Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa.

Born in Braintree, he had been a Quincey resident since 1942. He was a life member of Elks Lodge 943 and a member of Town River Yacht Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Harrie L. (Staples) Mattie; a daughter, Natalie S. Mattie; of Quincey; a brother, Walter J. Mattie of Braintree; three sisters, Mrs. Mary J. Bolton of Natick; Mrs. Alice M. Trombley of Florida and Mrs. Helen Ruel of Braintree and many nieces and nephews.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St.

Mary S. Doherty, 87, Former Naturalization Inspector

A funeral mass was celebrated Wednesday at Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy for Miss Mary S. Doherty, 87, of Quincy, who died Saturday after a long illness.

Born in South Boston, she lived more than 50 years in Quincy. She was a graduate of Girls High School in Boston and received a certificate in court reporting at Dorchester High School.

A federal employee for 32 years, she reached the rank of naturalization inspector and received a commendation for her handling of examinations of hundreds of Hungarian aliens in 1958.

She was a member of the ladies Sodality of Sacred Heart Church and the Federal Employees Association.

She is survived by three nephews, Joseph L. Doherty Sr. of Medford, Francis D. Doherty of Rockland and Joseph Doherty of Boston and a niece, Mrs. Matthew Ginnety of Rockland.

Burial will be in Holyhood Cemetery in Brookline. Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, Quincy.

Mrs. Mary Record, 73, Former Physical Education Teacher

A funeral mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) for Mrs. Mary A. Record, 73, of Carver, a former physical education teacher in Quincy schools.

The mass will be at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in North Carver. Burial will be in Lakenham Cemetery.

Mrs. Record died Monday at St. Luke's Hospital in Middleboro.

Born in Quincy, she was a 1923 graduate of the Woodward School for Girls. She also taught in Weymouth and Middleboro schools. She was a member of the Plymouth County and Massachusetts teachers associations and Our Lady of Lourdes Church in North Carver.

She is survived by her husband, Paul Record, four sons, Paul of Carver, Thomas of Boylston, James of Hanson and John of Rehoboth and six grandchildren.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday at the Fahey Funeral Home, 32 South Main St., Middleboro.

Alan F. Doncaster, 18, From Motorcycle Crash Injuries

A funeral mass will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 9 a.m. at St. Ann's Church in Wollaston for Alan F. Doncaster, 18, of Quincy, who died early Monday in a motorcycle accident.

Police said Doncaster lost control of the borrowed motorcycle he was operating and struck a tree off the Southern Artery about 1:30 a.m. Monday.

A 1979 graduate of Quincy Vocational Technical School, he had been employed by General Dynamics as a welder-trainee.

He was the son of Norman B. and Kathleen (MacDonald) Doncaster of 282 Furnace Brook Parkway. He is also survived by brothers N. Gerald of Weymouth, Joseph of Natick, and sisters Eileen Hannon of Plymouth and Joyce and Catherine Doncaster of Quincy.

Visiting hours Wednesday were scheduled 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at the Keohane Funeral Home of Quincy.

Immersed In Water

15-year-old Youth Baptized In Bay Off Squantum

Over 100 members of the First Church of Squantum witnessed the baptism Sunday of 15-year-old Steven Williams by immersion in Dorchester Bay at Squaw Rock.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor of the church, conducted the service at the rocky tip of Squantum where colorful banners, prepared for the occasion by the young people of The Way Up, were hung.

The Way Up is a youth ministry in Quincy sponsored by South Shore churches and directed by Dr. Langevin. It was while participating in the group's programs that Steven first became interested in being baptized.

Since the baptism had to be held at high tide, friends from The Way Up and church members walked to the site following a Sunday morning service.

The congregation sang hymns and a prayer was said in remembrance of those who had lost their lives at the spot.

Dr. Langevin read a passage of Scripture, preached a sermon and called Steven forward. At the water's edge, Steven renounced the worship of self and the world and announced his intention to follow Christ. He removed his street clothing as a visible symbol of his renunciation of the world.

Dr. Langevin baptized him by totally immersing him in the bay waters, and the congregation sang "Christ the Lord is Risen Today."

On shore, Steven was presented a white baptismal robe and was welcomed into the church by the pastor and persons representing three of the boards of the church.

Dave Mildram represented the Board of Deacons, Barbara Colwell, the Board of Christian Education, and Stewart Scott, the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Langevin presented Steven with certificates of baptism and church membership and a Bible.

A reception with punch and cookies was held on the beach. Hazel Mayne and Grace Holmes were hostesses. David Stohlberg took pictures, and Richard Williams hung the banners.

Special guests at the baptism were Rev. and Mrs. Norman Friberg, their two sons Wesley and Torrey, and Yasmin Hokmollahi, all from Tehran.

Rev. and Mrs. Friberg have been serving as Christian missionaries in Iran until very recently.

In commenting on the baptism, Rev. Friberg said, "To think that I would return to see this wonderful event right here in Squantum the first Sunday I am home! This was wonderful."

Cadet James McConville Receives Parachutist Badge

Lawrence Yerdon Participates In History Workshop

Lawrence J. Yerdon, executive director of the Quincy Historical Society, recently participated in an American Association for State and Local History Workshop held in Philadelphia, Pa.

The workshop, "Interpreting the Humanities Through Museum Exhibits," was supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. "Museum, historical site" and historical agency personnel from the Northeast States attended, and the faculty included experts in education, history, psychology and museology.

As a result of the workshop, Yerdon is preparing an exhibit for the Historical Society on Quincy's history, tentatively entitled, "The Quincy Experience".

Your Dental Health

by Daniel P. Sweeney D.D.S.

The jaws, supporting tissue and teeth should really be considered as a single unit. Any disease that affects any part of the chewing organ will most likely affect the health of other parts. So, if a tooth is lost and not replaced, it will affect the positioning and health of the other teeth. Decay in one tooth can quickly spread to others. Periodontal disease can cause tooth loss and precipitate other jaw disease. Dental problems must be corrected in order to insure the health of the entire mouth. One neglected problem can mean trouble for all mouth structures.

Preventive dentistry is stressed at the office of Dr. Daniel P. Sweeney, D.D.S., 539 Adams St., East Milton Square. Dr. Sweeney works with patients of all ages to teach good oral hygiene habits. He specializes in general dentistry for the entire family, including the fitting and repair of dentures. Call Dr. Sweeney at 698-3636 for an appointment at your convenience.

Donnelly Asks Carter To Visit Shipyard

Shipbuilding Co., which bid $107,152,000 on the contract, to construct the ship over General Dynamics, which bid $97,725,000 - almost $10 million less.

"That's incredible," Donnelly said. "Ten million bucks? There's something wrong in River City."

The contract was bid on a "cost plus" basis, in which the Navy considered not only the bid price, but also the respective shipyards' competence, facilities and track record.

The Navy's acceptance of the higher bid means it considered National Steel's probable performance on the cable ship $10 million better than General Dynamics'.

"They better prove it," Donnelly said.

The Navy will get a chance to state its side of the decision this week, at a "de-briefing" on the award requested by General Dynamics. At this meeting, to be attended by Donnelly and representatives of the company, the Navy will be asked to provide hard facts on why the contract was awarded to National Steel.

The time - sometime this week - and place - either Washington or Boston - for the debriefing were not yet set at press time.

Donnelly said he hoped the debriefing and the information discussed in it would be made public.

If General Dynamics officials are not satisfied with the Navy's version of the contract award, they will file an official protest on the matter, he said.

However, he admitted he knew of no precedent for a contract decision being overturned by a protest.

"Once you make a decision, you can't go back on it," he said.

Donnelly hopes to find out the prices submitted by all six companies bidding on the cable contract. Rumors that General Dynamics was fourth lowest among the six have not been confirmed, he said. In fact, the Quincy yard may have been low bidder, he added.

If it could be confirmed that General Dynamics was the low bidder, he said, "it's like a declaration of war on Quincy by the Department of the Navy."

Donnelly said he was "in nice words, bitterly disappointed" by the decision, after seeing several weeks of lobbying and jobs for about 2,500 constituents - go down the drain.

"I don't understand the politics of it, nor the mechanics of it," the freshman congressman said. "I thought we had a good shot."

Discussing the impact on the area if the shipyard were to close, Donnelly claimed the yard does business with 832 Southeastern Massachusetts firms, which employ an estimated 40,000 people.

"We're talking about billions of dollars in the economy here," he said.

But when asked if he expected the yard to close, he said "no - because of LNG" (liquefied natural gas). General Dynamics is now working on a 10-ship contract for LNG tankers, expected to be completed next year and a growing market is expected in the years ahead.

General Dynamics also hopes it will be allowed to bid on one of a series of 12 Aegis destroyers. Because the contract for the first destroyer in the series has already been awarded to the Litton Shipyard of Mississippi, it is assumed that yard has the edge on the rest of the 12.

"After the results of this (the cable ship), it doesn't look good," Donnelly said of the destroyer contracts.

However, he said Monday he will ask the Navy to make a direct award (without bid) on a contract for one of the $400 million destroyers to the Quincy yard.

"The only other hope is maybe some repair work, which is kind of low," Donnelly said. A Navy repair contract on cable ships would keep perhaps 500 workers employed at the yard.

But, because National Steel got the cable ship construction contract, it will probably get the repair work, as well, Donnelly said. "It only makes sense," he added.

Harold Urges Auto Repair Shops License, Regulations

Sen. Paul D. Harold [D-Quincy] has urged the special legislative subcommittee on auto repair problems to endorse legislation to license and regulate auto repair shops in Massachusetts.

Testifying in favor of a bill he co-sponsored with Rep. Robert B. Ambler [D-Weymouth] and other legislators, Harold said the need for such regulations is clear.

"Auto repair constitutes the largest single source of consumer complaints, and a recent federal survey of auto repair shops showed that 53 per cent of the service charges were for needless repairs," Harold said.

He noted that the Boston Consumers' Council estimates at least $12 million of the $30 million spent on auto repairs in Boston was wasted as a result of incompetent or fraudulent repair work.

The proposed legislation would establish a Bureau of Automotive Repair and require all auto repair and auto body shops in Massachusetts to register.

The legislation requires written estimates, and prohibits charges beyond the estimate without the auto owner's permission.

It also empowers the new bureau to investigate consumer complaints and arrange for restitution and prosecution where the complaints are justified.

An auto body or auto repair shop license could be suspended or revoked by the bureau for misleading, false, or fraudulent actions, gross negligence, false promises, or other violations of the statute, and the auto shop operator would receive a hearing and have the right of appeal.

Violators could also be prosecuted and fined up to $1,000 or be sentenced to up to six months in jail, or both.

Weight Watchers Program

Quincy Couple Shed 98 Pounds, Back To Their Wedding Day Weight

Therese and Leo McKillop of Quincy say they feel like newly weds again - and their friends agree that they look it.

The McKillops have lost 98 pounds through Weight Watchers diet and are proud of the fact that they now weigh the same as they did when they were married more than 20 years ago.

Therese once weighed in at 204 and is now down to 143. She went from a size 18 to a svelte size 10.

Leo never knew his suit size. He just kept trying on larger ones. He lost 37 pounds and now weighs 162.

As Therese was losing, she began to receive many comments from people. As director of mathematics in Braintree, she found several teachers who did not recognize their supervisor.

Leo joined Weight Watchers after the school nurse at the Willard School, where he is principal, took his blood pressure.

Leo says the greatest effect Weight Watchers has had on him is a change in attitude and eating habits. He used to skip breakfast, have a morning snack, and then a "high carbohydrate school lunch." When he came home, he would have crackers and cheese before supper. In the evening, he would again have a snack.

Therese's downfall was the box of crackers she would keep on hand. When she prepared supper, she would eat a quarter of a large box of saltines with butter.

"We used to go through 'astronomical amounts' of saltine crackers, and blame it on the kids," she says.

They now weigh and measure food, don't eat butter, eat less meat, have three meals a day, fewer snacks, and eat four crackers instead of one fourth of the box.

The McKillops have even become more energetic and open to physical activity. They jog a mile on the Quincy shore as often as possible and go dancing. They do both without losing their breath, they boast.

There were several moments of excitement for Leo and Therese as they were losing weight.

Leo can remember one Thanksgiving being weighed down by a 22-pound turkey as he stood in line at a local grocery store. As he waited, he pointed out to Therese that they had lost more than the turkey weighed.

"Just think, that was sticking out in front of me," he added.

Leo can also fit into his youngest son's suit which the boy has outgrown. They have even gotten their four boys, ages 18-22, to think more about their own eating habits.

Leo has even noticed several teachers at his school becoming a bit more conscious of their weight with a thin boss in their midst.

Weight Watchers holds classes in Quincy on Mondays at 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., and Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m., at the Bryan VFW Post Hall, 24 Broad St. New members can join at any weekly meeting.

Sterling Junior High Students Visit The Quincy Sun

Seven students from Summer Scene at Sterling Junior High School visited The Quincy Sun recently to see first hand how a newspaper is produced.

The students, who are in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades at various schools in Quincy, were reporters for Summer Scene's school newspaper, named "Sterling Summer Times".

Making the tour were Janice Ruane, Dan Santry, Andy Ayer, Pamela Plante, Paul Plante, Kevin Devonshire, Peter Orenberg. They were accompanied by their teacher, Paul Phillips.

The students were shown how news stories are written, set in type and placed on a page, including the story of their visit.

They saw an IBM comp. typesetter, two Compugraphic photo typesetters, and a new Varityper phototypesetter that sets news stories, headlines, advertisements, and has a video screen for editing. It is one of the newest typesetters in newspaper production today.

They also saw how a stat camera reduces, enlarges and screens original photographs so they can be used in The Sun.

They were also shown how pages of The Sun are put together for printing.

The students were presented with copies of the current issue of The Sun at the end of their tour.

Navy Owes Us Some Answers

Why?

Why did the Navy snub the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard on the award of a multi-million contract for a cable repair ship?

Why should National Steel and Shipbuilders of San Diego be handed the coveted pact when its $107.1 million bid was $10 million higher than General Dynamics?

The Navy owes General Dynamics, Quincy and Massachusetts a few answers—with no smokescreen.

And maybe President Carter should be asked to defend what smacks like the White House playing petty politics at Quincy's expense.

Congressman Brian Donnelly who worked hard to bring this contract to Quincy, is angered and should be. He has called for an explanation on how the high bidder got the contract. There should be one.

"How the hell could they have awarded that to National Steel?" thundered Donnelly? Their bid was for $107 million. Ours was for $97 million. Ten million is a helluva lot of difference."

A helluva lot!

Frankly, something seems strange here.

How can the Navy justify awarding the contract to National Steel and Shipbuilders of San Diego which bid $107.1 million to build the cable repair ship when General Dynamics said it could do it for $97.7 million?

Certainly they cannot claim San Diego will produce a better ship. Quincy has a prestigious track record for building some of the greatest fighting ships ever put to sea. During World War II, the Quincy yard was known as the Navy's right arm as ships built here played major roles in winning the battle for the Pacific.

The Navy is well acquainted with the Quincy yard's present plight.

Acting Navy Secretary R. James Woolsey was here Aug. 8 to tour the Quincy shipyard and be briefed on its situation. He was invited by the Massachusetts delegation.

And here to impress upon him the great need for more work were Senators Edward Kennedy and Paul Tsongas, Congressman Donnelly, Gov. Edward King, David Lewis, chief executive officer of General Dynamics, Mayor Arthur Tobin and Thomas Curtis, president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, and Ron Zookle, its executive vice president, and others.

Their message was clear to grasp:

The last three of 10 LNG's being built here will be completed by the end of next year. The yard has no other contracts at this time.

Unless more work is landed quickly, the yard's present workforce of some 4,700 will be cut to an approximate 700-man maintenance crew within two years. The yard, in other words, could go into "mothballs" like Navy ships have.

The Navy cable repair ship Quincy has lost to San Diego would have guaranteed 2000 jobs over the next two years, says Donnelly. This would have kept the Quincy yard humming until General Dynamics goes after more LNG work which it hopes to land in the early 1980's.

TSONGAS

Senator Tsongas pointed out during Navy Secretary Woolsey's visit:

"If you have a skilled labor market with a track record and they are very competitive within the private sector would it not behoove the U.S. government to step in during that dip period to keep the yard in full force?"

Woolsey thought it an impressive argument.

It's such a good argument that you would think Quincy would have been given the contract if it were $10 million higher instead of $10 million lower on the bid.

So you can't help wondering.

If the Navy knows Quincy's plight, so does the White House. And you can't help wondering if the Carter administration directly affected the award because Quincy is in Senator Kennedy's back yard. This is no time for petty politics.

The Navy (and or Carter administration) had the opportunity to toss the Quincy yard a life preserver. And threw an anchor instead.

Congressman Donnelly is right. There should be an explanation—from both the Navy and White House.

The air needs to be cleared on this one.

In 1646 the General Court of Massachusetts enacted a law making it legal to smoke tobacco only when on a journey five miles away from any town.

Donnelly Blasts Carter, Navy On GD Contract Loss

News of General Dynamics' loss of a cable ship contract seemed to send Congressman Brian Donnelly, hardly a Jimmy Carter fan, on the warpath.

"He (President Carter) is going to get the same consideration from me on the election as I got from him on the shipyard," Donnelly said.

"I couldn't be any more mad at the White House," Donnelly said, claiming he got "not the minutest bit of cooperation" in landing help for the shipyard.

News of the contract award to National Steel and Shipbuilding Co. of San Diego caused the freshman congressman to send out a volley of verbal pot shots, most of them aimed at Washington, D.C.

Also catching the heat was the Navy and, specifically, Vice Admiral C. R. Bryan, chief of naval procurement, who has the final say on contract awards.

"They kept running us around in circles and treating us like nitwits," Donnelly said. "I don't think they had any intention of giving it to us."

Admiral Bryan, he claimed, "wants to build his ships in certain yards . . . They keep going back to the same yards they do business with all the time."

Donnelly expects to see Bryan this week at the debriefing, when the Navy will be asked to explain the contract decision.

What's the first thing Donnelly plans to say to Bryan?

After a joking reply, which bordered on the unprintable, Donnelly said "I'll ask why he made us waste our time, when he made up his mind three months ago."

Back on President Carter, Donnelly said, "Carter's people aren't even welcome in my office now . . . I just wouldn't return a phone call or talk to them."

A Carter aide visited with Donnelly recently, asking his support on a bill, the congressman said.

"I said, 'Wait a minute, what about the Quincy shipyard?' He said, 'That depends on what you do on this vote.' 'That's not how it works,' I told him."

"If they want to come to me, they better have some work for the shipyard," Donnelly said.

Questions Tobin Not Voting On 5-Teacher Cutback

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

One cannot help but wonder what the "real reason" was for Mayor Tobin not voting for the dismissal of five elementary school teachers as recommended by the School Department.

Five members of the School Committee found the information furnished more than adequate to vote for the cut in teachers - this will result in an immediate savings to the taxpayers of an estimated $75,000 to $90,000 a year.

The mathematics alone are very simple, the students enrolled in the Quincy Schools, at Grade 1 level has dropped from 1,300+ pupils in 1969 to 800 pupils in 1978, a decline of 500 students. Using either 20 or 25 pupils per classroom clearly indicates a surplus of 20 to 25 teachers - when and if this happens the taxpayers can expect an estimated saving of $380,000 to $475,000 a year.

If history repeats itself and it should, at the present birthrate, the Grade 1 level enrollment by 1984 is projected to be 500+ students, a further decline of 300 more - an additional 12-15 more teachers in excess.

The five teachers dismissed is only the tip of the iceberg, the drastic decline at the Grade 1 level will have to be dealt with over the next 12-20 years at all levels.

Mayor Tobin is expected to do his home work as Chairman of the School Committee, get "adequate information" and vote accordingly.

Praises Councillor Condon

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I hope the folks in Ward 6 of the City realize what a good Councillor we have in Joanne Condon.

On Sunday this week, after trying in vain to reach the Sewer Dept. - because of a disruption of service for some reason, I called Joanne Condon. Within five minutes I received a call from her that the emergency crew was on their way.

It was an important call, because the sewer was backing up.

We also have a good telephone supervisor in Quincy who worked very hard to contact the Dept. I did this to help a neighbor who was in trouble.

Thank you for publishing this.

Home Equity Rip-Off

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is warning homeowners across the country of a rapidly spreading fraud scheme which is gaining momentum as a result of the skyrocketing prices of housing.

The scheme preys upon people who cannot meet payments and who do not realize how much their home's value has increased due to inflation.

The swindle begins when a "land speculator" catches wind of a Notice of Default (which indicates the foreclosure on a home). He then approaches the distressed homeowner and poses as a credit counselor, real estate expert, mortgage counselor, or almost anyone in order to gain the homeowner's trust.

He may tell the family he will help them protect their credit rating by buying the property from them and allow them to live in their home by renting it back to them with the option to purchase. The family believes that the sale is only temporary and that they will be able to buy the house back when times are better. But, because the family could not afford the mortgage payments, they will probably not be able to pay the rent and will eventually be evicted.

Another commonly used play by "speculators" is one whereby the swindler offers to buy the house from the unsuspecting homeowner and even pays the family a few thousand dollars for moving expenses and puts a deposit down on a new place to live. The family is tricked into believing that they have been helped when they actually could have sold their house for much more money.

Remember that some home mortgages are insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) or the Veterans Administration. Homeowners who bought their homes with government insurance may have protection in the event of difficulty in meeting mortgage payments. It is possible for FHA home mortgages to be refinanced by the FHA and payments to be spread out over a longer period of time.

People should be suspicious of letters or calls from someone who promises to help for nothing. Your house is probably worth more than you think it is. If you need help meeting mortgage payments, ask for advice from:

- Your local community organization, who can direct you to a HUD approved housing counselling agency.
- Real estate firms who can tell you the value of your house and help sell it for a fair price if you have to sell.
- The people who gave you your mortgage.

Question Of Week

Will SS Benefits Start Automatically?

Question: I will be 65 years old in a month and I wonder if my social security benefits will start arriving then automatically?

Answer: No. You must apply for benefits. You should inquire at the nearest social security office a few months before you reach 65 . . .

not only about retirement benefits but also about Medicare hospital and medical insurance. If you wait too long you may lose some months of Medicare protection.

Lone Gunman Gets $2,511 At Quincy Point Tavern

A lone gunman, posing as a worker from the Fore River Shipyard, stole $2,511 from Charles Dan's Tavern on Des Moines Rd., Quincy Point, and fled in a hail of bullets.

The man got in line with shipyard workers who were cashing their checks, grabbed the money and ran, exchanging revolver shots with Dan as he dashed out the door.

He was last seen speeding toward Quincy Square in a black Plymouth sedan.

Special Summer Project

13 Students In Unique School Furniture 'Fix It' Program

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

Thirteen students from Quincy High schools are spending the summer earning a little money, gaining some experience in woodworking and carpentry and restoring a little piece of the city's history. The youths are taking part in the first edition of the "Fix-it" program which School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon calls one of the school system's "most interesting and exciting summer efforts."

Hundreds of pieces of school-owned furniture are being sanded, sawed, glued, nailed, painted or varnished by the group of eight boys and five girls. Most of the furniture, which had been damaged to various degrees by use or vandalism, will find its way back to the schools.

Some of the real antiques, though, will be used in a proposed museum-school, still in the planning stages, in which each classroom would represent a various era of Quincy education.

The 13 students, who were chosen to provide a good mix of the city's high school students, were invited to participate, according to Edward Hannon, director of the program. The youths work 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. five days each week for nine weeks and earn $3.30 per hour, he said. "Only a few" of the 13 had prior woodworking experience, he added.

Paul Hogan, instructor for the group, credits the program's first-year success to the students' conscientious attitude.

"They're a great bunch of kids," said Hogan, who teaches industrial arts at North Quincy High during the school year.

Jay Collins, a Quincy Vocational Technical School senior, said he wanted to work with his father in the carpentry business when he graduated and thought "Fix-it" was good preparation.

Judy Norton, who graduated from Vo-Tech this year, also thought it was a worthwhile program. "It's good for the summer," she said.

"You learn a lot," said Cathy Ceurels, who graduated from North Quincy High School this year. "I never knew how to use half of the things I'm using now."

Robert (Chip) Wood Park To Be Dedicated Sunday

Robert (Chip) Wood Park, at Avalon Beach, Quincy Point, will be dedicated Sunday at 1 p.m. Councillor Daniel Raymond said the park has been renovated and beautified by community residents, and the city park and highway departments.

It will be named in honor of Wood, a Quincy Point youth who had frequented the beach. He died in a 1978 car accident.

$160,000 Contract

Improvements Underway In N.Q. Business Area

Public works improvements to the North Quincy business area on Billings Rd. are scheduled to begin today (Thursday), according to Councillor Joanne Condon.

A $160,000 contract, awarded to the R. J. Delmonico Co. Inc., includes the widening of sidewalks, planting of trees, placing of trash receptacles and redesigning the municipal parking area on Vane St.

The project does not include a planned connector between Billings Rd. and Vane St. or the storefront redevelopment program, which will get underway at a later date.

The North Quincy Local Development Corporation, representing area businessmen, and residents, has worked over 18 months on the project, Condon said. It is funded by the Community Development Block Grants for the Atlantic area.

of complaints from Squantum, Houghs Neck and Winthrop residents.

Experiments should continue with other alternative patterns, including a left turn to the heading of 270 degrees.

Anti-noise organizations in various towns, such as Quincy's Committee Against Airplane Noise (CAAN), have been pushing to have takeoff headings changed to 140 degrees over water.

Donnelly said the FAA was set to release the environmental impact statement a month ago but held it up when he and Moakley protested that they had not studied the 140-degree heading enough. "It would take a while to make the change, maybe two years," he said, "but it can be done most of the time."

In the past, the FAA and Massport have said that the over water route is used by incoming aircraft and that patterns as far away as Cape Cod and Long Island would be affected by the change.

Donnelly said if the FAA can't come up with something in the way of relief from air noise for Quincy, Boston and Milton residents "it looks like we'll have to find some legislative remedy in the fall."

Donnelly is a member of the House Committee on Transportation.

MEDICAL COST OF AIR POLLUTION

A 50% reduction in air pollution in major urban areas would produce, in terms of decreased illness and death, an annual saving of $2 million dollars, according to an ambitious study by medical researchers at Carnegie-Mellon University. Hundreds of medical studies were examined to arrive at the relation between air pollution and disease.

There is a "quantitative association between air pollution and the rate of disease and death in bronchitis, pneumonia and lung cancer," reports the study. It is estimated that 25% of these diseases could be avoided by halving air pollution.

Because there is "suggestive" evidence connecting deaths from all types of cancer and cardiovascular disease with air pollution, 15 and 10% savings respectively in these areas were assumed. Costs were estimated on the basis of direct medical expenses and loss of earnings due to illness and premature death.

Brockton Bagpipe Band Here For Constitution Parade

The Brockton Civil Air Patrol Bagpipe and Drum Band, which performed in Jimmy Carter's inaugural parade in 1977, will take part in the parade honoring the bicentennial of the Massachusetts Constitution in Quincy on Sept. 9.

The band, led by Lt. Col. Alfred Slaney, consists of 27 professional musicians wearing the regimental kilts of the Black Watch. It has appeared all over the world, including the world bagpipe competitions in Toronto, Ont.

Recently, the band received a commendation from President Carter, noting that its appearance at his inauguration "helped make one of the finest parades ever, shared by hundreds of thousands in person and millions more by television."

Transportation Bond Issue Funds To Aid Quincy

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) announces that the $249 million Transportation Bond Issue, recently signed by Governor Ed King, will provide funding for several transportation projects in Quincy.

The Quincy projects include: the Upland Road Extension, Quincy

Adams Station MBTA Access, Route 128 28 Bridge Deck Replacement, Route 37 Reconstruction and Fore River Bridge Reconstruction.

Federal dollars will match state funding for the transportation improvement program at greater than a 2 to 1 ratio. The statewide program of combined state and federal aid will approximate $869 million.

Quincy's share is 2.5 per cent of the total funding.

Raymondi Praises DPW For Prompt Action

Councillor Daniel Raymondi has praised the city's public works department for its reaction to complaints about the sidewalk at Quincy Ave. and Elm St.

In a letter to Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti, Raymondi said he had received many complaints on the condition of the sidewalk, used by pedestrians passing to Beth Israel Synagogue, the Christ Church, St. John's and downtown Quincy.

The sidewalk has since been resurfaced, Raymondi said.

Track Club Dominates Frank Kelly Meet

The Quincy Track Club dominated the fourth annual Frank Kelly Memorial Track Meet last Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium despite the fact 23 of its top athletes were competing in national meets.

Mike Petta won the 7 and under 100 in a record 14.9, and teammates Paul McLellan and Greg McGrath were finished 2-3 to complete the sweep. Deirdre Murphy was second and Cindy Bonner third in the girls' 100.

In the 8-9 100 Billy Roche took third for the boys and Laurie McNeill and Mary Ellen Gurn took second and third for the girls.

In the 10-11 girls' 100 Denise Petta, Kim Marlowe and Tammy Herman finished 1-2-3. Mike Ross took third in the boys' 12-13 100 and Kristine Picarski took second and Maureen Roche third for the girls. Jimmy Twigg won the 14-17 100 and Karen McCarthy won the girls' race.

Quincy Tennis Tournament Saturday

Sports

The Quincy Recreation Department, in co-sponsorship with the Granite Cooperative Bank of Quincy, will host the ninth annual Quincy Tennis Tournament from Saturday, Aug. 25, through Sunday, Sept. 2.

The tournament will feature competition in seven categories, men's 35 and over, men's singles, men's doubles, mixed doubles, women's 35 and over, women's singles and women's doubles.

Director John Franceschini of the Recreation Department staff is expecting another fine turnout. Many new and familiar faces will be out to capture the titles from defending champions Tony O'Malley in men's singles, Rich Landi in men's 35 and over, Wayne Chatterton in men's doubles and Sue Coleman in women's doubles.

Matches will be played every night from 5 to 10 at the Quincy

Vo-Tech courts.

On Sunday, Sept. 2, the finals will be held starting at 9 at the Vo-Tech courts.

Mike Conley Warner Cup Winner

Mike Conley of Nahant was the "unidentified" skipper who won the Harry Warner Ocean Race during Quincy Bay Race Week. Conley was the only finisher in his Quicksilver, a 40-foot boat of Newark design.

Raiders Back Home

Quincy, North Football Practice Starts Aug. 27

Football practice for the Quincy and North Quincy football teams gets underway Monday morning, Aug. 27.

It will be a happy group of North players and coaches who report for the opening workout at 8:30.

For the first time in four years the Raiders will have their own locker room facilities and can practice on their home field, Kavanagh Stadium.

For the past three years the North squad was forced to travel to Veterans Memorial Stadium, dress there and work out at Pageant Field.

Now, with the beautiful new gym completed, the Raiders have their own locker room again.

"It will be nice to have our own facilities again," said Dave

Burke, starting his fifth year as coach at his alma mater. "It was very inconvenient having to go to the stadium every day."

North will work out daily next week from 8:30 to 11, break until 2 when Burke will conduct blackboard drills and the team will return to Kavanagh Stadium and drill until about 3:30.

Dave has the same assistants as last year, Ken McPhee, Jack Raymer, George Liset and the dean of them all, Ted Sadowski, beginning his 22nd year as a North aide.

Meanwhile, Tom Fitzgerald who, like Burke, is a former North Quincy all-scholastic, begins his second year as head coach at Quincy.

Tom, starting his 28th year as a schoolboy coach, led the Presidents to a 13-7 win over North last fall to finish with a 5-5 record and, with a fine group of seniors, hoped to improve on that record this year.

Fitzie will lead the Presidents into their opening workout Monday at 8 at Faxon Field. Next week they will work out from 8 to 11 and again from 1 to 3.

Tom has the same group of assistants as last season, Mark Conroy, Bill Mayer, Joe Goguen and Peter Cella.

Quincy opens on Sept. 15 with a 10:30 Suburban League game against Cambridge Rindge and Latin at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North, hoping to improve on last fall's 3-7 record, opens the same day against old rival Milton in a 1:30 non-league game at Milton.

St. John's Bows Out

Junior Baseball Tourney Continues

The triple elimination Junior Baseball League tournament continues tonight (Thursday) at Artery Fields and 2 with two games at 6 p.m. and two at 8.

Three teams, including St. John's of Quincy, were eliminated last week and three more were due to be ousted Tuesday night.

St. John's, with one of the youngest teams in the tournament, was eliminated by losing three straight games. The team stayed with the opposition for three or four innings in each game, then faltered.

Hingham bombed St. John's,

10-3, to eliminate it. Sean Cahill, Bob Josephs and Dan Morris had the only hits for St. John's.

Earlier St. John's had lost its second in a row, 9-3, to South Boston Nationals, with Bob Flynn having two hits and Al Martel and Ed Gore one each for St. John's.

Milton was forced to forfeit to Quincy American League All-stars and Quincy National League stars to be ousted, as the team is playing in a series in Mexico City.

Brighton was the other team to be eliminated last week.

Quincy Americans walloped Norwood Police, 11-0, with John Comeau pitching outstanding ball and also collecting a triple, double and single himself. Chris Bunker had a home run and single, Jackie Bolster two singles and a double, John McGlame two hits and Steve Higgins, Steve White and Paul Marshall one hit each.

Quincy Nationals continue in the tournament despite a 9-5 loss to Norwood Police. Boyle had two hits, Dennis Cronin a double and Steve Durante, Dan Kelly, Dan Baker and Jack Outerbridge one single each.

Quincy's Triple A League all-stars also remain in competition despite two losses last week.

The team lost to South Weymouth, 3-2, in seven innings with Joe Ciardi the hard luck loser. For Quincy Pat Hennessy, John Reinhardt, Tom Elsmore and Sean Toland had the hits.

The Triple A stars also lost to Hanover, 8-4, with Reinhardt and Elsmore having two hits apiece, Bob Reidy a triple and Hennessy and Tom Bille a single each.

Friday Deadline To Turn In MDA Swim-a-thon Money

Friday is the deadline for turning in sponsor pledge money for the Quincy Muscular Dystrophy Swim-a-thon held recently at the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool.

Over $2,000 has already been realized.

The money should be turned in at The Quincy Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., by 5 p.m.

Each participant who turns in $25 or more will receive a Jerry Lewis T-shirt. The three top money raisers will in addition get a Jerry Lewis wristwatch. Every participant who turns in any money will be presented a Muscular Dystrophy Association citation.

The swim-a-thon was co-sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee and the Lincoln Hancock Community School Council, in cooperation with the Quincy Recreation Department. City Recreation Director Charles Alongi was volunteer chairman of the event.

St. Joseph's C Team Sweeps Doubleheader For CYO Crown

The St. Joseph's Girls C softball team won the archdiocesan CYO championship Sunday with a doubleheader sweep over St. Joseph's B.

The C team, sponsored by State Rep. Robert Cerasoli, finished with a 10-1 record and won the Quincy Vicariate title.

St. Joseph's opened its quest for the archdiocesan crown last week by walloping St. Williams of Dorchester, 11-4, at Kelley Field, Hyde Park.

Janine LaFleur pitched a six-hitter and struck out 11 and Mary Travers and Margaret McBride led the attack with two hits each.

St. Joseph's then defeated St. Gregory's of Dorchester, 8-1, as LaFleur again pitched a strong six-hitter and struck out seven. The game was marked by excellent fielding by the C girls including a sparkling one-hand catch by Margaret McBride which halted a St. Gregory's rally. Jackie Glavin, Lisa DiGuisto, Joyce McLaughlin and Mary Thibodeau provided the offense.

The finals pitted the two St. Joseph's teams in a best of three series. The B team had advanced with wins over St. Mary's of Hull and St. Brendan's of Dorchester.

The C team fell behind in the opening game but back to back triples by Janine LaFleur and Janice Glavin provided four runs in the third on the way to an 8-3 win. Leigh Ann LaFleur chipped in with two hits.

The deciding game saw the C team score 10 runs in the sixth inning to wipe out a 5-3 B lead and capture the championship.

Mary Thibodeau and Lisa DiGuisto had long home runs, while Leigh Ann LaFleur stood out on defense with several outstanding plays at third base.

Karen Corliss pitched well for the B team, coached by Ann Marie McBride and Gladys DiPietro.

The C team, which received the Archdiocesan championship trophy after the deciding game, is coached by Joe Kinnally and Frank Brillo.

The squad included Laurie Overby, Leigh Ann LaFleur, Margaret McBride, Marilyn McBride, Joyce McLaughlin, Janine LaFleur, Linda Whyte, Janice Glavin, Tricia Travers, Mary Thibodeau, Mary Travers, Jackie Glavin, Lisa DiGuisto, Anne Shea, Anne Fitzgerald and Lisa Chiarmonte.

Bulldogs Semi-Pro Team Holding Tryouts

The newly-organized Quincy Bulldogs semi-pro football team is holding tryouts on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 at Quincy Vo-Tech field in preparation for its opening Boston Park League game Sept. 7.

The Bulldogs, hoping to make a good showing this fall in the Park League, plan to seek admittance into the Eastern League next year.

Unable to find an available Quincy field, the team will play all games away from home this fall. The opener Sept. 7 will be against the Shelbourne Club of Roxbury at Roxbury's Washington Park Field at 7:30 p.m.

Many Quincy and North Quincy players are working out and any players wishing to try out are asked to report to the field any Tuesday or Thursday evening or call Jack Wholey at 331-0108.

The Bulldogs are being coached by Bob DeVoe and Ed Lynch.

Over 200 Swim To Help Jerry's Kids

YOUNGSTERS LINE UP at Lincoln Hancock Community School pool to start Muscular Dystrophy Swim-a-thon. More than 200 swam to help Jerry's Kids. Deadline for returning sponsor pledges is Friday. Event was sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee and the Lincoln Hancock Community School Council with the cooperation of the Quincy Recreation Department.

MAKING A PRETTY picture on diving board are Terri McLaney of Weymouth; Nanky Myers of Hingham and Kathy Mann of Quincy, Miss Quincy Bay of 1977, 1979 and 1978 respectively. Yes, they got wet later, swimming for Jerry's kids.

TOP MONEY RAISER—Sheryl Brunstrom, 10½ of Granite St. Quincy, who raised $936 in the swim-a-thon is congratulated by City Recreation Director Charles Alongi, who served as chairman of the event. With them are Sheryl's mother, Kathy, Mrs. Annmarie Caruso of Bourne, her aunt who sponsored her for $15 a lap and her father, Chester. Sheryl swam 50 laps, receiving $750 from her aunt and the rest from other sponsors. Last year, Sheryl raised nearly $200.

SWIM-A-THON COMMITTEE included, from left, Ronald Iacobucci, president Lincoln Hancock School Community Council; Jean Giagranni and Winnie Burchill of the Community Council; Mary Jo Riley, Community School coordinator; Beverly Goodwen, Community Council; City Recreation Director Charles Alongi, chairman of the event, and Assistant Recreation Director Barry Welch.

MORE THAN 200 SWIMMERS—mostly youngsters—took part in the second annual Quincy Muscular Dystrophy Swim-a-thon. Here, a large group of them, is shown registering.

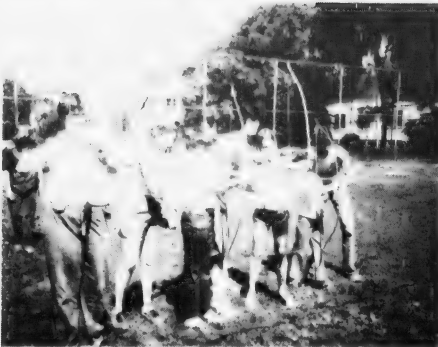

NOT ONLY WAS it a good cause, but it was also a lot of fun as these swimmers show you.

HERON ROAD GROUP doing their part for Jerry's Kids were, front row, Kim Berggren, Maureen Shea, Nancy Flaherty, Shannon Evans, Suzane Shea and Karen Flaherty. Second row, Ann-Marie Shea, Maureen Donovan, Linda Flaherty, Mary Flaherty, Gerry Shea, Maureen Berggren and Michael Holbrook. Third row, Lisa Colletta, Karen Evans, Jackie McLaughlin, Patricia Johnston and Chris Donovan.

AMONG THE SWIMMERS were, from left, Krista Colwell, 9, Karin Reister, 8, Anne Baccari, Recreation Department playground leader; Jill Haynes, 6, Sandi McNiff, 7½, Rick LaFlamme, 11, Kristin Reister, 6, and Ellen Moynihan, swimming instructor.

ARCHERY SPECIALISTS Beverly Prescott and Paul Andrews and Recreation leader Ray Coscia give instruction to Michelle Elghart, Scott Henderson, Kim Kunz and Jennifer MacIsaac of Kincaide Park as part of the Quincy Recreation Department's summer playground program.

40 Teams Compete

Quincy All-Stars 3rd In Stoughton Tourney

Quincy's American League All-Stars made an outstanding showing in the Stoughton Junior Baseball League tournament, finishing third among 40 teams.

Quincy finished with a 6-2 record in the double elimination tournament, losing last week to Parkway 2, 5-3 to be eliminated.

Paul Marshall pitched well in defeat for Quincy.

Earlier in the week Quincy had walloped Foxboro, 11-3, with Steve Higgins the winning pitcher and John Comeau earning a save. Chris Bunker had three hits, Billy Shaughnessy, Jackie Bolster and Higgins two apiece and Comeau, Paul Miller and Steve White one each.

Quincy's title chances had been dealt a severe jolt when Bunker, one of its top pitchers, was unable to pitch over the final week due to a sore arm. However, he continued in the lineup and was one of the tournament's outstanding batters.

Quincy walloped Easton, 12-2, with Higgins pitching a three-hitter and collecting three hits himself. Bunker had a home run and single, White and Dave Maloney had two hits apiece and Shaughnessy, Bolster and Paul Miller one each.

Quincy trailed Parkway 1, 2-0, after three innings when rain halted the game. The teams returned two nights later, taking up the fourth inning. Bunker's fourth tournament homer tied the game and Quincy went on to win, 6-2.

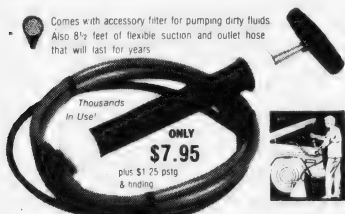

Marshall pitched a one-hitter and also had a double. Comeau, Shaughnessy, Higgins, Mark Abboud, Matt Elofson and Miller also had hits.

Julie Mullin 'Leader Of Week'

City Recreation Director Charles Alongi Jr. announces that Miss Julie Ann Mullin of Stoney Brae playground has been chosen playground "Leader of the Week" by the Quincy Recreation Department.

Julie is a graduate of Quincy High and is in her first year with the Department. Her hobbies include gymnastics and all types of sports.

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Notes from the Quincy Recreation Department's summer playground program.

NATURE: The weekly nature trip to Tralide Museum in the Blue Hills saw Elm St., Fore River and Faxon Park playgrounds all enjoy the many offerings of the Museum. Highlights included the viewing of a beehive and the different types of snakes. Participants included Diane and Kristy Light, Scott Pelosi, Kevin Barnes, Frank Carlos, Kathy Thomas, Darrin Simonelli and Francis O'Connor.

CERAMICS: Wow, can you believe that we're almost halfway through the 7th week! Time sure can fly when you're having fun, and kids from all the playgrounds are having fun in ceramics!!! Some stars this week include those youngsters who kindly lent us their prized possessions for our display going on all this week in the Quincy Sun window. They are Debbie Brown and Linda Mahoney of Allerton; Sean Jasie and Kimberly Wot of Wollaston; Tracy Sontag of Snug Harbor; Lynda Cefali of Heron Rd.; Donna Paotilli of Pond St.; Maureen Grallon and Kathy Duffy of Beechwood Knoll; Kim Anderson of Stoney Brae; Maureen Tolson of Perkins; Debbie Forrester, Maura Norton, Donna McLoughlin and Janice Connell of Russell Park; Gail and Joyce Iavicoli of Shea Rink; Kim Contrino, Mary DeStefano and Diane Light of Adams; Kerri McDonald and Joann Gillespie of Welcome Young; Bobby Pitts and Kathy Corliss of Fore River, and Tammy Rose, Lynne and Laurie Duff of the Quincy Point Youth Center. Thanks for making the display such a success!!!!

PLAYOFFS: Excitement plus!! is the word for playoff games this summer. To start it off the Jr. girls basketball game of District 5 vs. 6 was a real thriller. District 5 was represented by Fore River and the McBrides. District 6 team was from O'Rourke. Fore River won 25-0 with Margaret McBride being the high scorer with 14 points. Also showing the talents of the Celtics were Kathy McBride 7 points.. Marilyn McBride and Jody Furell with two points apiece. Good going Fore River.

As for the senior girls District 5 was again the winner as Pond St. romped on Shea Rink 42-6. Jackie Glavin was the high scorer with 18 points. Mary Travers our Pepsi Hot Shot winner, also got a few hoopstotaling 10 points.

Districts 3 and 4 battled it out at Pollard with Beechie representing District 4 and Chapel 2 for junior girls. Chapel was the winner of this tough game 10-8. Janice Schuerch got all of the 10 points, scored for Chapel and Laura Kelliher for Beechie scored 6 points. As for senior girls it was Beechie vs. LaBrequ with Beechie winning 19-9. High scorer of the game was Michelle White of Beechie with 9 points. Linda Micelli was next with 6 points. For LaBrequ it was Mary Kussman scoring 5 points.

SPORTS CLINIC: What a week for Pepsi Hot Shots. In every district the turn out was great with some excellent competitors in each division. In the 9-12 girls category we had to run 3 tie-breakers between Laurie Kelliher of Beechie and Kathy McBride of Fore River with the win finally going to Kathy McBride, with a total of 15 points. Also competing were Christine McSweeney of Atlantic and Sharon Delgreco of Baker. Boys 9-12 competition was just as fierce with Mike Sheils of Adams coming in 1st place with 10 points. The runner up was Bill Stacey of Beechie with 9. In the girls 13-15 age group Simmy Koch of Bishop walked away with the gold medal by shooting an excellent score of 20 points. Runner up Laura Micelli of Beechie got 12 points. Karen DiNardo of Elm St. and Tricia Davenport of Kincaide also did very well.

In boys 13-15, Peter McGillicuddy of Bishop was the winner with 27 points, and the runner up Brian Donovan of Heron Rd got 21 points. Steve Mallory, Tony Cascarano and Darren McCarthy were also tough competitors. 16-18 year olds were the ones to watch. Mary Travers of Pond St. was the best shooter all around. 28 points made her walk away with the Gold medal. Runner up Kathy McCloskey had 21 points. For the boys John Cascarano of Snug Harbor and Paul Gill of Welcome Young with Paul winning with 28 points. The winners in the city finals will now compete against other kids in the state sometime in October. To all the winners good-luck as we know the talent is there so Massachusetts watch out.

MUSIC AND DRAMA: The summer of 79 seems to be taking its "final bows" as the playgrounds are preparing for playoffs, tournaments and displays that fill the final weeks of the year. Music and Drama is no exception as we prepare for the 3rd annual "Miss Junior Quincy Recreation Pageant". On every playground in the city, there is one excited girl who has won the title of her playground and who is now anxiously awaiting and practicing for the big day Friday August 17.

Early scouting reports have reported that many differently talented girls from all over the city are entered in the pageant. Miss Stoney Brae, Julie Killion is preparing her gymnastic and dance routine while Dawn Vozzella of Pond St. practices voice drills for her singing debut. Susan Shabeen will represent Myles Standish playground with a song and dance routine and Kathy McCauley of Allerton and Dawn Salvestro of Shea Rink will impress the judges with their fine singing talent. Miss O'Rourke, Maureen Cahalene will Irish Step dance. All of the girls are very talented and spirited and the competition will be very tough. We wish all of them the very best of luck.

In other Music and Drama happenings this week, Shea Rink topped all skits at the Nature Week skit festival. Led by the Inacoli sisters, their new version of the Dr. Pepper commercials easily beats the current T.V. ads. Dressed in green plastic flash bags, the "peppers" did everything from telling "pepper jokes" to the now famous "pepper kick line". Leaders Paula Constas and Donna Ivalcoi must be given credit for this original and creative idea!!!

● Babe Ruth League

A.L. All Stars Bomb N.L.

The Babe Ruth League American League all-stars bombed the Nationalists, 16-3, in the annual all-star game last week at Adams Field.

It was a close game until the eighth inning when the Americans exploded for seven runs to break a 6-6 tie.

The Americans took a 3-0 lead in the first inning when John Bille, Jack Brown and Ross Connolly all reached on errors and Sean Martin and Bill McBirney singled in the runs. In the top of the inning catcher Sean Martin threw out two runners trying to steal.

The Nationals scored a run in the second as Pat King reached on an error and came around to score on a single by Brian Morrill. They added a run in the third on two errors and a sacrifice fly but the Americans made it 4-2 with a run in the fourth.

The Nationals took a 5-4 lead with three runs in the fifth and made it 6-4 with a run in the sixth. Mike Morris, Steve Spencer, Mark Boussey, Jim DiPietro and Morrill sparked the attack.

The Americans tied it with two runs in the seventh on a walk to Scott Matthews, who stole second and was driven in by Bob Ready's single. Brian Deitch followed with a single and Ready scored on a fielder's choice.

Dan Dunn blanked the Nationals in the seventh and eighth, then the Americans erupted for their eighth run on two hit batters, three walks, two errors and Dunn's single.

Pitching standouts for the Americans were Martin, Dunn and Mike Koury. Mark Boussey made an outstanding catch for the Nationals on a vicious line drive by Steve Pecevich.

League President presented MVP awards to Boussey and Martin.

The fifth annual John J. Quinn award was presented to American League manager David MacMillan.

Assisting MacMillan were coaches Joe Conti and Tom Foley. Playing for the American League stars were Bille, Frank McPartlin, Jack Brown, Matthews, Connery, Ready, Pecevich, Deitch, Martin, Brian Reale, Koury, Bill McBirney, Bill Goon, Tom Helfernan, Chris Baker, Dan Pearson and Dunn.

● Babe Ruth International Quincy Co-op Champs

Quincy Co-op, finishing with a 15-4 record, won the double elimination playoff series to capture the Babe Ruth International League championship but not before a courageous Tuff-Kote team, with only nine players, due to vacation, took the champs down to the final inning of the deciding game.

Quincy Co-op won that game, 3-1, with winning pitcher Gary Connolly striking out 11. Losing pitcher Dave Mazzulli was brilliant in defeat, having 16 strikeouts. Connolly and Johnny Ward had the key hits for Quincy.

Tuff-Kote had earlier defeated Quincy Co-op, 5-3, with Kevin Coymen the winning pitcher. He also collected two hits. Timmy Ryan and Mazzulli had doubles and Tuff-Kote killed off a Quincy rally in the sixth with a fine relay from Ryan to Mazzulli to catcher Billy Hughes cutting down a runner at the plate.

Tuff-Kote walloped South Boston Savings, 14-3, with Ryan the winning pitcher and also hitting a triple. Paul Mediche had three hits and Fred Cashan two for Tuff-Kote.

Quincy Co-op topped South Boston, 5-3, with Steve Turner getting the win and Bill Cullen a save. Bobby Flynn was the loser. For Quincy Gary Connolly had a double and two singles. Gerry Connolly a double and Turner two singles.

Coymen was the winning pitcher, Paul Egan had two hits and Mark Vialpando had a key hit as Tuff-Kote defeated Owens, 11-7.

Quincy Co-op edged Owens, 3-2, with winning pitcher Gary Connolly having nine strikeouts. Billy Harris was the hard luck loser.

South Boston trampled Tuff-Kote, 16-3, with Dave Clifford the winning pitcher.

Dee Dee's Sweeps Shea For Women's Softball Title

Dee Dee's continued its dominance of the Quincy Women's Softball League by winning its second straight championship with a two-game sweep over Shea's Formica in the best of three title series before more than 400 spectators.

Dee Dee's, which scored a 16-1 record, roared into the finals by sweeping Budget Rent-A-Car and Wollaston Credit Union. Wollaston, incidentally, had handed Dee Dee's its only loss.

Shea's had a harder time making the finals, as it was extended to three games by the Bocce Club after ousting Balducci's in two games.

Both Dee Dee's and Shea's had strong attacks and outstanding defense and it was the pitching of Dee Dee's Nancy Willard and Shea's Chicky Camile which paced their teams to the finals.

Dee Dee's won an exciting opening game, 11-10, with the lead changing hands many times and Shea's holding a one-run lead going into the bottom of the last inning.

Dee Dee's immediately loaded the bases on line singles by Cathy McSweeney and Debbie Mann and a walk to Jonlyn Riley. Sara Lee Cobban then rapped a game-tying single as the pressure mounted on Shea's defense. Coach Bill Shea decided to bring outfielder Eileen Marr into the infield, hoping for a ground ball and a chance to cut down the winning run at the plate. The strategy worked momentarily as third baseman Lillian Callahan robbed Fran Waldron of a hit down the line and shortstop Helen Lawlor grabbed Denise Jay's line drive. Shea then moved Marr back to the outfield as dangerous leadoff batter Cece Fagan came to the plate. Miss Fagan, who had earlier stroked a triple, lined the first pitch into left field to drive in the winning run.

Fagan's defense was superb and she threw a runner out at the plate.

The offensive stars for Dee Dee's were Cobban, Mann and McSweeney, who had three hits each. Helen Lawlor had three hits and three runs scored for Shea's. Susan Cooper had a triple and single, and Sharon Cobban made a fine shoestring catch and doubled up the runner at third.

Dee Dee's clinched the crown with a 5-2 win.

Shea's grabbed an early 1-0 lead on Cooper's RBI single after hits by Camile and Marr. Dee Dee's came back with two in the fourth on five straight hits but Shea's tied it in the bottom half. The game remained 2-2 until the seventh when McSweeney doubled home Joyce Flynn and Nancy Willard and later scored herself. Willard then mowed down Shea's in order in the bottom half to nail down the championship.

League President Patty Gauthier thanks all the teams for helping to make this another outstanding season for the League.

O'Connell Gardens in Wollaston has fresh corn arriving daily. Of course you can also expect the very finest in shrubs, trees and plants but you may be amazed to see the variety of supplies available to the serious gardener. It's truly "onestop-shopping" at O'Connell Gardens. Few shops anywhere can match their inventory of indoor plant supplies. If it's a unique piece of pottery, a planting basket or the plant itself you'll find it at O'Connell Gardens... at the junction of St. Ann's Road (opposite the main gate to Veteran's Stadium) and Old Colony Avenue.

DeWolfe Realtors Reports Record Sales

Richard DeWolfe, president of DeWolfe Realtors announces record sales figures for mid-year 1979 at the July sales rally.

"The combined efforts of our seven offices throughout Eastern Massachusetts have produced a sales volume of over $23,000,000," DeWolfe said.

"At a time when most people are painting a dismal financial picture, we are fortunate to be experiencing a steady increase in real estate sales. I believe the buying public is becoming more particular and more knowledgeable; they understand the financial security real estate ownership will provide. Sellers, too, are seeking out those brokers who offer strong diversified services.

"DeWolfe Realtors is striving to meet the demands of our clients and customers by requiring in-depth training for our brokers and providing specialized divisions for relocation, property management, distinctive properties, appraisals and commercial properties. We have aggressively opened new offices to expand the range of available properties and to strengthen our overall sales program."

Over 40 Community Service Courses At Quincy Junior College

Over 40 Community Service Courses are being offered by Quincy Junior College, Division of Continuing Education, in addition to its regular credit course offerings beginning Sept. 4.

Community Service Courses are non-credit courses open to any person who feels he or she may profit from them. This credit-free approach to learning makes it possible for one to continue to learn in an informal, non-competitive environment.

There are two types of Community Service courses. One is designed to increase career skills. Among these are Bookkeeping, Key Punching, Typing and Shorthand (Beginners and Refresher), Preparation for the Real Estate Brokers' Exam, Basic Mathematics Review, Basic Writing, English, Speed Reading, Creative Writing, Opportunities in the Travel Industry, and Practical Spanish for Medical Personnel.

The other type of course is designed for one's personal interest and hobby. Courses in this category include Indoor Gardening, Astrology, Beginning Guitar, Photography, Interior Decorating, Pottery, Drawing, Painting, Meditation and Yoga.

Conversational French, Law for the Layman, Assertiveness Training, Disco and Fun Dancing, Survey of Women Writers, Psychic Sciences, Career Workshop for Women, Massage and Breath, and Film Animation.

For Course Descriptions and further information, call 786-8777 for an Evening Division brochure.

School Dept. To Auction Surplus Furniture Sept. 22

The school department plans a bonanza for bargain hunters and lovers of nostalgia when it auctions off hundreds of items of surplus furniture next month.

The auction is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 22 at the former Boston Harbor Marina Tennis Club in Squantum.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creeden told the School

Committee that the items to be auctioned include 200 "universal" desks, dozens of wooden and steel cabinets, 30 wooden teacher's desks, wooden counter tops, several wooden tables and gas and electric stoves.

Two Quincy Physicians Honored By Medical Society

Joseph J. Carella, M.D. of Quincy, and William S. Altman, M.D., formerly of Quincy, now living in Lauderdale, Fla., were among physicians honored recently by the Massachusetts

Medical Society for having completed 50 years membership in the society.

Each was presented with a gold badge at the 198th anniversary meeting of the society.

Dr. Carella is a graduate of Tufts University, School of Medicine, and is a general practitioner. He is a member of the Norfolk District Medical Society and has two sons who are physicians.

Dr. Altman, also a graduate of Tufts, is a specialist in radiology. He is a past president of the Norfolk South District Medical Society and is an active member of numerous professional organizations.

3rd Rail On MBTA Braintree Extension To Be Energized

The MBTA has tentatively scheduled energizing the third rail on the Red Line's Braintree extension for today (Thursday), announces Robert L. Foster, chairman and chief executive officer.

"I strongly urge parents and others to warn children and young people against climbing the fences to cross the tracks," he said.

The third rail and cables will be carrying a probable lethal dose of 600 volts of electricity. "Every precaution has been taken to protect the right-of-way by the installation of fencing along the entire route from Quincy Center to South Braintree and here it is the responsibility of parents and other adults to instruct youngsters about the potential danger to their lives."

From time to time, Foster said, a rapid transit train will be operating over the new line initially to test the power system, followed by tests of the signal system each month. In the Fall, trains will also be operating in non-revenue service under the Authority's training program for motormen and other personnel preparatory to opening the line for service late this year.

Recreation Day At Merrymount

The Recreation Department will hold its annual field day (Thursday) at Merrymount Field, at 10 a.m.

The event, the end of an eight-week program, features competition in three age groups for boys and girls, including such contests as piggy-back, "wheelbarrow" and three-legged races.

Trophies and certificates will be awarded to winners of the baseball, softball and basketball championships.

Donnelly Tax Credit Bill For Handicapped Getting Support

Congressman Brian Donnelly (D-Massachusetts) announces his bill to provide tax credits for home improvements for handicapped family members is receiving broad support in the House of Representatives.

The Donnelly bill, H.R. 4265, has attracted 56 co-sponsors in the House and is about to be introduced in the Senate.

The bill would make available a $1,000 non-refundable tax credit, with a $5,000 ceiling, to install needed facilities for handicapped individuals.

Shipbuilders Union To Consider Court On Contract Loss

The Shipbuilders' Union Local 5 reacted to General Dynamics' loss of the cable ship contract with a telegram to President Carter and talk of a lawsuit.

The union will meet with its attorneys sometime this week to discuss a possible suit seeking to overturn the award of the cable ship contract to National Steel and Shipbuilding Co. of San Diego.

The meeting will take place after the debriefing session, during which Navy representatives will be asked to outline the reasoning behind the decision. The debriefing has not yet been scheduled at press time.

"I don't know if we're going to sue or not sue, I don't even know if it's possible," said Arthur Durand, Local 5 president.

"We want to wait until after the debriefing," Durand said.

Local 5 also announced it has sent a telegram to President Jimmy Carter seeking help for the yard.

According to Earle Christian,

Local 5 executive secretary, the telegram, also sent to R. James Woolsey, acting secretary of the Navy, read:

"Local 5, the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, AFL-CIO strongly protests the awarding of the cable repair ship to National Steel and Shipbuilding Co. of California.

"We respectfully request that our General Dynamics shipyard be given stronger consideration when the award of DDG-48 is made."

Arthur Z. Durand, Local 5 president

The DDG-48 is the $400 million Aegis destroyer, one of a set of 12 the Navy plans. The contract for the first in the series was awarded to the Litton Shipyard of Pasagoula, Mississippi.

"I think they definitely discriminated against Quincy," Christian said of the cable ship contract. However, he feels LNG (liquefied natural gas) work will help to keep the yard open.

Tobin Seeks U.S. Funds To Combat Police Stress

Mayor Tobin has signed a grant application for $49,475 in federal funds to install a pilot "police stress" program in the Quincy Police Department.

"The program will provide assistance for the Police Department in dealing with the physical and emotional stress that occurs as a result of the police officer's job," said the Mayor.

"The ordinary citizen may not know the strain that is placed on a police officer, physically and emotionally, on a 24-hour a day basis."

Tobin said the program would be one of the first of its kind in Norfolk County. A similar program in Boston has worked well and is producing good results, he said.

The Mayor emphasized that individual policemen would participate in the program strictly on a volunteer basis. If the application is successful, he said, the program would be announced in October.

Carter, Navy Targets

Petition, Letter Drive Underway To Get Work For Shipyard

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce is spearheading a petition and letter drive urgently asking President Carter and the Navy to direct new work to General Dynamics' Quincy Shipyard.

The petitions circulated on behalf of Local 5 Shipbuilders Union cite the threat of "massive layoffs" at the yard unless new contracts are landed.

They ask Carter and James Woolsey, acting Secretary of the Navy, to "direct Navy work to the shipyard at the earliest possible date."

The Chamber is also asking the 832 Southeastern Massachusetts firms which do business with the shipyard and the 159 communities whose residents are employed there to contact Carter requesting help for the Quincy yard.

The Chamber's 1,500 members are being asked to write personal letters to Carter and Woolsey, requesting their help.

The Chamber took the action at a meeting of its Board of Directors after being briefed on the yard's dire situation by Congressman Brian Donnelly.

The shipyard is working on the last three ships of a 10-ship LNG (liquefied natural gas) tanker contract, expected to be completed next year, with no other work in sight. Local 5 officials claim layoffs of many of the yard's 5,000 workers will begin this fall and the yard could be closed by next August if the Navy can't come up with work soon.

All those firms doing business with the yard, employing an estimated 40,000 to 45,000 persons, will also be hurt if the yard goes under, Donnelly and Local 5 warns.

"My gut feelings is that I think we (the shipyard) will get work," said Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce. "But we're afraid it will be crumbs, so the Navy can say 'see what we did for you'. We're after the whole loaf."

A good chunk of that loaf is a 10-ship series of DDG-48 'Aegis' destroyers that the Navy is planning. The first ship in that series has already been awarded to the Litton Shipyard in

'To Tie Downtown Together' East-West Connector Looms Again In Development Plans

By TOM HENSHAW

The controversial East-West Connector across Hancock St., which was rejected by Quincy Center merchants last year, is looming more and more important in plans for revitalizing downtown Quincy.

Mayor Tobin said Tuesday that Stephen Weiner of Letherbee Co., Cambridge, proposed developer of the John Hancock Parking Area, is also interested in tying together both sides of Hancock St.

Weiner, he said, is putting together a package that includes possibly a 150,000 square foot department store and the soon-to-be-vacant Sears Roebuck building for presentation to the City Council in six months.

Tobin indicated he feels that downtown merchants who were adamant against plans for an East-West Connector a year ago may revise their objections when they see the new plan.

"One of the arguments against it was that it would displace too many small businessmen," said the Mayor. "Now with Sears leaving for South Shore Plaza we will have more flexibility in our plans.

"In the new proposals we are getting away from the displacement issue. That is not really an argument anymore."

Tobin said that he and the Rev. Bedros Baharian, citywide

Youngsters Beware

Quincy - Braintree Red Line Now Packs Lethal Current

The third rail between Quincy Center and South Braintree is now electrified, packing a lethal 600-volt current the MBTA warns.

The juice first flowed in the 3.6-mile stretch as of Thursday, Aug. 23 and tests on the line will continue intermittently for the next few months, according to Mila Dixon of the MBTA's information office.

Thursday's test run of several cars over the tracks was "very successful," she said. The line is tentatively scheduled to open for public use in late 1979 or early 1980.

Safety inspectors are walking the route to check the protective fence along the Quincy-Braintree right-of-way.

Robert L. Foster, MBTA chairman, said, "Young people have been seen using the right-of-way as a hangout and we have repeated repaired the fence in order to prevent a disaster."

"I urge the parents of children living in the area to warn them to stay from the fence and tracks," Foster said.

Barrels End Traffic

Hazard On Quincy Ave.

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond has expressed his appreciation to the Police Department for its prompt action in placing traffic barrels at the Quincy Ave. entrance to the former A & P building.

The barrels prevent motorists from taking a short cut through the parking area to avoid the traffic lights at the corner of Quincy Ave. and Scammell St.

Raymond said he had received many complaints from area residents about the hazardous traffic conditions.

ATTENTION PHOTO BUFFS Introduction to Photography I

CLASSES STARTING TUES. SEPT. 11 & THURS. SEPT. 13th

This course is designed to bring you 10 weeks of the full scope of photography covering most of the fundamental topics using practical terms.

The first 5 nights of the Introduction classes consist of talk with the instructor about the equipment necessary, history of photography, different cameras (with personal attention to each student regarding his or her camera operation), exposure, metering, through the lens metering and metering by the eye, depth of field, and films and flashes. All of these subjects are explained thoroughly and should prove to be the basics one must understand in order to attain good pictures.

After conquering the above you are ready for existing light, studio light and moonlight photography all of which are essential to understanding 35 mm photography.

The classes are 1 night a week, 2 hours long. The first hour is spent talking about the subject for the night and the second is spent critiquing the students' photographs so as to help develop their way of seeing things photographically. Classes consist of:

1. Introduction to 35mm cameras.
2. Different types of metering systems and how they work.
3. Films and filters and characteristics
4. Composition and lenses
5. Lighting technique (studio class)
6. Existing light photography
7. Electronic flash
8. Field trip, night photography
9. Macro & close-up photography

Eligible For Low Interest Loans

Wollaston Business Area Wins CARD Designation

Downtown Wollaston has been designated a Commercial Area Revitalization District (CARD), making its businesses eligible for low interest loans to upgrade their property.

It's the fourth CARD designation for Quincy, the others being downtown Quincy, North Quincy and the so-called "Gateway" CARD encompassing State Street South and environs.

"This is another important step toward the revitalization of Wollaston," said City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath.

"For the past two years the businessmen of Wollaston have been working together to improve the area. With the CARD designation they can get together and make real capital improvements."

Acting Planning Director James Lydon said the CARD designation from the State Department of Community Affairs will enable businessmen to borrow money at 2 to 4 per cent below prime interest rates.

The designated area extends along Hancock St. from Wayland St. to Wentworth Rd. and along Beale St. from Hancock St. to Old Colony Ave. It is zoned for business.

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, who made the announcement at a news conference along with McGrath, said the CARD designation is used to help prevent or reverse the physical decay of a business area.

McGrath said businessmen in the area have worked out an agreement with the Quincy Housing Authority to use 25 parking spaces in the rear of Tobin Towers (80 Clay St.).

Employees of the various business firms will use the parking spaces, he said, helping to free spaces in the public parking lot for prospective customers.

McGrath said a mini-park is planned for the corner of Beale and Cushing Sts. with the city digging up the area and the businessmen providing the funds for grass and shrubs.

The long-awaited report by Sasaki Associates of Watertown with specific recommendations for the development of the Wollaston business district is expected in mid-fall, the councillor said.

Lydon Named City Planning Director

James Lydon has been named to the $26,790 post of director of the Department of Planning and Community Development.

The announcement by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin was hardly unexpected since the 29-year-old Lydon has been acting director since the resignation of Walter J. Hannon in April.

Lydon, who has worked for the Planning Department since May, 1976, got the top job almost by default.

His was one of three names sent to Mayor Tobin by the Planning Board, which had acted as a screening committee to examine the qualifications of 65 original applicants.

The Mayor said one of the three finalists accepted a job in Saudi Arabia and the second asked that his name be withdrawn so he could remain in Maryland.

"We're going to be making an announcement very shortly that we've selected Jimmy," Tobin told a news conference Tuesday, and he let the observations stand for the announcement.

"The business and banking community of this city have been very impressed by the way Jim conducted himself as acting director," said Tobin. "There is no reason to go outside the city for a director."

JAMES LYDON

Lydon, who is a cousin of City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr., is a native of South Boston. He was graduated from Catholic Memorial High School and has degrees from Boston State and Boston College.

He studied at the London School of Economics, Schiller College in West Berlin, and the University of Moscow before joining the staff of Cong. Paul Cronin (D. Andover).

He was also associated with Cronin in an energy company.

Raymondi Supports Project

Insurance Company Building Proposed On Lincoln Theater Site

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymondi strongly supports the proposed construction of a one-story insurance company office building on the site of the old Lincoln Theater in Quincy Point.

A hearing on the construction proposal by Charles DeMarkles, owner of the property, is scheduled to be held before the Zoning Board of Appeals on Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Raymondi has sent a letter to Theodore DeCristofaro, chairman of the Ward 2 Civic Association board of directors, asking an early meeting of the group to discuss the proposal.

He said the plan is to raze the theater and a bowling alley and construct a one-story brick building on the lot at the corner of Washington and Chubbuck Sts.

Approval from the Board of Appeals is needed since the property to be subdivided goes through to Sixth Ave. and is zoned partially residential and partially for business.

"I have met with and discussed the merits of this plan with the area residents and other community leaders," said Raymondi in his letter to DeCristofaro.

"As you are aware the undeveloped portion of this property has been an eyesore to the Quincy Point community for too long a period of time.

"It has been one of my goals to continue a program of development that would rid the area of problem liquor establishments and return in their place established businesses and projects that would improve the area, bringing jobs and tax money to the city and much needed services to our ward.

"I strongly support this project and am extremely enthusiastic about the benefits that it will bring to our community and our city."

He said he intends to speak in favor of it at the Sept. 11 hearing of the Board of Appeals.

City Seeks To Honor All Vietnam Veterans

The Quincy Veterans Services Department is attempting to compile a list of all Vietnam veterans from Quincy who served in the Armed Forces from Aug. 5, 1964 to May 7, 1975.

"We need sufficient time and also need the full cooperation of all area residents in order to set up this special honor roll that the city wishes to erect," said Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

Those who wish to be on the list should contact the Veterans Services office at 1 Cliveden St. or call 773-1380, extensions 274, 275 or 276.

9 YMCA Leaders Club Members Awarded Scholarships

The Quincy YMCA announces that nine members of its Leaders Club have been awarded scholarships to the Northeast Regional YMCA Leaders Schools in Kent, Conn. and Winthrop, Me.

The scholarship recipients are

Marjorie Donlan, Joseph McKenna, Betty McKenna, Eileen Donlan, Pamela Doyle, David Ranieri, David Myette, Edward O'Gara and Kim Whalen.

The Leaders Club works to develop good character and leadership qualities in young men and women 13 to 18 years old.

This year's recipients were chosen for exemplifying leadership, honesty, reliability, fair play and interest in and kindness towards others.

Leaders School is a one week program which supplements the work of the local YMCA in training young people who have demonstrated leadership potential.

Daily instructions will include teaching skills and basic techniques of aquatics, gymnastics, physical fitness, team and group games, skin diving and group leadership. Theory of life sessions built around character growth, social adjustments, guidance and personality development will also be included in the program.

Funds for Leaders School scholarships are provided by public support of annual YMCA Leaders Club activities such as cake sales, car washes, bazaars and Salad Days.

The Quincy YMCA Synchronized Swim Club has also made a generous contribution each year.

For more information on Leaders Club, contact Ron Pompeo or Barbara Bowsen at the Quincy YMCA, 479-8500.

To Fight Recommendations

CAAN Plans Campaign Against FAA Air Route Choice

The Citizens Against Airport Noise (CAAN) is preparing a massive campaign to fight FAA recommendations that airplanes departing from Logan Airport use a route over Quincy and South Boston.

CAAN scheduled a special meeting last Tuesday night at City Hall and invited representatives of other impacted communities to share in the planning.

The FAA, in a draft environmental impact statement released last week, proposed two basic departure patterns for turbojet aircraft leaving the controversial Runway 22R at Logan.

Peak hour traffic would make a left turn to 195 degrees, then turn to 220 degrees over Castle Island in South Boston and proceed on up the Neponset River valley, impacting both Boston and Quincy.

Off hour traffic would turn left to 180 degrees, then make a further left turn to 270 degrees (the so-called corkscrew) or to a northbound heading, impacting Squantum, Houghs Neck and Winthrop.

Comments on the proposal were invited by John D. Mattson, chief, Air Traffic Division, FAA New England Region, 12 New England Executive Park, Burlington, Mass. 01803.

Those interested have 45 days in which to comment before the FAA is required to hold public hearings, which is the goal of CAAN and its chairman, Bernice Mader.

"I'm going to insist that they hold hearings in each community and not just a single one in Boston," she said. "I don't know if they'll go along with that but they ought to."

Once the hearing date is set, Ms. Mader said, she plans to have calls made to all 30,000 homes in Quincy to notify the people of the hearing.

"If we get 100 people each calling 300 homes we can do it in no time," she said.

Ms. Mader said she is "quite a bit hopeful" that the FAA will reverse its plan.

"The legislative leaders are against it," she said. "David Davis of Massport has spoken out against it. No port director has ever done that before. He's put his neck way out there."

"The FAA is not used to facing things like this."

Four-Day Work Week Saves DPW Gas, Diesel

The four-day work week in the Department of Public Works has resulted in a savings to the city of 18 per cent in gasoline and 27 per cent in diesel fuel oil, according to Mayor Tobin.

The Mayor said Commissioner James J. Ricciuti reported that his department saved 591 gallons of gas and 645 gallons of diesel fuel in June, July and part of August compared to 1978.

The four-day work week was instituted in the DPW early in June as an energy saving measure. The department is expected to go back to the five-day work week in the fall.

"I think the commissioner of Public Works and his people ought to be congratulated," said Mayor Tobin.

Joseph Fluhr, 54, QJC Dean of Students

A funeral service was held Tuesday at First Church in Squantum for Joseph Fluhr, 54, dean of students and a biology teacher at Quincy Junior College.

Mr. Fluhr died at Malden Hospital Saturday after being stricken by a heart attack while driving the family camper. Accompanied by his wife and two daughters, he had been headed for a weekend camping in New Hampshire.

Born in Queens, New York City he was a resident of Squantum. After receiving bachelor and master's degrees in education from Boston University, he taught briefly in Jackson, Mich. and at Boston University before coming to Quincy Junior College in 1961.

"His untimely passing was most unfortunate for the institution," said QJC president Dr. Edward Pierce. "He was a good dean and a friend to everyone."

He is survived by his wife, Barbara (Nichols); two daughters, Kathleen and Kristin; a son, Steven, all of Quincy and a brother John Kenna, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Dorchester.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Joseph J. Fluhr Memorial Scholarship Fund, Quincy Junior College, Quincy, MA. 02169.

Joseph Bonomi, 68 Retired Building Contractor

A funeral service was conducted yesterday (Wednesday) at Johnston Funeral Home in Milton for Joseph Bonomi, 68, who died Monday after a long illness.

Mr. Bonomi, who was born in Italy but lived most of his life in Quincy, was a retired construction worker and building contractor and maintenance supervisor for the Stop & Shop Company.

He was a member of the Architect's Club of Boston.

He is survived by his wife, Giselda (deLotto); two sons, David of Daytona Beach, Fla. and Richard of Milton, two sisters, Mary Bonomi of Milton and Mrs. Vanda Mulroy of Wollaston.

The Rev. Frank Parisi officiated at the funeral service yesterday. Burial was at Milton Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Quincy Visiting Nurses Association.

Dr. George L. MacKinnon Retired Quincy Hospital Surgeon

A memorial service will be held at 7 p.m. today (Thursday) at First Baptist Church in Wollaston for Dr. George Lincoln MacKinnon, a retired surgeon at Quincy City Hospital and former city Health Commissioner.

Dr. MacKinnon, a Wollaston resident, died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital after a lengthy illness. He had been on the hospital's staff for 35 years before retiring in 1971.

Born in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Isle, Canada, he was a graduate of Laval University in Quebec and Tufts Medical School.

He was a major in the U.S. Army Medical Corps in World War II and served as chief general surgeon at army hospitals in Louisiana and Texas.

Dr. MacKinnon was also a teaching fellow surgeon at Boston University, an instructor at Tufts Medical School and a surgeon at New England Medical Center, Mount Auburn Hospital and the Massachusetts Women's Hospital.

He served from November 1965 to January, 1966 as city Health Commissioner under Mayor James McIntyre, leaving, apparently, because of a salary dispute.

He is survived by his wife, Anna (Benediti); three sons, George L. Jr. of Hawaii, twins Alfred C. and Peter C. of Quincy, a daughter, Janine A. of Quincy and a brother, Alphonse of Prince Edward Island.

Private services were held Tuesday and burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were by Deware Brothers Funeral Home, Wollaston.

Donations may be made in his name to the Memorial Fund of the First Baptist Church, Wollaston.

Clarissa Vendittelli, 96, Great-Grandmother of 15

A funeral mass for Clarissa Vendittelli, 96, was celebrated Monday in St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mrs. Vendittelli died at Quincy City Hospital last week after a long illness. Born in Italy, she lived the last 50 years in Quincy.

Wife of the late Arturo Vendittelli, she is survived by three daughters, Vittorina Petrella of Italy, Iolanda Carnicelli of Quincy and Norina Cellucci of Quincy; three sons, Joseph of Quincy, Gildo of Rhode Island and Mario of Malden, 13 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

William F. Cameron, 77, Retired Machinist

A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at Sacred Heart Church in Weymouth for William F. (Felix) Cameron of Quincy.

Mr. Cameron, 77, died Monday at the Colonial Nursing Home in Weymouth after a long illness.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, he was a retired machinist for the Bethlehem Steel Company.

He is survived by his wife, A.

Genevieve (O'Donnell); three sons, William E. and Robert J. of Quincy and Ronald J. of Middleboro; two daughters, Mrs. M. Joan McKearney of Braintree and Mrs. M. Elizabeth Myers of Quincy; a sister, Miss Marie E. Cameron of Quincy and eight grandchildren.

Burial was in Village Cemetery and funeral arrangements were by the Daniel H. Clancy Funeral Home, Weymouth.

Joseph A. McCarthy, 62 Welder For Massport

A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy for Joseph A. McCarthy, 62, who died Saturday after a short illness.

Mr. McCarthy, a welder for the Massachusetts Port Authority at Logan Airport, was born in Boston but lived the last 30 years in Quincy. He was a World War II Navy veteran.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jane (Toomey); two sons, Michael G. of Quincy and Joseph A. of Middleboro; three daughters, Mary Jane Smith of Canton, Mich. Patricia Downey of Weymouth and Barbara Baker of Stamford, Conn.; three brothers, John of Bolton, Eugene of Arlington and James of Needham; two sisters, Ann O'Halloran of Kingston and Elizabeth Roper of South Boston and seven grandchildren.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery. Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, Wollaston.

Memorial donations may be made to the American Lung Association.

Fr. Towner Leaving St. Joseph's, Honored On 10th Ordination Anniversary

Rev. Robert Towner of St. Joseph's Church, Quincy, was guest of honor recently at a surprise party held in celebration of the 10th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

More than 200 family, friends and parishioners attended the party held at St. John's Church Hall. A buffet was prepared by the party committee, and dancing followed.

Close friend Rev. Daniel Graham, of St. John's Church, served as emcee for the evening introducing Fr. Towner's immediate family; his mother, Mrs. Billie Towner of Swampscott; sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John LaPorte, and niece, Lisa LaPorte, all of Swampscott; as well as Father Joseph Downey, pastor of St. Joseph's Church.

FR. ROBERT TOWNER

Fr. Towner was ordained May 21, 1969, and served his first Mass at St. John's Church, Swampscott. His first assignment was at St. Mary's Church, Brookline.

He also worked for a short time on a Navajo Reservation at St. Michael's Church, Arizona; before coming to St. Joseph's Church in September, 1971.

While at St. Joseph's, he served on the board of advisors at Woodward School for Girls and was incorporator and treasurer for the Mass. Association for Handicapped Children, Inc.

Humberto Cardinal Medeiros, Archbishop of Boston, has assigned Father Towner to study at Boston College Graduate School of Social Work for the next two years.

He has also been assigned, effective Sept. 4, to Immaculate Conception Church, Revere, as technical assistant in residence.

Australian Priest Visits D'Arcangelo Family

Fr. Clement Cafarella, a Catholic priest from Daylesford, Australia, spent about three weeks recently visiting relatives in North Quincy.

Fr. Cafarella stayed from July 31 to Aug. 19 with Mr. and Mrs. Mimmo D'Arcangelo of 125 Sagamore St. Mrs. D'Arcangelo is the former Anne Cafarella, is the priest's cousin. Mr. D'Arcangelo is Venerable of the Quincy Lodge Sons of Italy.

Fr. Cafarella's father, Vincent Cafarella, emigrated from Italy to Australia in the 1920s, along with brothers Jack, Joseph and Dominic. At the same time their brothers Tom, father of Mrs. D'Arcangelo, and Frank came to America and settled in North Quincy.

FR. CLEMENT CAFARELLA

Frank Cafarella, who ran a grocery store near the Quincy School on Newbury Ave. for many years, still lives at 125 Sagamore St., North Quincy.

Fr. Cafarella was ordained in 1958, at the height of the Italian post-war migration to Australia. He served in various parishes in Australia, tending to the spiritual needs of the country's growing Italian population.

The priest celebrated Mass daily at Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy during his stay here.

Hospital Offers Lectures, Refresher Courses For EMT's

Quincy City Hospital is offering two refresher courses and a series of lectures for persons trained as Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT).

The two refresher courses, which run two nights a week for four weeks, begin on Sept. 25 and Oct. 22. They are open to all registered EMT's who are in need of re-registration. The courses are approved by the state Office of Emergency Medical Services.

The lectures, beginning Sept. 26, will cover a wide range of emergency care topics, such as burns, poisoning, legal questions and dealing with various types of injuries. A lecture will be held once every three weeks.

Persons interested in attending either the refresher courses or the lectures should contact John Felci at the hospital, 773-6100.

Eligibility List Tied Up

Police Dept. Gets 4 Officers On 'Lateral Transfers'

The Quincy Police Department made a stopgap move towards easing its manpower shortage by swearing in four new officers last week.

They joined the force in a process known as "lateral transfer" in which the four, who had been serving as policemen in other towns, asked to be transferred to Quincy. All four are Quincy residents.

They are:
Robert F. Kelley, 319 Billings Rd., North Quincy, who had been working in Braintree;

Joseph A. Phillips, 47 Edwin St., North Quincy, formerly of the Bellingham Police Department; Francis X. Roche, 375 Bayfield Rd., North Quincy, who transferred from Marshfield, and Richard Churchill, 133 Madison Ave., South Quincy, who had been assigned to the Cohasset police.

All four have been assigned to routine patrol duty, according to Captain Paul Nestor.

There's still no relief in sight for the department's manpower shortage, though. Chief Francis X. Finn told The Sun in a May 24 article that his force was understaffed by about 20 officers.

"It's about the same now," Nestor said Tuesday.

"We were so short on manpower we had to do something, and this was the only thing we could do," he added. "It's a one-shot deal."

"We were really short-handed on nights," Finn said this week. "It was costing us a lot of overtime."

The manpower shortage is blamed on litigation which has tied up the state civil service eligibility lists. Minority groups have claimed the state's testing procedure is unfair to them.

So, no eligibility list exists from which to appoint new officers and none is expected in the near future.

Bryan Post Awards $1,600 In Scholarships

Arthur G. McLean, scholarship chairman for the George F. Bryan VFW Post, announces that scholarships totalling $1,600 have been awarded by the post to local students.

Leslie A. Salvaggio, of 35 Wesson Ave., was awarded the "George Warren Underwood Memorial Scholarship" for $300. She will attend Westfield State College.

Julie Lyons, of 20 Pratt Rd., received the "Richard J. Vasconcellos, USMC, memorial Scholarship" for $400. She will attend Boston State College.

Monica Godfrey, of 60 Broadway, received the "George F. Bryan VFW Post Vocational Technical Scholarship" for $300. She will attend Chamberlayne Junior College.

The Post also granted three their annual "James D. Asher memorial Scholarships" of $100 each. The recipients of these awards are selected by Dr. Edward Pierce, president of Quincy Junior College.

Sell Oil To Iran? Donnelly 'Outraged'

Congressman Brian Donnelly says he is "outraged and appalled" by the federal government's plan to sell 1.5 million barrels of home heating oil and kerosene to Iran this winter.

In telegrams to Juanita Kreps, secretary of commerce and Charles Duncan, secretary of energy, Donnelly cited the expected shortage of heating oil in New England this winter and urged reconsideration of the plan.

"We cannot afford to export one drop of home heating oil if we are to be properly prepared to meet the severe demands of a New England winter," Donnelly's telegrams claimed.

"This irresponsible action will do nothing more than increase the erosion of confidence by the American people in the government's ability to deal with the energy crisis."

Donnelly added he will demand a congressional investigation of the matter when Congress reconvenes in September.

Shipyard Work Petitions Aimed At Carter, Navy

Pascagoula, Miss.

Shipyard and local officials hope the Navy will allow General Dynamics to bid on later ships in the series or, better yet, that a direct award of a contract for one of the $400 million destroyers be made to the Quincy shipyard. Donnelly has already asked the Navy to make a direct award, without bid, to the yard.

Donnelly, in his meeting with the chamber's directors, outlined the yard's situation, its prospects for future help and the need for "a community-based response to Washington," Zvoleck said.

Shipbuilding is Massachusetts' fifth-largest industry Donnelly says. The congressman claims General Dynamics' closing would take billions of dollars out of the state's economy.

As a result of that meeting, Zvoleck announced "we will be asking the chief elected officials of these communities, the Chambers of these communities and the 832 vendors from Massachusetts that does business with the yard to send letters based on fact sheets which we are now preparing."

The letters will outline the shipyard's economic impact on Massachusetts and ask Carter's help in keeping the yard open.

Meanwhile, the petition drafted by Local 5 is being circulated in a number of local stores and banks. The petitions, distributed Monday, are scheduled to be collected today (Thursday) and presented to the White House next week.

The petition says:

"The General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard in Quincy, Massachusetts, is now threatened by massive job layoffs which can only be prevented by the awarding of contracts for new construction, repair and overhaul of Naval ships.

"The shipyard is the fifth largest employer in the Commonwealth, providing jobs to nearly 5,000 workers and contributing an estimated $1 billion to the Massachusetts economy through 1980. The loss of this modern shipyard and its highly skilled work force would be disastrous to the economy and the vital interests of the United States.

"We, the undersigned members of Local 5, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilders Workers of America, and all other concerned citizens, strongly urge you to direct Navy work to the shipyard at the earliest possible date."

Senate Adopts Harold Resolution On Fuel Oil Crisis

The Massachusetts Senate has adopted State Senator Paul D. Harold's resolution urging President Carter to assure adequate home heating fuel supplies for Massachusetts next winter.

The resolution will also be sent to the U.S. Secretary of Energy, the presiding officer of each house of Congress, and each member of the Massachusetts Congressional delegation, as well as to the White House. It notes that Massachusetts residents are uniquely dependent on oil for heating, and that a shortage of heating oil next winter would cause economic hardship and physical suffering.

It stressed that the poor and elderly would be among the hardest hit.

"Since it is one of the hottest weeks of the year, some people may be thinking more about the beach than heating oil," Harold said. "But we will all be thinking about it next February if something isn't done right now."

Harold's resolution "urgently requests the President to recognize the situation is critical, to act immediately to guarantee that emergency assistance will be available according to genuine need, and to communicate his personal assurance to the people of Massachusetts."

Judge Kramer Honored For Programs Helping Alcohol Offenders

Judge Albert Kramer Presiding Justice of Quincy District Court, traveled to Washington this week to receive an international award for his programs combatting alcohol and drug problems.

The judge was chosen to receive the William H. Burnett Memorial Award from the Alcohol and Drugs Problem Association of North America.

The award is named after a late Denver judge who won fame in legal circles for his interest in legal questions dealing with alcohol abuse. It is given annually to a U. S. or Canadian judge who has "demonstrated in his judicial role and as a community leader exceptional services in the successful and humane processing of offenders afflicted with the illness of alcohol."

Kramer has launched programs at the Quincy court for teenage alcoholics and persons convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Family Planning Service Plans Youth 'Health Awareness' Program

Family Planning Services of the South Shore Volunteer Group, a Quincy Community Action Inc. program, has coordinated a program for youth on "Health Awareness" to be held in September.

The class for boys will meet

Sept. 11, and girls will meet Sept. 18, at the Germantown Service Center.

Planning and instructions are being handled by volunteers Cindy Hazard and Denise Hajjar, who will teach the girls, and Walt Hazard, the boys.

Volunteer coordinator Helen Bolmar is directing the program. For more information, call 471-5187.

A new group of 11 volunteers and alternates is training under the direction of Helen Bolmar, assisted by Denise Hajjar.

Upon completion of training, the volunteers will be placed in positions in clinics and offices.

A "fish bowl" will also be set up at The Sun office into which passersby may drop donations.

Anyone donating $1 or more to the fish bowl will be eligible to win a $300 Litton microwave oven with defrost cycle donated by John Poreca, president of Vesco Vending Co., Inc. of 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

In addition to that, anyone donating $1 or more will also receive a handsome color photo poster of the famed Tall Ships that visited Boston in 1976. Two thousand posters will be available.

The first 50 persons donating $5 or more will also receive two tickets to the Wollaston Theater donated by new owners Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Chandler.

Youngsters who want to help Jerry's Kids may get an official canceller at The Sun office to collect donations. They will receive a Jerry Lewis iron-on patch.

Last year $77,225 was raised in the Quincy-South Shore area at The Quincy Sun pledge center and through pre-telethon events sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee.

Of this figure, $38,730 came from pledges and $7,750 from the fish bowl during the Labor Day weekend telethon. And an additional $30,745 was raised in pre-telethon activities.

In 1977, the first year for The Quincy Sun pledge center and committee, $63,638 was realized. The two year total is $140,863.

Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun, and Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board are co-chairmen of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee and co-ordinators of the pledge center.

Both are optimistic that this year's final figure will be the highest yet.

This year's telethon — the 14th annual — will originate from the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas beginning Sunday at 9:30 p.m. and continuing until 6:30 p.m. Monday Ch. 5 will carry a local oriented special starting at 8:30 p.m.

Some 200 stations in the U.S., Guam, Puerto Rico and Canada will carry the show with such stars as Count Basie, Tony Bennett, Lola Falana, Ella Fitzgerald, Ed McMahon, Loretta Lynn, Walter Matthau, Fleetwood Mac, Paul McCartney and Wings.

Ch. 5's Chet Curtis and Natalie Jacobson will co-host the local portions of the telethon live from New England Life Hall in downtown Boston. Appearing with them will be Frank Avruch, Jim Boyd, Gloria Gibson, Anne McGrath, Bill O'Connell, Jorge Quiroga, John Willis, Ken Hodge, Rex Trailer, Dick Flavin, Terry O'Reilly and Willie Whistle.

Also appearing on Ch. 5 will be representatives of the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee and pledge center.

Pledges made to The Quincy Sun center will be relayed to New England headquarters at New England Life Hall and sent on from there to the national center at the Hotel Sahara.

The telethon raised a record breaking $29,074.405. Of this $1,295,124 was realized in the Boston area including the Quincy-South Shore area figure.

In addition to The Quincy Sun based pledge center, others are located in Brockton, Danvers, Fitchburg, Foxboro, Framingham, Hyannis, Methuen, Sturbridge, Tewksbury and Worcester.

Proceeds from this year's telethon will provide complete patient care services for children and adults affected with one of the 38 neuromuscular diseases covered by the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Funds will also be used to finance MDA summer camping programs, a nationwide network of free diagnostic and treatment clinics which includes Tufts New England Medical Center, Boston University Hospital, Children's Hospital Medical Center, St. Vincent's Hospital, and Lakeville Hospital and grants for world-wide medical research.

This year, MDA's Massachusetts Chapters allocated a record $1,419,845.00 to area scientists and medical researchers to continue their search for the cures to these dread diseases.

Also appearing on Ch. 5 will be representatives of the Baron Hugo, Riccatones and Hugo's orchestra will take over from 3 p.m. to the end of the telethon.

The Riccatones will have Paul Ricca on trumpet, Angelo Pagliuca, chordaxov; Wally Farrell on drums and Joe Ricca on tenor saxophone.

Baron Hugo himself will be on the drums with Bill Melesky at the piano and Ken Lodge on trumpet when the Hugo group takes over. The Baron will also lead a sidewalk sing-a-long.

Hugo, one of New England's most famous orchestra leaders in the big band era of the 1940's, led the house band at the famed Totem Pole. He's still going strong today playing at local social functions and has become a fixture at the Miss Quincy Bay beauty pageants in Quincy.

WJDA To Cover Telethon From Quincy Sun Office

The Quincy Sun will again have radio station WJDA as its partner in a team effort to help Jerry's Kids.

The Quincy-South Shore area pledge center for the Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day weekend telethon will again be located at The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

WJDA again will be on hand Labor Day broadcasting live from The Sun office every half-hour starting at 6 a.m. Monday and continuing until the end of the telecast around 7 p.m.

Win Bettinson, program director and Roy Lind, will air progress reports, interview volunteers and those making donations to the fish bowl and cover the various other activities at the pledge center. WJDA is teaming with The Sun through the cooperation of James D. Asher, Jr., president-treasurer of that station and Sun publisher Henry Bosworth.

If you want to know what's going on at The Quincy Sun pledge center, stay with WJDA (1300) throughout Labor Day or drop by The Sun office.

Microwave Oven To Be Awarded

A $300 microwave oven will be awarded as a prize at The Quincy Sun based Quincy-South Shore area pledge center during the Jerry Lewis Telethon.

The Litton oven with defrost cycle is being donated by John Poreca of Vesco Vendi Company, 273 Copeland St., West Quincy, who also donated a similar prize last year.

Anyone contributing $1 or more to the fishbowl at the pledge center will be eligible to win the oven. The lucky name will be drawn at the end of the telethon.

In addition, those donating $1 or more will receive a color photo poster of the famed Tall Ships that visited Boston during the 1976 Bicentennial celebration.

The Sun pledge center at 1372 Hancock St. in Quincy Sq. will open at 7 p.m. Sunday night and remain open for 24 hours until the end of the telethon Monday night.

Call 328-4030 To Make A Pledge

You can help Jerry's Kids by calling 328-4030 during the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon this Labor Day weekend.

That is the special number to call in the Quincy-South Shore area to make a donation pledge.

The number will light up one of 32 special telephones being installed in the Quincy

Sun office to handle the pledges. The phones will be manned by over 200 volunteers on various shifts during the Jerry Lewis telethon being carried on WCVB-TV, Ch. 5.

You may also make a contribution to the fishbowl by visiting The Sun based pledge center, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

2,000 Tall Ships Posters For Donors

Remember the famed Tall Ships that sailed into Boston during the nation's Bicentennial celebration in 1976?

Well, you can get a handsome color photo poster of the ships and help a worthy cause at the same time.

Some 2,000 of these posters will be available at The Quincy Sun based Quincy-South Shore area pledge center during the Jerry Lewis Telethon this Labor Day weekend.

Anyone contributing $1 or more to the fishbowl at The Sun office will receive a poster.

And, anyone contributing the $1 or more will also be eligible to win a $300 microwave oven being donated by John Poreca of Vesco Vending Co., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

The Sun pledge center at 1372 Hancock St., Quincy, will begin its telethon operations Sunday at 7 p.m. and continue 24 hours until the end of the telethon Sunday night.

100 Wollaston Theater Tickets To Be Awarded

One hundred tickets to the Wollaston Theater will be awarded at The Quincy Sun based pledge center during the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon over the Labor Day weekend.

The first 50 people donating $5 or more to the fishbowl at the pledge center, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., will receive two tickets each to the theater.

The 100 tickets are being donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Chandler who recently purchased and reopened the popular moviehouse on Beale St., Wollaston.

Those first 50 people donating $5 or more will be eligible to win a $300 Litton microwave oven being donated by Vesco Vending Co., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

And, they will also receive a handsome color photo poster of the famed Tall Ships.

Mickey, Minnie Mouse,

Donald Duck At Sun Pledge Center

Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse and Donald Duck are coming to Quincy Labor Day to do their part to help Jerry's Kids.

The famed Walt Disney characters will be inside and outside the Quincy Sun Pledge Center in Quincy Sq. Labor Day during the Jerry Lewis Telethon.

They'll be helping to collect donations for the fishbowl to fight muscular dystrophy.

Come on down and meet them in person.

Baron Hugo, Riccatones To Entertain At Pledge Center

There'll be plenty of good music outside The Quincy Sun pledge center in Quincy Sq. for the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

Baron Hugo's orchestra and the well known Riccatones will both be on hand Labor Day doing their part to help Jerry's Kids.

The Riccatones will start playing at 12:30 p.m. Monday

What Is A Policeman?

What do you think of policemen?

Just about everyone has his or her own thoughts on the subject. Sgt. Don Riley, head of the Quincy Police Academy and former court prosecutor has his. They are pretty much summed up in the following article that was passed on to him.

He doesn't know who the author is but whoever he is, Riley thinks he's on target. Entitled "What Is A Policeman?" it goes like this:

Policemen are human, believe it or not, just like the rest of the people. Police come in both sexes, but mostly they are males. They also come in various sizes. This sometimes depends on whether you are looking for one, or trying to hide from one.

However, they are mostly big.

Policemen are found everywhere. On the land, on the sea, in the air, on horses, and in cars. And sometimes in your hair. In spite of the fact that "You can't find one when you want one," they are usually there when it counts most. The best way to get one is to pick up the phone.

Policemen deliver lectures, bad news and babies. They are required to have the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the disposition of a lamb, and muscles of steel. They are often accused of having a heart to match. The policeman is the one who rings the doorbell, swallows hard, and announces the passing of a loved one.

He then spends the rest of the day wondering why in hell he ever took such a crummy job!

On TV a policeman is a stupid oaf who couldn't find a bull fiddle in a telephone booth. In real life he's expected to find a little blonde boy "about so high" in a crowd of a half a million people. In fiction he gets help from private eyes, reporters, and "who-dun-it" fans. In real life all he gets from the public is "I didn't see nuttin'."

When he serves a summons he's a monster. If he lets you go, he's a real doll. To little kids, he's either a friend or a bogeyman, depending on how the parents feel about it. He works around the clock, split shifts, Sundays and holidays, and it always kills him when a joker says, "Hey, tomorrow is election day. I'm off. Let's go fishing." (That's the day he works 20 hours, continuously!)

A policeman is like the little girl, who when she was good, was very, very good. But when she was bad, she was horrid. When a policeman is good, "He's getting paid for it." When he makes a mistake, "He's a grafter, and that goes for the rest of them, too." When he shoots a stick-up man he's a hero, except when the stick-up man is "only a kid. Anybody could see that."

Lots of policemen have homes... some of which are covered with ivy. But most of them are covered with mortgages. If he drives a big car he's a chiseler... a little car, "Who's he kiddin'?" His credit is good... but his salary isn't. Policemen raise lots of kids. Most of them belong to other people.

A policeman sees more misery, bloodshed, trouble and sunrises, than the average person. Like the postman, policeman must also be out in all kinds of weather. His uniform changes with the climate... but his outlook on life remains the same: mostly a blank, but hopeful for a better world.

Policemen like days off, vacations and coffee. They don't like auto horns, family fights, and anonymous letter writers. They have unions, but they're not supposed to strike. They must be impartial, courteous, and always remember the slogan, "at your service." This is sometimes difficult, especially when a character reminds him that "I'm a taxpayer. I pay your salary!"

Policemen get medals for saving lives, stopping runaway horses, and shooting it out with criminals. Once in a while their widows get the medal. But sometimes the most rewarding moment comes when after some small kindness to an older person, he feels a warm hand clasp, looks into grateful eyes, and hears a voice saying, "Thank you, God bless you, son."

THE NEWS MEDIA All-Stars trounced the City Officials 21-8 in the second game of the benefit softball doubleheader for Muscular Dystrophy. (The Fire Dept. bombed the Police Dept. 21-7 in the first game). The News Media was down by six runs but rallied with a 12-run barrage to take the lead and as they say, ice it. The hits and runs came off Mayor Arthur Tobin, the City Officials' starting pitcher. Mused Arthur Chandler, president of the Quincy Citizens Association and new owner of the Wollaston Theater after the game: "Arthur did pretty well as a pitcher. He hit almost every bat." But the real winner, of course, was the MDA which will receive about $1,000 in proceeds. Losing pitcher Tobin donated $100 himself.

4 $25 Bonds Prizes

Sun Sponsoring Constitution Poster, Essay Contest For 4th, 5th, 6th Graders

The Massachusetts Constitutional Bicentennial observance will continue into October for Quincy fourth, fifth and sixth grade students.

The Quincy Sun is sponsoring poster and essay contests for this age group with the cooperation of the Quincy Constitutional Bicentennial Committee and the Quincy Public School System.

Theme of both contests is: "What The State Constitution Means To Me."

The Sun is awarding four $25 savings bonds as prizes.

The poster contest is for fourth, fifth and sixth graders. A $25 savings bond will be presented to each student submitting the best poster in each of those three grades.

The essay contest is open to sixth grade students only. The student writing the best one will receive a $25 savings bond.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders in all Quincy public and private schools are eligible to compete.

John Harrington of the Quincy Public Schools will serve as coordinator of both contests. Cochairwomen are School Committee Vice Chairwoman Patricia Toland and Miss Sheila McIntyre, representing the Constitution Bicentennial Committee.

The rules for the contests

- Essays should be no longer than 100 words.
- Posters must be 10 inches wide and 15 inches deep.
- Work on posters must be done in school.

All entries with name, address, school, and grade, must be received at The Quincy Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq. by 5 p.m., Friday, Oct. 12.

Winners will be announced in conjunction with the Oct. 30 birthday observance of President John Adams who in 1779 drafted the Massachusetts Constitution with his cousin, Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin.

The document was drafted in John Adams' law office in the birthplace of his son, President John Quincy Adams.

Quincy Hospital To Hold 'Stop Smoking' Course

Quincy City Hospital is offering a Stop Smoking course, starting Sept. 24, in cooperation with the South Shore Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The program is an effort to inform participants about the health hazards of smoking and provide an opportunity to learn about the process of quitting. It consists of eight two-hour sessions held in the hospital's conference room.

The first two sessions will be held Monday, Sept. 24 and Wednesday, Sept. 26. The remaining sessions will be conducted on the following six Mondays.

Sessions run from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. There is a registration fee. To register, contact John Felci at the hospital, 773-6100.

Comments On Taking Polls

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In answer to Arthur Tobin's question in the Quincy Sun's Thursday, August 23rd edition... "has anyone" polled the candidates running for the City Council and School Committee to see if they would be willing to vote a tax increase, to grant public employees pay raises?"

I have not been polled, but with regard to fiscal responsibility in general, I would question the Mayor as to the $300,000,000 in taxes still owed the City by those developers who seek and gain special favors in the quest of personal gain.

As a candidate for Councillor at large, I need no one to take polls for me... I take my own polls and from the readings I receive, the City is a hot bed of discontent regarding its administration.

Specifically...the Mayor is at odds with the Senator from the district (Paul Harold), the City Council blames the Mayor for the multimillion dollar bond issue, the interest on which will be reflected in future tax rates. North Quincy High School remains a problem, the hospital remains overstaffed with political appointed administrators and understaffed by underpaid nurses and on and on it goes. The Mayor wants the candidates for City Council and the School Committee to be polled. Maybe he ought to take his own poll and do something about the results.

Take Good Care Of Your Cat

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am a 14-year old animal lover, and this letter is to all present or future cat owners.

If you have or buy a cat, make sure you really want it, but if for some reason you do not want later on, don't just send it out the door. Ask neighbors if they want it, or either put an ad in the paper or bring it to a pet store.

The reason I say this is because last weekend some neighbors of mine tried to get rid of their cat by sending it out the door. I found the cat and tried to find it a home. I gave it to a friend of my friend. That person only harmed the cat more so I took it back. I brought it back to my neighborhood. My sister asked a friend of hers if they wanted the cat. They said yes. So now the cat has a nice home.

If your an animal lover like I am, you'll know how I felt. So please - don't just ditch cats - or any kind of animal. Thank you.

Question Of Week

What Elections Are Coming Up?

QUESTION: I'm a new resident of Massachusetts and I'd like to know what elections will be coming up in this state.

ANSWER: Massachusetts cities hold elections in November of odd-numbered years. This year those elections will be on November 6. The Massachusetts Presidential primary is tentatively scheduled for March 4 although this date could change. If you live in a town your local elections are held every year sometime between February and June. Remember that to be able to vote in any of these elections you must be registered.

Thanks To Dunkin Donuts, Sun

Doughnut's Inventor To Get Gravestone At Snug Harbor Cemetery

By BERNIE O'DONNELL

The inventor of the doughnut, without a grave-stone for about six years, may have one soon thanks to the Dunkin Donuts company.

A July 12 article in The Quincy Sun described how the gravestone of Hanson Gregory, recognized by the National Bakers' Association as the inventor of the doughnut, has been missing for several years.

Former Quincy resident Richard Hart, vice-president and treasurer of Dunkin Donuts of America, contacted the Sun after reading the article and announced his company would honor Gregory by underwriting the cost of a new grave marker.

Hart and Harold Crowley, president of the Germantown Heritage Society met last week in the Sun offices to discuss details of the gift and it appears the gravestone will be put into place at the Sailor's Snug harbor Cemetery in Germantown sometime in the near future.

Hart, citing the reasons for Dunkin Donuts' gift, noted the part Quincy has played in the history of the firm. The first Dunkin Donuts store opened on the Southern Artery in Quincy in 1950 and the company has since grown to a chain of more than 1000 stores.

"It's a community spirit kind of thing," Hart said. "We thought it only appropriate that we assure that Hanson Gregory's grave be appropriately marked."

Hart, who now lives in Hingham but keeps up with the hometown news by subscribing to The Sun, read the July 12 article at his New Hampshire summer home. "I thought, 'Isn't that interesting,'" Hart said, and contacted Sun publisher Henry Bosworth about arranging the meeting with Crowley.

Crowley, a history buff who teaches at the Snug harbor School adjacent to the cemetery and is on the Quincy Historical Society's board of directors, HAROLD CROWLEY, president of the Germantown Heritage Society and Richard Hart, vice president and treasurer of Dunkin Donuts of America, Inc., meet at Sailors' Snug Harbor Cemetery in Germantown to discuss Dunkin Donuts' plan to buy a grave marker for Hanson Gregory, inventor of the doughnut. Gregory's grave marker was apparently stolen several years ago.

said the Germantown Heritage Society was "very pleased" by Dunkin Donuts' gesture. Crowley is now looking into finding an appropriate marker and having the proper information inscribed upon it.

The Germantown group is still seeking funding for the 15 or 20 other gravestones in the Sailors' Snug harbor Cemetery that need to be replaced, Crowley said.

Hanson Gregory was born in Camden, Maine in 1832 and spent much of his life on the high seas before retiring to Sailors' Snug Harbor Rest Home in Germantown, where he died in 1921.

There are several versions, some fanciful, of how he came to put a hole in early America's fried cake. The most plausible version has the historic event taking place in 1847, when he was 15 and still living in Maine.

According to Crowley, Gregory's grave marker has been missing for about six years, a victim of either vandalism or simple erosion. The cemetery where Gregory and about 130 other sailors are buried has been maintained by the city of Quincy since the sailors' rest home moved to Duxbury in 1950.

War Strands Quincy Travelers

Miss Florence Manning of Franklin St., South Quincy, and Mabelle Fullerton, society editor of the Patriot Ledger, were heading back to Quincy by train after their Caribbean cruise was interrupted by the outbreak of war in Europe.

The two Quincy women were aboard the North German Lloyd Liner Columbus en route to Grenada when Hitler invaded Poland. Passengers were put ashore at Havana, Cuba, and the Columbus headed home for Germany, hopefully before Britain and France entered the war.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. David Hansen of 240 Everett St., Wollaston, were awaiting word from their son, Gordon, 35, a commercial artist, who was one of 1,400 passengers aboard the liner Athenia, which was torpedoed by a German submarine in the Atlantic.

And friends of Andrew Stopin of 22 Price St., Atlantic, were concerned for his safety on a visit to relatives in Latvia when the S. S. Pilsudski, on which he was to have sailed for home, failed to clear the Polish port of Gdynia before hostilities.

At Adams Mansion

Squantum Flutist On Bicentennial Music Program

A Quincy flutist who has performed with the Boston Pops will be one of the musical artists on the Bicentennial program at an open house at the Adams Mansion Friday, Sept. 7.

Virginia Sindelar Leguia of Squantum, along with Betsy Moyer on the harpsichord and Isabelle Plaster on the bassoon, will perform music that was current 200 years ago.

They will play during the musical portion (7 p.m. to 10 p.m.) of the open house program which is being held in connection with the 200th anniversary of the drafting of the Massachusetts Constitution in Quincy.

Mrs. Leguia, who lives at 126 Crabtree Rd., Squantum, is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music and began performing at the age of 12 with the Chicago

VIRGINIA LEGUIA

Symphony String Ensemble.

She has appeared as a flute soloist with the Anchorage, Alaska, Symphony Orchestra, the Tanglewood Festival Orchestra, the New York Contemporary Chamber Players, the National Orchestral Association, and the Youth Orchestra of Greater Chicago.

She has also performed with the Opera of New England, the Boston Pops and the National Orchestral Association of New York City. She was principal flutist with the Atlantic Symphony Orchestra in Canada.

The musical program is being presented by the Northeastern University Music Department Concert Series, directed by James Forte.

The program includes the Harpsichord Sonata in D Major by Alexander Reingale (1756-1809), a little known American composer who was active in Philadelphia.

Circus Poster Exhibit At Crane Main Library

An exhibit of circus advance posters, sponsored by the "Circus World Museum, Baraboo, Wis., and owned by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, is on display at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Sq. through Sept. 7.

Proper routing and advertising was the life blood of the American circus during its classical era from the 1870's through the 1940's. The "Circus advance" operated one to four weeks ahead of the circus itself attending to all arrangements and advertising.

The billposters operated motor trucks or wagons and teams on both "city routes" and "country routes" to paste massive poster displays on walls, sheds, barns, and fences. A circus used 30 to 60 different art styles of posters and posted 5,000 to 8,000 "sheets" of "paper" each day, converting the average American city into an inescapable blaze of color.

Magic Show Delights Youngsters At Playground

The Quincy Recreation Department in cooperation with The Grolier Education services recently co-sponsored a Magic Show as part of the department's summer playground program.

Magician Nick Anderson performed feats of magic to over 300 youngsters at two performances. Youngsters at each of the City's playgrounds and campers from Happy Acres day camp were taken to the performance by bus.

Recreation Director Charles Alongi said each of the youngsters in attendance will be eligible to win one of eight prizes in a special drawing to be held at a later date.

Ruth Ferrara Production Manager For 'Gypsy'

Ruth Ferrara, of 24 Orchard St., Squantum, is production manager for the Hingham Civic Music Theater's production of the musical "Gypsy," to be presented Nov. 9 and 10, and 16 and 17.

A pre-audition party will be held Sept. 7, 8-12 p.m. at the Hingham Community Center, 70 South St., for anyone interested in performing or in production of the play.

The play requires an on-stage cast of over 50 adults and children. Auditions will be held Sept. 9, 1-5 p.m. for children, 7-10 p.m. for adults, and Sept. 10, 7-10 p.m. at Second Parish Church, 785 Main St., Hingham.

Directing the play are James (Bud) Berlenbach and Sal Bartolotti.

Tobin Proclaims Jerry Lewis- Sun Telethon Weekend

Mayor Arthur H. Tobin has proclaimed Sept. 2-3 as "Jerry Lewis-Quincy Sun Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Weekend" urging all citizens of Quincy to give full support to the programs of the Muscular Dystrophy Association which sponsors world-wide research and patient services for those suffering from the crippling disease.

In his proclamation Mayor Tobin said:

WHEREAS, the citizens of Quincy share with citizens the nation over, concern for the welfare of the country's victims of neuromuscular disease; and

WHEREAS, the Jerry Lewis-Quincy Sun Labor Day Telethon, which provides major support for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, will originate in Quincy for the second successive year, thus bringing honor and recognition to our community; and

WHEREAS, the Muscular Dystrophy Association sponsors world-wide programs of scientific research, and maintains a nation-wide network of 185 clinics to serve patients from these crippling diseases; and

WHEREAS, the City of Quincy is proud to host the Quincy South Shore Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day pledge center, an event which each year unites hundreds of volunteers from every corner of our community, and which, with the dollars it raises, benefits the lives of so many more.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ARTHUR H. TOBIN, Mayor of the City of Quincy, do hereby proclaim the period of September 2 to September 3, 1979, to be:

JERRY LEWIS QUINCY SUN MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY TELETHON WEEKEND in and for the City of Quincy, and I do hereby urge all citizens to give full support as they have done so generously in the past, to the programs of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and to the untiring efforts of its National Chairman, Jerry Lewis.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 30th day of August, 1979.

ARTHUR H. TOBIN

Work Starts On Town Brook Wall

The Public Works Department has begun repairing the stone walls that enclose Town Brook in the Quincy Center area.

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond has requested that workers be assigned to clean and remove the growths and point the walls of the brook from Revere Rd. to Bigelow St.

At a recent meeting with Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti, Raymond cited the many problems, including flooding, that residents have been experiencing with Town Brook.

He requested that Ricciuti seek funds to improve the wall structure of the brook and perhaps add an additional foot to the height of the wall.

Resurfacing Starts On Ward 2 Streets

Contracts have been awarded for the resurfacing of six streets in the Quincy Point and South Quincy areas of Ward 2 with the work to be completed in about three weeks.

The streets are Cleverly Court, Scammell St., Grant Place, School St., Franklin St. and South St. from Des Moines Rd. to Cleverly Court.

City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond said he feels the benefits derived from water main replacement and street resurfacing will outweigh the inconveniences that have been suffered by residents.

Humanitarian Award

QCA To Honor 3 For Sea Rescue

Squantum residents Jens Thornton and Duncan Preston and police officer James McNeil will receive the Quincy Citizens Association's "Humanitarian Award" for their part in saving the lives of two men off Squantum.

The awards will be presented at the association's Sept. 5 meeting, at the Montclair Men's Club, North Quincy.

They will be cited "in recognition of their prompt and courageous action on Aug. 2, 1979 in the sea rescue of David Andrew and James Mullaney of Adams Shore."

Mullaney and Andrew had spent several hours in the chill water off Peterson's Rock, Squantum after their canoe had overturned.

Thornton heard their cries for help, called the police and, aided by neighbor Preston and McNeil, rescued the men using his own lobster boat.

New York Defeats Quincy Babe Ruth Teams

A team of Hispanic youths 13-15 years of age from New York's Lower East Side visited Quincy last weekend, defeated the Golden Print and Sons of Italy teams of Quincy's Babe Ruth League and enjoyed a variety of activities.

The New Yorkers stayed at the homes of Quincy families. The team is from New York's Action program.

Saturday New York defeated Golden Print, 12-6, with John Balzano having three hits and scoring a run for SOI. Sean Martin two hits, Jim Kelly, Danny McInnis, Tom Corliss and Peter Quinn a hit apiece and Tom Foley had two walks and scored two runs.

James Pava had three hits including a home run for New York. Paul Feliciano a home run and a triple. Felix Urrutis two hits and Pablo Figueroa, Edwin Gonzales, Jason Guzman and Alfred Rivera a hit apiece. Frank Morales scored three runs.

Sunday the New Yorkers topped the Sons of Italy, 9-3, in extra innings.

SOI scored first in the second when John Doherty walked. Peter Lynch singled, Jim Krantz singled to load the bases and Doherty scored on an infield out.

New York tied it in the third and the 1-1 score remained until the fifth. SOI scored twice in the fifth when Jim Austin singled and, with two outs, Doherty walked. Lynch drove in Austin with a single and Doherty scored on a wild pitch. New York again tied it up with two runs in the seventh and the game went into extra innings.

New York exploded for six runs in the ninth inning on five hits.

Feliciano pitched all the way for New York, striking out 12 and yielding only six hits.

Arrangements for the New Yorkers' trip were made by Ms. Ann Yeomans, director of the N.Y. recreation program, and N.Y. team manager Julio Huerta.

The games were arranged by Bob Dinan, president of the Quincy Babe Ruth League; Clara Yeomans, Hugo Salvatore and Ray Cattaneo and Dick Koch of the Park and Recreation Board. Cattaneo and Koch arranged for the use of Adams Field for the games.

The N.Y. boys arrived at the home of Alice Solari in North Quincy last Friday and, following supper prepared and served by members of Sacred Heart Prayers

Sports

Group of North Quincy, the Quincy host families picked up the boys who were staying at their homes.

Saturday, following the game with Golden Print the visitors and hosts enjoyed a swim and cookout at the home of Alicia Steele in Marshfield. Food for the cookout was prepared and served by members of the Star of the Sea Prayer Group of Squantum.

Sunday, following the game with the Sons of Italy team, each of the visitors had dinner with his host family and enjoyed a variety of activities including a trip to Paragon Park.

Hosts who put up the visitors were John and Christina Morrison, Alice Solari, Carmen and Amy D'Olympio, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Andronio and daughter, Dawn; Wilfred and Joanne Nolan, Jeffrey Isaacson, Frank and Clara Yeomans, Paul and Anne Morrison, Frank and Mary Boudreau, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan McElaney.

5 Quincy Players On Winning Team In Summer Hockey Tourney

Five Quincy hockey players were members of team of South Shore All-Stars that recently won a summer tournament in Stoneham.

The five are Jimmy Campbell, goalie; Robbie Craig, wing, and Scott Richardson, wing, all of Quincy High, wing and defenseman Bobby Hayes of Boston College High and Tom Connolly, a defenseman for Don Bosco during the school year. All five boys are seniors.

The South Shore All-Stars won the tournament by defeating a team of Greater Boston League All-Stars 6-5 in the finals.

The tournament, sponsored by Hockey Night In Boston is by invitation only and allows college scouts to see local high school stars compete against each other. Eight teams, representing different areas of Eastern Massachusetts, played about 20 games each.

Three of the five Quincy players were voted honors by the coaches and scouts watching the tournament. Campbell was voted co-MVP. Connolly was chosen the best defenseman and Hayes was selected "Mr. Hustle."

Castaways Defeat Steamers For Title

The Castaways won the championship of the Houghs Neck Women's Softball League, defeating the Steamers, 7-6, in the third and deciding game of their playoff series.

Sandy O'Hare was the winning pitcher and drove in the winning run herself with a sixth inning triple. Jayne Reynolds went three for three, Betty Batson two for two and Gail Curran and Barbara Logan played strong defense.

For the Steamers Mary Lou Frisoli was three for three, Maureen Shields and Elaine Gibbons two for two, Joan Witham had a two-run homer and Pat Adams and Nancy Carmody shone defensively.

The Steamers had evened the series with a 10-5 win in the second game with Mal Morrill the winning pitcher and O'Hare the loser.

For the Steamers Jean Murphy was three for three, Sherry Craig and Morrill three for four, Judy Morris two for three and Morrill and Murphy had doubles. For the Castaways Maureen Goldfie went three for three, Batson two for three, June Brundie and Linda Tatem hit doubles and Doris Robertson played well on defense.

The Castaways had won the opener, 6-5 with O'Hare the winner and Morrill the loser. The Castaways won it with a run in the bottom of the seventh.

For the Castaways Jean Reynolds drove in Karen Leuchette with the winning run in the seventh. Margie Wiggins made several outstanding plays at first base. Linda Mortimer, Tatem and Jayne Reynolds all went three for three, O'Hare had a double and Brundie and Gabe Hanley had key hits.

For the Steamers catcher Pam Praetsch made two fine plays at home, Joan Witham and Morrill had doubles, Judy Hall was two for three and Morrill and Maura O'Connor were three for three.

Red Riley, Pete Little and Jimmy Gilmore umpired all the games.

Following the championship game both teams and other members of the association gathered at the Quincy Yacht Club for a social. The league officers thank William McKeon, the QYC commodore, for the hospitality.

Quincy A.L., N.L. Teams Still In Junior Tourney

Going into Tuesday's game between unbeaten Quincy American League all-stars and once-beaten Norwood Colombos, only three of the original 16 teams remained in contention in the triple elimination Junior Baseball League tournament at Artery Fields 1 and 2.

The Quincy Americans were 6-0, Norwood 5-1 and the Quincy Nationals 5-2 going into this week's games.

Quincy Nationals were scheduled to face the Quincy Americans-Norwood loser last night (Wednesday) and games will continue Friday and Saturday nights at 7, if necessary.

Last Sunday the Quincy Americans blasted Westwood, 11-0, with John Comeau pitching his third straight shutout of the tournament. Chris Bunker had a home run and single, Jack Bolster two singles and Steve Higgins, Bill Shaughnessy, Steve White, Mark Abbond and Tom Ryan a single each.

The Quincy Nationals topped South Boston Nationals, 7-5, with Ken Runge the winning pitcher. Runge, Steve Durante, Mike LaRouque and Jim Salvati all had doubles and Jack Outerbridge a single.

The Quincy Americans outlasted the Norwood Police, 9-8, with Bolster the winning pitcher. He also went four for four including a double. Bunker had a triple, double and single, Higgins three singles, Steve White two singles and Matt Eloffson and Tom Ryan a single apiece.

Quincy Nationals topped South Westwood, 8-3, with Outerbridge the winner. Mike Cocco had a home run and single, Runge a double and single, Rick Pettinelli two singles, Durante and Salvati a double each and Paul Sciblio and Ed Boyle a single apiece.

Quincy Nationals were blanked by Norwood Colombo, 5-0, with Pettinelli having two hits and Denis Cronin and Durante one each.

Hingham eliminated Quincy Triple A All-Stars, 8-3. Bobby Reidy had a home run, Sean Toland a double and Pat Hennessey and Jerry Martin a single each for Quincy.

Quincy Americans edged Westwood, 9-8, with Shaughnessy the winning pitcher with 4 2 3 innings of fine relief. Bunker had a home run and two doubles, Higgins a double and single, Miller two singles, Shaughnessy a triple, Paul Marshall a double and Bolster and Eloffson a single each.

The Quincy Nationals edged Hanover, 3-2, with Pettinelli the winning pitcher. Dan Baker singled home the winning run in the fifth and Boyle, Salvati, Pettinelli, Durante and Cronin also had singles.

the city finals.

The winners are: Sandy Scalata, girls' 8 to 10 group; Julie Baker, girls 11 to 12; Debbie Noe, girls 13 to 14; Linda Miceli, girls 15 to 16; Dennis Doherty, boys 8 to 11; Dave Zurons, boys 11 to 12; Brian Scalata, boys 13 to 14; Mike Giudice, boys 15 to 16.

Over 225 youngsters took part in the tournament, with patches and trophies awarded to winners and runners-up.

The Recreation Department announces winners of its first annual Jokari Tournament held recently.

Jokari is a game somewhat like racquetball, in which the two players, using paddles, try to hit a ball attached to a stretch band connected to a weighted base.

Each of the city's 33 playgrounds held preliminary contests, with winners advancing through district competitions to

RECREATION ROUNDUP

Notes from the Quincy Recreation Department's summer playground program:

JUNIOR BOYS BASKETBALL
FINALS: Montclair defeated Mass Fields, 44-35, to capture the boys' junior basketball championship. Montclair was led by Chris Bunker with 10 points, Steve Higgins, Dan Baker and Richard Comeau with 8 each. Montclair, which finished with a perfect 8-0 record was coached by recreation leader Greg Zoia.

SENIOR GIRLS BASKETBALL
The senior girls basketball championship game saw the high spirited Welcome Young team take a 38-33 win over Beechwood. Keonell high scorers for the Welcome Young girls were Faith Lindberg with 12 points, Jackie Thayer 10 points, and Robin Lindberg with 8 points. Lauren Apollo pulled down 14 rebounds while playing an outstanding game on defense. Beechie was led by the scoring of Michele Melan with 8 points.

JUNIOR GIRLS BASKETBALL
The junior girls basketball final featured the Chapel St. girls and the Fore River girls. The contest was an overtime affair with the score tied at 4 apiece after regulation time. Denise Loud of Chapel St. scored on a 3 point play in the early moments of overtime to spark the Chapel girls to a 7 to 6 win. Outstanding players for Chapel who won their first city championship ever were Janice Schuerch, Susan and Nancy McDonald, Lisa Steen and Kelly Keefe. Fore River was led by Margaret and Marilyn McBride who played strong games.

JUNIOR GIRLS SOFTBALL
The Chapel St. girls defeated Montclair 17-4 to capture their second title of the summer. Lisa Steen led the hitting attack for Chapel with a grand slam home run while Chrissy and Denise Loud had two hits each. Janice Schuerch pitched a 6 hitter while Susan McDonald played a strong third base.

JUNIOR BOYS BASEBALL
The junior boys baseball championship was won by Montclair by a 7-4 score over Fore River. John McGlame pitched a complete game for Montclair and had a no-hitter going with one out left in the game. Fore River showed that never say die slogan by rallying for 4 runs only to have it end on a double play started by Richard Comeau. Top hitters with 3 hits each were Chris Bunker, Dan Baker and Steve Higgins. Other Montclair players who contributed to the 14 hit Montclair attack were Greg McGlame, Steve McCarthy and Pat Ennis.

New 'Parent-Liability' Vandalism Law Now In Effect

A new law increasing the liability of parents for vandalism committed by their children has gone into effect Senator Paul Harold (D-Quincy) warns.

The law, increasing liability from $500 to $1,000 and expanding it to include vandalism to state, county or municipal property, began as a letter to Rep. Robert Cerasoli (D-Quincy), published in The Quincy Sun.

Former Quincy resident Lewis Trout of Rancho Cucamonga,

Calif. wrote last fall to The Sun and Cerasoli, a Quincy High Class of 1965 classmate, wondering if more couldn't be done to combat youth vandalism. He enclosed a newspaper clipping which described how parent-liability laws in Illinois helped out youth vandalism by two-thirds in three years.

Trout urged Cerasoli to back similar legislation in Massachusetts.

The Quincy legislator did, and the bill was signed by Gov. Edward King on May 15.

The law holds parents of a child between seven and 18 liable in a civil court action for any willful, act causing injury or death to another person or damage to another's property.

"I hope that parents, in instructing their children against vandalism, will impress upon them that the children themselves will not only get into trouble by such thoughtless acts, but that the parents and family will suffer by being required to make restitution," Harold said of the new law.

McCauley Cites Service On QHA

City Councillor Francis X. McCauley, who is seeking re-election to his at-large seat, reviewed his services on the Quincy Housing Authority at a candidates' night at Pagnano towers.

McCauley noted that during his five-year term on the QHA some 800 units of senior citizen housing were constructed, thereby making residential housing available to young growing families.

He called the senior citizen housing program in Quincy "the finest in the state."

More than 100 residents of Pagnano Towers attended the candidates nights to hear McCauley, whose 16-year career in city government includes services as city councillor and school committeeman.

RSVP Volunteer Opportunities

The South Shore Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) has volunteer opportunities in the following Quincy areas:

Houghs Neck—A volunteer is needed to answer telephones and type, and must be willing to make a commitment.

Quincy Center—Volunteers are needed to help manage a retail shop, to play the piano one hour a week for a sing-a-long group, and to be a companion to people.

Retired nurses are needed to organize blood pressure clinics, and several volunteers are needed to be trained in energy conservation. Having a car is helpful, and individuals should be willing to talk on energy conservation to groups and people in their homes.

People with a background in research and simple data processing are needed to set up "Indices" system. Work will involve research, gathering, correlating and coding of data.

Volunteers are also needed to help out at nutrition sites for the elderly.

Free accident and personal liability and excess auto insurance are offered to volunteers. Reimbursements are also offered for transportation and meals, according to program policy.

For more information, contact Diane M. Mackie, 471-3600, or visit the RSVP office at 1 Cottage St., Quincy Square.

CHOKING ON FOOD

Hundreds of people die each year from choking on food. Many of these deaths can be avoided if the problem is recognized and quick action taken. Time is vital. If the air supply is completely shut off, the victim will be dead in about eight minutes. So you can't wait for medical help.

If, say, your child starts choking on a piece of food, do not hit him on the back. This might lodge the particle deeper into the windpipe. Let him continue coughing and use his own body mechanism to dislodge the food. This takes willpower, but works most of the time.

If it doesn't work, reach far back into the throat and get hold of the substance. Be careful not to push it further back into the throat.

Keep your finger to the side and try to hook the food, flipping it up and away from the danger area. Also, a small child should be held upside down to let gravity help dislodge the object.

Health Dept. Schedules September Well Baby Clinics

Well-Baby Clinics, run by the Quincy Health Department, will continue at various sites in the city the day after Labor Day.

The clinics, open to all Quincy residents with children five and under, offer immunization, a complete physical examination and information on the child's nutrition and diet.

The schedule for Well-Baby Clinics in September:

Houghs Neck - Atherton Hough School, 1084 Sea St., 479-1837, Sept. 11 and 25, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. (second and fourth Tuesday of each month.)

Montclair - Montclair Men's Club, 93 Holbrook St., 328-9818, Sept. 6 and 20, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. (first and third Tuesday of each month.)

Snug Harbor - Germantown Service Center, 9 Bicknell St., 479-6418, every Thursday, Sept.

6, 13, 20 and 27, 1 to 2 p.m.

Quincy Point - Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., 773-6424, Sept. 4, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. (first Tuesday of each month.)

Atlantic - Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 245 Atlantic St., 328-1708, Sept. 18, 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. (third Tuesday of each month.)

Every month, clinics will be held each Wednesday at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., Quincy Center, 773-1380, ext. 238, from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

No Well-Baby Clinic will be held in September at the South West Community Center, 372 Granite St. Resuming in October, however, a clinic will be held on the first Monday of each month, from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

East-West Connectors Looms Big In Development Plans

development coordinator, met last week with Progress for Downtown Quincy (PDQ) members.

"Rev. Baharian addressed himself to the importance of the East-West connector," he said.

"He told them if we don't do it with the plans we have underway then we're going to have two separate districts and anybody caught on the other side of Hancock St. is going to be left in the lurch."

"I think everyone there understood what the reverend was saying."

Baharian said it would be at least three months before plans are far enough along to be presented to the downtown businessmen as a workable package.

"What Weiner will be coming in with," said Tobin, "is a plan to tie in both sections to make a very viable downtown."

"If you get a top notch, first class department store in the vicinity of 100,000 square feet that is a drawing card you have no problem getting specialty shops in the package."

"They know they will get a certain percentage of the people who shop in the department store and, by tying in the total complex, you put more people in there."

"We don't want to develop one section of downtown Quincy and let the other section deteriorate. It makes sense to have one integral part."

Planning Director James Lydon said one version of the Weiner plan would preserve the Sears Roebuck building while another would have it torn down.

Earlier plans for the East-West Connector routed the road around the Sears building but that was not necessary once Sears announced plans to move to Braintree.

When Letherbee Co. first became interested in developing the John Hancock Parking Area, the plans called for a department store with 80-90,000 square feet of space.

"Lately," said Tobin, "they've got a firm that's talking about 150,000 square feet."

South-West Center Schedule

The South-West Community Center at 372 Granite Street, announces its program schedule for the week of Sept. 3.

Monday, Sept. 3: The center closed for the holiday.

Tuesday, Sept. 4: Babette Diamond, Carolyn Williams and Sophie K., advocates community center will be making inquiries in the South-West Quincy area with questionnaires for the local residents to determine the needs and problems of the community. Literature explaining the Center's programs and function will be distributed. The Center is open, daily, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for all human and social services. For additional information, call 471-0796.

Wednesday, Sept. 5: Ann O'Neil, Welfare Advocate, will provide assistance for the Federal Food Stamp program, welfare information and the Medicare program. Yvonne Duncan, Licensed Practical Nurse, provides assistance and information for local, on-going health programs for children and adults in the South Shore area. Mrs. K. will assist Senior Citizens with information for food shopping, the daily lunch programs and Supplemental Securing Income, including Medicaid.

Thursday, Sept. 6: Koffee

Klatch is held from 10 a.m. to noon for residents and their guests under the direction of Cora Zimmerman. Information for Quincy Headstart, a pre-school learning program for children four years of age by December 1 is available. All human and social services are available from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Information for energy assistance, the home weatherization program and housing advocacy is available. Call 471-0797.

Friday, Sept. 7: Joann Powers will assist parents and children with school-related questions, including high school equivalency tests, the special education laws, Chapter 766 and the Title I schools program. Carol Sutterley will discuss tenant-landlord problems, including security deposits and refunds, health code enforcements and written and oral leases. Emergency assistance is available for eligible persons. For additional information, call 471-0796.

Silver is used to fill treasure chests, hope chests, showcases, and teeth. It is annealed, embellished, polished, and admired in the form of coins, musical instruments, statuary, cutlery, tableware, trophies, trays, pots (tea, coffee and cooking), and jewelry to name a few. Probably the finest silver collection in the United States is the Mabel Brady Garvan Collection at Yale University. It contains more than 10,000 objects ranging from an ornate 17th century dram cup and tankard to sleeker 20th century jewelry and tableware designs. The uses of silver are only limited by imagination.

Use your imagination - tell us what you would like and we will design and make a piece of jewelry to your specifications at GREGORY & CHRISTIE, INC., 536 Adams St., East Milton, 696-1490. Our workmanship is well known throughout the area, and everything is handled on our premises. Hours: 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Mon. thru Sat. Have a nice holiday weekend. Enjoy yourself and drive carefully. Re-elected to Board

Fred E. Bergfors, Jr. Retires As QuinOil President, Treasurer

Fred Bergfors Jr., president and treasurer of QuinOil Industries, Inc. announced his retirement at the company's annual meeting recently.

A graduate of Phillips Andover Academy and Williams College, he was also a World War II Army combat veteran, serving in Europe. He is a Weymouth resident.

Bergfors was re-elected a member of the company's board of directors and made a special consultant.

Bergfors had a life-long career with QuinOil, parent company of Quincy Oil Co. and one of New England's largest independent petroleum marketing companies. The firm was incorporated by Frederick Bergfors Sr. in 1916.

Bergfors, a long-time spokesman for the petroleum industry in the Boston area and Washington, will remain active in many civic and charitable activities.

William R. Prang, chairman of the board of directors and chief executive officer, will succeed Bergfors as president. John E. Tolson, vice president and general manager will assume the duties of treasurer.

Conway Names 2 New Divisional Vice Presidents

Two area managers of the Jack Conway Company have been promoted to divisional vice president, announces John R. Reardon, senior vice president of the 24-office Massachusetts Real Estate Brokerage firm.

Richard F. Cahill, 36, of Wollaston has been appointed divisional vice president of the Conway offices in Wollaston, South Weymouth, Hingham, Milton Village and Canton.

Thomas W. Rudolph of East Bridgewater, has been appointed divisional vice president of the Conway offices in West Bridgewater, Easton, Whitman and Holbrook, all of which serve the Greater Brockton area.

Cahill has been manager of the Conway Company's Wollaston office since April, 1975, when he came to the real estate business, after enjoying a successful career in banking and mutual funds.

He is a director of the Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors, Chairman of the Board's Grievance and Arbitration Committee, and is working towards his C.R.B. management designation from the National Association of Realtors. Recently he was a speaker on computer technology in real estate, before the R.E.I.G. Inter-city Relocation Service Convention in Washington, D.C.

Cahill recently appeared on a 30-minute real estate special with Tom Larson on Ch. 38. A graduate of Boston University, with a degree in economics, he has won many sales awards during his career with the Conway Company.

He lives at 479 Beale St., Quincy, with his wife Carol and daughter Joan.

According to Reardon, the promotions of Cahill and Rudolph were made to strengthen the middle management area of the rapidly expanding Conway Company, which this year projected sales of $125 million.

"The appointment of Dick Cahill in the Greater Quincy area and Tom Rudolph in the Greater Brockton area will enable us to greatly expand our activities in those two very important markets and free top management to continue expansion plans South and West of Boston and in Florida," stated Reardon.

DeWolfe Realtors Establishes New Appraisal Division

DeWolfe Realtors has organized an appraisal division separate from brokerage services.

A professional property appraisal is usually required to settle estates, for tax purposes, home improvement speculation, resale of property, insurance value, equity loans and refinancing, as well as analysis of present and future value.

A qualified appraiser is specially trained in establishing value based on multiple approaches to a single assignment. Two associate specialists for The DeWolfe Company are Betsy Durant and Ann Collins of Milton. Both women have successfully completed the appraisal course of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers at Worcester Polytech Institute.

QJC Accepting Applications For Full-Time Day Studies

Quincy Junior College is accepting applications for full-time day studies during the 1979-80 school year.

QJC offers associate degrees in criminal justice, early childhood education, accounting, management, retailing, liberal arts transfer-oriented program, medical, legal and executive secretarial programs, computer science and electronic technology.

A one-year health preparatory program is also available for people needing remedial work in science, English and math. This program is not a prerequisite for nursing or health programs nor a guarantee of acceptance into a program. It provides an exploratory time for people considering education in the field.

Students interested should submit an application and arrange to have a copy of their high school transcripts to the college. A personal interview will then be arranged with the admissions staff or faculty members.

Students transferring from another college should also arrange for their grades from their former college to be sent to QJC.

For more information about the college programs and admissions procedures, call Dean Hugo Salati at 786-8777.

Ceremonies Sept. 8

Ex-Cong. Burke Speaker At City Hall Dedication

Former Cong. James A. Burke will be the main speaker at dedication ceremonies for the new $2.4 million addition to City Hall at 11 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 8.

Dedication of the building is part of the city's celebration of the 200th anniversary of the drafting of the Massachusetts Constitution in Quincy.

Burke, like John Quincy Adams before him, represented Quincy in the U.S. Congress for 20 years before his retirement in 1978. He was succeeded by Cong. Brian J. Donnelly.

Other features of the dedication include:

The playing of the National Anthem by the U. S. Naval

JAMES A. BURKE

Academy Show Band, which will also perform in concert during the open house in City Hall that will follow the dedication.

Cong. Donnelly will present to Mayor Arthur H. Tobin a flag that has flown over the U. S. Capitol in Washington.

A specially made seal of Quincy and a plaque honoring those who were responsible for construction of the addition will be unveiled.

Members of the student councils of Quincy and North Quincy High Schools and the Voke Tech School will act as guides for 15-minute tours of the new building. A special tour has been designed for the handicapped and the elderly.

The dedication will conclude with an exhibition of paintings by the Quincy Art Association.

18 to 20% Increase

Executive House Tenants Battle Rent Hikes

Tenants of Executive House, 1025 Hancock St., were scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) at Central Junior High School to organize for their fight against 18 to 20 per cent rent hikes.

Joseph F. O'Brien, head of the tenant association, said the rent increases have been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development to go into effect Oct. 1.

HUD approval is necessary since the federal agency backs the mortgage on Executive House, which is a 176-unit apartment building for people of moderate income owned by 1025 Hancock St., Inc.

O'Brien said the landlord also wants tenants to sign agreements by Aug. 31 making them "tenants-at-will" at the end of September when their one-year leases expire.

One hundred of the 236 tenants are over 65 years of age, said O'Brien, and 55 more are between the ages of 55 and 65 and large rent hikes would be a hardship on them.

"We realize the landlord needs an increase because the price of everything is up," said O'Brien, "and we would accept a reasonable increase if we knew what it was."

"But we can't get anything to substantiate his claims of profit and loss. We want to see the bills and cancelled checks to see if they are correct."

O'Brien said that more than 180 people, or over 70 per cent of the apartment dwellers, have signed up with the tenants' organization. They are looking for alliances with other tenants' groups, he said.

The association has hired Quincy Atty. William Golden to represent them.

Invited to the Wednesday night meeting were Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli, City Councillor Daniel G. Raymond, a representative of the Mayor's office, and Jane Reikart of the Rent Grievance Board.

"People on welfare have organized and the homeowners have their taxpayers association but the people who live in apartments have no one," said O'Brien. "We are the forgotten citizens."

Navy To Explain GD's Contract Loss This Week

The Department of the Navy will tell General Dynamics why it lost its $97 million bid for a cable repair ship this Friday, August 31 in Alexandria, Va.

Only representatives of the Navy and General Dynamics will attend this meeting, according to Congressman Brian Donnelly. A second session, on Thursday, Sept. 6, will be attended by members of the Massachusetts congressional delegation, Shipbuilders Union officials and other interested persons.

Mayor Arthur Tobin will take time out from his hectic schedule during the city's constitutional bicentennial celebration to attend the Sept. 6 session.

General Dynamics' loss of the cable ship contract caused statements of disbelief and outrage from many local politicians and persons associated with the yard. The firm bid almost $10 million less than General Steel and Shipbuilding Co. of San Diego, Cal., which was awarded the contract.

The Aug. 31 session will be a "technical debriefing," at which the Navy and General Dynamics can "discuss the highly technical matters involved regarding the ship and its components," according to Donnelly. The session will be held at 10 a.m. at the Navy's Sea Systems Command Center 3, just outside Washington.

The Sept. 6 session, in House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's Capitol offices, will be attended by Donnelly, Tobin, Senators Edward Kennedy and Paul Tsongas, Congressman Gerry Studds and others.

The 3 p.m. session comes in the middle of Quincy's Constitutional Bicentennial weekend, Sept. 6-9.

Tobin said he will meet the Constitution as planned at 9:30 a.m., escort it to the John Quincy Adams Birthplace, and then hurry (possibly by State Police Helicopter) to catch a flight to Washington.

After the meeting at O'Neill's office, he said, he plans to catch an early flight and be back in Quincy for the fireworks planned for Quincy Bay on Thursday night.

Flying to Washington with the Mayor will be Ron Zoolock, executive Vice President of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, and Charles A. Pearce, president of Progress for Downtown Quincy (PDQ).

Tobin said he expects General Dynamics will present facts to the delegation on "why they should have got the contract. Then the pressure will be on the delegation to do something."

"President Carter is trying to get re-elected," he said. "When you're dealing with the Speaker of the House and the Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee (Sen. Kennedy) there's room for discussion."

"I don't think the cable repair ship contract will be turned around. I think they want answers for this one. Then the pressure will be on for the next award."

'Wood Dump' Suggested To Help Heat Seniors' Homes

Senior citizens and low income families who are hard-pressed to heat their homes this winter may be able to go to the city "wood dump" for their extra fuel.

The idea is credited to Public Works Commissioner James J. Ricciuti as a means of putting to use some of the trees and branches that are cut down by the Forestry and Highway Departments.

"Many of our senior citizens and low income families have a lot of trouble heating their homes in these days of rampant inflation," said Mayor Tobin.

"If there was a wood dump at the city dump they could go there and obtain wood for their fire places or wood stoves if they have them."

TO ALL HOMEOWNERS:
SAVE MONEY WHILE SAVING ENERGY
AT THE SAME TIME.

Today when mortgage rates are so high, many home-owners are looking to improve what they already own. They are also looking for ways to combat sky-rocketing fuel prices at the same time.

If you are looking to insulate or weather-strip your home, or if you want to install energy saving devices such as storm windows and doors, or window quilts, a heatolator for your fireplace, solar panels, water saving devices for your faucets, you qualify for some real savings from us and the Federal Government.

We'd like to help you make these energy saving conversions.

Our Energy Saving Home Improvement Loans are available at 10% per annum which, as you know, is lower than most mortgage rates today. And remember at Income Tax time, an IRS approved energy loan allows 15% Federal Tax Credit up to $300.

The time to act is now before materials and rates become higher than what they'll be in the Fall.

A Constitution or Form of Government for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

PREAMBLE.

The end of the institution, maintenance and administration of government just as the existence of the body politic to protect it, and to furnish the individuals who compose it, with the means of enjoying peace and tranquility to their natural rights, and to the rights of the whole. And the people have a right to alter the government, and to alter the measures which the whole society comments with each citizen. The Government is to be for an equitable and just administration of the laws. The friends of Massachusetts are to be in a position of advantage in the support of the Government. The friends of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts are to be in a position of advantage in the support of the Government.

City of Quincy Massachusetts

Office Of The Mayor

My Fellow Citizens:

Quincy, a city rich in history and tradition, with pride in its heritage, welcomes home the Massachusetts Constitution to its birthplace in the City of Presidents.

The return of the Massachusetts Constitution to its "home" after 200 years is a reminder to all of us of the unique significance that the city of Quincy holds in our history.

I am both proud and honored to be the Mayor of the city that is the birthplace of John Adams, John Quincy Adams, John Hancock, and other courageous statesmen who possessed the intelligence, foresight, and compassion to surge forward in molding the framework for a government for all freedom loving people.

John Adams not only gave to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts its basic legal and moral structure, but also produced a document which is the basic foundation upon which this country was founded.

Come celebrate this momentous occasion. Share in the festivities and be proud that you are part of such a rich legacy.

With heartfelt thanks to all who have contributed to make our celebration a grand success, I am

Sincerely yours,

Arthur H. Tobin

The Herter Painting State House Mural

The famous painting by Albert Herter that depicts the drafting of the Massachusetts Constitution by John and Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin adorns the walls of the House of Representatives at the State House in Boston.

It is one of a series of five murals entitled "Milestones on the Road to Freedom in Massachusetts" that appear over the Speaker's rostrum. Herter, the son of a German immigrant, devoted the better part of two years to their preparation.

The murals were presented to the Commonwealth on Dec. 16, 1942 by the artist and his son, Christian A. Herter, then the Speaker of the House, later Governor, Congressman and U.S. Secretary of State.

In the mural, John Adams is shown seated at a table in the law office of his home on Franklin St., Quincy. Bowdoin, his hand to his chin, stands at one side of Adams, while Sam Adams, in riding boots, is on the other. Two men seated at the left are not identified.

Albert Herter, who was born in 1871 in New York City, sold his first painting at the age of 14 and went on to an amazingly varied career in magazine illustration, water colors, stage settings, tapestries, cartoons and textile designs.

His murals also decorate the walls of State Houses in Hartford, and the Academy of Science in Washington, D.C.

His most noted mural, entitled "1914," was done between 1925 and 1927 on the walls of the Gare de l'Est, the railroad station in Paris, in memory of his son, Everitt, who was killed at the Battle of Chateau Thierry in 1918.

He died in 1950 in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Major Milestone For Human Rights

A Constitution Is Born In Quincy

By DR. JAMES R. CAMERON

The Constitution of Massachusetts was the culmination of more than a century and a half of political experience for the residents of this state but also marked an important milestone in the political history of the United States. This instrument reflected the experience of living under several forms of government and provided a model for the federal constitution.

Before the Pilgrims left the Mayflower in the fall of 1620 they drew up a written document which specified the responsibilities of the members of the new settlement that was to be established at Plymouth. Although this Mayflower Compact was not a constitution, according to Professor Robert E. Moody, it did contain the idea of self-government. Each of the 42 men who signed the agreement promised to obey the laws that should be made for their welfare. The Mayflower Compact did, in fact, serve as the basis of government until the colony charter of 1628, which was granted to "The Governor and Company of Massachusetts Bay." The next constitution for Massachusetts was the Provincial Charter of 1691. Each of these forerunners of the Massachusetts Constitution of 1780 were written documents, they spelled out the rights of the citizens and they provided for the participation of the citizens in the processes of government.

The Colony of Massachusetts Bay had experienced separation of powers among the governor, who was appointed by the King of England; the House of Representatives, which was elected by tax-paying men; and the Council, which was chosen by the House subject to the approval of the governor. The governor received his appointment from the king but received his salary from the colonial legislature. It was when the British Government levied new taxes upon the colonists to make the governor independent of the colonial legislature that the inhabitants of Massachusetts experienced a unitary form of government and came to feel that they were being deprived of their liberties.

It was to secure such natural rights as life, liberty and property that the Declaration of Independence was written and adopted. There is a sense in which this document is a preamble to our Federal Constitution. John Adams was thinking of these rights when he drafted the first major section of the Massachusetts Constitution. Selections from this part of the Constitution are engraved on the monument in Quincy's Constitution Common. When the Constitution of the United States was first drafted it contained no bill of rights. Political leaders in Massachusetts insisted that provision be made to include in the Federal Constitution the same kind of safeguards that were already in the Constitution of this state before they would agree to ratify the proposed federal system.

John Adams recognized that in America government had moved from overcentralization before the War for Independence to too much decentralization. This was a natural reaction to the intense emotion raised during the war. In writing the Massachusetts Constitution, Adams restored the balance of political power among separate branches of government. Because of its balance, its reasonableness, and its guarantee of fair treatment, the Constitution of Massachusetts served as a model for our Federal Constitution and remains an example of republican government for all peoples everywhere.

Drafting the Constitution

In an address delivered on the occasion of the 175th anniversary of the Constitution of Massachusetts, Samuel Eliot Morison offered a comprehensive statement on the drafting and adoption of this instrument of government. In Morison's judgment, John Adams' greatest achievement was not his service as second president of the United States but his drafting of the Constitution of Massachusetts. In the midst of the turmoil of war, the Revolutionists succeeded in establishing a government under law. They had the conviction that it must be done and they knew how to do it. Government under law was an old tradition in Massachusetts and, even in the midst of war, the citizens of Massachusetts did not lose sight of what they were fighting for. By the end of the American Revolution, eleven of the 13 states had adopted new constitutions. Morison declared that the Constitution of Massachusetts "has been the most enduring because it was the best." The 25 years which have passed since Morison made this statement have only served to validate his judgment.

In his presidential address before the American Historical Association, Professor Andrew C. McLaughlin emphasized the importance of the constitutional convention method of making the constitution rather than having it drafted by the legislature:

"If I were called upon to select a single fact or enterprise which more nearly than any other thing embraced the significance of the American Revolution, I should select—not Saratoga or the French Alliance, or even the Declaration of Independence—I should choose the formation of the Massachusetts Constitution of 1780; and I should do so because the constitution rested upon the fully developed convention, the greatest institution of government which America has produced, the institution which answered, in itself, the problem of how men could make governments of their own free will. . . ."

In the fall of 1776 the towns of Middleborough, Concord and Acton opposed the suggestion that the legislature draft a constitution and requested that a constitutional convention be elected for that special purpose. The General Court ignored this suggestion and drafted a constitution which was rejected by the towns. After this rebuff, the General Court took up the suggestion of a constitutional convention and asked the citizens to vote on the proposal in their town meetings. The response was overwhelmingly favorable. The General Court then requested the towns to elect as many delegates to the Convention as they were entitled to send representatives to the legislature.

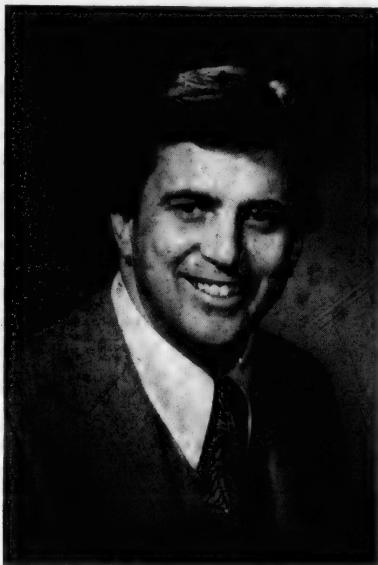

Delegates from 190 towns attended the first session of the Constitutional Convention which met in the First Church in Cambridge during the week of September 1-7, 1779. After electing James Bowdoin president and Samuel Barrett secretary, the Convention selected a committee of 30 to prepare a draft. This special committee selected from its members a subcommittee of three; James Bowdoin, Samuel Adams and John Adams. The subcommittee then delegated its functions to John Adams, who became the principal author, drafting the document in his law office in the John Quincy Adams Birthplace in what is now Quincy. An annotated copy of John Adams' draft is included in Volume IV of The Works of John Adams, edited by his grandson, Charles Francis Adams (1851). The

Some Comments on The Constitution's Bicentennial from Congressman Brian J. Donnelly

It was just 200 years ago that John and Samuel Adams and James Bowdoin repaired to an office at 141 Franklin St., South Quincy, to draw up the Constitution for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that still guides the lives of our people and their elected officials.

Although they were unaware of it at the time, they were also setting up a model ten years later, for the Constitution of the United States, so it can be said with some degree of accuracy that the foundations for our national government were laid in that modest office in what was then old Braintree.

It is indeed an honor to represent the city of Quincy — and Braintree, Randolph and Holbrook, which made up old Braintree in 1779 — in the Congress of the United States in this Bicentennial year when we take note of its role in the formation of the American Republic.

And it is especially an honor to occupy the same seat in the Congress that was held by John Adams' son, John Quincy Adams, from 1831 to 1848 and by his grandson, Charles Francis Adams, from 1859 to 1861, when they set an example of conscientious public service for those of us who follow.

John Adams

They Called Him 'An Old Fielder'

Contemporaries said a lot of things about John Adams, most of them hurtful, many of them true, for he was an Adams, which meant that he was a scholar, introspective, austere, humorless, tactless to the point of being rude.

"The Adamsses have a genius for saying even a gracious thing in an ungracious way," complained James Russell Lowell, who knew several members of the family.

A Baltimore newspaper, probably an adversary for the middle colonies were suspicious of anything that smacked of the Massachusetts' Adamsses or the Lees of Virginia, once called him "an old fielder" and he accepted it as a compliment.

"An old fielder," John Adams defined to his wife, Abigail, "is a tough, hardy, laborious little horse that works very hard and lives upon very little."

Which was one of the things the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention had in mind when it chose him to draft that most important document; he was given the job and left alone to do the work.

John Adams was born Oct. 19, 1735 (Old Style) in Braintree into a family of no particular distinction. It was through his mother's line, the Boylstons of Brookline, that he attained the social standing to graduate 15th in a class of 24 from Harvard in 1755.

He was a teacher for a while in Worcester but he found that he had small patience for the "little runtlings," as he called his class. He turned to the law, a fortunate choice for the American nation-to-be.

Another fortunate choice was Abigail Smith, the preacher's daughter from Weymouth. Her mother, a member of the prestigious Quincy family, didn't think very much of the match. Nevertheless, John and Abigail were married on Oct. 25, 1764, a union that lasted 54 years.

Alike yet different, they complimented each other nicely. She was witty, bright, "saucy," he called her, and extremely well-read in politics, literature and philosophy for a woman of her time. During the long years that he was away on his country's service, Abigail ran the farm at the foot of Penn's Hill and raised their four children who survived infancy.

There was little law to practice in colonial Braintree, aside from the writing of wills and the viewing of fences, so more and more John Adams was attracted to Boston, where the action was. There he fell in with his fiery cousin, Sam Adams, and the brilliant James Otis Jr.

The Stamp Act was the big issue of the day and it brought young Adams to prominence. It was he who drafted the Braintree Instructions to Ebenezer Thayer, the town's representative in the General Court, protesting the act as contrary to the English constitution and common law and therefore null and void.

He moved his growing family, Abigail 3, and John Quincy 1, to Boston in 1768 and he was elected to the General Court two years later. It is a mark of the esteem in which he was held that at the time of his election he was preparing a defense for the British soldiers who were accused of murder in the Boston Massacre.

With the help of his friend, Josiah Quincy, he secured the acquittal of all but two soldiers, who were convicted of manslaughter, and a homicide in self-defense verdict against Capt. Thomas

An Aging Firebrand Is Asked To Lift His Pen

Sam Adams

Sam Adams was approaching his 57th birthday, an aging firebrand born to foment revolution whose time and place had long since passed, when he was tapped by his peers to help draft a constitution for Massachusetts.

"The world in his mind was not that of the true philosopher, filled with a variety of images, all well-rounded, symmetrical and beautiful," wrote one biographer. "His figures were cut in bold relief, stiff, stark and austere."

"There was no place for shading there; everything was in sharp contrasts, in disconcerting black and white. Whatever he did see, he saw with intense clearness, but it was too often a caricature rather than the real image."

And the fall of 1779 was the time of the philosopher, the statesman; the day of the revolutionist, the man who saw people and events in caricature, was slipping into the past.

Samuel Adams was born in Boston on Sept. 16, 1722 (Old Style), the son of a well-to-do brewer, socially and politically prominent, who was forever exasperated by his son's ineptitude in business and finance.

Graduating from Harvard in 1740, he got a job in the counting house of Thomas Cushing. He may have been fired. His father gave him £1,000 to start his own business. It failed. He became a partner in his father's malthouse on Purchase St. The business languished.

He was elected provincial tax collector in 1756 and when he left office in 1765 his accounts were £8,000 in arrears. Royal Gov. Thomas Hutchinson charged him with delinquency, a polite term for embezzlement. The charge was probably not so. It was just that he was assigned to collect certain money and neglected to do it.

It was about this time, while his financial house was collapsing around him, that Sam Adams discovered his true calling: How easy it was to lift his pen and marshal the words that sent others to the barricades.

He had always been a rebel. His Harvard master's thesis defended the proposition: "Whether it be lawful to resist the Supreme Magistrate, if the Commonwealth cannot be otherwise preserved," delivered while Royal Gov. William Shirley glared from the same platform.

All these things had shaped the mind of Sam Adams by 1765 when parliament passed the hated Stamp Act, which required that all documents—legal papers, pamphlets, advertisements, newspapers—carry a revenue stamp. There were heavy fines for violations, levied without jury trial and payable in cash.

The pages of the Boston Gazette were filled with angry denunciations of the act, written by Sam Adams and his friends in the radical, semi-secret Caucus Club. Inflammatory? Inciting to riot? Indeed they were.

The ink was scarcely dry in the Gazette when Andrew Oliver, who distributed the stamps in the Massachusetts Bay colony, was hanged in effigy (he resigned the next day) and the palatial home of Lt. Gov. Hutchinson was demolished in the first appearance of a street mob in Revolutionary Boston.

A fitting memorial...

John Quincy Adams occupied the White House in 1828 when United First Parish Church, the Stone Temple, was built of Quincy granite, a fitting memorial to the enduring work of the men who founded the state and the nation.

Two presidents of the United States, John Adams and John Quincy Adams, and their wives, are buried side by side in vaults in the grotto of the Church.

The cornerstone of the Stone Temple was laid on June 11, 1827, and in it was placed a silver plate with the inscription: "A temple for the worship of God, and for public instruction in the doctrines and duties of the Christian religion."

A Man Who 'Might Have Been'

It is quite possible that only a spell of sickness in the summer of 1774 kept James Bowdoin from playing a more illustrious role in the founding of the American Republic.

He had been chosen to head the Massachusetts delegation to the first Continental Congress in Philadelphia when his health failed. His friend, John Hancock, was named in his stead.

The flamboyant Hancock went on to sign the Declaration of Independence in letters so large that King George III could read them without his spectacles.

The ailing Bowdoin stayed home to supervise the reading of the document from the balcony of the Old State House in Boston.

There but for the grace of God . . .

James Bowdoin, the least known of the three men who framed the Massachusetts Constitution, was born in Boston on Aug. 7, 1726, the son of a merchant who may have been the wealthiest man in the colony, and grandson of a French Huguenot refugee. The original family name was Boudouin.

Two years after he was graduated from Harvard in 1745, young Bowdoin's father died, leaving him the family business and an estate that was determined to be £82,875 sterling, a princely sum in colonial days.

Financially secure, he turned to politics early. He was elected one of four representatives from Boston to the Provincial Legislature in 1753. He was reelected in 1754 and 1755.

Bowdoin's great issue was union among the colonies in the face of the threat from the French. He shepherded through the Legislature a resolve "that there be a general union of his Majesty's colonies on this continent, except those of Nova Scotia and Georgia."

"If the colonies were united," he wrote, "they could easily drive the French out of this part of America; but . . . the colonies have no head, and all pull different ways. JOIN OR DIE must be their motto."

He moved up to the Council, a 28-member branch of the Legislature similar to the modern Senate, in 1757, and was reelected annually until 1774, with the exception of the year 1768 when the Royal Gov. Francis Bernard barred him as a threat to the royal regime.

Bowdoin was elected to the House of Representatives the next year and the House in turn elected him to the Council. The new royal governor, Thomas Hutchinson, allowed it because "his influence was more prejudicial in the House than at the Council." His successor in the House was a neophyte politician named John Adams.

He was expelled from the Council again by Hutchinson's successor, Gen. Thomas Gage, but it didn't really matter this time for the House chose him to head the Massachusetts delegation to the first Continental Congress. Other members: Thomas Cushing, Samuel Adams, John Adams and Robert Treat Paine.

His appearance on the national stage was brief, however. His health failed. His wife, Elizabeth, also took sick. He gave up the prestigious post to Hancock, who parlayed it into the presidency of the Congress and a worldwide reputation as a revolutionary.

Bowdoin returned to Boston and, when the Provincial Congress assembled in Watertown to organize the first Massachusetts government in 1775, he was elected its president, serving when his health permitted. He resigned in the summer of 1777, again for reasons of health.

But he couldn't escape the call of the people. He was elected delegate from Boston to the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention in 1779 and his fellow delegates elected him convention president. He also chaired the subcommittee, with the cousins Adams, that actually drafted the document.

The new constitution set up the governor as chief of state and Hancock, then at the height of his renown, was elected to that post by the people. The Legislature not only elected Bowdoin lieutenant governor, it also elected him a state senator and gave him his choice of the jobs. He turned down both.

By 1785, Hancock's hold on the people had waned and he resigned. Bowdoin and Thomas Cushing contested for the vacant office and, when neither could summon a majority, the Legislature chose Bowdoin. His election was announced May 26, 1785.

Bowdoin became the second governor of Massachusetts at a time when the state faced open rebellion, even disintegration, at the hands of its own citizens.

The debts left over from the Revolution were staggering and there was no existing financial system for paying them. It was recommended that the state repudiate them, even at the risk of losing what was left of its credibility. Gov. Bowdoin would have none of that.

He counseled retrenchment, strict economy, payment of the debt with interest in the manner of a "prudent individual . . . in all his transactions he is guided by the principles of honor and strict honesty." Bowdoin's way prevailed and the state's credit was restored.

Bowdoin was reelected in April, 1786, just in time to face the first serious armed threat to the state government.

It came from farmers in the western part of the state. Deep in debt, seeing no apparent way out, they united behind Daniel Shays and rose in arms against the tax collectors and the judicial system behind them. It was the first great internal crisis confronting the new nation.

"Vigor, decision, energy, will soon terminate this unnatural insurrection," Gov. Bowdoin told the Legislature, "but the contrary may involve the Commonwealth in a civil war, which may extend to the whole confederacy and finally destroy the temple of American liberty . . ."

A Dismal Period

John Adams: His Mood And His Times

"Voted, to send only one Delegate to represent them in the Convention appointed to be convened at Cambridge on the First day of September next for the purpose of Framing a New Constitution. Then the Honorable John Adams Esquire was chosen for that purpose."

Braintree Records,
Aug. 9, 1779

By TOM HENSHAW

There is every reason to believe that the Honorable John Adams Esquire didn't really want to go.

He had arrived home only seven days before on the French frigate La Sensible after nearly 18 months in Paris helping to negotiate a commercial and military alliance with France. He was in such a rush to get home that he apparently landed the day before La Sensible reached Boston by rowing ashore from Nantasket Roads.

He missed his wife, Abigail, terribly, and she him.

"One was angry, another was full of Grief, and the third with Melancholy, so that I burnt them all," he wrote to her from Passy on Dec. 18, 1778, listing his complaints with her most recent letters. "If you write me in this style I shall leave of writing intirely, it kills me."

"Am I not wretched Enough, in this Banishment, without this? What Course shall I take to convince you that my Heart is warm? I beg you would never more write to me in such a strain for it really makes me unhappy."

"How lonely are my days?" she wrote on a Sunday evening, Dec. 27. "How solitary are my Nights? How insupportable the Idea that 3000 leagues, and the vast ocean now divide us -- but divide only our persons for the Heart of my Friend is in the Bosom of his partner."

Somewhere on the vast ocean the two letters passed each other.

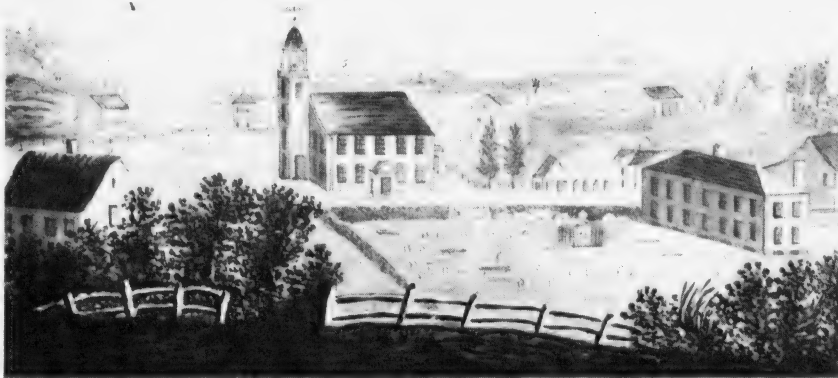

Paris and the dissolute court of Louis XVI held small appeal to the Puritan in John Adams, even when his closest everyday companions were Dr. Benjamin Franklin, still with an eye for the ladies at age 73, and the swashbuckling Capt. John Paul Jones, half patriot, half pirate, who had just taken command of the leaky old East Indian he had renamed Bon Homme Richard.

The American colonies, newly reborn as the United States of America, were going through the most dismal period of the War for Independence. Inflation was rampant; butcher's meat, a dollar to eight shillings a pound; flour, fifty dollars a hundredweight. The news from the fighting front was of defeat, privation and horror.

Massachusetts was deep in the agony of the ill-fated Penobscot expedition.

Late in June, the British started building a base near modern day Castine in the province of Maine to protect Halifax. The Americans dispatched 1,000 Massachusetts militia under Gens. Solomon Lovell and Peleg Wadsworth and a 37 ship flotilla under Commodore Dudley Saltonstall to stop them.

But while Saltonstall dawdled and procrastinated, British reinforcements arrived from Sandy Hook and bottled up the American forces, who fled into the wilderness of the Penobscot River valley. All the ships and 474 men were lost. So was all the artillery, under Lt. Col. Paul Revere.

VILLAGE OF QUINCY from President's Hill with Hancock Cemetery in foreground.

A month later, the Provincial Congress wrote to the Continental Congress asking to be excused from the continental tax of $6 million until the expenses of the disastrous expedition were liquidated.

The failure of the expedition, the letter said, "hath involved this Government in extreme Difficulty. We not only have lost three State Vessels of Force but have insured all the others ... The Calls upon us to make good our Contracts with the Owners of the private ships are pressing and must be fulfilled."

The "extreme Difficulty" of the people themselves called for a convention in Concord early in July "to take into Consideration the present distressed Situation of the People at large; and particularly the excessive high Prices of every Article of Consumption."

The convention fixed the price of beef at six shillings a pound until Sept. 1, five shillings after that; lamb and veal at four shillings a pound; milk at two shillings, six pence in Boston and directed that persons "who demand or take more for any of the above Articles ... shall be held and deemed as Enemies to this Country and treated as such." In Boston, laborers' wages were set at 60 shillings a day; ship carpenters 78 shillings.

The news from the front was almost uniformly bad.

Gen. George Washington's main Continental Army was inactive around Philadelphia; Sir Henry Clinton's small British force was moving all but unimpeded up the Hudson; Savannah had fallen; and a band of Loyalists under Col. William Tryon was laying waste the Connecticut countryside. Fairfield and Green's Farms were burned and Norwalk destroyed all in a three-day period. West Haven was under attack and the fiercely anti-British Independent Chronicle of Boston fumed:

"Although in this expedition it must be confessed to the credit of the Britons that they have not done ALL the mischief in their power; yet the burning of the stores upon the wharf; the beating, stabbing, and insulting the Rev. Dr. Dagget after he was made a prisoner, the mortally wounding of Mr. Beers, senior, in his own door, and otherwise abusing him; the robbing and murdering the very aged and helpless Capt. English in his own house, and the beating and finally cutting out the tongue of a distracted man, are sufficient proofs that they were really Britons."

Raising men to soldier in the Continental Army was becoming a problem. The Provincial Congress resolved in June to raise 800 men 16 years and over to serve in Rhode Island, "excepting officers and students of Harvard, ministers, grammar school-masters, Indians, Negroes, mulattoes and those who pay a fine of £30 or procure a substitute." Suffolk County was asked for 95 men to serve as privates at £16 a month.

Once in the Army, soldiers were hard to hold, too, in the face of privations and uncertain terms of enlistment. Boston papers of September, 1779, advertised for Nathaniel Piper, 21, a deserter from Col. Jackson's battalion, Capt. Hastings' company, who was known to be about Boston, particularly at night; and Cpl. Samuel Berry 30, of Lynn, absent from Jackson's Corps.

Closer to home, there was the case of Elizabeth Etter, one of the Cleverly girls of Braintree, who was given permission by the Provincial Congress to take her 4-year-old child and join her husband, Franklin, the Tory, in Halifax where he was serving in the Loyal Nova Scotia Volunteers. Elizabeth was warned that she was "not to return to the state without leave from the government."

And, in Old Braintree, life went on.

The Town Meeting renewed the 30 shilling bounty on crows' heads and voted to prosecute anyone who obstructed the alewife in its annual passage upriver to the spawning ponds and named a committee "to use their Influence with proper authority to suppress, any vexatious law suits that may be brought by Dr. Moses Baker against any of the Inhabitants of this Town," for what reason was not stated.

Like many Braintree wives whose husbands were away at war, Abigail Adams was forced into the unaccustomed role of head of the household, a function she filled with determination.

"I cannot avoid sometimes repining that the gifts of fortune were not bestowed upon us, that I might have enjoyed the happiness of spending my days with my partner," she wrote, "but as it is, I think it my duty to attend with frugality and economy to our own private affairs; and if I cannot add to our little substance, yet see to it that it is not diminished."

She abstained from drinking black market tea, allowing herself one tiny complaint: "I should like a little green (tea), but they say there is none to be had here. I only wish it for a medicine, as a relief to a nervous pain in my head to which I am sometimes subject."

John Adams attended the opening session of the Constitutional Convention in Cambridge on Wednesday, Sept. 1. On Saturday, he was named to a committee of 30 to prepare the declaration of rights and the constitution. On Monday, the committee delegated the task to a subcommittee of three, John and Samuel Adams; and James Bowdoin. The subcommittee, in turn, left it up to John.

"I was by the Convention put upon the Committee -- by the Committee upon the subcommittee -- and by the subcommittee appointed a sub subcommittee -- so that I had the honor to be principal Engineer," he wrote to his friend, Edmund Jennings. Payroll records indicate that he was paid £90 for his work.

The so-called "Adams draft" of the Massachusetts Constitution was accepted by the Convention with a few alterations but by that time John Adams was long gone back to Europe, this time to help negotiate a treaty of peace with Britain and serve as America's first minister to London. He did not see the farm at the foot of Penn's Hill again for another eight years.

But he was immensely heartened by these words from the pen of his ever-loving Abigail, written on Oct. 15, 1780:

"Our Massachusetts Constitution is read with admiration in New York and pronounced by the Royal Governor as the best republican form he ever saw."

“Wisdom and knowledge, as well as virtue, diffused generally among the body of the people” are “necessary for the preservation of their rights and liberties.”

— John Adams
Second President of the United States, lawyer, diplomat, statesman and principal author of the Massachusetts Constitution.

These words, from the Massachusetts Constitution, are as true today as they were in 1779. We're proud to be part of the community which produced so enduring a document, and those who created it.

A Adams An Early Advocate Of Women's Rights

The original draft of the Massachusetts Constitution contained few, if any, references to women or their rights -- but it wasn't that Abigail Adams didn't try.

Long before husband John was assigned to draft the Constitution, their correspondence, in the half-serious, half-bantering style that characterized so much of it, included this exchange:

"By the way," wrote Abigail, "in the new code of laws which I suppose it will be necessary for you to make, I desire you would remember the ladies and be more generous and favorable to them than your ancestors. Do not put such unlimited power into the hands of the husbands. Remember, all men would be tyrants if they could."

And she added lightly, almost as an aside:

"That your sex are naturally tyrannical is a truth so thoroughly established as to admit of no dispute."

To which John, ever the tyrant, replied:

"We have been told that our struggle has loosened the bonds of government everywhere; that children and apprentices were disobedient; that schools and colleges were grown turbulent; that Indians slighted their guardians, and negroes grew insolent to their masters."

"But your letter was the first intimation that another tribe, more numerous and powerful than all the rest, were grown discontented."

John Adams Born Oct. 19 (and Oct. 30)

John Adams was born on Oct. 19, 1735, yet he celebrated his 17th and ensuing birthdays on Oct. 30.

The explanation is that Great Britain and all her colonies switched from the Julian to the Gregorian calendar in September, 1752, to pick up 11 days that had gradually become lost in time.

The Julian Calendar, named for its sponsor, Julius Caesar, was based on a 365.25-day year, while the actual year is 365.242199 days long.

It meant a loss of 11 minutes, 14 seconds in time every year, which was scarcely noticeable over the lifetime of a man but over the centuries it was becoming confusing.

By the 14th Century, the beginning of Spring had been pushed back 10 days and it didn't take too much book-learning to figure out that there shouldn't be snow on the ground every Easter.

Pope Gregory decided in 1582 that the year should be shortened to 365.2422 days and, to make up for lost time, the day after the Feast of St. Francis (Oct. 5) was proclaimed Oct. 15.

Naturally, a staunch Protestant country like Britain was not about to follow the dictates of a pope so it was not until 1752 that Sept. 2 was followed by Sept. 14 to make up the difference.

Thus, John Adams' birthday became Oct. 19 (Old Style) and Oct. 30 (New Style).

STATE STREET SOUTH WHERE YOU CAN BUILD YOUR COMPANY'S FUTURE TODAY

It took imagination, planning and hard work to draft the document that has guided our state's and nation's destiny for 200 years.

That same spirit exists in Quincy today. It is the spirit that in the present we preserve the past and plan for the future.
